MR. CHAMBERLAIN.

Speech on Current Topics at Birmingham.

PRAISE FOR PREMIER SALISBURY

Friendship for the United States—The Armenian Question—American Support Invited to Settle the Turkish Troubles—Grist for Mr. Chamberlain's Mill.

London, Jan. 25.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, delivered a speech at Birmingham this evening. He congratulated the country upon having at the head of affairs Lord Salisbury, whose judgment and resolution had placed him the very first among the European statesmen.

Referring to the Guiana boundary dispute, Mr. Chamberlain said it had been trivial until it was suddenly elevated to grave importance by the intervention of the United States. There seemed to be some misapprehension on both sides. The opinion seemed to have prevailed in England that American statesmen wished to pick a quarrel, while the Americans seemed to have thought that the British were disposed to impugn the Monroe doctrine, which they rightly held to be the most important to their own security.

They also seemed to have thought that the British were disposed to deal in a harsh and arbitrary manner with a smaller state. He believed that the American people and all that is best in the United States would regard with horror a needless war with their own blood and kindred. He also believed that President Cleveland, whose acquaintance he had the honor of making while he was in America, and who had a high reputation for straightforward, honorable dealing, would never drive the two kindred nations to strife. On the other hand, the Americans could be assured from the utterances of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Arthur Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury, that Great Britain had no desire for a single inch of American territory beyond what she already rightfully possesses. All that was necessary to settle the trouble was time and fuller knowledge. Meanwhile he would re-echo and reciprocate from the bottom of his heart, Wolcott's noble words: "Blood is thicker than water." (Loud cheers.) That would always be the sentiment of every Britain. The two nations were more closely allied in sentiment and interest than any others, and while the British looked with horror on anything approaching fratricidal strife, they looked with pleasure upon the possibility of the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack floating together in defence of a common cause sanctioned by community of sentiment.

He added, that while the continental nations regarded the sufferings of the Armenians with comparative indifference, the United Kingdom felt the deepest sympathy and indignation.

Mr. Chamberlain paid a tribute to the excellence of the American missions and declared that the Americans were also interested in the sufferings of humanity for humanity's sake, and not for any territorial ambition. Mr. Chamberlain concluded by saying: "Would it were possible that instead of wasting breath in a petty South American boundary dispute, we could count on the powerful support of the United States in enforcing the representations which hitherto we have fruitlessly made in behalf of those who are suffering by Turkish tyranny and Turkish fanaticism." (Cheers.)

He concluded by declaring that the condition of Armenia was a danger and disgrace to Europe, but he did not believe that the resources of civilization had been entirely exhausted.

Upon the conclusion of his address, Mr. Chamberlain was greeted with prolonged cheering.

GRIST FOR CHAMBERLAIN'S MILL.

Closing Scene of the Ashantee War—Sympathy for the Queen.

New York, Jan. 26.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables:

Everything is grist for Mr. Chamberlain't mill. The Ashantee War has closed with a picturesque scene, the savage king grovelling in the dust at the feet of the conquerors. An indemnity of 50,000 ounces of gold was at once demanded, and the penitent monarch was sent with his officers under guard to the coast, to remain a prisoner until the debts shall be paid. Meanwhile, a British resident rules, and Mr. Chamberlain is called upon to decide whether he will have a military governor, a protectorate or a chartered company. There is already talk of building a light railway to Coomassie, and developing the country with an Imperial grant.

The death of Prince Henry of Battenberg has drawn out an expression of universal sympathy and sorrow for the Queen and Princess Beatrice. The court is ordinarily inaccessible to the public, except as the stilted daily Court Circular records the doings of royalty; but when the hour of bereavement comes there seem to be no secrets and the public is admitted into the full confidence of the Queen's family.

Royalty is isolated in its recreation and daily life; its sorrow alone is shared by a nation whose loyalty and affection are always quickened when the shadows are deepest at court.

STRATHROY ARSON CASE.

Mrs. Seaton Brought Up for Trial—Story of a Colored Jockey.

London, Jan. 25.—Mrs. John Seaton, the Strathroy woman charged with conspiracy to commit arson, was brought here to-day for trial. The evidence against the prisoner is strong. She is only 33 years of age, while her husband, who is also implicated, is 75 years. They were married last spring. The witness who has drawn Mrs. Seaton into the present difficulty is Charles Williams, a colored jockey. He says that he accidently met the Seatons at Sarnia, and that Mrs. Seaton, after one or two conversations, with him, proposed that he should burn the Seaton property at Strathroy. She offered him money, and promised to pay as soon as the work was done. To Williams she said that this was no country for either of them, and she would leave it as soon as she got the money. In order to conduct her conversations with Williams, she sent her aged husband home. During the hearing before Squire Noble, Mrs. Seaton repeatedly called the witness a "liar," and acted in an excited manner.

He Was a Canadian.

Raleigh, N.C., Jan. 26.—Captain Thomas S. Smythe of the revenue cutter Colfax, died at Wilmington last night of Bright's disease. He was a native of Canada and was 62 years old.

BILLY BLACK CAPTURED.

A Notorious Crook Who Has Been Wanted for Some Time Past.

Hamilton, Jan. 26.—Billy Black, the notorious crook, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Detectives Coulter and Bleakley. He has been in the city off and on for about two months, and was wanted by Provincial Detective Murray for robbing a bank at Clarksburg, Grey County, on Aug. 31, 1894. He was also wanted by the Toronto police, as he was one of the famous Rutledge gang, who committed scores of robberies in Ontario and Quebec. About a year ago the Toronto police located the gang at Streetsville, and the conflict that was waged, during which numerous shots were exchanged, is fresh in everyone's mind. On Saturday afternoon the detectives were coming up Caroline-street, they saw Black standing at the corner of King and Caroline-streets. When he saw them coming he walked hurriedly up to George-street and then began to run. The detectives jumped into Owen Holan's cutter and pursued him, and when they reached him, Black pulled a revolver and threatened to shoot Detective Bleakley. Detective Coulter told the latter to shoot the crook, but the latter put his revolver in his pocket. He was taken into custody and will be handed over to Detective Murray. He is about 53 years old, and was in Kingston Penitentiary from 1884 till 1893.

"I KILLED THAT MAN."

The Sensational Scene Which Took Place in a Chicago Court

Chicago, Jan. 25.—There was a sensational scene in the Criminal Court to-day when John Oram was called up say why sentence should not be imposed upon him for the murder of Joseph Conlan. As Oram arose, his wife sprang to her feet and cried, "I killed that man. My husband is not guilty. He shall not suffer for my crime." The court room was instantly in an uproar. When quiet was restored, the prisoner was sentenced to imprisonment for life. Mrs. Oram told the judge that she committed the murder, but that her husband's lawyers would not allow her to testify. The judge told her her testimony would be of no avail, as her previous contradictory testimony would not prove it. She then fainted away repeatedly.

RAILWAY PROJECT.

An Important Acquisition to the Grand Trunk Railway

Lindsay, Jan. 26.—A meeting of the directors of the Lindsay, Haliburton and Mattawa Railway Company, an extension of the Haliburton branch of the Grand Trunk to Mattawa, was held in Lindsay on Saturday, Jan. 25.

The following officers were elected for 1896: Major Sam. Hughes, M.P., Lindsay, president; Hon. John Dobson, Lindsay, vice-president; William McArthur, Fenelon Falls, secretary; John H. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, treasurer; directors, Frank Sandford and William Jordan, Fenelon Falls; J. O. Revel, Coboconk; Michael Brown, J. W. Watson, James Mortimer and William T. Gainer, Minden; Robert Bryans, Lindsay and George Laidlaw, Victoria Road.

It was decided to arrange with the Boards of Trade of Toronto, Lindsay and Mattawa, as well as with the County Councils of Victoria and Haliburton, to wait upon the Ontario and the Dominion Governments with a view to secure bonuses for the road. The extension will open up to Toronto a magnificent territory, rich in pine and hardwood timber, minerals and fine farming and grazing lands.

TORONTO MARKETS.

Flour—The market is very strong, but sales not numerous. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.50.

Bran—Cars of bran are firm at $11 to $11.50 west, and shorts at $12.50 to $13.50.

Wheat—The demand is good, and prices are higher. Sales of white were made outside to-day at 77c, and red is quoted at 76c. No. 2 fall offered east C.P.R. at 78c. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold at 77c to arrive North Bay, and No. 1 at 75c west, lake and rail. No. 1 grinding in transit is quoted at 78c. No. 2 hard offered at 74c, Toronto, with 72c bid, and No. 3 hard to arrive North Bay offered at 72c.

AT THE CAPITAL.

Government Position on the School Question.

WORKING IT TO CATCH VOTES

No Desire for a Settlement With Manitoba—Bargain With the Bishops in Regard to Charlevoix—Rumors of Another Crisis in the Cabinet.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The Conservatives who have been led to believe that the Dominion Government really desire to have Manitoba settle the school question within its own borders, will have their eyes opened by the statement of a member of the Government to Parliament on Thursday night. Hon. Mr. Costigan will be accepted as a fair exponent of the views of the minority, and here is his tatement as reported in Hansard: "If the leader of the Opposition had a guarantee in his pocket and could produce it before the House from the Government of Manitoba stating that in 25 hours from this time they would amend the law and re-establish Separate schools, acquiescing in the remedial order, I say that would be no remedy, that it would be no settlement of the case, that they could kick it aside three months afterwards if they thought it had not worked well. There is only one way under the constitution to settle the question."

The one was is, of course, to enact legislation at Ottawa, and the reason that this one way is clung to is that a Federal act could not be repealed by any future Parliament. It does not suit the policy of those who are propelling the present Government toward coercion to allow Manitoba full opportunity to settle the domestic difficulty. The Government have now made this confession to Parliament, and it is for the electors to penetrate the pretence which Dr. Montague and his colleagues have kept up in the bye-elections.

Clerical interference in the County of Charlevoix in 1876 caused the Supreme Court of Canada to unseat Sir Hector Langevin on the ground of undue influence. There is to be an election in Charlevoix to-morrow (Monday), and again the Roman Catholic Church is interfering with the object of electing the coercion candidate, Mr. Cimon. Bishop Labreque, whose diocese includes Charlevoix, has sent telegrams to all the cures in the county in the following terms: "We do not wish to interfere in politics, but there is a matter of conscience involved in the question of remedial legislation, and it will be the duty of Catholics to vote only for the candidate who has pledged himself to a remedial bill which shall have been approved previously by ecclesiastical authority."

This extraordinary declaration, read in all the churches to-day, will probably secure the defeat of Mr. Angers, the Liberal candidate, who stands squarely on Mr. Laurier's platform on the school question. Otherwise Mr. Angers' election was certain by a majority of 500. There are evidences that the Government has made a bargain with the bishops for their influence and support in return for a bill respecting the schools of Manitoba.

On the eve of the bye-elections in Montreal and Jacques Cartier the following letter was addressed to the Rev. Abbe Bedard, one of the directors of the Circle Ville Marie, before which Mr. Laurier had been invited to speak on the relative merits of the American and Canadian constitutions: "Archbishop's Palace. To the Rev. Abbe Bedard: I see that you have taken steps to invite the leader of the Opposition to preside at one of your meetings. Will you tell me why you mix up politics in these matters? The Conservatives have great difficult in getting their candidate elected. The Manitoba schools are endangered, and here is a priest giving countenance to the Opponents of Manitoba schools by inviting their leader to preside. For God's sake try to find means for putting a stop to this fasle step. Yours truly, Charles Edouard, Archbishop of Montreal."

According to The Toronto Mail and Empire, Mr. Laurier is trading on his race and religion in Quebec to secure votes and promising Remedial Legislation, too, but the Roman Catholic Archbishop describes Mr. Laurier as the leader of the opponents of separate schools in Manitoba, and in God's name implores Abbe Bedard to keep Mr. Laurier in the background. The Government press say it is in Ontario that Mr. Laurier is regarded as the opponent of coercion, but Archbishop Fabre is not in Ontario. The truth is that the bishops in Quebec have sold their influence in exchange for a school bill for Manitoba, and Premier Bowell, Mr. Haggart, Mr. Foster, and Dr. Montague are all parties to the bargain, and Bishop Labreque say no bill not previously submitted to and approved by ecclesiastical authority will be accepted.

Rev. Father Lacombe, who is in Ottawa, is supposed to be employed in the interests of Remedial Legislation and Government candidates, and he has announced in a circular just issued that the Dominion Government has granted him 160,000 acres of land in the Northwest for a French half-breed reserve. The Government have not considered whether a segregated settlement of French in the Territories is in the interests of that country, because it is on record in one of the reports of the Minister of the Interior that settlements of different nationalities are not in the interests of the country. Now is the time, however, to obtain favors from the Government. They will surrender everything if they can only be allowed to retain office.

Rumors of another crisis and the resignations of some of the Ministers spread rapidly through the city on Saturday and caused great excitement. Everyone asked everybody else to confirm the news, but nobody could definitely say just what was the matter. The Cabinet met in the forenoon and again in the afternoon. Premier Bowell denied the report, and it is difficult to learn just how matters stand. The Remedial Bill was underlined for Saturday's meeting, and it is reported that the bill pleases neither side.

OTONABEE.

From our own Correspondent.

The newly elected Council met and made declaration and qualification of office. Reeve Anderson in the chair. The following officers were appointed :—A. Shearer and D. P. McFarlane, auditors; G. W. Eason, assessor; Wm. Drummond, collector; J. M. Drummond, clerk and treasurer; under the provisions of the new Health Act, Thos. J. Johnston was appointed a member of the Local Board of Health for three years, John Doyell for two years; A. Weir, one year; Reeve Anderson, chairman, and J. M. Drummond, Secretary; John Dinsdale and John Bell, sanitary inspectors; Dr. Shaw, Medical Health Officer. R. Cavanagh presented a request, signed by six ratepayers, that Jas. Healy be granted aid, as his family had the scarlet fever and no one would employ him for fear of contagion. The Reeve was authorized to give him an order for provisions, not to exceed $10. Jas. Ronnie also presented a petition, signed by five ratepayers, that he was in need of charity. He was allowed $3 per month from the 1st of January to 1st of May and the following indigents to be allowed until further notice the following sums:—A. McDermott, $3 per month; Jas. Metcalf, $3 per month; Jas. Armstrong and wife, $2 per week; Mrs. Barry, $1 per week. The Reeve was authorized to grant Edward O'Brien what he considered necessary. A communication was received from Gilbert Blezard and others contradicting a charge that Wm. Moore made at the nomination for Councillors, that road division No. 9 had done very little work for $20 expended in that division in 1895 and requesting the Council to notify Mr. Moore to meet parties at the February meeting of the Council to prove or withdraw his charges. The clerk was instructed, in accordance with the above, to notify Mr. Moore. Wm. Fitzgerald and M. Grady were present, requesting a further grant to brush and grade the unfinished job on the 1st con. line, lot 28. On motion an additional grant of $25.00 was made on condition that Ward No. 2 give $10.00 out of its appropriation, W. Anderson and J. Lancaster, commissioners. Jas. Cooney made application for pay for filling in gravel pit on edge of 9th con. line, opposite his lot. Councillor Weir was appointed to investigate and report to council J. H. Taylor applied for the unused portion of the 9th con. line between lots 10. Granted until required for road purposes. The Otonabee Agricultural Society requested remission of its 1895 taxes, amounting to $2.90.—Granted. Requests were received from C. Crozier and W. Hill for remission of 1895 dog tax, as they did not own dogs—Granted when usual declaration is made. The clerk was instructed to prepare a form of declaration and have 100 copies printed for the use of the assessor, to be signed by parties who say they are not the owners or harbourers of a dog or bitch, as a good deal of complaint is being made that a number of persons have been in the habit of temporarily sending their dogs away or denying they own any. If after making a declaration any persons be found to be the owners or harbourers of a dog or bitch, a severe penalty will be the consequence. In 1895 there were 380 dogs and only two bitches assessed. Following accounts were passed: J. Dinsdale posting scarlet fever notices at Messrs. Healey and Burk's, $2.00; Fred. Fife, repairing culvert, $1.75; J. M. Drummond, 1895 salary, $240; refund postage, $20.00; government returns, $5.00; equalizing union school sections, $3.00; interest on advances, $4.35. Council adjourned to 17th February.

A mirror could not lie if it wanted to. The glass has nothing to gain by flattery. If the roses of health and plumpness of beauty are leaving your face, your mirror will tell you so. Health is the greatest beautifier in the world. When a woman sees the indications of ill-health in the face, she may with almost absolute certainty look for the cause in one or both of two conditions—constipation, and derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure permanently and positively any so-called "female complaint." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation. There is no reason in the world why a woman should not be perfectly healthy. She will gain in health, strength and flesh. Hollows and angles will give place to fullness and grace. She will be that noblest and most beautiful of all creation—a perfect woman.

THE COPYRIGHT QUESTION.

Mr. Hall Caine Will Deliver His Report in London To-Day—An Outline of It.

New York, Jan. 26.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables:

Mr. Hall Caine will deliver his report on the Canadian copyright question and his recent mission as a delegate of the Society of Authors on Monday afternoon, at the rooms of the Royal Medical Society.

A news agency claims to have an advance copy of the report, a synopsis of which is given in this report. Mr. Caine ventures the opinion that nothing in the Venezuelan or Transvaal questions can be found more liable to breed serious international and colonial disputes than the Canadian copyright question. He points out in his statement the power that Canada has to embroil England in a quarrel through unfriendly legislation towards the United States on the part of the Dominion, and details at length how a compromize may be brought about between the different interests.

Commenting on the generous treatment which he received while in America, he continues: "On my return, the Right. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, expressed much gratification at the prospect of an amicable adjustment of what threatened to become an awkward question. The Parliamentary Council has revised the draft of the act with great wisdom, and after considerable research this document has been returned to Ottawa, where it now is in the hands of the Secretary of State, the Hon. W. H. Montague, who believes that the interests of authors should be safe-guarded.

"In the meantime, we may congratulate ourselves on having shown Canada a way to protect herself, and yet of adhering to the terms of the Berne convention, still enabling the United States to retain all of the substantial advantages of the American copyright, at the same time having reached terms permitting an expression of peace and good will towards all of the interested classes of the Dominion."

Referring to Prof. Goldwin Smith's desire for one copyright law for the whole empire, Mr. Caine says: "That should be our watchword until the morning, after America abandone her manufacturing clause and joins the Berne convention."

In conclusion, Mr. Caine said: "If we have solved the copyright question by considering it solely as a matter between Canada and America, which it is in the main, we have recognized at the same time that it is only one of the dangers that lie between two great countries whose geographic situation makes the cause of many troubles in the future. It is hard to conceive of any just cause for a war between England and the United States, but if war ever takes place it will be because of friction between our great Dominion and the States alongside of it. An Englishman cannot cross the Niagara River without realizing to his great pain that the fire which burned so fiercely on Queenston Heights smoulders still on both sides of that turbulent water.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

That Secret Understanding Believed to be a Reality

NOTWITHSTANDING ALL DENIALS.

A Correspondent Says Russia is Master of the Situation Germany Seeks Favor With the Czar The Turkish Government Has Raised Funds Somehow.

London, Jan. 25.—Although the Governments here and in Berlin concur in denying all knowledge of an offensive and defensive alliance between Russia and Turkey, little confidence is placed in their professions of ignorance. Semi-official denials, in a case like this are to be expected, especially when the defeated diplomats wish to conceal the truth or prevent its being told.

Within three weeks Parliament will assemble. Before that period has elapsed the evidence of the existence of a Russo-Turkish compact will probably become so complete that further denials will be impossible. In Ministerial circles it is believed that Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador to Turkey, will be recalled and that this action is due to the fact that he has been over-reached and discredited in Constantinople. It is believed the Cabinet yesterday discussed the matter for the first time, although the news of the compact must have been in Lord Salisbury's possession for two weeks.

The Speaker correspondent at Constantinople, whose inside information gives his communication high responsibility, has written, under date of Jan. 18, that Russia is absolute master of the situation. The secret compact guarantees the integrity of the Ottoman Empire, Russia agreeing to assist in the restoration of order in Kurdistan and also to defend the Dardanelles. France has made her bargain with Russia, and will, consequently, give her assent to the compact.

Germany is currying favor with the Czar. Austria is hampered by her German connection and will maintain a pessimist neutrality and await her opportunity. This, the correspondent adds, is the end of the intervention of the powers. A triumph for Russia and the defeat and humiliation of Great Britain.

Some Sort of Entente.

London, Jan. 25.—Today's reports from the various European capitals agree that there is some form of entente between Russia and Turkey. According, to The Evening Standard's Vienna correspondent, M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, had an audience with the Sultan on Christmas day, at which none of the palace officials were allowed to be present. A secret conversation was then proposed. A few days afterwards Araf Pasha, one of the Sultan's aides de camps, accompanied by a dragoon from the Russian Embassy, started for St. Petersburg, where the negotiations were concluded. The news leaked out about the time Araf Pasha left Constantinople, and was published in several of the city papers, which were promptly suppressed by the authorities. The representative of the United Press has heard that Sir Philip Currie, the British Embassador to Turkey, got wind of the negotiations, and questioned M. Nelidoff and Halif Rifaat Pasha, the Grand Vizier, concerning the matter, but he got no satisfactory answer from either of them. Lord Salisbury has now sent a communication to St. Petersburg, relative to the compact.

Everybody Believes It is a Fact, Notwithstanding Denials.

New York, Jan. 26.—The World's London special says:

The existence of the alleged Russo-Turkish treaty has corroboration today in a letter from the Speaker's usually very well-informed Constantinople correspondent, whi gives its substance practically as telegraphed a few days before by The Pall Mall Gazette correspondent. The despatches in all the papers from various European capitals discuss its probability in spite of official denials.

The Times, London, special says: The Pall Mall Gazette's story of a Russo-Turkish treaty gets plenty of official denials, but it is precisely one of those statements which, if not literally true, describes all the same an actual situation. That Russia has the Sultan in the hollow of her hand, and that he does whatever Nelikoff tells him to do, has been common knowledge for six weeks or more. Whether this relation has been formalized by a treaty is wholly a consideration of expediency.

It is beginning to be comprehended now that Germany and Russia are acting in entire accord, and that England is giving up the notion of trying to establish closer relations with Russia. All the interest here is concentrated on the question of what France will do when she, too, sees that the Russian policy is being dictated from Berlin.

Denials Do Settle It.

Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune:

If Russia has adopted measures by which the Black Sea is converted into a private pond, without a free outlet for her navy, the truth of the disclosure will not be admitted by any responsible diplomatist. The story may not be true, but denials do not settle it, for these would be forthcoming in any event.

What is more to the point is the temper of the English journals in discussing the general subject. Even with a flying squadron available for service, there are no suggestions from any source that the Cyprus convention now binds England to protect the frontier of Asiatic Turkey, or that the Sultan should be prevented from flinging himself into the arms of Russia.

Treaties Cut No Figure

The Sun's correspondent cables on the same subject: "Whatever form the agreement between the Sultan and the Czar may have taken, it is undoubtedly a secret understanding, and nobody expects it to be avowed at present. Most of those who discredit the reported alliance point out that it would be in direct contravention of existing treaties. So it would be; but one of the most startling facts in these days of crisis is that existing ties and treaties are held in the lightest esteem and discussed everywhere as among the ephemeral factors of the situation.

SIR FREDERICK LEIGHTON DEAD.

Elevated to the Peerage the First Day of This Year—Enjoyed His Royal Honors But Briefly.

London, Jan. 25.—The Globe announces the death of Sir Frederick Leighton, the celebrated painter, and president of the Royal Academy.

Sir Frederick Leighton, Bart., P.R.A., LL.D., D.C.L., was born at Scarborough December 3, 1830. As a child he evinced a strong passion for painting. He studied at Rome, Berlin, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Florence, Paris and Brussels. His first exhibited work was a large picture "Cimabue's Procession," which excited much interest at the Royal Academy. It was purchased immediately by the Queen, and was shown at a number of exhibitions. Subsequently Mr. Leighton resided at Paris for four years and then took up his residence in London.

In 1855 he exhibited at the Academy in London his great picture, "The Triumph of Music," the subject being Orpheus by the power of his art redeeming his wife from Hades.

He afterwards exhibited "The Fisherman and the "Siren," "Romeo and Juliet," "Pavonia," "Sunny Hours," and "La Nana." Many famous paintings followed in rapid succession, historical and scriptural.

Some of his latest are: "The Bath of Psyche," and as late as 1893, "Farewell," "?" "Atalanta," and "Rizpah."

He was chosen president of the Royal Academy November 13, 1878, a few days later receiving the honor of knighthood.

In 1886 he was created a baronet and on New Year's Day of the present year was elevated to the peerage. He was a member of many foreign artistic societies holding high office.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

Tuberculosis Near Here.

From Warkworth, Northumberland County, ward has been received at the Provincial Medical Health Office, of experiments with tuberculine on cattle suspected of tuberculosis. Of twenty cases, fifteen were found by the test to be tuberculosis, and four of the cattle on being slaughtered, proved to be afflicted with the disease.

Before the Squire.

Morris Ganey, the young man who created the disturbance at the corner of Elizabeth street and Driscoll terrace, Ashburnham, Friday evening last, appeared before Squire Wood, Saturday afternoon, and was taxed $4.25, and an additional $1 to replace the broken lights of glass which he had shattered in Mrs. Swanston's hotel. He was given ten days to settle.

Not the Case Here.

Some farmers, says the Lindsay Post, have reported the loss of parcels from their sleighs. When returning from town boys would catch on to the sleighs, and not being watched, would remove parcels. This has at least two unpleasant sides. It not only occasions loss to the farmer, but often the merchant is blamed for not having put up the goods as ordered. We would call the attention of the authorities to this and also advise the farmers not to be at all merciful in the application of the whip.

A New Table for Draughtsmen.

Drawing tables, that is, tables for drawing on, are now considered to be indispensable to the draughtsman. They are a great help to the professional man as well as to the novice. PETERBOROUGH CUSTOM HOUSE.

The Replies to Mr. Landerkin's Questions—The Deficit in the Late Collectors' Accounts is $3000.

In the House of Commons on Friday, Mr. Wood, Minister of Customs, said in answer to Mr. Landerkin, that Mr. Clementi, Collector of Customs, had been removed from the office at Peterborough. There was a deficit in his accounts in the neighbourhood of $3,000. The Government was fully secured, the bondsmen being Jas. Stevenson and Robt. Rowe. The port of Peterborough had been last inspected on December 14, 1894. Clementi had not been granted leave of absence before going to Chicago. Mr. Rufus Stevenson had been appointed to the office. The late collector had been paid salary to December 31st last. The inspector in charge had telegraphed that he would not be able to report before next week. The appointment of the present incumbent had been made as soon as the Government was aware of the absence of Clementi. In answer to a question, Mr. Wood said the new incumbent was not Mr. Rufus Stevenson of Chatham.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

The Arabs Again.

The North Ontario Times, in this week's issue, had the following to say anent the Arabs or Pyrenean gypsels:—"A caravan of what could be taken for none other than the refuse of the world, simmered down to its most repulsive dregs, passed through town about noon on Saturday. It consisted of some four or five covered carts, sufficiently large for two or three of the 'bete noir' to stretch out their amalgamated mass of misery in. These carts were drawn by temporarily glued together bones, no doubt thrown out as useless from a fertilizing machine. Had Darwin seen the bipedal portion of this caravan he might have propounded different theories to what he did; but we consider those theories which are credited to him preferable to any which he could propound from this heterogeneous mass. The bears, of which there were four, and ugly looking creatures at their best, bore the most respectable appearance of the lot. Many stories, some of them being of a most atrocious nature, are in circulation about these travellers, one of which is to the effect that if in their begging rounds they find the women of the house alone they scare them by threatening to let the bears loose if refused their demandr. Another report, and it hardly seems credible, is that during the cold snap of a couple of weeks ago some of their babies were frozen to death and afterwards cut up and fed to the bears. Such people, whether such reports are true or false, should not be allowed to pass through the country; they are not only worthless but a menace to public property and unprotected women. They camped in A. Skien's woods, just east of the town, on Friday night, but offered no effrontery to any of the neighbors. On Saturday night and Sunday they stopped in O'Bern's bush, two miles south.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY WINS.

Chief Justice Meredith Decides that the County of Peterborough is not Liable.

It will be remembered that the township of Somerville brought action against the counties of Victoria and Peterborough to compel the defendants to maintain a bridge in the township of Somerville known as the Kinmount bridge, and upon the main road leading from Bobcaygeon to Minden. It was contended by the township that the bridge was a deviated one and that the counties were liable for a portion of its maintenance. The county of Peterborough contended that it was not in the county of Peterborough and was not such as this county should be asked to maintain. Chief Justice Meredith, who tried the case decided against the township of Somerville and practically against the County of Victoria, in whose interest the township entered the suit, they practically consenting to judgment being entered against this County, the County of Victoria realizing that they would be compelled to assist if not entirely maintain the structure as a county bridge.

The County of Peterborough wins with full costs. Aylesworth, Q. C., and McSwayne for the plaintiff, Stratton & Hall for defendant, County of Peterborough, and Moore for the defendant, County of Victoria.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

The hockey match on Saturday evening between the Volts and the Peterboroughs was poorly patronized, although it turned out to be the fastest game that has been played on the local ice this season. The Volts were right on the puck all the time, and the way they stayed with the Peterboroughs and broke up their rushes was highly creditable to them. The Volts have been steadily improving since the opening of the season, and after the splendid exhibition of hockey which they gave on Saturday night, it is evident that the Norwoods or Lindsays would not be a match for them in the Peterborough rink.

The game resulted in a victory for the Peterboroughs by the score of 8-3.

The teams lined up on the ice in the following order:

Volts.		Peterborough.
J Jones	goal	E Wasson
R Thorne	point	S Adams
Barclay	cover point	J Parsons
Rubidge	forwards	Montgomery
Wilgar		W Phelan
Hicks		R Davidson
Hall		F Lefevre
W Stocker	umpire	H Ray
W J Thompson	time-keepers	Alf Terrill

Referee—Howard MacGachan.

The puck was faced at 8.20 and was secured at the start by Wilgar, the captain of the Volts, who rushed it down on the Peterborough flags, around which it hovered for some time with the Volts' forwards working like Trojans for the honour of "first blood." It was not to be though and soon the Peterboroughs were on the aggressive instead of the defensive and the war raged in the Volts territory, Roger Davidson scoring the first game in seven minutes.

The Peterboroughs were under the impression at the start that they would have an easy thing of it in defeating the Volts and consequently were somewhat careless, to their cost, as a moments relaxation in their play was taken instant advantage of by the Volts to rush down on their opponents goal.

The goals were scored in the following order:—

1—Peterborough,	by	Davidson	7 mins
2— "	"	Phelan	5 "
3— "	"	Lefevre	6 "
4— "	"	Montgomery	5 "
5— "	"	Lefevre	4 "

HALF TIME.

6—Peterborough,	by	Lefevre	9 "
7— "	"	Phelan	6 "
8—Volts,	"	Wilgar	2 "
9—Peterborough,	"	Phelan	0½ "
10—Volts,	"	Rubidge	5½ "
11— "	"	Hicks	2 "

Phelan scored on a beautiful long shot from the side, but Umpire Stocker's excitement had reached high a pitch at this stage of the game as to seriously impair his usefulness and he did not see the shot. It made even the Volts laugh. A cooler man should should be chosen as umpire. One goal may mean victory in the final matches.

If the Volts can keep their present team together for next season they will show up well. Wilgar and Thorne are the only two men playing from last year.

Phelan was on the ice for the last time and played his usual brilliant game. He will be greatly missed indeed.

Adams did some splendid work on Saturday evening, though both he and Parsons left Wasson uncovered too much. This probably was due to the fact that they underestimated the strength of the Volts.

Thorne for the Volts played a steady game at point, and Jones in goal stopped many a hot one.

Davidson showed up splendidly in his first league match of the season, and will do some star playing in the finals. His hand is almost entirely healed.

Lefevre made some very pretty shots on goal which were "wicked" indeed.

"Monty" showed up well when he tried the position of centre forward, and will probably play there the rest of the season.

CURLIANA.

The local dominies of the Collegiate Institute staff went over to Lindsay on Saturday, and had the pleasure of downing the Lindsay pedagogues by the following score:

H R H Renner,	W Stevens,
J Jeffries, sk.....24	J C Harstone, sk. 10

Six rinks of the Toronto Granites come down to-night for a friendly game on the local ice.

The Globe has the following to say of the Granite's defeat in Toronto, Friday;—

At the Victoria Rink in the morning the Caledonians and Peterborough' Granites agreed to play after reconnoitring the ground, as it were, and despite the disadvantages which the low temperature entailed a high degree of skill was displayed by the contestants. Bullet shots were at a premium, as the dragging ice seriously interfered with the accuracy of the "draws" which were tried but seldom. Peterborough having downed the Oshawas, winners of the consolation and the Governor-General's medals last years, were sanguine of victory, but in the Caledonians, comprising the famous Rennie four, which has the single rink championship of Toronto almost in its grasp, they found doughtier antagonists than they had previously known, and it was their lot to taste defeat. They struggled hard and gamely all the way, but luck, which plays so important a part in curling, was with their opponents, and at the conclusion they were four down. Skip Ross' rink led from the start to the finish for the Caledonians, but it was the reverse with Rennie and Allen. At the fourth end the Scotchmen were 7 behind, not having scored, but 1, 4 and 2 ends in succession put them on level terms. Peterborough got 1 and 3, and at the eleventh end the score was 13 to 9 in their favour. At the seventeenth round both rinks came up smiling, but Rennie had the advantage, the score being 16 to 15. At the nineteenth Rennie got 4, Peterborough 1, on the next; on the twenty-first Caledonians 2, and on the last Peterborough 4, losing by only one shot. The score:

Caledonians.	Peterborough Granites.
A B Nicol,	G L Hay,

THE WHEEL.

The Toronto Globe says,—George J. Horkins, the popular Peterborough man, who has been spoken of as being a possible candidate for Presidental honours in the C. W. A., authorizes the Globe to state that he has no intention of running either for that office or for the Vice-Presidency.

Peterborough and the immediate district, which in point of C. W. A. members will control enough votes to swamp any other two districts, says the Toronto Globe, will come out solid for Balfour of London, thus ensuing the support of that town and probably of the extreme west. London has been mentioned as being out for the meet, but it is an understood thing that they will forego their chances this year in favour of Peterborough, which city will reciprocate by booming Balfour for the Presidency. Robertson will receive their support for the Vice-President's chair this year and for the chief office in 1897.

There is no one in a position to state just what course the Peterborough bicyclists will take regarding the presidency.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

DAILY MOTTO.

Monday, Jan. 27th.

Every time the thought of Christ puts from us one temptation. Every time an impure thought is suppressed by the thought of His purity. Every time some self-indulgence is put aside by the thought of His self-denial, the very life of God gains depth and power in our souls.

Mr. John Lynch, of Boston, is in town, visiting his father, Mr. F. J. Lynch, who is unwell.

Mr. J. L. Birnie, of Chicago, is visiting his brother, Mr. Geo. Birnie, at the Grand Central.

Mr. K. G. Lech has been confined to his residence with illness for the past several days.

Miss Maggie Thompson, Allandale, who has been visiting with Miss Eloise Glover, returned home to-day.

Mr. T. G. Speer, of Manitoba, who has been absent from Peterborough for about twenty years is in town visiting his sister, Mrs. R. A. Hamilton, London and Harvey streets.

Mr. Walter Phelan will be banquetted to-night, at nine o'clock, at the Palace Restaurant, by the Hockey Club and his friends, prior to his departure for Winnipeg. He leaves in the morning.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. Michael O'Brien, of the Peterborough Collegiate staff (formerly headmaster of the Separate school here), called upon a few of his many friends to-day. He is here as a member of the Peterborough Collegiate curling rink, doing battle with the Lindsay Collegiate experts at the "roarin' game."

By advertisement in another column it will be seen that Mr. John McNaughton is disposing of his boot and shoe stock, preparatory to removal from Peterborough early in the coming spring. Mr. McNaughton will be very much missed in town, especially in the South Ward, which he represented several terms in the Town Council, and he was always a prominent figure in municipal circles. He was a pronounced champion of the rights of the people and his energetic advocacy will be missed. He has rented all his houses.

An Earnest Appeal From the Superintendent of Missions.

At St. John's church, on Sunday morning, Rev. Geo. Rogers, Winnipeg, superintendent of missions for the Diocese of Rupert's Land, preached an effective sermon on the needs of that field and its claims to the practical assistance of the church in Ontario. His text was I. Samuel vii., 12—"Hitherto has the Lord helped us." He began by pointing out the wonderful growth of the Church of England in the past century—especially in Canada. At the beginning of the century the only two bishops outside of Great Britain, of course excluding the United States, were those of Nova Scotia and Quebec. When the Queen was born in 1819 there were only three bishops of the colonial church—Nova Scotia, Quebec and Calcutta. But Her Majesty had lived to see twenty dioceses in in Canada, fourteen in Africa, thirteen in Australia, five in China and Japan, six in the West Indias, six in India and fifty-five in the United States, altogether 113 dioceses outside of Great Britain. St. Paul's church, Halifax, was the pioneer church of Canada. The first service held in the west was in 1820, by Rev. John West. The Diocese of Rupert's Land covered an area equal to the four dioceses of Ontario. In that diocese in 1820 there were but six missions, now there were fifty-seven. In 1880 there were twenty-four congregations now there were 240, not including 40 Indian congregations. In 1880 the total contributions were $6,000, last year they were $70,800.

The speaker then went on to point out the necessity of the gospel going pari passu with settlement. In the United States there were 25,000,000 people who never entered a church, and in that country last year there were 10,500 murders, while in the Dominion of Canada there were only 14—if the ratio of crime to numbers had followed there would have been 800 murders in Canada. In the United States settlement went without the gospel and the people of that country were without the moral, elevating and restraining influence the Gospel implied. This was used to forcibly point the necessity of more wide-spread mission work in Rupert's Land, which was fast filling up with population which needed the blessings of the gospel. An earnest appeal was made for moral and material help.

WEST WELLINGTON.

Mr. James Tucker, the Patron Candidate, Captures the Seat From Which Mr. George Tucker Was Ousted.

Guelph, Jan. 25.—The bye-election in West Wellington for the Ontario Legislature, made necessary by the unseating of Mr. George Tucker, Patron, took place yesterday and resulted in the election of Mr. James Tucker, the Patron candidate, over Mr. Patterson, Liberal. The result is a surprise to the Liberals, who carried on a vigorous campaign and had the assistance of Hon. G. W. Ross, and other Ontario Government leaders. There is one subdivision yet to hear from in Maryborough and one in Peel, which cannot overcome the majority of 226 reported for Mr. Tucker up to the present. The majorities so far reported are:

	Patterson.	Tucker.
Arthur	35	..
Clifford	45	..
Palmerston	..	37
Drayton	57	..
Harriston	61	..
Minto	..	43
Maryborough	..	98
Peel	..	241
Totals	189	424

The majority for Mr. George Tucker in the election of June 26, 1894, was 272. Action was taken in the courts to unseat him for briebry and intimidation, Mr. Tucker in the meantime occupying the seat for last session. Finally the decision went against him. The Patron convention then put Mr. James Tucker up, and, the Conservatives being withdrawn their candidate, the battle between Liberal and Patron was fought over again.

JUBILEE YEAR OF THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

LOCAL BAPTISTS UNITED THEIR SERVICES YESTERDAY.

It is Fifty Years Since the Inception of the Present Murray Street Baptist Congregation—Annual Roll-call, This Evening.

The Murray street Baptist church congregation, celebrated the Jubilee Anniversary of its inception yesterday, and in the morning the Park street church united its service with the former, resulting in a very large congregation.

Rev. Prof. Goodspeed, of McMaster University, was present and delivered both the morning and evenings, sermons. In the morning he spoke from Isaiah. 54 chapter, 5th verse, "For thy Maker is thy husband." Is it not suggestive of a glorious truth said he, that the Trinity is associated, as holding every relation to God's people, dear amongst men? He is known as Father, Brother, Comforter and Friend. Just as men bind together single strands into one great cable, that will support Brooklyn Bridge, so God gathers together all the ties that bind men together to draw them near unto him.

Prof. Goodspeed then stated, that he understood this was the Jubilee year of the church. He would speak of it as "a Golden Wedding" and, as he spoke from the words of the text, it would be seen whether the congregation had borne itself towards the Lord, as would a faithful wife bear herself to her husband.

The foundation of matrimony should be based on a deep honest love and, for a man to ask a woman to be his wife on any other condition is to insult all that is noblest and highest in her. It is in the full sense of the word love that the Almighty is the husband of the church. God has a great pity and compassion for His people, but compassion and pity from a husband are not enough to give a wife, so the wonderful relationship established between God and His people is warmed by the glow of the purest love. You may ask, said he, how the great God can love you with the love of approval. He sees in you something of his own nature, and as a husband forgets all the faults of the wife, so He forgets yours in His great love for you.

As the fullest sympathy should exist between husband and wife, so should it be between God and His people. In looking over the troubles of God's people do the Scriptures not say that Jehovah was afflicted too. As with two people connected by electricity, a shock coming to one is felt as forcibly by the other, so every dart in the hearts of His people is as keenly felt by the Saviour.

As well as the assurance of sympathy there are also many assurances of help in the Scriptures.

When a woman becomes a wife her husband becomes responsible for all her debts, and so the people of God as His espoused, are freed from their debts by Him.

In different parts of the Bible all the riches of the world are promised.

"EVERYTHING IS YOURS,"

but the needs and riches of the world are not enough for a woman to receive from a husband. She requires joy and happiness. Without these, riches are as nothing to her. As a husband provides joy and happiness, then, for his wife, so does the Lord assure us that he also will provide His people with a great happiness.

On the other hand God will require something from his people. He wants their confidence concerning everything. If a wife has a doubt concerning whether a husband's love will be sufficient to encourage her to confide in him, the marriage is one which should never have taken place. Ah, let us have this confidence then in God, said he, let us unbosom ourselves to him at all times.

Then, too, has not He a right to demand that all we do for Him be done through love. If a woman comes to her husband and says, "I will do my duty by you," it is not enough. So is it with God. He does not wish His work done from a sense of obligation, but through love. Of course He would rather His work was done as a duty than not at all, but it will not prove satisfying. When an occasion for work arises one's heart should leap joyously to think that there is an opportunity of doing something for the dear Lord.

As a husband expects the very best love of his wife, so the Lord wants the first love of his people. The Almighty would consider it the highest insult not to have the highest and best love.

The true wife should enjoy the society of her husband. If, when he comes in from business, his wife finds the little time she has to spend with him tiresome, there is something wrong somewhere. So there is something wrong if when we go to church we get restless if the preacher goes a little beyond the time. This hour should be considered the most precious of the day, just as a true wife loves best the hours when her husband is at home.

As the years go by and old age comes upon us then is the time that the whole soul should be swallowed up in the Lord. There could be nothing but pity for an old person who had to go back to their conversion as the time when they felt nearest to God. This same pity would be felt for a husband and wife who as their years advanced did not grow closer and closer together and whose interests at the close of their life had not become identical.

In the Afternoon.

The Sunday school children were marshalled into the church at three o'clock, where a large number of the congregation has assembled to witness the Jubilee exercises of the scholars.

The chair was occupied by Mr. E. A. Stanley, who at the conclusion of the opening devotions, called upon Deacon Matthews for a talk on Sunday Schools of fifty years ago. Mr. Matthews stated that he first attended Sunday school fifty-eight years ago in Cobourg, and in witnessing the exercises of the scholars at the present time he was carried back to the old days when he himself was a Sunday school scholar. The superintendent in those days had a difficult time in arranging the classes, as there were plenty of scholars even larger than those present who could neither read nor write, and more than that, their parents at home did not possess any education either. These, of course, had to be kept apart. As it was a Church of England Sunday school, the Catechism was taught, and he remembered the days he spent in learning the wholesome truths in it with pleasure. There were no libraries in the schools in those days, but if a scholar was particularly diligent he would be rewarded by being given a paper every few weeks. He attended this Sunday school for three or four years, and afterwards moved into the country where he attended what was known as the "little old red school house," in which the windows were purposely built high up near the ceiling so that the scholars' attention would not be distracted by looking outside. He attended regularly until 1846, when he felt that he was outgrowing the Sunday school, and for ten years did not enter one again. He had always since regarded this ten years of his life as being lost, and urged his hearers not to let the precious opportunity pass of attending Sunday School just as often as possible, never allowing any trival excuse to keep them away. One was never too large or too old to attend Sunday school. Just forty years ago he recommenced attending Sunday school, joining that of the Baptists in Port Hope, where he afterwards became a teacher. As there were no leaflets in those days the scholars studied their lesson from the Bible itself and he was inclined to think that this was much the better way as it made them more familiar with the Book. Then the scholars used to commit verses to memory. He had two boys in his class who each won a Bible by repeating seven verses every Sunday in the year. One of them only made two mistakes and the other none at all, although having missed one Sunday he prepared 14 verses for the next. Years after one of these young men had run out from a store and drawing him in had shown him the self-same Bible which he had won. He thought it was a good thing to learn these verses when young as they brought much comfort when remembered in old age and it was a pity the practice had been discarded.

After some more singing by the Sunday school, Rev. J. E. Trotter led in prayer.

Mr. E. Elcome then delivered a most practical address on "Why we should prize and love the Sunday School," in which he spoke of the past two years of being most profitable under the instruction of Mr. Trotter. He dwelt strongly on the necessity of regular and punctual attendance, representing that the many excuses which could be invented were but prompted by Satan, who rejoiced when he succeeded in keeping a scholar from Sunday school, as the more the lad stayed away the more he became isolated from good and the easier his final downfall.

In speaking on "Six ways in which a scholar may help a Teacher," Miss Aldridge said:

Co operation is the secret of the success of a S. S. class. The teacher, of course, is the leader, and his influence the mainspring of class work. The class should respond quickly to the wisely directed touch of the teacher just as the notes of the musical instrument respond to the unhesitating fingers of the player. For example, the teacher may be able to show his pupils that each one is a responsible member of the small co-operating society called the class. Then should a boy be absent one or more Sundays, an interested classmate makes it his business to make it plain to the absent one that all the class have missed him, and in different ways makes it pleasanter for him to come back than it would have been otherwise.

2. The loyal scholar seeks by word and action to show that the S. S. is a place worth attending, and so attracts others to come with him.

3. I want to speak directly to the boys and girls now. You would really enjoy the S. S. hour better if you all would study the lesson as well as possible at home.

Then the outside shell would be torn off, and the richer meat of the truths contained in it by talking it over with the teacher.

In this connection I want to say, I have known scholars who tried to practice in their own daily lives, in the following week, what they had learned on the previous Sunday. This indeed, is a giant help to the teacher.

4. To the members of the older classes.—Do you ever pray for your teacher and classmates? This is helpful beyond measure.

5. Please make your class a pleasant place to the shy new comer, and also to to the boy or girl whom you may have known all your life. Let sunshine dwell in your heart and look out on your face,

6. If absence from Sunday School be unavoidable, then will you please send a note or verbal explanation to the teacher. In closing it is hardly necessary to say that the helpful scholar is on time at every session.

The primary department, under Miss Ada Aldridge and Miss Dolly Langford, then sang "The King of Glory" very prettily.

In closing, the pastor spoke on the ideal Sunday school, or the school which was nearest to what a school should be. This school should be attended by both the young and the old. It should be one in which the teachers and scholars would be regular in attendance. There should be good order everywhere. In which the teachers and the scholars were always on the lookout for recruits. One which would have cordial support of the homes and one which would have for its first object the making of Christians and missionaries.

This evening the annual roll call of the congregation will be held, when the pastor will deliver an address on the progress of the church during the past fifty years.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY

The Report of an Alliance Generally Credited.

BUT CONFIRMATION IS LACKING

The Compact Regarded Solely as a Menace to Great Britain—Germany and France Thought to be With Russia—Italy Will Support Britain.

New York, Jan. 24.—The Sun's London special says:

Again, after a respite of only a week, the political world has been thrown into a condition of turmoil and excitement by the report that an alliance has been ratified between Russia and Turkey.

The report lacks official confirmation but it harmonizes with the course of events in the past few months in the East, and it finds ready credence in London and on the Continent.

The Pall Mall Gazette, which first announced it in circumstantial detail, rightly describes it as "grave news." Just how grave it is we shall not know until other measures in the political reorganization of Europe now in progress are made known.

Judged by itself it is regarded solely as a menace against Great Britain, but not so fatal a menace as it would have been 20 years ago. Then there would have been only one British reply, and that would have been war.

Now that Great Britain holds Egypt, the opening of the Dardanelles to Russian war ships, which a Russo-Turkish alliance, of course, implies, is not so serious a thing as would be, for instance, a Russian occupation of Persia.

The best opinion in London appears to be that, under present circumstances, if it proves true that the Czar and Sultan have joined forces, England will not do more than protest. Those who believe that Great Britain is seeking to seduce France away from her Russian ally think it will be found that Germany is with Russia in combining with the Sultan. This theory is improbable. So also is the idea that Great Britain's generosity to France in the settlement of the Siamese and Niger disputes foreshadows an alliance between those two countries.

It is absurd to pretend that the French people will transfer their affection in a day from Russia to England. Such an alliance, which would have nothing stronger than expediency for a foundation, could not endure.

It is much more reasonable to believe that France is directly or indirectly associated with Russia in the reported compact with the Sultan. England, in that case, has the chagin of knowing that by her half-hearted efforts in behalf of the Armenians she not only failed to reduce the fearful slaughter by a single victim, but accomplished the diplomatic blunder of driving the Sultan into the arms of the Czar.

If to-day's news proves correct, then the next step that may naturally be expected is a joint demand from Russia, France and Turkey upon Great Britain for the evacuation of Egypt. Then, indeed, will England face a crisis which will decide the fate of nations. Where would Germany, Austria and Italy stand in such an issue? England knows, after the experience of the past three weeks, that the best she could expect from Germany would be neutrality, and that would not last long. Austria is the most doubtful one of the trio.

Italy, it may now be said with confidence, would actively support England. Mr. Chamberlain's speech at the Mercers' dinner on Tuesday evening is regarded as almost an official announcement of a complete entente between Italy and Great Britain. In fact this significance was deliberately given to it at the last moment.

The Italian Ambassador was not among the original guests, nor was there any toast to his country on the program. He was invited at Mr. Chamberlain's request and the toast was inserted for the same reason.

This suggests that the Salisbury Government was probably fully aware of the Turkish-Russian negotiations, and intentionally forestalled the news with a tacit announcement that Great Britain and Italy had reached a similar understanding.

It is vain perhaps to speculate as to what the next move in the great game will be, but the whole diplomatic world is doing little else. The prevailing feeling is that anything may happen.

Nothing in the European political situation any longer rests upon a secure foundation.

The morning newspapers are unable to confirm or deny the consummation of an alliance between Russia and Turkey. The despatches from Paris, Berlin and Vienna quote those various Governments as expressing ignorance of any new agreement, as does the British Foreign Office.

In fact, the story is treated by all the official authorities in precisely the same manner as were the first reports of an alliance between Russia and France, which were not admitted until months after it had been agreed upon.

New York, Jan. 24.—The World's London special says:

The Pall Mall Gazette's allegation that Russia and Turkey have concluded an offensive and defensive alliance may be true in spite of to-night's denials.

In the present kaleidoscope of European politics, any surprise is possible any day.

Mr. Cust, editor of The Pall Mall Gazette, was in Constantinople recently, and, being an exceedingly alert newspaper man, very likely arranged there sources of information better than those of his slow-coach English contemporaries. He declares, editorially, that he believes implicitly in his news.

If such a treaty has been signed, if Turkey becomes a vassal of Russia, England would probably retort by hoisting the British flag at Cairo and France would take Syria.

But Austria would be directly affected, and the question is whether such a treaty would not come within the terms of the Triple Alliance, so that Austria could call on Germany and Italy to aid her in resisting it.

Though England would probably not declare war under the existing circumstances if Russia got hold of Turkey, it seems improbable that the consequent action of the different powers in endeavoring to readjust the balance could pass off without a general European conflagration.

TORONTO'S BIG STORM.

The storm was at its worst when the milkmen were making their daily rounds, and many are the casualties reported of them, a number of horses being killed by falling wires and their drivers having narrow escapes from death.

T. H. Chamberlain, an Eglinton milkman, was in Hazelton-avenue when a telegraph pole, with its gridiron of wires fell upon him, burying him and his horse and sleigh. It took nearly half an hour to extricate the man, and he was carried into the house of Miss Harvey, 57 Hazelton-avenue. Chamberlain sustained serious injuries to his spine and was otherwise severely hurt. His injuries may prove fatal.

C. R. Templeton of the Macrae & Macrae Company was knocked down on Sherbourne-street by coming in contact with a live trolley wire. He was stunned for five minutes, the blood rushing from his mouth and nose, but he recovered sufficiently to proceed on his way.

James Dyall was driving around the corner of Brock and Dundas when a telegraph pole snapped, part of it falling on his horse. The animal was killed by a shock from the live wires and Dyall had a miraculous escape.

James McTaggart, 80 Vanauley-street, escaped very fortunately. He was driving down Esther-street, when he heard a crashing sound overhead. He looked up and jumped from his rig just in time to evade a mass of wires, which fell upon the wagon, reducing it to fragments.

A telephone pole loaded with wires fell upon one of the Hygienic Dairy wagons on Avenue-road, smashing the vehicle and instantly killing the horse. The driver escaped with slight injuries.

Another milkman named James Johnson had a thrilling experience on Brock-avenue. The wires fell upon his wagon, killing the horse. Johnson saved his life by jumping.

A laborer named Dobson, who lives on Royce-avenue, narrowly escaped death from falling wires.

A milkman named Scott had his horse killed by wires on Dundas-street.

A horse belonging to Mr. Hanigan, butcher, was struck by the end of a live electric wire in Gerrard-street east and was instantly killed. The driver escaped.

Gathered From the Debris.

The storm stopped the clock in St. James' Cathedral spire.

The stubby poles of the Grand Trunk all successfully withstood the attacks of the ice and wind.

Pedestrians had a lively time dodging a "live" wire on the crossing at Queen and Simcoe-streets.

From Toronto Junction to Newmarket, 34 miles, every telegraph pole on the Northern is down.

An electric light wire in falling set fire to the Grand Trunk station at Carlton. The blaze was extinguished without the aid of Toronto Junction fire brigade. Damage $10.

In the West End three horses were killed by live wires. Two belonging to dairymen succumbed on Dundas-street and the other toppled over at the corner of Queen and Dundas-streets.

In the large departmental stores there was a scarcity of employes, especially saleladies, during the forenoon. At one store 168 of the hands failed to turn up during the morning, while few arrived in time, owing to the deficiency of the street car service and the obstruction in many of the streets.

An East Toronto village pigeon sitting on a roof top during the sleet storm, which froze as fast as it fell, was so coated with ice that when it attempted to raise its wings to fly it came down to the sidewalk like a brick. A passer-by lifted the bird from the ground and placed it in a warm room, when it became as lively as before.

THE McCORD CASE.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond, Jan. 20, (Special).—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said:—"After the doctors pronounced my trouble Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old and have lived here 40 years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price, 50 cents a box.

MR. FRYE LAUDS ENGLAND.

The Senator From Maine Commends He Protection of Her Subjects

Washington, Jan. 24.—Mr. Frye (Republican, Maine), made a patriotic and fiery speech, in which he lauded the English Government for its protection of British subjects in every part of the globe, described eloquently the expedition of Lord Napier to Abyssinia, the storming of Magdala, and the rescue and return to his home of the Scotchman, Campbell, held in a dungeon there, and declared that he had his will Congress would have memorialized Russia to take possession of Armenia, and that the United States would have stood at Russia's back in doing so. He would also have an American fleet appear before Constantinople, in utter disregard of the refusal to allow ships of war in the Dardanelles, and would compel the Sultan to make restitution for losses inflicted on American mission property in Turkey. Mr. Frye's speech was loudly applauded.

Stock Markets Stagnant.

London, Jan. 24.—The stock markets to-day were in a state of stagnation, due to the approaching settlement and conflicting and unconfirmed political stories. Consols and other first-class stocks were better. Americans were good, but closed under the best. The Paris and Berlin markets were quiet and firm.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no stomach or bowel trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They work as if their bodies were made of iron and their brains of steel. They eat as if they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles; health goes and strength goes. It is really wonderful how much abuse the human body will stand! It is equally wonderful how quickly it will recover from abuse if one helps in a rational, natural way.

It was to give just such help that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets were prepared. They are for constipation and torpid liver, and in curing those derangements—cure many complications and resultant diseases, such as sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are mild in action—merely supplementing nature. They are the result of years of study and experience, and there is nothing else like them—nothing so effective. If your druggist tries to sell you something else he is either ignorant or makes more money out of the other thing.

NO FALSE DELUGE.

Living Picture Models Were Ready for a Slight Shower, But the Attendant Let on a Great Downpour.

There was a dress rehearsal of Kilanyi's "Glyptorama" at Koster & Bial's yesterday afternoon.

But yesterday's private exhibition was remarkable in other ways than for artistic merit. The posing was all that could be desired. So was the scenery. So was the manipulation of lights and drapery, but they did not fit. It was the first time they had been tried together. The cues were all wrong, and the result superbly funny, Michael Angelo's studio, with an excellent reproduction of the statute of Moses, was still in the foreground when the scene had raced on to represent the steps of Pharoah's palace when the great lawgiver was being discovered in the bullrushes by the potentate's daughter.

And when, with gorgeous dress and posing, the next foreground showed him being found as an infant, the background shower a watery desert, with the pyramids in the distance, which made everybody present snicker, with recollections of "The Wizard of the Nile."

It was, however, when the big and beautiful scene came on that Johnnie came to the fore. This person had charge of the gauze curtain which helps to give the illusion of the smoke of the field of carnage. Johnnie did his best, but before he got the gauze screen across, the background had faded into an Alpine scene, and the posers were punching holes in the paper rocks in which to get a firm foothold, and one wounded man was explaining to Mr. Bial why he happened to be on the wrong side of the picture.

"I couldn't get me duds on in time, so I tho't I'd drop down here, see? And Mr. Bial didn't attempt to answer but rang up the next.

John was in evidence again when the last two pictures appeared. In both a number of shapely young women in skin-fitting tights lie about in odd attitudes on queer rocks, backed by a stormy sea. John had got his gear into working order by this time, and he worked it.

"Stop that gauze!" shouted the stage manager.

"I can't," came the reply from the clouds. "I've got to work the thing fast or the blamed thing won't go."

The real amusement came during the exposure of the last picture. It is called, "The Deluge." Youthful John had charge of a device by which a realistic downpour of water appears inside the frame and in front of the figures. All these figures, ten in number, were clad in modesty and silk tights. One young woman with auburn hair and a figure of a Juno had just objected to the attitude she was compelled to assume. She said the points of the rocks made it impossible for her to sit still, and some of the paint on another rock came off on her hand.

Then John Jr. pulled the string. He had been instructed to start the flow gently. He made it a real deluge. He just pulled for all he was worth and down came a shower of cold water all over the figures. The auburn-haired girl howled "Ouch!" and landed on the stage. A little blonde on the left jumped up and wrapped a green skirt on which she had been reclining about her otherwise unincumbered form. There were cries of feminine anguish for a second, a multitudinous flash of pink fleshings and an empty frame, except for the background.

By the time John had been called names in seven different languages he concluded to cut off the shower.—New Yory Advertizer.

Japan's New Monopoly.

One of the unconsidered trifles that the Mikado has picked up as the result of the Chinese war is the monopoly of camphor. That drug is produced only in Japan and Formosa, and, though a variety known as Borneo camphor is obtained from Borneo and Sumatra, it cannot compete with the product of the evergreen laurel of the Eastern Asiatic Islands. Inasmuch as camphor, apart from its many and varied therapeutic uses, is an essential thing in the composition of nearly all the new explosives, the demand for it is very large. The Japanese are well aware of the valuable monopoly they have blundered upon rather than sought, and have already begun to limit the export by imposing duties. As a natural consequence the price of the drug has risen rapidly since the war came to an end, and bids fair to rise higher.—Philadelphia Record.

Where the Canaries Come From.

A great many of our finest singers have come from Italy and France, but until we read it in an English newspaper some days ago, we never knew that Germany carries on a very large trade in the rearing and exporting of canaries, and that the largest establishment in the world for the breeding of these creatures is situated within the domains of that empire, away up among the Hartz mountains of Prussia. From this and the few surrounding but much smaller nurseries no fewer than 130,000 birds are despatched every year to the United States and Canada; while in the same time at least 3000 go to Great Britain, and about 2000 go to Russia.—From Harper's Round Table.

Why the Snow Was Sent.

God sent the snow because the roads
And rough concessions were at fault,
And now the farmers bring their loads
By easy stages up to Galt.

God sent the snow, because, they say,
He loves the world where music dwells,
And with the slipping of the sleigh
He hears the chorus of the bells.

God sent the snow to keep the trees,
The roses and the rabbits warm;
The bugs and beetles cannot freeze;
The snow will keep them all from harm.

God sends the snow, if, everywhere
His wondrous deeds were understood,
The spring and frost, the earth and air,
Would teach us all that God is good.
—The Khan.

And still we wonder why Eugene Field cast away the sponge.—Galt Reformer.

Laboucherr's Philosophy.

Marriage is a mortgage that cannot be determined except by death or divorce.

There's many a slip 'twixt the church and the divorce court.

Petticoat principles are principally prejudices.

The most popular type of woman at the close of the nineteenth century is the unladylike lady.

If man were less imaginative, women would be less attractive.

Woman wants dress; man wants redress.

The extent of your trouble is the importance which you attach to it yourself.

Providence made the world a paradise; man has made it a hell; philosophy enables us to make it a purgatory, and religion admonishes us to ignore it altogether.

This is the essence of all wisdom: In life do not love anything or anybody; and, especially, do not love yourself.

Never be hurt when you are hit; your fellow creatures never hit those whom they cannot hurt.—London Truth.

Hood's is Wonderful.

No less than wonderful are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other preparations and physicians prescriptions have failed. The reason, however is simple. When the blood is enriched and purified, disease disappears and good health returns, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

A HEAVY MORTGAGE.

How a prominent farmer quickly lifted it.

A mortgage has been described as an incentive to industry, a heavy mortgage, as a sure sign of ruin. The last is particularly true, for if a mortgage is allowed to ran it will eat up the farm. In this connection Mr. Henry Fowler, of Huron writes: "From my boyhood scrofula had marked me for a victim and it seemed as if it had a life mortgage on my blood. I suffered fearfully with sores, and knowing my condition I have remained a single man. Doctor after doctor prescribed for me, and finally a Toronto specialist told me bluntly that my complaint was a deep-seated, incurable, blood disease. Sarsaparilla I knew was a good blood medicine, and I sent for a bottle of the best. Mr. Todd, the druggist, sent me Scott's Sarsaparilla, and I have stuck to it. It has lifted my mortgage, for to-day I am free from those horrible sores, my eyesight is not blurred, my tongue is not furry, and I have no irritation. I look upon Scott's Sarsaparilla as a marvellous medicine when it will cure a life long disease in so short a time."

Scrofula, pimples, running sores, rheumatism and all diseases generated by poisonous humors in the blood are cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla. The kind that cures. Sold only in concentrated form at $1 per bottle by your druggist. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

REVOLT IN THE ARMY.

United States Salvationists Declare that Ballington Booth shall not Leave.

New York, Jan. 21st.—The peremptory order relieving Ballington Booth of the command of the Salvation Army in America has called forth a protest from the 30,000 soldiers who fairly worship the commander and his wife. The army was stunned by the news. It asked for an explanation, a reason why its leader should be taken away. He answered sadly that he knew nothing more than what the brief order contained. Not a word of information accompanied it. There was no news of where he was to go, or who would be his successor.

"I am a soldier; I must obey," said the commander. "I ask you all to help make my burden as light as possible."

The army refuses to listen to his entreaties or to accept the order. Meetings are being arranged in every part of the country. Protests and petitions of all kinds will be forwarded to the International Headquarters in London. The seeds of mutiny have been sown, and if a conciliatory answer is not received from General Booth the members of the army in the States may form an independent wing, with Ballington Booth as sole leader.

Nine years ago Ballington Booth, who is a son of General William Booth, the founder and absolute commander of the Salvation Army, was sent to this country to take charge of the scattered forces, who were making little progress here. He was an Englishman born and bred. He brought with him his wife, the daughter of a clergyman. They entered at once upon the work and have accomplished wonderful things. Mrs. Booth is as much of a commander as her husband, and in every undertaking she has had an equal share.

They found here about 600 officers and 6,000 soldiers, poorly organized and standing very low in public estimation. To day there are 2,100 officers and 3,500 local officers, the latter being men and women who work at their various callings in the daytime and devote their evenings and Sundays to army work. Of institutions the army has 78 slum posts, 6 rescue homes 22 training garrisons for cadets, 4 food and shelter depots, numerous houses of relief in various cities, and six outrider circuits in the mining camps of the west. In addition to this there is the War Cry, with a weekly circulation of 90,000

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE LOCAL CONVENTION

A LARGE NUMBER OF ELOQUENT SPEAKERS PRESENT.

Many Interesting Addresses Being Delivered Morning, Afternoon and Evening—To-night's Session Will be Largely Attended.

The first session of the Christian Alliance Convention opened on Saturday evening with a number of workers from New York and Toronto in attendance. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. A. E. Funk, assistant pastor Gospel Tabernacle, New York. On Sunday morning services began at ten o'clock, with a very large attendance. Pastor Salmon, of Toronto, spoke on the need of the world for a man to come who would rule in righteousness. The surety of such a coming was beyond a doubt, and its realization might come to pass at any moment. The present reign was almost at an end as the cup of the world's wickedness was full to the brim, even sacred Palestine being allowed to overrun by the heathen Turk. The Gospel promised the second coming of the Christ, and it was confidently looked forward to now at any time.

Rev. A. E. Funck afterwards spoke, and in the afternoon Mrs. A. B. Simpson addressed a general meeting of the Sunday school scholars and the congregation. Rev. Mr. Woodcock, a returned Christian Alliance Missionary from Africa, also delivered a most interesting address.

THE EVENING MEETING.

At the evening session of the Christian Alliance Convention there was a large audience present. While the congregation was gathering and being seated gospel songs, set to triumphant music, were most heartily sung. Rev. Pastor Zimmerman conducted the services, Mr. Alex. Gillespie acted as precentor, and Mr. T. H. Best presided at the organ. In fact the service consisted mainly of the singing of sacred songs, Pastor Zimmerman and Pastor Salmon, of Toronto, offering brief prayers.

Rev. Pastor Salmon, of Toronto, gave the first address on the subject of being filled with the Holy Spirit. He said that God designed the church to be a reflection of Christ and to this end the believer must be filled with the spirit. God's love to the world was the key-note of the gospel. Belief in the Saviour was a condition of eternal life—redemption through the blood. The command "be filled with the spirit" was to those who had been saved. All who had pardon were not filled with the Spirit and to these the command came; and it was the binding duty of all believers to obey. To be filled with the Spirit was a sacred privilege; without the Spirit of God it was impossible to live the Christian life. Those who had not the fulness of the Spirit were disobeying a direct command as well as grieving the Spirit of God. To be filled with the Spirit we must feel need of it. We needed the Spirit to make us holy, which was the most important thing of all. The blessing of the Holy Spirit could not be grown into. It came at a crisis in the Christian life by a full surrender to God, and the result was a song of constant gladness—the life of Jesus in the soul.

THE SECOND SPEAKER

was Rev. Mr. Woodcock, a missionary on the Congo in Africa, who presented the aspect of the world that was unsaved. A map of the world, coloured so as to represent the different religions, was used to illustrate the address. A large part of the map was coloured black, representing heathenism, where million of souls whom Christ redeemed were streaming down to hell with the price paid, at the rate of 100,000 souls per day. Special reference was made to Africa, where the speaker had worked. Here there were two hundred millions of people, who had never heard of Christ. He spoke very encouragingly of the great work that was being done by God's help in the Congo mission, but there was a terrible state of things to be remedied—cantibalism cruelty bloodshed, and the speaker drew a blood-curdling picture of these enormities. After nearly twenty centuries of Christianity that so many millions had not heard the Gospel, was the fault of the apathy of the Church. The Gospel was the cure of all the evils of Heathendom. An earnest appeal was made for missionaries to enter this field and for means to carry on the work.

THE THIRD SPEAKER

was Rev. E. A. Funk, who spoke briefly, insisting upon the duty of Christians, in relation to the salvation of heathendom. He asked his hearers to look upon the question in the light of the second coming of Christ. When Christ comes the opposition of the devil would be withdrawn, and the Gospel would be spread rapidly. There were, the speaker said, five indications of the speedy coming of Christ.

First, the great unrest among the nations; second, the laxity and lukewarmness of the church; third, the Jews returning to the Holy Land; fourth, the calling out to a higher life of the members of the church, and fifth, the spread of the Gospel till there were representatives of every kindred, race and tongue.

Pastor Zimmerman closed the meeting with a fervent appeal for more missionary zeal, more missionary help, more prayer and more giving.

To-day meetings were held at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., and another will be held this evening at seven o'clock, when a large attendance is expected. Addresses will be made by Rev. A. B. Simpson, of New York, president of the Christian Alliance and International Missionary Alliance, who, since his last visit to Peterborough, has visited Palestine, Egypt, India, China and Japan in the interests of the Foreign Missions. Dr. Henry Wilson, a native of Peterborough, now of New York, will also speak, as will also a number of local workers.

A LENGTHY SESSION.

Two Cases Occupied the Attention of the Police Magistrate all Morning.

At the police court this morning two lengthy cases were disposed of. The first case called was that of Jas. Stevenson, M. P., against James Walton. It seems that Mr. Walton sometime in November opened out a flour and feed store on Water street in one of Mr. James Stevenson's stores. Business was not the best and he was compelled to ask Mr. Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal, for extension of time in which to pay his rent. On the night of Friday, Jan. 10th, the stock of the store was removed by Messrs. Meldrum & McAllister, who purchased it from Mr. Walton. The landlord, of course, was left without recourse and this morning charged Walton with unlawfully removing goods to avoid paying rent. After hearing the evidence the magistrate gave as his opinion that the stock was disposed of in a business manner and hence the statute would not apply. He received judgment, however, to look up some decisions. Hall & Hayes for prosecution and E. B. Stone for defendant.

Walter Lambert was charged with obtaining a cap from Fairweather & Co. under false pretenses and also with the larceny of a cap from another person. On both cases the prisoner was discharged. The magistrate remarked that they were not proper cases for the police court and should have been taken to the Division Court. Mr. Wood, Crown Attorney, objected to these statements and characterized the manner in which the caps were taken as fraudulent. The magistrate ordered both caps to be returned to Fairweather & Co. Mr. F. D. Kerr defended the prisoner.

GALWAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A disastrous fire occurred about the middle of last week at Irondale and totally destroyed the dwelling of Mr. A. Curry with all its contents. The cause of the fire is unknown, as it took place during the night. The building was partially insured in the London Mutual.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, Presbyterian minister of the united congregations of Kinmount and Coboconk, was visiting friends here during the week. He drove to Ewan on Sunday afternoon where he preached and held communion. The school house was filled to its utmost capacity with an audience that went home much benefitted by Mr. Millers's excellent sermon.

Mrs. Padget, who was visiting her friends at Dunsford, has returned again and is staying with Mrs. J. Kennedy at present.

Mr. John Reid had a wood bee last Thursday. There was quite a number present. Mr. Reid had reason to be well satisfied judging by the handsome pile of wood which he got cut that day. Some of the gang indulged in a few tall wood-sawing stories, but none were carried out that day, however.

It is rumoured that the people of Kinmount are making arrangements to have the village lighted with electricity.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On Tuesday evening Miss Symonds, a returned missionary from the Blackfeet Indian Reserve, Alberta, N.W.T., delivered a very entertaining and instructive address in the old English Church, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary. A good-sized audience listened with marked interest to Miss Symonds' graphic sketch of the mission home, its inmates, and the routine work under the direction of the missionaries, and her description of the manners and customs of the Blackfeet tribe. Miss Symonds speaks most hopefully of the work done, and the prospects for future growth and influence. In this connection she testified to the valuable assistance rendered by the Woman's Auxiliaries in sending clothing for the children and the infirm, and in touching words she pleaded the cause of the Red Men of the west. The lecture was further enhanced by a young lady and gentleman appearing in native costume, and seated in Indian fashion upon the floor. The young brave and his squaw looked very picturesque and quite to the manor born, in their war paint and feathers. Numerous photographs and engravings of native scenes were placed on view at the close of the lecture. Rev. G. Warren presided during the evening, and in a happy manner conveyed to Miss Symonds the hearty thanks of her appreciative audience, and presented to her the evening's offering. Miss Symonds acknowledged both in her own bright graceful way, and declared that there was nothing she was so glad to see as money, with which to carry on the work she found so absorbing.

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm, but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

THE ESTIMATES DOWN

Appropriations Amounting to Over $41,000,000

FOR PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS

Toronto, Collingwood, Owen Sound and Other Places Will Have Shares—Prof. Robertson sells P.E. Island Cheese—Proceedings in the House of Commons.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—The estimates for the next fiscal year were presented to Parliament to-night. The total amount to be appropriated is $41,400,923. The chief increases are in militia, $372,716, and postoffice, $240,780. The aggregate increases on account of consolidated fund total $1,316,584, but they are offset by decreases of $1,617,908 in redemption of debt. The net decrease for the year is $170,241.

The appropriations for Ontario public works are as follows:

River Kaministiqua $10,000.

Dominion Reformatory $30,000.

Dominion public buildings—renewals, improvements, repairs, etc., $15,000.

Picton postoffice, custom house, etc., $12,000.

Collingwood, repairs to breakwater, $2850; general repairs and improvements to harbor, river and bridge works, $10,000.

Kingston harbor, Lake Ontario, $5000.

Lake Simcoe and Couchiching, regulation of waters, $5500.

Owen Sound harbor, dredging, etc., $20,000.

Toronto harbor, works at eastern entrance, etc., $50,000.

The militia are to be drilled the usual 12 days, the estimate including increase of $366,500 for this purpose, and $34,666 for clothing and necessaries. The appropriation says all the city corps, and all the rural corps are to be called out.

Mounted police appropriation is increased $30,000.

The city of Toronto gets $10,000 in aid of the meeting of the British Science Association in Toronto next year.

The postoffice estimates are increased by $240,780, of which $211,000 is for mail service, presumably the increase which the Canadian Pacific is asking for.

The total vote for immigration is $130,000, the same as this year.

Pension to Judge Fourner, late judge of the Supreme Court, $4666.

Twenty-five hundred dollors is to be voted for experimental fruit stations; $1500 for Dominion crop reports; $1500 for experiments on fall wheat growing.

Twenty thousand dollars is to be spent in construction of lighthouses.

It is said a little difficulty has arisen in the Cabinet as to the scope of the Remedial bill. According to rumor, some ministers do not want those Catholic schools that have come under the public school law of 1890 restored to separate school privileges, thus restricting remedial legislation to Winnipeg, St. Boniface and three or four other districts. The French members do not agree to this, but the difference will be left in abeyance till the return of Sir Charles Tupper. This may furnish an excuse for getting rid of remedial measures this session.

On Saturday Dairy Commissioner Robertson disposed of last season's output of cheese made in Prince Edward Island. The purchasers were Hodgson Bros. of Montreal, the total quantity being 23,000 boxes. The prices realized were good and it is expected that the result will be to give the farmers of Prince Edward Island a profit of $20,000 on their season's work. In disposing of the cheese, Prof. Robertson stipulated that half the profit obtained in the English market shall go to the P.E.I. farmers.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Reciprocity in Agricultural Implements Under Lively Discussion.

In the House of Commons, Mr. McMullen introduced a bill to amend the Customs Tariff Bill, providing for the free admission of corn, whether for human or animal food.

Mr. Costigan informed Mr. Langelier that the Arctic exploring steamer Alert had been sold to J. B. Lantenum for $4155. The proceeds from the same had been transmitted to the Admiralty, from which body the vessel originally came.

Mr. Costigan, answering Mr. Flint, said the Government of Newfoundland had settled the claim for the refund of license moneys collected from Canadian fishermen in 1890-92. The amount, $3970, would be paid over to the claimants as soon as certain legal questions were settled.

Dr. Montague informed Mr. Grieve that in 1890 the quantity of cheese exported from Canada was 114,981,584 pounds, an increase of 61,000,000 pounds in ten years. Of butter the product in 1890 amounted to 116,145,165 pounds, an increase of 8,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Grieve asked if the Government intended to lay on the table copies of correspondence, etc., that had passed between Sir Mackenzie Bowell and the seven dissident Ministers respecting their resignations from the Cabinet.

Mr. Foster replied that the Government will bring down such correspondence as is usual on such occasions. (Laughter.)

Mr. Foster, replying to Mr. Davis, said the Controller of Inland Revenue is a member of the Cabinet. His position is the same as any other Privy Councillor who is a member of the Cabinet.

Mr. Casey moved for papers which had passed between the Government and Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., concerning his present visit to Canada. He said the country was curious to know for what object Sir Charles had visited the Dominion the last month. It was well known, of course, that when he arrived here, he joined the ministers. (Laughter.)

Mr. Martin moved for papers relating to the Territorial Exhibition at Regina last summer, and all papers showing the connection of Lieut.-Governor Mackintosh therewith. He read a number of extracts from Territorial newspapers to show the alleged unpopularity of the Lieut.-Governor and condemned the manner in which he had mismanaged the affairs of the exhibition.

Dr. Montague said the Government assumed no responsibility whatever for the exhibition. All that they had done was to vote $25,000 towards assisting the enterprise. There was no objection whatever in placing before the House whatever vouchers had been received for the expenditure of the Dominion grant.

Sir James Grant eulogized the exhibition as calculated to show the world the splendid resources of the Northwest, and commended Governor Mackintosh's management of it.

After observations from Mr. Mills (Bothwell), and Mr. Martin, Mr. Davin said the exhibition was an undoubted success and a fine advertisement for the Territories, but that Lt.-Governor Mackintosh had exhibited foolish carelessness in connection with it.

The motion for papers passed.

Mr. McMillan (Huron) moved a resolution that Canada should take advantage of the United States' offer of reciprocity in plows, harrows, threshers, mowers and other agricultural implements. He said there would be little loss of revenue if such change was made in the tariff, because Canada imported but few of the implements on the list, and that, if the Government claim was true, that Canada could manufacture implements as cheaply as any other country in the world, there could be no harm done to Canadian manufacturers.

Mr. Wallace pointed out that the proposed reciprocity would be of no benefit to Canadian manufacturers, or even to Canadian farmers, except in the Northwest. Canadian manufacturers could not compete in the United States, because the Americans would protect themselves by getting injunctions, etc., on a claim of infringement of the patent laws. As a matter of fact, in Ontario and the older Canadian provinces agricultural machinery was cheaper than in the United States. If American manufacturers got the Canadian market they would reduce prices very much for one season, and thus kill Canadian manufacturers. Then, having the market to themselves, they would raise prices higher than ever before. He said the wholesale price of a binder in the United States was $100. The Canadian manufacturer paid about $7 duty on raw material, having $13 protection.

Mr. McMullen said McCormick Bros., of Chicago, offered binders at $80.

The ex-Controller said that might be the price of a binder when sold for export to Canada, but the price for home consumption in the United States was $100.

Mr. McMullen said if the American manufacturer slaughtered machinery in Canada, the Canadian manufacturer could save himself by buying up machines at these reduced prices and re-exporting them.

Mr. Ives: What would become of Canadian factories and employes while manufacturers were thus engaged in dealing in foreign machinery?

Dr. Sproule said tht farmers in his section made a great deal by furnishing wood for the manufacture of Canadian machines, which trade would be lost if reciprocity were brought about and Canadian factories thus crushed out of existence.

After observations from Mr. McMillan (Huron), Mr. Daly pointed out that the Northwest farmer, by reciprocity, would be placed at the mercy of American manufacturers. The N.P. kept them out; but if Canadian competitors were killed. American combines would fix prices to suit themselves. He quoted figures to show that the farmer in the Northwest got agricultural implements as cheaply as the farmer in Dakota.

The debate was continued after recess by Mr. Stairs, who contended that the power of production of both the United States and Canada exceeded the demand. Estimating this at 10 per cent., the United States would have a surplus greater than the whole consumption in Canada, and in this way would wipe out Canadian manufacturers. Reciprocity would at least mean the removal of Canadian manufacturers to the United States. They ge most of their raw material there, and if they intended competing in the United States they would have to pay freight on raw material and then freight on the finished article back to the United States. If the Canadian market were to be as free to them, if located in the United States as in Canda, naturally they would manufacture where they would not have to pay double freight rates. He contended that the N.P. should, however, stand or fall as a complete policy. No single class should be picked out to suffer reductions. The object of the N.P. was to protect all. If the farmer was not protected enough he should be given more protection on the lines of the N.P., not at the expense of any other class.

The resolution was lost on a division.

Mr. Casey moved for a return of all papers concerning the appointment of the High Commissioner. He attacked the Government for continuing Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., in the office of High Commissioner at London while Secretary of State. He said it was ridiculous to have Sir Charles Tupper, Commissioner, reporting to Sir Charles Tupper, Secretary of State.

During the debate Mr. Lister referred to the Cape Breton campaign, and also gloried over the Charlevoix election.

Sir A. Caron declared that Charlevoix was only carried by the Liberal candidate pledging himself to vote against Mr. Laurier's proposed commission re the school question, and to support the Government's policy in that respect.

Mr. Tarte declared this was not so, and chaffed the Government re the "pastoral circular" that was wired on Saturday by the Bishop of Chicoutimi. The people of Charlevoix were asked, he said, to support something they had not seen, and he was proud that they refused to do so. He said the Opposition had to fight against the same ill-advised influence in Vercheres, but won. Surely, he said, the Government should have been able to carry on the election without the interference of the Bishop of Chicoutimi. He asked the leader of the House if it was true that the Government had submitted the proposed Remedial Bill to the Bishops of Quebec:

Mr. Foster shook his head.

Mr. Tarte: Do I understand that you have had no communication with the bishops?

Mr. Foster: I had no communication with the bishops. (Laughter.)

Mr. Tarte reiterated that the Liberal candidate had not pledged himself to the Government's policy, and Sir Adolphe Caron repeated the charge.

Mr. Tarte asked Sir Adolphe to produce the telegrams, which he said had been sent declaring the Liberal candidate would support the Government's policy, and Sir Adolphe Caron, in turn challenged Mr. Tarte to produce any communication between him and the bishops. Neither did so, and the resolution was finally carried.

On a motion to adjourn, Mr. Hazen (St. John) called the attention of the Government to an error in the preparation of returns of the export trade of the Dominion. He said that this winter a large amount of western produce was shipped from St. John, but that the Dominion Government did not get credit for the whole of it. The St. John Board of Trade found that only a small portion of this was credited to St. John, and a great deal to ports nearest the source of produce. This made it possible for a large amount of business to escape being got into the returns at all.

Controller Wood pointed out that the Customs Act required the master of every vessel to give the custom officer of the port a complete sworn return of cargo before leaving, and that in this way an accurate check was kept on exports.

Mr. Foster announced that the Budget speech would be delivered on Thursday.

The House adjourned at 10.30.

Baie St. Paul, Que., Jan. 27.—The bye-election for Charlevoix to-day resulted in the return of Mr. Angers, the Liberal candidate, by a majority of 151 over Mr. Cimon, Conservative. THE BISHOP'S LETTER.

No Doubt the Intention Was Good, But the Effort Failed.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—The Charlevoix election to-day was in one respect the most important of any of the bye-elections, because the Roman Catholic Bishop undertook, with the aid of his priests, to dragoon the electors into voting, not on political lines, but for the candidate who would pledge himself to vote for a bill to be first submitted to the hierarchy and approved by them. The letter which His Lordship Bishop Labreque sent by wire to all the priests was as follows: "Chicoutimi, Jan. 24, 1896.—You will read to-morrow to your parishioners, but without making any comment, the following communication: Dear Brethren,—We do not wish to interfere in politics, and we do not side with one party or the other, but there is a very important religious question to be settled, viz., the Manitoba school question. We hold that it is a serious matter of conscience for the electors to give their votes to a candidate who will not pledge himself in the most positive manner to vote during the present session for a remedial bill, which would be acceptable to the ecclesiastical authority. Please note, I again repeat it, that this is a serious matter of conscience for the electors. (Signed) M. F. L., Bishop of Chicoutimi."

THE LIBERALS AND THE MILITIA

It is satisfactory to the force to see the interest beginning to be evinced in the militia by leading men of the Liberal party, who have so often been accused by their political opponents with ignoring the force altogether. It will interest many of our readers to learn that in the recent closely fought electoral campaign in the important constituency of Montreal Centre the Liberal appealed to the electors to reject the Government candidate, Sir William Hingston, among other things as a protest against the cheese-paring militia policy of the Government. Mr. W. A. Weir, the chief organizer of the Liberal campaign, spoke at a mass meeting held at Point St. Charles, the headquarters of the Grand Trunk Railway, and the chief recruiting ground for the English speaking militia corps of the city. He quoted some of the articles in the Canadian Military Gazette, showing the disgraceful treatment the force has received at the hands of the Government in the past, entering especially into one exposure of the scandalous manner in which the spoils system had been followed in filling appointments to the permanent corps. Mr. Weir remarked that the Liberals did not make a special claim to any monopoly of loyalty but they loved their country and appreciated the Imperial connection too highly to view with composure the continued neglect and discouragement of the militia, a sentiment which was heartily applauded by the Hon. Mr. Laurier, the leader of the Liberal party, who was present. The attacks on the old militia policy of the Government proved the most popular part of the Liberal campaign speeches at Point St. Charles. With the Government pledged to an energetic militia policy and the Opposition clamoring for more enlightened and liberal treatment of the force, something can surely be looked for from the present session of Parliament.—Canadian Military Gazette.

The Government may, as the Gazette suggests, be pledged to "an energetic militia policy," but the Government has a very unsoldierly way of retreating out of the lines of their promises. The Government's neglect of the militia is not a thing of yesterday; it has lasted for fifteen or sixteen years, and repeated promises have only resulted in making the militia muddle more complicated and the neglect more acute. Besides promises made on the eve of a general election are subject to considerable discount — they are very much like death bed bed repentence, when the vilest moribund sinner will make the most saint-like promises if he is given another chance.

THE Toronto Star says that the Chief of Police in that city reports that of the 188 burglaries last year, one-third were entries into cellars in search of food. This is a sad state of affairs in a wealthy city like Toronto and is something which should not be allowed to happen under the glow of the sunshine of perennial prosperity which our "National policy" was guaranteed to produce.

LA Patrie, Montreal, furnishes the following list of these Conservative members, who were elected by a narrow majority in the general elections, of 1891—Messrs Hutchins, North Middlesex 6, Bennett, East Simcoe 16, Carpenter, South Wentworth 1, Sproule, East Grey 19 McNeil, North Bruce 30, Cargill East Bruce 14, Hodgins, Carleton 43, Burnham, East Peterborough 29, Craig East Durham 61, Wilson Lennox 25, Ross, Dundas 60, White Shelburne 41, Weldon, Albert 73, Foster, Kings 73, Ingram, East Elgin 46, Guillet, West Northumberland 55, Millar, Prince Edward 29, White, North Renfrew 79, McDonald, Victoria, N. E. 52. Fairburn, South Victoria 25, Dyer, Brome 3, Carnignan, Champlain 77, Lippe, Joliette 60, Pelletier, Lapraire 54, Dugas, Montcalm 41, Bain, Soulanges 40.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Alf Simpson, of Deseronto, was in the village last week visiting his mother.

Mr. W. Campbell, of Fenelon Falls, is visiting friends.

Messrs. R. Q. Dench, D.D.H.C.R., R. Jory, J. H. McWilliams and H. C. Garbatt, visited Court Selwyn last Wednesday evening and installed their officers.

Mr. W. M. Graham is in Brantford this week on C.O.F. business.

The Lakefield curlers who were in Peterborough this week did excellently, having defeated Keene and Bobcaygeon in the Tankard competition. The following compose the different rinks: Rink No. 1, L. Payne, J. W. Ridpath, J. P. Strickland, R. C. Strickland, skip; rink No. 2, W. Baptie, G. H. Postlethwaite, J. C. Grylls, G. A. Strickland, skip. They will now go to Toronto and play in the finals.

Have you tried the California apricots and peaches at R. Graham & Sons? They are very fine. Their groceries are the best and at lowest prices.

A lecture will be given in the Methodist church on Friday evening by Rev. J. J. Rae, of Peterborough, on marriage—a success or a failure.

A very heavy snowstorm took place here on Friday and Saturday. The roof of the skating rink was damaged to a considerable extent by the weight of the snow.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The statuatory meeting of the village council was held in the town hall on Monday evening. Present W. H. Casement, reeve, Councillors Hull, Lillicrap, Moore and Braden. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

Communications from Minister of Railways and Canals re. the route of Canal in village as follows:

OTTAWA, Dec. 27th, 1895.

Alex. Bell, Village Clerk, Lakefield, Ont.:

SIR,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th inst., transmitting a memorial protesting, on behalf of council of the Village of Lakefield, against the proposed location of the Trent Canal on the west side of the Otonabee river, and asking that it be constructed on the east side of the river.

In reply I am to state that the memorial has been carefully considered with a view to meeting, if possible, the wishes of the council of Lakefield in this matter, but it is found impracticable to change the location of the canal from the west to the east side of the river.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN H. BALDERSON,
Secretary.

One from Mr. Thomas re. exemption of taxes on improvements. A petition from Mr. J. P. Strickland and 53 others, asking for electric light at corner of Clementi and Bridge streets, and one from Wm. Messrs. W. M. Graham and W. A. Eastland were appointed auditors for 1896.

Moved by Messrs. Lillicrap and Hull, that the reeve, with Councillors Moore and Braden, be a committee to inquire into our electric light system and report on the petitions of Messrs. Strickland, Cox, etc., for additional light for the village.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Braden and Lillicrap, that this council regret the reply of the Department of Railways and Canals to the memorial of the corporation asking for a slight change in the route of the canal through this municipality, and in view of the claim advanced by the department that a change in the route would be impracticable, this council instruct the clerk to write the department and request that this council be furnished with a plan of the high level bridge and approaches thereto on Bridge street, and to again express this council's disapproval of a high level bridge as set forth in thier memorial to the Minister of Railways and Canals, dated 18th Dec., 1895, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the department.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Hull and Moore, that the standing committees of the year be as follows: Finance—Councillors Hull, Moore and Lillicrap. Roads and Sidewalks—Councillors Lillicrap, Braden, Moore and Hull. General—Councillors Moore, Lillicrap, Braden and Hull.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Lillicrap and Braden, that the council provide the "Municipal World" for the council for 1896, at a cost of $5.00 for six copies.—Carried.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

HAIR HAIR

Prof. DORENWEND is Coming

It is contrary to nature that the head should be bald. Let that be fully understood. Is it not a fact that many ladies and gentlemen do not wear artificial hair for no other reason than prejudice. Unfortunately there has been a marked increase of late in baldness and gray hair, and the result is the loss of an attractive and refined appearance. MANY LADIES have the wretched habit of crimping and curling their own hair instead of buying an article according to the style. The result is they ruin their hair and when new styles come in they are unable to follow them.

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co. Ltd., of Toronto, has for thirty years demonstrated the beautifying effects of wearing his hair goods. Thousands of THE BEST LADIES and gentlemen of Canada and the United States are wearing his articles to-day. In many cases the manufactured article is more becoming than the natural growth, and not even an expert can detect that the hair is artificial.

The Professor carries an immense stock of Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees (half wigs), Bangs, Wavy Fronts, Switches, Braids, Etc., in every form, shade and quality. All can be pleased. Cast aside

A SAVAGE ATTACK.

The Atlantic Weekly Assails Sir Charles Tupper.

AN ABLE BUT UNSCRUPULOUS MAN

Canada's Need for Honest Men in Political Life—Allegations of Corruption and Utter Lack of Sound Principles Against the Secretary of State.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 27.—The Atlantic Weekly, a Conservative newspaper, published in Dartmouth, the home of Mr. Stairs, M.P., has a lengthy article on the political situation. It says that during the past six years we have had some of the most revolting political atrocities which ever blackened the fair fame of any country, and that, too, in a country where there is no excuse for impure politics. There never has been a time when honest men were more needed than now. The Tory party has again brought to the front one of the ablest men Canada ever produced. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., is a man of indomitable will, able and unscrupulous. He can without doubt do much to carry the Tory banner onward to victory; but is he worthy of it? No man in public life in Canada has so often been called upon to defend himself from the attacks of his enemies or to answer to his friends. To-day the attack against him is entirely on the lines of his corruptness and utter lack of sound principles. Is the Conservative party so lacking in honest men or men of ability that I cannot present a Cabinet of upright men, worthy of the honor and confidence of a great people? We think not. The series of disreputable and blackguardly squabbles which have disgrace d this country during the past few days ought to bring the blush of shame to the face of every honest elector. It is full time the Carons, Haggarts, Montagues and men of such ilk were relegated to obscurity. They should never have been in a Cabinet, and, having once resigned, they should never have been taken back. To place Sir Charles Tupper at the head of the Canadian Parliament with such men supporting him would be a crime before high heaven. We do not believe the Canadian people will ever commit it. From one end of the land to the other there is a protest loud and deep. Even party papers, usually so quick to applaud party leaders, seem to falter. They do well to falter, for if the party goes forward so led they go to certain failure. It is well known that Sir Mackenzie Bowell has been most shamefully and dishonestly treated; that he has been made the victim of a foul plot, and the men who tried to ruin him are now endeavoring to climb to power over his head. The fight between the factions is bitter, and unless some new combination is formed, leaving out men whose names are a reproach, Conservatives cannot hope for success in the coming fight, and do not deserve it."

The fact that the article appeared just after the return of Dr. Weldon, M.P., and that the editor of the paper is a close friend of Dr. Weldon's, adds additional interest to it.

THE HYAMS TWINS.

Harry Placed in the Box as a Witness in the Conspiracy Charge.

Toronto, Jan. 28.

The four forgery charges against H. P. and D. T. Hyams were adjourned for a week, when the twins appeared in the Police Court dock yesterday morning.

The conspiracy to murder charge against Dallas Hyams was continued and Harry was again put into the witness box. The witness was very reluctant to give evidence, and very little of importance was gleaned from his testimony. He deposed that in July, 1894, he was resident in Montreal, but could not say just when he went there. He would not swear that he had seen his brother at all during 1894, and had communication with him only with regard to commissions. They had no communication about insurance.

The witness seemed to have a very bad memory regarding insurance policies and applications, so Mr. Curry suspended his examination until Mrs. Martha Wells Hyams' evidence could be taken.

"I want to examine Mrs. Hyams at 151 Close-avenue after the court adjourns," said Mr. Curry, and the court assented.

The object of examining Mrs. Hyams is in connection with the Montreal telegrams, the admission of which Mr. Johnston objected to.

At 12 o'clock Magistrate Denison, Dallas Hyams, in charge of Detective Cuddy; Crown Attorney Curry, Messrs. Johnston and Horn, counsel for the prisoners, and Stenographer Perry went to 151 Close-avenue, the residence of Brother-in-law E. W. H. Aylesworth, where Mrs. Harry Hyams is living.

At the door of the house the party were met by Mr. Aylesworth's sister, who said Mrs. Hyams was ill in bed, and could not be seen without a doctor's certificate. The party then left the house. The case will be continued today.

BURNED TO DEATH.

The Terrible Result of a Lamp Explosion at Stony Creek.

Hamilton, Jan. 27.—Jonathan Dunham, a well-known resident of Stony Creek, met a shocking death in his own home yesterday. He and his young wife retired rather late on Saturday night, and early yesterday morning both were awakened by the explosion of a lamp, which had been left burning all night. Dunham jumped out of bed, and picking up the shattered lamp, rushed to the door with it to throw it out. On the way his nightclothes caught fire, and in an instant he was enveloped in flames. His agonised cries and the calls of his wife aroused several neighbors, and when they arrived Dunham was rolling in the snow endeavoring to extinguish the flames. The injured man was carried into the house and put to bed, and in a few minutes Dr. Carr was doing all for him that was possible. He was terribly burned about the limbs and body, and some of the fire must have entered his lungs. He suffered severe pain until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when death put an end to his sufferings. A baby in the bedroom was also burned, but not severely.

Deceased was but 28 years of age, and, besides a widow, leaves one child. Mrs. Dunham is almost crazed with grief.

ANOTHER BIG ROBBERY.

Antiquities Valued at Over $20,000 Stolen in New York.

New York, Jan. 27.—E. Wald Schmallz, 22 years old, and Charles Lefebvre, 27 years old, were arrested this morning on suspicion of being concerned in the Schiller antique robbery Saturday night. Schmallz, who is a nephew of Richard Schiller, the owner of the collection, was employed as a watchman in the building at No. 5 East 30th-street, where the collection of antiques is stored. Schmallz had instructions to never leave the building at night, but he told the police he went to Lefebvre's saloon, No. 1325 Avenue A. on Saturday night, and when he returned he found the place had been entered and robbed. Detectives went to Lefebvre's house and found several of the stolen articles, and placed Lefebvre under arrest. Lefebvre confessed that Schmallz had brought the articles up Saturday night. The police then went to arrest Schmallz and intercepted a letter from Lefebvre, warning Schmallz that the detectives were after him. When Schmallz was arrested a letter addressed to Lefebvre, asking him not to say that he got the stolen antiques from him, was found on him. Both men were arraigned in court this morning, and remanded, to enable the detectives to find where the stolen antiques are stored. Three pieces only were recovered at Lefebvre's place.

Among the antique rings stolen were a number dating back to 400 years before Christ. There were also some antique watches, dating back to the years 1550 to 1680 and 1700, some Venetian necklaces, earrings and bracelets, and some gothic clasps. Greek jewelry and gothic charms. The catalogue value of the stolen articles was over £21,000. Their actual worth was about £16,000 or $17,000.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

A Constantly Growing Force.

Every Day Gives Momentum to the Success of South American Nervine.

Canadian Citizens from Every Quarter Tell of the Extraordinary Results Following the Use of This Wonderful Remedy.

MR. C. G. CHAPIN, OF BURK'S FALLS, ONT.

There is encouragement in the knowledge that even after the skill of eminent physicians has failed, and many medicines have been used, a certain cure for the diseases of life is to be found in South American Nervine. This is a remarkable medicine, especially when the trouble is nervous debility, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, or a general breaking-up of the system. It has made thousands of cures of Canadian citizens all over this beautiful Dominion, and they have not been slow to sing its praises.

The strength of South American Nervine rests in its being something more than a mere tonic. A tonic will give temporary benefit, but if disease is in the system something more is needed to remove it. South American Nervine possesses all the virtues of a tonic, but more than that, it is a disease-healer. It has been discovered that certain nerves have entire control over the stomach, liver, heart, lungs and indeed all internal organs. When disease comes upon the individual, if a careful analysis is made of the trouble, and things are not gone about in haphazard fashion, it will be shown that the disease has its origin in a derangement of these nerve centers. South American Nervine goes at once to the nerve centers and removes the disease. Then strong, rich, pure blood runs through the veins and gives health and exhilaration to all parts of the system. This is one secret of the power of South American Nervine. But it does not stop here. There is no medicine that is so great a nerve-builder, nor flesh-producer as Nervine. It purifies the system. It imparts to it health and vigor, and builds up the constitution.

Now, this is exactly what was done in the case of Mr. C. G. Chapin, a well-known jeweller, of Burk's Falls, Ont. He says: For years I had been much troubled with nervous debility, and believe I had tried all proprietary medicines, but none seemed to relieve me, until I used South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I am still taking this great remedy and must say I have not felt so well in years. I highly recommend it to all suffering from nervous disease, for it has made a great change in me."

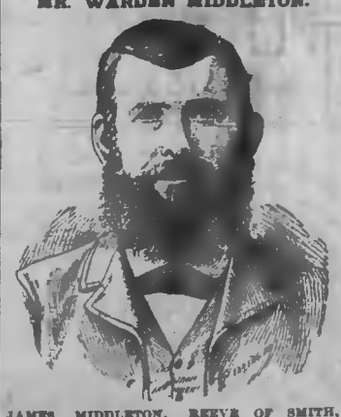
MR. WARDEN MIDDLETON.



JAMES MIDDLETON, REEVE OF SMITH, WARDEN FOR 1896.

The EXAMINER offers its congratulations to Mr. James Middleton, Reeve of Smith, on the honour of being elected Warden of of the county for the year 1896. Mr. Middleton has had twenty years experience in municipal life, and possesses the practical qualifications for the efficient discharge of the important duties of the office. He was born in Smith on Oct. 31st, 1843, and is of Irish extraction. He was educated in the schools of the township. Twenty-eight years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Young, who came from Ireland at an early age. Mr. Middleton is a farmer as his father was before him and takes a great interest in dairying. He is the secretary of the Peterborough Cheese Board and has been secretary of Missing Link factory for fourteen years. Twenty years ago Mr. Middleton entered municipal life as a councillor. He filled this position for fifteen years and has been a member of the County Council five years, having sat two years as deputy reeve and three as reeve. His sixth year in the Council will be spent in the Warden's chair. Mr. Middleton by his quiet unostentations demeanor has won the high respect of his fellow councillors. He is a Liberal in politics, and as a citizen enjoys the warm esteem of the community in which he is best known. He is noted for his straightforward probity, and will doubtless in his occupancy of the position of Warden do credit to himself, his township and the county.

WALTER PHELAN GIVEN A SEND-OFF.

HE IS BANQUETTED AT THE PALACE RESTAURANT.

The Many Complimentary Remarks Made Concerning Him—A Number of Peterborough's Sterling Business And Professional Men in Attendance.

Mr. Walter Phelan was given a "send-off" last evening in the form of a banquet of which indeed he can be justly proud, as few young men on leaving Peterborough have had such an honour paid them.

About fifty hockey enthusiasts assembled at ten o'clock in the Palace Restaurant parlours where the tables had been laid in the form of a "T." The President of the club, Mr. H. S. Greenwood, occupied the chair, while Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, Vice-President, faced him at the other end of the table.

The board was decorated with flowers and presented a very attractive appearance as the boys took their seats. The banquet consisted of oysters, cold meats, etc., and was greatly enjoyed.

President Greenwood proposed the first toast, which was, of course, that of "The Queen." After it had been duly honoured, Mr. Harry Neill sang an appropriate song and then the toast list was presented as follows:

In responding to the various toasts those mentioned in connection with them took occasion, in the course of their remarks, to pay tribute to the many good qualities possessed by the

GUEST OF THE EVENING.

Capt. Hayes stated that he had known Walter ever since he first came to Peterborough and became most intimate with him during a recent sojourn at Stoney Lake. He was one of the very best fellows that he had ever met and he wished him God speed to his new home. Walter was made of the right stuff to make his mark in the world, and he had no doubt he would make it in the great Northwest.

Dr. McGrath was pleased to see so much honour being done Walter on his departure for the West, and thought he was justly entitled to it. He had learned his business with a good firm, and this would be of great service to him in his new life. He hoped he would have the same success in his business career as he had in shooting on goal in a hockey match.

Mr. F. D. Kerr spoke of having heard of Walter Phelan as being most prominent in athletic circles long before he himself came to Peterborough. He had met him and played against him on the ice, and could vouch for his worth.

Ex-Mayor Kendry stated that he had known Walter personally for many years, and as an athlete, and had always heard him well spoken of. All boys had to leave home to make their mark, and with Horace Greely he thought the west was the place to go. He had no doubt in his own mind that Walter

WOULD ACHIEVE SUCCESS.

Ex-Councillor Cahill stated that he with the others was present to do honour to the departing guest and it was an honour of which any young man might well be proud. Walter deserved this honour. He was a young man of enterprise, ability and stamina. He wished him God speed and had no doubt but that he would be successful in the west.

Councillor Phelan knew that Walter was doing better in assuming his new position and hoped he would succeed. He should do so as he had lots of pluck. Walter took with him his best wishes.

W. J. Montgomery spoke of Walter and himself as being the only ones that were left of all the family i.e. of the older hockey players. The team had been inaugurated five years ago, and as Walter was now leaving town he, himself, was the only one left of this team. Both had played together in all the matches and no one regretted Walter's departure more than himself. He would miss him, he thought, more than anyone else. The whole team would feel his loss greatly and as his place would be most difficult to fill all would have to practice most faithfully if they expected to land the trophy in

PETERBOROUGH ONCE AGAIN.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner in speaking thought that Walter would be missed from many circles indeed. The lacrosse club would miss him; the lawn tennis club would miss him; the ladies would miss him and the hockey team would miss him. He was a star player, an unselfish player and a strong check. He cared not who scored the goals as long as they were scored for Peterborough and he was the kind of a player which built up a team.

J. P. Hurley expressed his deep regret at the departure of the guest of the evening. They had gone to school together and he had seen him grow from a boy into a man and had always a warm regard for him. He had never known aught but good of Walter and wished him such success as his best friend could desire.

R. B. Coulson, of Montreal, welcomed Walter into the fraternity of the Knights of the Grip, and spoke a few words of encouragement to him concerning life on the road.

Mr. R. B. McKee, as one of Walter's former employers, told him that he was going to one of the best countries on earth. It was his opportunity to make his mark in the world, and he hoped he would avail himself of the occasion, as he had the ability to do it. He was one who and doubtless he would soon have a large circle of acquaintances who would be a help to him in his business.

In response to the toast of "Our Guest," Walter made a few brief remarks, in which he expressed his hearty appreciation of the honour which was being accorded him. He had always taken a warm interest in Peterborough athletic circles and had done his best to win for his team every time. He was much attached to his home and friends but felt that if he ever meant to strike out for himself now was the time to do it. He concluded by expressing his thanks to his friends for turning out in such large numbers to bid him good-bye.

Mr. Joe Cahill regretted Walter's departure very much. They had been brought up in the same business house together and consequently he knew of the sterling qualities and ability which Walter possessed. He knew that the popularity which had made him friends in Peterborough would win him success in the west.

Mr. Geo. J. Horkins also regretted Walter's departure very much and dwelt to considerable extent on the difficulty which the Executive would have in replacing him.

On behalf of the Hockey Club and friends Mr. Greenwood with a most beautiful gold locket, engraved on one side with his initals intertwined, and on the other bearing the inscription "To Walter Phelan, from the Peterborough Hockey Club and friends, January 27th, 1896." Walter was so overcome with the unexpectedness of the gift that he found it difficult to form a suitable reply. After saying a few words of acknowledgment he was asked to sing one of the old chorus songs, in which the boys all joined heartily.

THEN PRESENTED WALTER

Mr. Denny, of Toronto, who was present, welcomed Walter into the brotherhood of the Commercial Travellers Association, after which the guests joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne," before bidding Walter a personal farewell.

Quite a number of his most intimate friends were at the station early this morning to say good bye ere the C.P.R. express bore him westward to his new home in Winnipeg, from whence he will travel through the Northwest Territories and British Columbia for the well known hardware firm of Jas. Robertson.

Be up to Date.

The gentlemen of Peterborough and vicinity are, as a rule, right up to date. If they are not, it is because they lack opportunity. When they get the chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear coverments, should rememebr that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. MURRAY STREET CHURCH ANNUAL ROLL CALL.

ALMOST THE ENTIRE CONGREGATION IN ATTENDANCE.

Rev. J. E. Trotter Reads a Most Interesting Historical Sketch Concerning the Inception of the Baptist Church in Peterborough.

The annual roll call in connection with the Murray street Baptist church, was held last evening, in connection with that congregation, the industrial members of which in responding to their names repeated a favourite verse of scripture. During the evening Rev. J. E. Trotter, the pastor, read the following interesting historical sketch of the founding of the Baptist church in Peterborough:

When the time shall come for the history of the Baptists of Peterborough county to be written, there is one name that will certainly be conspicuous in that story—the name of John Gilmour of blessed memory. He was the pioneer Baptist preacher of this neighbourhood who, while having special oversight of the Indians of the district, scattered the good seed of the kingdom over a wide territory. He was beloved by all who knew him, his name was revered, and his memory is fragrant still wherever his influence was felt. Associated with him at different times and more or less intimately were the Rev. John Edwards, Rev. E. R. Roberts, who still survives, and the Rev. Samuel Tapscott. The churches of Smith, Selwyn, Lakefield and Peterborough were some of the fruits that sprang up

FROM HIS LABOURS.

It was in the year 1845 that a few Baptists resolved to build a meeting-house in the town of Peterborough to the glory of God. The entries made of subscriptions for this purpose reveal the fact that the people were earnest and united in their efforts. The well-to-do gave liberally, and the poorer gave no less liberally. Those who had no money to give gave their time and labour, while others gave material. Like the builders of the wall in Nehemiah's day, each one helped to bear the burden, and all worked with a will, and the enterprise succeeded. The edifice which still stands on Aylmer street was completed that year, and on the first Sunday in January, 1846, was opened and dedicated to the service of God. The Rev. Mr. Horne of Bloomfield preached on the occasion, his theme being "The Building of Solomon's Temple," from which he adduced lessons concerning the nature and structure of the "spiritual building"—the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The originators of this undertaking were in fellowship with the Smith church, and a few months after the opening of the new chapel, they applied for letters of dismission from the Smith church in order that they might in Peterborough. Letters were granted them, and a Baptist church was duly organized in Peterborough on May 10th, 1846. The charter members numbered eleven, and were as follows:—Rev. John Gilmour and Mrs. Gilmour, Margaret Lamb, J. W. Gilmour, Thos. Graham, Grace McDonald, James Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, Miss Gibson, Daniel McIntyre and Mrs. McIntyre. These have all passed away, but there influence is living yet.

In 1848 the Rev. E. R. Roberts of Smith, became associated with Mr. Gilmour in ministering to the church in Peterborough, which arrangement continued for some time.

In 1853 the Rev. H. Lloyd spent his vacation here, and after having finished his studies at Rochester accepted a call to the pastorate and entered upon his labours in August, 1854. During this pastorate, which terminated with the year 1855, many souls were ADDED TO THE CHURCH.

A number of pastorates followed, which we can do little more than mention. For four years the Rev. John Cameron, still living in the County of Bruce, served the church as pastor. Following him, in the year 1857, the Rev. Mr. Stock, an English Baptist minister, became pastor, but owing to sore domestic affliction he was compelled to resign in 1859, to the deep regret of the church. It was in this year—1859—that Mr. Gilmour preached his last sermon in Peterborough, this was on May 8th, and on the 22nd of the same month he was called to his rest. From 1859 to 1871 the Rev. Mr. Dyall was pastor. Following him, the Rev. Robert Cameron, now of Boston, Mass., preached for some months, but declined to accept the call which the church gave him. About this time Messrs. Russel and Carrol, evangelists, were at work in Peterborough, during whose labours there was a considerable awakening and ingathering, and in 1872 Mr. Carroll was called to the pastorate, in which capacity he served until 1876. From 1877 to 1880 the Rev. Mr. Mulhern served the church with very great acceptance. Then came Rev. Edward J. Stobo, who is now labouring in Quebec, who was pastor

FROM 1880 TO 1882.

The Rev. W. M. Walker, now of London, than a student, preached here during the summer of 1882. The pastorate of the Rev. J. H. Best, which followed, was cut short by the sudden death of his wife, which led to his resignation in May, 1883. From this time until Rev. A. H. Munro became pastor, the pulpit was supplied by professors and students from Toronto. The pastorates of Mr. Munro and his successor, the Rev. F. C. Parker, each extending over about four years, are quite familiar to you and need no comment from me. The present pastorate (that of Rev. J. E. Trotter) began nearly five years ago, on the 1st of March, 1891, and appears, though brief, to have been of longer duration than any of those before it. During this pastorate, thus far, seventy-one have been baptized on profession of faith and sixty-six have been received by letter and experience.

This building which we now occupy was purchased from the Bible Christians in 1884, during the pastorate of Mr. Munro. On the 28th Dec. in that year, after the building had the church moved from their old home on Aylmer street and took possession of this, celebrating the event by appropriate services, Dr. B. D. Thomas, of Toronto, being the preacher on the occasion.

Let me say here that if the work during these fifty years has not assumed such proportions in Peterborough as could have been desired, yet there has been expansion; for the churches in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Kinmount and Bobcaygeon have sprung from the church in Peterborough. There is still a younger child. On May 1st, 1895, the mission conducted in the south part of the town, was placed on independent footing, the church dismissing 34 of its members to form the Park street church. This district was long felt by many of us to be very promising, and it will suprise us if, in a few years, Park street church is not strong and influential. When a mother discovers that her daughter has become her equal in stature, her feelings are those of pride and thankfulness. And when Murray street church shall discover that Park street church has attained equal proportions with herself, her feelings toward her daughter will be those of thankfulness if she still be found on the way of the Lord. May both be ever bound together with the strong bonds of christian love. It may not be out of place to state that after the very heavy draughts that have of late been made upon our numbers, our membership to-day is 196 including non-residents.

Let us take courage and go forward.

The sketch was listened to with the warmest interest, and was much appreciated by the members of the congregation in attendance.

Tea was served in the church by the ladies, from five until seven o'clock, and a large number partook of this social feature of the annual meeting.

OBITUARY.

The Late Bartholomeu Welsh.

On Mandey morning, January 27th, Mr. Bartholmeu Welsh passed away at his residence, lot 12, part lot 50, South Monaghan, at the age of 82 years. The deceased was a native of Ireland where he was born in 1814, in the county of Mayo. At the age of 32 years he came to Canada, which has been his home for the past half century. He has lived in the place where he died—the summit of the hill west of the town, for 40 years. He leaves behind him his venerable companion, who is now 84 years of age, put in broken health and not likely to long survive the partner with whom she has so long trod the path of life. The deceased was without children. The funeral took place this morning, and the remains were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic cemetery. R quiscat in pace.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

JANUARY SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

MR. JAS. MIDDLETON, REEVE OF SMITH, ELECTED WARDEN.

The Council for 1896 -Routine Proceedings.

The County Council elect assembled in the council chamber at the Court House this afternoon. The following members representing the several municipalities, having taken the usual declarations, took their seats:

Ashburnham—John Burnham, M.P., Reeve. Asphodel—Wm. Rock, Reeve; Jas. Andrews, Deputy Reeve.
Belmont and Methuen—J. B. Peoples, Reeve; R. Anderson, Deputy Reeve.
Burleigh and Anstruther—A. Brown, Reeve. Cavendish—W. Hales, Reeve.
Douro—John Moloney, Reeve; Wm. Leeson, Deputy Reeve.
Dummer—E. Hawthorne, Reeve; R. Crowe, Deputy Reeve.
Ennismore—Wm. Crough, Reeve.
Galway—Michael Mansfield, Reeve.
Harvey—Robt. Shaw, Reeve.
Havelock—S. S. Joyce, Reeve.
Lakefield—W. H. Casement, Reeve.
Norwood—John Finlay, Reeve.
North Monaghan—Jos. Forster, Reeve.
Otonabee—Wm. Anderson, Reeve; T. J. Johnston, first Deputy Reeve, and John Lancaster, second Deputy Reeve.
Smith—Jas. Middleton, Reeve; J. G. Armstrong, Deputy Reeve.

The clerk, Mr. Ejj. Pearse, occupying the chair, the

was proceeded with.

The first business was the election of Warden, which resulted in the selection of Jas. Middleton, on the first ballot by a majority of 5 over Mr. Hawthorne, the vote standing, Middleton, 14, Hawthorne, 9.

Mr. Middleton, having taken the usual declaration of office, was robed and conducted to the Warden's chair.

Mr. Middleton, in thanking the council for his election, said:

GENTLEMEN,—Let me thank you for the position you have given me to-day. I am fully aware that this office calls for a man better qualified than I could ever hope to be, and were it not for the fact that the Wardenship has been going around, that is the Reeve of each municipality having his turn, I would have been a member of the County Council for many year before I should have even thought of accepting this position. However, with your support and confidence, I have no fear that the affairs of the county will suffer to any great extent.

Now gentlemen the work of the year is upon us, let our watchword be economy. There is a prevailing idea that getting a great amount of work done for the least possible money, no matter how badly the work is done, is economy, but this is not what I refer to, I want permanent work even though a little more money has to be expended; it pays best in the end.

Let us not be extravagent in our expenditure, for you are fully aware that a great financial depression is passing over our country, and it becomes us to be careful in public as well as private dealings. At this session of the council you will find your proper place. All new matters of importance will come before you, re Mud lake bridge, county roads, etc.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Geo. Steewart, of Otonabee, was appointed one of the county auditors, and the Warden nominated Mr. F. J. Bell.

Mr. W. A. Stratton was re-appointed sessional clerk.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

On motion of Mr. Hawthorne, seconded by Mr. Buck, the following members were appointed a committee to strike the Standing Committees: Anderson, (Otonabee), Burnham, Moloney, Forster, Peoples, Finlay, Casement, Hawthorne and Buck.

The council then adjourned.

A mirror could not lie if it wanted to. The glass has nothing to gain by flattery. If the roses of health and plumpness of beauty are leaving your face, your mirror will tell you so. Health is the greatest beautifier in the world. When a woman sees the indications of ill-health in the face, she may with almost absolute certainty look for the cause in one or both of two conditions—constipation, and derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure permanently and positively any so-called "female complaint." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation. There is no reason in the world why a woman should not be perfectly healthy. She will gain in health, strength and flesh. Hollows and angles will give place to fullness and grace. She will be that noblest and most beautiful of all creation—a perfect woman.

CANADA'S RAILROADS

Mr. Hannaford Says Farewell to His Staff.

WISHING THEM SUCCESS IN FUTURE

Official and Social Connections Which it is Painful to Sever—Sir William Van Horne and the C.P.R.—Large Increase in the Earnings of the Road.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—Those who predicted that Mr. E. P. Hannaford would strike back at Mr. Hays in retiring from the position of chief engineer of the Grand Trunk were in the wrong, as the following document will show:

"Montreal, Jan. 24, 1896.

"To the Staff of the Engineer's Department, Grand Trunk Railway:

"It is with regret that I inform you I give up charge of the department at the end of this month. My 38 years' service with the company—30 of which I have been chief engineer—has formed official and social connections that a separation will make painful to sever. I know I have the loyal support of the staff; that you have never failed in your duty to the company, and ask you to accept my thanks for your forbearance and support, and most cordially wish you success in the service.

"(Signed) E. P. HANNAFORD."

"They are a loyal lot of men," said Mr. Hannaford, to your correspondent to-day, "and I regret to leave them." He also said that there would likely be other changes in the near future. Mr. Hays had been placed at the head of the Grand Trunk by the English board, and it was the men in London who were responsible for the change. Mr. Hannaford, however, hinted that there might be breakers ahead, and that the position of the newly-appointed general manager would not be anything like a bed of roses. It was likely that most of the present men would be replaced by Americans, yet he hoped the Lord would look after the Grand Trunk.

A good deal of comment was indulged in at the Point to-day over the statement in The Chicago Railway Age, which said that Mr. E. F. McQuiggan had not accepted the general managership of the Great Northern, as had been reported, but was going to Montreal to become superintendent of the Grand Trunk. An effort was made to find out what truth there might be in this rumor, but as most of the head officials were at Ottawa, no headway could be made.

It is now said that Sir William Van Horne will not leave the Canadian Pacific until the road's earning capacity has been made sure, and the stockholders are getting back a good interest on their investment. There appears, in fact, to be good times close at hand for the big road. To-morrow the monthly statement for December will be issued. Judging the entire month on the basis of the first three weeks of December, it is safe to place the net earnings for this 31 days at about $765,000. The gross earnings from Jan. 1 to Nov. 30, inclusive, were $17,016,420.86, while the net earnings for the same period were $6,606,485.66. Computing the past month, as stated above, with the reports of the remaining eleven months, will make the total net earnings of the year $7,371,000, an increase of $948,000 over the year 1894.

Sir William Van Horne, Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick, Messrs. R. B. Angus and James Ross have gone to Washington and other southern points.

STEAMER ST. PAUL ASHORE.

The Big American Liner Stranded During a Thick Fog

New York, Jan. 25.—The American line steamship the St. Paul, from Southampton for New York, went ashore on the outer bar off the Hotel Brighton, Long Branch, during the dense fog this morning. It is said that she was just finishing a 3,000-mile tussle with that other ocean greyhound, the Campania, of the Cunard line. Both boats, it appears from the stories of passengers, had been traveling at top speed for 17 hours, within sight of each other, and, though it is declared that neither was racing, each seemed anxious to get to Sandy Hook first. This fact is acknowledged by Captain Walker of the Campania. Both vessels ran into a fog bank unexpectedly and then slowed down. After that the vessels came within sight of each other two or three times. At a few minutes after 1 o'clock this morning, the St. Paul drove her bow into the sand less than half a mile from the iron pier used by excursion boats during the summer season. She is still aground to-night, hard and fast, and may remain on the beach for several days. An effort was made to release her at high water this evening, but it was not a success. The vessel had 65 saloon, 75 second cabin and 120 steerage passengers.

The first and second-class passengers of the St. Paul were landed in the city a few minutes before 7 this evening on the steamboat George Starr, to which they had been transferred from the stranded steamer in life boats. The transfer was made without mishap, and the passengers all seemed in good spirits. There were about 100 people waiting for them at the pier.

At ten minutes past 6 o'clock this evening the tug Lewis Bulver arrived at the pier with the mail. There were 201 sacks, and they were at once conveyed to the postoffice.

Worse Instead of Better.

At a late hour to-night the steamer was in a worse position than when she first struck. Although the wind from the northwest was favorable to the disabled steamer, yet the heavy set boomed in shore drove the line more shoreward and buried her nose in deeper and deeper in the treacherous Jersey sands. The vessel lay broadside on and pointed almost directly north and south. Although all the passengers had been taken off, she was a blaze of lights, and a number of tugs hovered around, waiting for the slightest chance of rendering any assistance.

Old surfmen who have spent a lifetime on the coast said that the pride of the American line was a doomed vessel and she would never get off in time to be of any use. At any moment a northeaster, easterly or southerly wind may spring up and that means good-bye to the stranded vessel, they said.

She is Still Fast

Long Branch, N.J., Jan. 26.—Ten thousand visitors from the numerous resorts north and south of this place, as well as from New York, Philadelphia and the large New Jersey towns, flocked here to-day and repaired to the beach to watch the efforts made to pull the steamer St. Paul over the bar into deep water. The ship was moved 170 feet seaward early this morning, but the flood tide was not of sufficient duration to make it possible to haul her into water deep enough to float.

WAR SENSATION PLAYED OUT.

All the Territory in Dispute Not Worth $500,000—War Would Cost $300,000,000.

London, Jan. 25.—Unless some of the jingo politicians invent a new scare, it may be said that the sensation caused by the Venezuela boundary dispute is finally played out. All voices here from the press and platform call not only for peace, but for an increase of amity with the United States.

The cable despatches sent from America announcing fresh Anglo-phobe developments upon the part of Congress do not excite an extra throb of the public pulse or lessen the effusive protests of public speakers of Great Britain's friendship for America. The Right Hon. James Bryce, M.P., President of the Board of Trade in the last Liberal Administration, in an address to his constituents in the South Division of Aberdeen, declared that not five per cent. of the Americans desired a war with England. A conflict would shock the feelings of a majority of the citizens of the United States, as it would shock the feelings of the British. Apart from the ties of blood, friendship and literature, the two nations were so eminently practical that they would never fight over an issue so ludicrous and trivial.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, speaking at Salisbury, while not so cock sure as Mr. Bryce about a quarrel between kindred peoples being inconceivable, held that a solution of the difficulty would leave the two nations firmer friends than ever.

Sir John Lubbock, M.P., formerly President of the London Chamber of Commerce, last night dilated on the commercial aspect of the dispute. He estimated that the teritory in dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela was not worth £500,000, while a war between the former and the United States would cost each country at least £200,000,000. Common sense, he added, forbade such a conflict.

It is Folly to be Wise?

Yes, when "ignorance is bliss." But that can never apply to life and health. Everybody should know that as regards medical science "old things have passed away, and behold all things are new." But few men are better known or more respected in Western Ontario than the esteemed pastor of Hope Methodist church, Alvinston. This is how he puts it:

"Pinemalt has been used in my family for some time. It is a medicine of great merit in colds. All the people praise it. For the relief of cough, and the other symptoms of cold or chest troubles, it is unfailing, in my experience. The children like it, and in their case we found it very useful, in croup as well as in colds."

R. D. HAMILTON.

Pinemalt, the New Lung Remedy, stands unrivalled in its own field. For chronic cases and consumption, ask your druggist for Pinemalt and Hypophosphites instead of plain Pinemalt.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Lassitude almost overcomes her. Nervousness and sleeplessness and pain harass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

That her sufferings are due solely to her own fault seldom occurs to her, but often it is so. Health, strength and vigorous vitality are hers if she will but ask and reach for them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for the ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays irritating inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood. Best of all, with these remedies there is no need of detested "examinations" and "local treatment" so abhorrent to every modest woman.

Thousands of grateful women have written letters like this:

MRS. SAMANTHA M. CRANMER, of Box 34, La Roy, Bradford Co., Pa., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write these few lines in favor of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription'—the medicines which have done me so much good. I was completely run down so that I could scarcely drag myself around the house, had been getting weaker and worse for several years until I lost all hope of ever getting any better. I took four bottles of each of your medicines and am now perfectly well."

Respectfully yours,

Samantha M Cranmer

MODELS FOR SHOW WINDOWS.

They Are Copied From Living Subjects With the Care of a Sculptor.

A comparatively new industry in New York, says the Tribune, in that of making models for show windows. Until two years ago only the inferior grades were made here, the better figures all coming from abroad. Though the home manufactured article has not entirely displaced the foreign, the wax figures now made here are equal to any imported, even those coming from Vienna, which has long held the palm for making wax models.

All the figures are made from living models, most of whom are found on the East Side among the Italians. A firm which manufactures wax figures is always on the lookout for a pretty face, and the models are well paid. The chief modeller makes periodical excursions among the people of the extreme east and west abodes of New York and keeps his eyes open for pretty, well-cut features. Whenever he "spots" a face to his liking, he opens negotiations with the owner, or if it is a child, with its parents, and pays liberally for a sitting of two or three hours. By long experience the manufacturers find that the best figures can be modelled from the heads found in the lower quarters of the town. They say that perfect regularity of features is extremely difficult to find except among that class of people, whose complexion, also, when soap and water have been plentifully applied, is far more natural. Intellectual expression is not required in a wax figure, and is even a drawback.

The first step in the process of making a high grade wax show figure is to cast in wax a head and bust in the rough. It is, of course, hollow and looks like a huge wax potato. The artist then takes a knife and models like a sculptor the block of wax into some resemblance to a human head. Knife in hand, and with the model before him, he then carefully cuts away the wax until an exact reproduction has been made of the face of his sitter. He puts the tints on the wax to copy his model's complexion and completes every detail with the utmost care. Then the hair, eyebrows and eyelashes are put in. Only natural hair is used, and it can be brushed and done up in any style the purchaser pleases.

The modelling of the eye and putting in of the eyelashes are the most delicate parts of the whole process. Each hair is put in separately, both on the head and for the eyebrows and eyelashes. The operation is performed with a hot needle and takes a long time. When implanted in this manner the hair can be treated as though it was growing on a living head. It can be washed and brushed and taken down and put up in any style just as in nature. This sort of thing is possible only with first-class heads, which often cost $150 apiece. The average price of those seen in the big dry goods stores is about $100.

The price depends not only upon the workmanship, but upon the quality of the wax. A good wax head will never become greasy and shiny from heat and will stand without injury a comparatively high temperature. The surface is protected by a coating of fine powder which is blown on while the wax is slightly softened by heat. The composition of high grade wax is carefully guarded by the manufacturers, each having a secret process of his own.

When the mouth of a wax figure is shown slightly open real teeth are inserted. As the faces will be seen from a distance, the eyelashes and eyebrows are slightly exaggerated or they would not show at all.

Expert wax modellers are scarce and command a high salary. The trade generally runs along from father to son, because the wax modellers, one and all, refuse to teach their craft to any but members of their own families. Wax figures are frequently used by medical colleges and institutions, and one or two modellers devote their time almost exclusively for the purposes of getting up special models for the purpose of medical instruction. A great many orders have been executed for "Trilby" feet, and a fad has lately sprung up for small groups of wax of an allegorical nature. In a big dry goods house in Boston there is a complete group in wax representing Lieut. Peary and his expedition at the north pole.

A Novel Idea.

Paris is responsible for bringing out the very latest fad of the advertising fiend, says an English newspaper. We have heard of the American who advertised his wares on the passing clouds at night time, by means of electrically written sentences extolling literally to the skies his particular brand of merchandise with a powerful magic-lantern. We have heard, too, of the enterprising firm of patent medicine vendors who painted an advertisement of their wares on the rocks round Niagara, and of those who painted them upon the roadway. It is a development of this last method which has just come out. It is worked as follows: A tricycle is built with very broad tires, but these tires, instead of being smooth, are furnished with rubber type of large pattern, arranged so as to form sentences. On the top of the wheel is an ink-reservoir, supplied with a roller, which inks the type, and at the bottom is a blower worked by the pedals, which is constantly blowing away the dust from the roadway in front of the wheel, so that it has a nice clean surface on which to impress its advertisement. Of course this novel tricycle can only print on wood or asphalt; but as most streets of Paris are so paved, there is plenty of scope for it, and the ink, being of a brilliant color and very permanent, leaves its mark quite readable for days.—From Harper's Round Table.

Monte Carlo Victims.

Additions to the long list of victims at Monte Carlo continue to be made. The other day the Countess Jondet, member of a well-known noble family, and her 16-year-old daughter were found dead in one of the hotels of the city. They had taken poison, it was found upon investigation, after losing $60,000 at the tables, practically becoming penniless. They had been in Monte Carlo only a week.

Maud—I tell you, Cousin Sophy's baby is a girl.

Constance—And I tell you it's a boy.

On Business.

Caller—I wish to see the lady of the house.

Man of the House—If you have any business with her, perhaps I can——

"I prefer to see the lady herself."

"Would you mind stating your business?"

"I'll state it to the lady."

"If it's anything you got to sell I don't think she would want it."

"It's an individual kitchen utensil, but I couldn't make a man understand it I know she'd want it in a minute if she could see it.

"I am quite sure she wouldn't have any use for it. She is very much occupied now, anyway."

"I can sit down and wait."

"It won't do any good."

"Is there any reason why I can't see her?"

"Oh, no. You can see her if you want to. She's my grandmother, and she's blind. She is 90 years old, hasn't been out of bed since 1889, and you'll find her in the next room. One of the neighbors who has a sick child has called in to ask her advice. Nearly every family around here has got the measels and"——

"Good land! Let me get out of here!"—Chicago Tribune.

"The Common People,"

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

The Land of Used-to-Be.

Good-night, dear love, may all your dreams be fair—
And hasten not to waken and to weep;
For tender happines and hope are there—
There in the sweet and silent Land of Sleep.

Dream on, dear heart, and linger once again
In that fair land of days of long ago,
Live for a little while those moments when
We knew the joy we ne'er again shall know.

Recall those hours and once more live in them,
In that vague realm where Memory is King,
His scepter joy, and love his diadem,
Where earthly winter is not, only spring.

Wake not, beloved, for night is everywhere,
And dawn will never break for you and me,
Good-night, dear love, may all your dreams be fair—
Leave not, my sweet, the Land of Used-To-Be.

Weak, Nervous Women.

One to whom a night's rest was unknown.

Strength and good health restored.

I was subject to frequent attacks of nervousness that seemed to sap all my vitality and left me in a state of weakness and misery. I could not relish food and such a thing as a good night's rest was unknown. Incapable of any exertion and with an ever present tired and despondent feeling. Medicines that I took did not do any good; it was a case of gradually becoming weaker and weaker. Hearing of Scott's Sarsaparilla and its success with similar cases to mine, I used it, and from the first few doses began to get better, appetite returned, got natural and refreshing sleep. I grew stronger, in fact life seemed to be fanned into activity.—Lottie Graham, 174 Crawford Street, Toronto.

For any weakness of the nerves, pale and sallow complexion, loss of appetite use the best blood and nerve remedy extant, Scott's Sarsaparilla. Insist on getting Scott's—imitations do not cure.

Sold by J. B. Tully, Peterborough.

A TIMELY SERMON BY REV. H. SYMONDS.

NATIONAL PATRIOTISM INTENSIFIED BY RECENT EVENTS.

Reference Made to the Recent War Scares in the Different Quarters of the Globe—President Cleveland's Message.

Ps. 48, v. 2.—The hill of Zion is a fair place and the joy of the whole earth.

After alluding to the patriotic feelings rested in these words which rendered them an appropriate motto for the sermon, Mr. Symonds proceeded to say that men were associated together in three principal relations, viz., those of (1) The Family, (2) The Nation, (3) The Race. The Bible interprets all these: Its early chapters tell the story of Adam and Eve, of Noah, of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The remainder of the Old Testament deals mainly with a nation. Then when we come to the New Testament, the horizon is again widened, and the teaching of Jesus has to do mainly with men as members of our race.

The family, the nation, the race—these, we may believe, are permanent divisions of mankind. But as the love of family does not hinder, but promote, national unity, so neither need patriotism hinder the unity of the race, which is certainly the goal to which Christianity directs our vision and

INSPIRES OUR EFFORTS.

Jesus Christ came not as an angel to the earth, but as a member of a family, and as a member of a nation, but he bade His disciples found the world-wide kingdom of Heaven.

It was of patriotism he wished to speak that morning. "Recent circumstances have evoked throughout the British Empire perhaps the strongest and most unanimous display of national feeling since the battle of Waterloo. Many of us remember the great outburst of anti-Russian feeling in 1877, but that was a far less unanimous expression of public sentiment than that which is to day sweeping like a mighty tide over our hearts, obliterating minor differences and knitting our hearts together and blending our minds and voice in behalf of a national cause. We have been made to feel what Englishmen have dared and done in the past they can dare and do in the present. A depth of earnestness too profound for mere froth of words has issued in action and an astonished world has been compelled to admit that it is no empty boast which England makes when, pointing to her splendid fleet, she cries, "We are ready to defend our rights" to preserve our self-respect, against the injustice

OF ALL THE WORLD.

And in the past week our national feeling has been intensified and ennobled by the death of one who closely allied to our royal house, had identified himself with English fortunes and has laid down his life in defence of an English cause. It is perhaps but a co-incidence that what we regard as uncalled interference in British affairs has come on one hand from a republic which claims to be the freest country in the world, and on the other from a monarch who, to-day, rules with a sway as autocratic as the Emperor of the Russians. In both cases our indignation is aroused by what we regard as the insincerity of our assailants. Most fair minded man will admit that the underlying principle of the Monroe doctrine is good. But not only do we not believe that it applies in the case of the relations between Great Britain and Venezula, but we are almost compelled to believe that if not the sole, at all events a strong, motive for the president's message was a desire to cater to the prejudices, not of the best, but of the lowest section of the American people. Those thus appealed to have few of the

ELEMENTS OF PATRIOTISM.

They are not actuated either by a love of their country, still less of her honour, which they have again and again trailed in the mire, but they are moved by petty spite, and by a spirit of jealous vindictiveness, to which truth, honour and justice are basely sacrificed. I hope, however strongly tempted, we shall not believe or act as though we believed that this section, however large, represents the whole American people, not a few of whom have spoken out boldly at the present juncture, nor that we shall emulate the spirit of blind hostility of this baser class by denying the greatness of the accomplishment of our blood relations, to the south, under circumstances in many respects untoward."

The Rector proceeded to quote comments from the London Times, upon the Monroe Doctrine, and concluded this part of his subject, with these words. "We have then every reason to feel that in protesting, not against the Monroe doctrine, but against President Cleveland's application of it, we stand on the solid ground of truth and justice."

After briefly referring to the interference of the Emperor of Germany "if possible, even less reasonable than that of President Cleveland," Mr. Symonds proceeded to defend, at length, the occasional reference in the pulpit to affairs of the State. Its office is to endeavour to expound Christian principles and to apply them to present day circumstances.

In conclusion, he remarked that "out of evil, God bringeth good. Let us trust that it will be so to-day. After the bursting of a storm, clouds roll away, and the atmosphere is cleared. The goal towards which we are moving has been revealed. It is the establishment of universal peace, fellowship and love. Is it too much to claim that war in itself has not for many centuries been the policy of the British Empire, and that she rejoices far more in the extension of commerce and of all the arts of peace, than in the clash of sword or the thunders of cannon. She places the laurel crown upon him, who, in almost his latest poem, figuratively described the work of the Empire as the erection of a mighty temple.

To every breath from Heaven,
And in that temple
Truth,
Peace, love and justice came and dwelt."

If at times the pathway to humanty's goal lead through blood, if at times even for peace men must fight, yet never let us blind our eyes to the vision of that city "whose maker and builder is God," that state which is composed of mankind redeemed and sanctified, reigning together as kings and serving together as priests in perfect harmony, peace and fellowship for ever and ever.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

A Summarised Report of What was Done at St. Catharines.

The convention of Young Men's Christian Associations held at St. Catharines, closed with a grand farewell meeting held in St. Paul's street Methodist church at which addresses were made by prominent visiting delegates.

The meetings throughout were characterized by much enthusiasm and power, and while the delegates and townspeople have enjoyed much spiritual blessing, a number of knotty problems have had new light thrown on them, and in many instances the time allowed for disussion was insufficient.

"Our Financial Problem," was the subject of a strong paper by Mr. J. W. Bennett, in which the best methods of raising the association current expenses were plainly and practically set forth. In the discussion which followed it was decided that entertainments should not be used as a means of raising money. Many persons bought tickets for no other reason but to help the institution along and often laying them aside without using them. These people really thought they had done a good thing for the young men's welfare, while in reality they had, as a rule, only helped to support some musical or literary stars in a foreign city. A case was cited of an entertainment that was gotten up to swell the receipts of a local benevolent institution. A good company was secured, a great deal of work was done in pushing the sale of tickets, and people bought who did so out of a pure desire to "help it along," as they said. The night, company and audience were all that could be desired. Receipts about $212. Expenses, exclusive of work and worry, about $5.00 short of this. 2⅔ for the benevolent institution and 97⅓ for the "stars" and local expenses.

Forward movements in the several departments of the association work were discussed and practical ideas were given by the more experienced men.

The music was conducted by John W. Hansel, of Chicago, and the Bible work by Prof. W. W. White, of Moody's Bible Institute, Chicago.

Prof. White held his audience spellbound as he outlined the Gospel by St. John, and men who thought they were fairly conversant with this book were forced to admit that they had only really skimmed it and could but be characterized as beginners.

The Professor also spoke on the Prayer-Life, stating and proving conclusively from the Word that it is the privilege of every Christian man and woman who is entirely given up to God to appropriate literally the Bible teaching in reference to prayer. The speaker emphasized consecration and faith as the key to unlock the doors of the Heavenly storehouse.

Prof. White can be and is acknowledged to be one of the world's deepest and most earnest Bible students.

The Ladies' Auxiliary and College Students' sessions were important features of the gathering. The College men were instructed, or led, by Mr. Gilbert Beaver, College Secretary of the International Committee.

About 300 delegates were present from the two Provinces, Ontario and Quebec.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common Sense Medical Adviser, profusely illustrated.

Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, and pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in perfectly palatable form. It is the best for coughs, colds and all lung troubles. Price 50c and $1 per bottle.

THE CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE AND FOREIGN MISSIONS.

HOW THE GOSPEL CAN REACH THE ENDS OF THE EARTH.

A Very Large Attendance—Earnest and Eloquent Addresses by Rev. Dr. Wilson and Rev. A. B. Simpson—Foreign Missions a Paramount Duty of Christians.

The closing session of the Christian Alliance convention was the most largely attended one of the series. The large hall had been very closely seated and all places were occupied.

As usual Pastor Zimmerman presided and the same hearty singing was characteristic of the services. Prayer was said by Rev. Mr. Grant.

Rev. Dr. Wilson was the first speaker. This gentleman is a native of Peterborough and in his prefatory remarks he referred to the emotions and reflections that crowded his soul as he approached his birth-place and the home of his childhood in the train and he said he wished to become as a child in his address of the evening and to speak simply and plainly. He spoke of the Holy Spirit in three aspects of His dealing with men. One of the first tests of the certain knowledge that one was born again, was the consciousness and willingness of being led by the Holy Spirit. One could not know the power of God in his heart unless he submitted himself to be led by the Spirit. Another mark of sonship was a willingness to be ignorant in order to be filled with true wisdom. Another obstacle to receiving the fullness of the Spirit was the heart and mind being filled with a lot of "theological rubbish" and preconceived opinions which, though not sinful in themselves, to the full sweep of the Spirit over the heart. When we were willing to empty ourselves of self and of prejudices the Holy Ghost would fill us, and after this one of the functions of the Spirit was to send His children where He willed to do His work. No one could expect to be filled with the Spirit who was not willing to be separated and sent and used for His work.

WERE A HINDRANCE

The second address was made by Rev. A. B. Simpson, who discussed the question "What are you going to do with your life?" He pointed out that the Holy Ghost could no more dwell in a heart filled with Christian selfishness than in a heart filled with worldly selfishness. If we had the spirit of Christ we would have the heart of Christ for lost souls. We as Christians did not seem to understand the purposes of God. The speaker went on to show that the Gospel was not intended to be preached only to the followers of Christ, but Christian communities should be centres of work, from which workers should be sent to the regions that lay in darkness. Though the apostles seemed to think that their field of labour was narrowed down to the Holy Land, God taught them otherwise, and they were scattered abroad to carry the message to those who had not heard the sound of the Gospel. The speaker pointed out that in America there were 150,000 preachers for 75,000,000 people, while there were who had not heard of Christ, who were dying at the rate of 100,000 a day, and before the judgment seat these souls would lay their loss at the door of the church. God did not design that his word should be preached for ever to gospel hardened communities and all the world neglected. It was shown that it was the duty of the church which had heard the gospel to send it to the uttermost parts of the earth. An earnest appeal was made to Christians to separate themselves for the work of Christ, and at its conclusion the speaker asked those of the congregation who were willing to be used to carry the gospel to heathen lands to stand up; and twenty-two persons under 40 years of age rose to their feet amid earnest ejaculations of thanksgiving to God. These persons in order to show that their vows were not made under the impulse of the moment, are required to send their names to Dr. Wilson, New York, a member of the Examining Committee, to investigate the fitness in general of the candidates for mission work.

The convention is regarded by those most interested as having been successful beyond expectation. The services and addresses were certainly very impressive and seemed to have a deep and solemn influence upon those who attended the several meetings.

Dr. Wilson and Rev. Mr. Simpson left town last night.

A regular meeting of the local Alliance will be held in Bethany Hall on Thursday night.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Sleeplessness is Another of the Vanquished Ailments.

A Wakeful Poison in the Blood—A Few Doses Relieves—A few Boxes Cure.

Kidney disease has no surer sign than the condition of sleeplessness.

Without pain of any kind, or even uneasiness, the sufferer wakes, or remains awake, hour after hour every night.

There is a peculiar irritating and wakeful poison in the blood that causes it. Sluggish kidneys have allowed this to pass into the circulation.

A few doses of Dodd's Kidney Pills will make such a change for the better as to satisfy you that you are taking the right medicine.

But sleeplessness cannot be overcome in a day.

If in the habit of waking at a certain hour of the night—take one pill on going to bed.

If you have suffered from this form of unrest for any great length of time it will require a box or two to put the kidneys in good shape.

But Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure this condition.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so many diseases that have never been considered in anyway related to the kidneys.

By this means—because Dodd's Kidney Pills cure—we often learn that a certain form of suffering never before suspected is a form of kidney trouble.

And sleeplessness in one of the troubles that is settled by Dodd's Kidney Pills every time.

It is no experiment to use a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills for sleeplessness.

In one hundred thousand houses in Canada Dodd's Kidney Pills have a sure place.

One sufferer cured has told a dozen and so the good news has spread from house to house and from Province to Province.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm, but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

Harmonious and Enthusiastic Caucus of Liberals.

A UNIT ON THE SCHOOL POLICY.

The Bishop and the Charlevoix Electors—Discussion on the Subject of Cattle Shipments A Reply From the Queen—Budget Speech on Friday.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—A full caucus of all the Liberal party in Parliament was held this morning and lasted only a little over an hour, thus tending to confirm what was afterwards learned, that the meeting was harmonious. Mr. Scriver the esteemed member for Huntingdon, presided. Several Liberal Senators were present. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Laurier, who was received with loud cheers. They decided unanimously to follow him as a unit on the school question, and endorsed his attitude. Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. David Mills Mr. L. H. Davies, Mr. Geoffrion, Mr. Tarte, Mr. Cameron, Dr. Guay and Mr. Charbonneau made speeches of congratulation on the recent victories, and predictions of the speedy overthrow of the Government. The utmost enthusiasm and unanimity prevailed, and the caucus broke up before 12.30, although these things usually last till 1 o'clock.

The Charlevoix election was in one respect the most important of any of the bye-elections, because the Roman Catholic Bishops undertook, with the aid of the priests, to dragoon the electors into voting, not on political lines, but for the candidate who would pledge himself to vote for a bill to be first submitted to the hierarchy and approved by them.

The ecclesiastical whip, cracked over the heads of "free and independent electors," was calculated to turn the Liberal majority of several hundred into a minority, but whether it came a little too late or whether the most of the Liberals are too staunch o be turned, even by such an open attempt to intimidate them, it failed to accomplish its purpose, although it reduced the majority against the Government.

Mr. Tarte, speaking in Parliament last night, denounced the interference of Archbishop Fabre in Vercheres as ill-advised, and charged the Government with instigating and bidding for it Ministers of the Crown at Ottawa have written to bishops, stating: "We are risking our political fortunes for you, and your people should in gratitude vote for us." This is the reliance of the present Government, not Sir Charles Tupper. Even Sir Charles Tupper running in a county with 300 of a Conservative majority, has had two Catholic priests preach sermons in his favor from the pulpit, and no doubt next Sunday, two days before polling, the church will exert its influence for Sir Charles still more generally.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Two Hours Spent Over the Cattle Shipment Regulations.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The time of the House was taken up for two hours this afternoon in discussing the regulations governing the shipment of United States cattle from the port of St. John.

Sir Richard Cartwright complained that newspapers had published the order in council before the House saw it.

Dr. Montague said the reason he had refused the information on Friday was that the order had not been signed by His Excellency. Personally he was annoyed and humiliated that the order had gained publicity before the House had received it. He explained that none of the restrictions and regulations necessary for the purpose of protecting Canadian herds were to be relaxed or withdrawn in the slightest degree. He might further say that the order did not apply to one steamship company more than to another. The order in council was a general one.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. McMullen, Laurier, Hazen, Sproule and Mulock.

Dr. Montague intimated that the purpose of Mr. Mulock's speech was political effect. He denied that the cattle quarantine regulations were in any way interfered with by the new regulation, which permits the transhipment of American cattle at St. John. It was merely an extension of the transit trade which has existed for some years. The whole purpose was to build up Canadian trade and in the end to secure a reduction of freight rates for the Canadian farmer, which would result from the competition of lines that would go into the cattle-carrying business. Similar privileges had been enjoyed by Canada in American ports for months, but the sole purpose of the Government was to promote Canadian trade. Proceeding, he referred to the sneering remarks made the other day by Sir Richard Cartwright with respect to Sir Chas. Tupper, Bart. He said while Sir Charles Tupper was in England fighting the fight of Canada, in this connection, Sir Richard Cartwright was writing a most slanderous letter to The London Economist concerning the Dominion that a Canadian ever wrote.

Sir Richard Cartwright: That is not a fact. It was not slanderous. (Liberal cries of "Take it back.")

The Speaker: Every one knows it is unparliamentary to call hon. members' remarks slanderous.

Dr. Montague: I did not refer to any statement made in the House.

Proceeding, he quoted from Sir Richard Cartwright's letter and pronounced it a direct attack on Canadian credit. Reverting to the cattle trade question, he said the new regulation must be carried out without disadvantage to the health of Canadian herds. All restrictions that the experts of the Department of Agriculture thought requisite would be enforced. He denied the imputation that the Government was discriminating in favor of St. John, and declared if any other port asked for similar privileges, the Government would be prepared to deal with it on its merits. He challenged Mr. Mulock to produce a tittle of evidence that the embargo was placed on Canadian cattle by Great Britain because of carelessness in enforcement of the Dominion quarantine regulations against American cattle. He contended that Mr. Mulock did a great deal to continue the schedule, because his speeches in Parliament gave English people the idea that Canadian herds were infected, and constituted just ground for keeping up the embargo.

Mr. McMullen said the carrying trade the Government spoke of building up was being done by a subsidized line of steamers, and that the Canadian farmers paid taxes by way of subsidy, in order that American competitors might take advantage of the low rates subsidized steamers could offer.

Mr. Hazen (St. John) said about half the cattle trade from St. John was done by a line of steamers that got no subsidy at all.

Sir Richard Cartwright read his Economist letter to the House, to show that the letter was not slanderous, and declared he would stand by everything in it.

Sir Richard Cartwright continued after recess. He justified his letter on the ground that he had to defend the Liberal party, one-half of the people of the Dominion, from the abuse and charges of disloyalty heaped upon them. It was not to slander his country. He held that all true Canadians must consult Canada's best interests first, but that the Liberals were just as loyal as the Conservatives.

With regard to the cattle question, he said the Government was at fault and its duty now was to obtain a market as soon as possible to make up for the market that had been lost.

The motion carried.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. Foster read a cable, which the Governor-General had received in reply to the resolution of condolence sent by the House to The Queen and Princess Beatrice. It was from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, and was as follows:

London, Jan. 28, 1896.

To the Governor-General, Ottawa:

Your Lordship's telegram of Jan. 26 was forwarded to Her Majesty The Queen. I have received Her Majesty's commands to convey to the Dominion Parliament on behalf of herself and Princess Beatrice their appreciation of the message expressing sympathy with them in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Foster proposed to take up the estimates, but the Liberals objected. Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. McMullen, Mills and Davies contended that the House should not go into supply until the Auditor-General's report was brought down.

Mr. Davies said he was surprised that the estimates had been brought down at all, because the session was called for a specific purpose, viz., the enactment of remedial legislation. He made a prolonged effort to get the Government to indicate when the remedial bill would be brought down. He chaffed the Government for calling the House together to deal with a Remedial bill and for having members here nearly a month already without the bill having been brought down.

Mr. Costigan said that the purpose for which the session was called would be carried out, and that by considering the estimates at the same session the country would be saved the expense of a second session. He said Mr. Davies was complaining that there was delay in bringing down the Remedial bill, while the other day he asked for further delay through the appointment of a committeee of investigation.

Mr. Tisdale quoted the statement made last session in promising remedial legislation, to show that Mr. Davies was wrong in his statement.

Mr. Foster proposed that civil service fixed votes should be taken up, and said these could be considered without the Auditor-General's report.

The Liberals, however, would not agree and started in to talk the proposal out. In doing so they dealt chiefly with the school question.

Mr. Mulock called attention to The World report of the Conservative caucus, and said the public had it on the authority of that paper that the caucus had been adjourned only on a promise of the Government that a further caucus to deal with the school question would be held before the submission of the Remedial Bill. This caucus had not yet been held. He contended that the Government had not the courage to face its followers and that such a Government was not a proper custodian of the forty millions asked for in the estimates.

Messrs. Hazen (St. John), Flint, Campbell and Ives continued the debate.

The discussion continued until 11.30 when Mr. Foster said there was no use prolonging it further. He, therefore, suggested that the House go into supply, pass one item and then adjourn.

Sir Richard Cartwright assented, Mr. Foster announced the budget for Friday and the House adjourned.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach on Arbitration.

OBSTACLES TO A GENERAL RULE

The Absorption of Canada Could Not Be Settled That Way—Liberal-Unionist Elected in St. Pancras—Mr. Gladstone on Armenian Affairs.

London, Jan. 28.—In speaking at Leeds to-night, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, paid a tribute to the good intent of the proposers of a permanent court to arbitrate all questions between Great Britain and the United States, but said he believed that arbitration of every question would be impossible. He instanced the possible absorption of Canada by the United States against Canada's and Great Britain's wishes. Such a matter could not be settled by arbitration. "If Canada," Sir Michael added, "is ready to fight for us we must be ready to fight for Canada."

Sir Michael was much applauded when he referred to the messages of fraternity and support that the Government had received from the British colonies throughout the world.

Election in St Pancras.

London, Jan. 28.—The election in the south division of St. Pancras, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons, caused by the death of Sir Julian Goldsmidt, has resulted in the return of Herbert Jessie, the Unionist candidate. The vote stood as follows: Jessie (Unionist) 2631, G. M. Harris (Liberal) 1375, Unionist majority 1256.

At the last election Sir Julian Goldsmidt, who was a Unionist, was opposed by Mr. Harris, and the former was returned by a majority of 1881.

Mr. Gladstone on Armenia.

London, Jan. 28.—Mr. Gladstone has written another letter on the Armenian question, in which, after referring to the murderous wickedness of the Sultan, his absolute victory over the powers, and their unparalleled disgrace and defeat, he says:

"I cannot wholly abandon the hope that out of this darkness light will arise, but the matter rests with the Almighty, to whom surely all should address fervent prayers in behalf of His suffering creatures."

Danger Yet in the Transvaal.

London, Jan. 28.—The Times will to-morrow print a telegram signed by British residents in Johannesburg. The despatch declares that the situation is very dangerous. The Boer forces, it says, are arrogantly dictatorial with their own executive, and are deadly opposed to granting reforms for the benefit of the Uitlanders. The forces are still concentrated around the town. The executive is choosing a site for a fort. The despatch adds that a catastrophe can only be averted by the adoption of urgent measures.

DEFENCES FIRST.

The British Government Will Place the Country in Fighting Shape.

London, Jan. 28.—The St. James' Gazette states that it is the intention of the Government to make the matters of national defence and increase of the navy the chief business of the coming session of Parliament, and to take up the question of Irish land reform after they have been disposed of.

MRS. HYAMS' TESTIMONY.

Her Memory Shattered Through Continued Illness—Likelihood That the Conspiracy Charge Will be Dropped.

Toronto, Jan. 29.

Dallas Hyams appeared again in the Police Court yesterday to answer the charge of conspiracy to murder Harry Hyams' wife. The Crown Attorney had been notified that Mrs. Hyams was ready to give her testimony, so Magistrate Denison, Mr. Curry and Mr. Johnston proceeded to Aylesworth's house, 151 Sloss-avenue, to take her evidence.

The examination was held, but Mrs. Hyams' memory proved to be very bad, so bad, in fact, that the Crown Attorney was unable to get from her any facts that would help the Crown in the prosecution of Dallas. Mrs. Hyams said that her long illness had affected her memory so much that she could not answer any of Mr. Curry's questions properly.

Crown Attorney Curry said last night that it is now altogether likely that the conspiracy to murder charge will have to be dropped, as he can hardly hope for a conviction on what evidence he has been able to present.

The prisoners, however, will remain in custody on the four forgery charges. In one of which the Crown claims to have a very strong case, and which will be at once proceeded with, unless the defence should be successful in inducing the Attorney-General to give his consent to an arrangement whereby the twins will be released on suspended sentence, on condition that they leave the country never to return.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1896.

THE Mail predicts that Sir Charles Tupper will have a majority of 1,000 in Cape Breton. But that wont balance the big slump in Montreal Centre, not to speak of Jacques Cartier, Charlevoix, West Huron and Cardwell.

THE Hamilton Herald remarks :—Conservatives declared that they could not be happy until they got their Tupper, and now that they have their Tupper he appears to be about as much use to them as a Chinese idol or a bale of hay.

THE friends of Sir Charles Tupper have very good reason for confidence that Sir Charles will be elected in Cape Breton. In the first place Cape Breton is a "Tory hive" where the normal Conservative majority is 800. Then the "high priest of corruption" is an adept at manipulation of the "barl" and he has a big one at his command.

"SIR OLIVER MOWAT seems stronger than ever in Ontario," says the Montreal Witness. "South Wentworth has elected the government candidate, Mr. Dickenson, by a majority of 812; the majority of the government candidate in the general elections in 1894 was only 301. Efficient, capable, honest and economical government is appreciated in Ontario. It is to be hoped that Ontario will do her part to bring about the much-needed change at Ottawa which will have to come if the same kind of government is to be had for the Dominion.

THE Halifax Chronicle pertinently asks if Sir Charles Tupper would have been a millionaire if he had stuck to his scalpel and pill box for the past twenty years? Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Alex. Mackenzie after years of faithful service to Canada, died poor men, but Sir Charles Tupper has made hay better while the sun has been shining. And yet he is not satisfied. He still hangs on to the High Commissionership as a fat retreat in case the elections go against the Government; and and in case they do not, to turn over the Government of the country to the boodlers and spoilers represented by the "nest of traitors," and again draw his $14,000 a year. Is opportunity for plundering the public treasury the chief function of government or has the country some little right to have its interests considered?

THE result of the bye-election in Charlevoix, Quebec, is another indication of the unpopularity of the Dominion Government. Though the majority of the Liberal candidate was only 150, there were reasons for such a result. Bishop La Breque —whose diocese includes Charlevoix—sent out a letter, practically commanding the electors to vote for the Government candidate. Again the Conservative candidate may be supposed to have secured some support—if not support, modified hostility—for the Liberals, from the fact that, he wished, just previous to the election, to be the Liberal candidate, and when he was not accepted, the Government in despair at finding anybody else willing to sacrifice himself, took Mr. Cimon as their candidate, who has qualified himself by imitating the tortuous policy of the bolting and recanting ministers. The defeat of the Government is all the more significant, as it was expected that the advent of Sir Charles Tupper into Canadian politics, was to galvanize the Government party into new life, which Charlevoix has certainly not given evidence of.

WHAT the nature of the remedial measure submitted to Parliament in respect of Manitoba schools will be is a question that is engaging some attention. LaPatrie "affirms and reaffirms" that the Dominion Government submitted to Monsignor Langevin, Archbishop of St Boniface, for his approbation, a draft of a remedial measure which the Archbishop accepted. It also "affirms and reaffirms" that Pere Lacombe as intermediary went, during the first week of December, to Three Rivers and submitted to Monsignor Lafleche a draft of a remedial bill for his approval prepared by the Ottawa Government. It also hints that the Government has taken alarm and withdrawn the first measure and substituted one of a much milder character. If this is true the Government is not so anxious to do justice to the Manitoba minority as to frame a milk and water measure that will catch the most votes and cause the loss of as few votes as possible. Neither justice nor the interests of the country, but the policy of hanging onto office at all costs, is the motive of the patchwork cabinet.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

REMARKABLE TOPIC.

It Was Not About The Expected German War.

Overheard on the Streets—An Assize Court Judge Prescribes for a Sick Witness.

London, Jan. 29.—(Special)—There is an undercurrent of street talk here which may be one of the curious results of advertising, but we suspect that there is a latent faith in the subject of all this talk, even though it is sometimes coupled with a jest.

In a neighbouring town quite recently, the judge at the assize court gravely advised a sick witness to use "Dodd's Kidney Pills." One, too, but given to jokes, either on the bench or off it.

It means something, surely, when one hears men on the street advising each other to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Such advice is not the result of merely reading—for people are wary, and recommend only what they have tried or have known to be successful with others in the time of need.

But this folk-faith is one of the secrets of the phenomenal sales of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Druggists here say that they are outselling any other preparation on the market, either now or at any time in the past.

The real meaning of it all is, that to promise and perform is a moral as well as a material triumph.

COASTING EXTRAORDINARY.

It Was an Interesting Story and Carried a Long Distance.

A "century" fiend passed the little grocery, and lifting his feet from the pedals, prepared to coast down the hill.

The man with the ginger beard rubbed some of the grime from the window pane and stood watching him.

"That dude allows he's something fine," said the man with the ginger beard, "but ef he knowed I rode thataway once eighty mile in eighty minutes, I guess he wouldn't be so stuck on himself."

"Git out," said the grocer. "They ain't a hill eighty mile long in the whole world."

"I didn't say nothin' about a hill," said the man with the ginger beard. "The way it happened was this: I wuz out in Californy before the war and had a old-fashioned velocipede. None of these here pneumatic tires in them days—jist wood and iron. Wal. I was rollin' along the perary, when all of a sudden I feels the earth kinder hump up behind me—earthquake, you know; common thing out there—and I finds myself ridin' down hill on that hump. It may sound to any one ignerent of the mighty processes of nature in the wild west like a lie, but it's a fact that the angle of that thar hump was so even set with the rate the quake was travelin' that I jest set there an' rode down hill on the level for eighty mile before the thing stopped."

A report like that of a pistol was heard. The man from Potato Creek looked out and saw the coaster at the bottom of the hill with an exploded tire.

"By gosh!" said the man from Potato Creek. "That feller is a full hundred yards from here, too. I hadn't no idea them yarns of yours would act that fur."—Indianapolis Journal.

THE CAMPAIGN.

The Cape Breton Nominations and After Meetings.

AN ABLE SPEECH BY MR. MURRAY

Liberals Proposed a Joint Debate, But Sir Charles Tupper Declined—Interruptions at the Conservative Meeting—Rousing speeches by Messrs. Fraser and Devlin.

Sydney, Jan. 28.—The two candidates in the present exciting political contest in the County of Cape Breton addressed a public meeting this afternoon after the conclusion of the official nomination proceedings. Early in the day the Liberal executive virtually threw down the gauntlet to Sir Charles Tupper in the hope that Hon. George Murray would have the opportunity of meeting him on a public platform. The Conservatives politely declined, so that Sir Charles spoke an hour and three-quarters in the Court House to as many as the building would hold, and Mr. Murray and his supporters, Messrs. D. C. Fraser, C. R. Devlin, C. F. McIsaac, Angus McGillivray and others held forth in the Temperance Hall to enthusiastic audiences. Although Sir Charles' audience was mainly sympathetic, there were several interruptions which called forth severe rebuke at his hands, but on several occasions when questions were asked he seemed particularly anxious to comply. There was no such thing as an interruption at the Liberal meeting, and the large audience was aroused to a pitch of enthusiasm never before witnessed in this town.

During the course of his speech Sir Charles was interrupted by an unfrocked Catholic priest of some local notoriety, who asked that gentleman how he treated Archbishops Connelly and McKinnon in the Alexandria Hotel in London some years ago. This created a great uproar, and when silence was secured Sir Charles answered by saying that he treated them in such a manner that Archbishop Connelly died as he had lived, his devoted friend. An occasional "What about Charlevoix?" and "Hurrah for Charlevoix!" was heard from the back of the court room. Sir Charles took no notice of the remarks and proceeded with his speech. An overzealos Conservative from Low Point, during Sir Charles' discussion on the coal question, suggested that an additional 30 cents duty would prevent them being out of work four months of the year, to which Sir Charles replied: "Better be out of work four months than nine months." The Low Pointer's suggestion was widely applauded in coujunction with Sir Charles' smart rejoinder. The first part of the Baronet's speech was devoted to a criticism of a Liberal circular, containing the well-known charges against his character as a public man in connection with the Spring Hill mining areas scandal, the Pictou Railway job, and the Charlebois contract. He went into the circumstances of the case and explained his connection with them to the entire satisfaction of the audience and himself. As to his being a rich man, he said he had been a successful medical practitioner in both Cumberland and Halifax, and what means he possessed, he had honestly acquired. The Liberals, he said, seemed to want a pauper to administer public affairs, as though a man who could not successfully conduct his own business would be better able to look after that of the people. The Secretary of State then discussed the various subjects he had debated up to the present in previous speeches, and closed by a strong appeal for support for the party that had raised Canada to such a high state of prosperity and a position of such high rank among the nations of the earth against the strenuous opposition of the Liberals.

THE LIBERAL MEETING.

Mr. Murray Received With Cheers—A Very Forcible Speech by Sir Charles' Opponent.

Mr. Murray was received with rousing cheers and spoke with much force. He said he need not think there was a constituency in Canada where Sir Charles Tupper could be elected by acclamation. Sir Charles had never showed any quarter to his political opponents in his palmy days, and he did not expect to get any now. It was only his supporters who were going from door to door whining because he was opposed. They would be unworthy the name of Liberals if they did not fulfil their solemn duty to fight on the occasion. He claimed that not one of Sir Charles' promises in 1878 had been fulfilled. He promised prosperity, retrenchment, honesty and the return of our sons and daughters from the United States, not one of which promises had been redeemed.

Coming to his position on the coal industry, Mr. Murray said he had been and was strongly in favor of reciprocity in coal. Mr. McKeen said that reciprocity would be the death knell of our coal trade because while we would lose the Canadian we could not capture the New England market, and while the mine managers had bitterly opposed him for advocating reciprocity, and declared it would destroy the industry, Sir John Macdonald had tried to secretly negotiate a reciprocity treaty that included coal. Sir Charles Tupper, too, after the 1891 election went to Washington and made an unrestricted offer of reciprocity, and that included coal. The Dominion Coal Company had spent millions on a pier and railway to Louisburg; what for? Why, to ship to New England. Mr. Murray read a telegram to the effect that the Boston papers contained an interview with Mr. Whitney. He deprecated Mr. McKeen's views that they had no hope of the New England market, and claimed that in time they expected to do a fair business there. He complained that Sir Charles didn't discuss the coal industry, but confined himself to preferential trade. That would be good in a great many respects, and he bade it "godspeed." Preferential trade meant free English coal in the St. Lawrence and according to the Tories that would destroy the Cape Breton mines. He recounted the victories the Liberals were winning in Quebec and Ontario and declared that he was in this fight to win. Every drop of Liberal blood in Cape Breton was with him. He had to meet a wily and determined foe in Sir Charles Tupper, who could not afford to lose the county, and whose defeat would mean the death knell of the Tory party. He was delighted with the enthusiastic, plucky, vigorous, and manly fight made by the Liberals, and even if they didn't win they would make a fight worthy of their principles, and that would place the Liberal party on a higher plane than ever before.

Mr. D. C. Fraser made a rattling campaign speech and aroused much enthusiasm by his Gaelic sentences. Referring to the syndicate legislation, he remarked that while the electors had stricken down McDonald and McPherson, why should they worship McKeen, who had made a fortune out of it? Referring to the recent Government crisis, Mr. Fraser described Sir Charles as the mucilage that was to bind the Government together again. Our ports, he said, should be as open as possible, and, subject to a revenue tariff, free to the world. Coal, he declared, was a revenue producer, and must always pay a certain amount of revenue.

Mr. Fraser raked the Government fore and aft and declared that Sir Charles Tupper's great ability could not cover its naked deformity. The Government did not represent the Conservative party, and a good man could not make a bad policy good. The story in The Herald that the Liberals had raised $30,000 boodle was not true, but if it was, following Conservative methods, he would not blame the people for getting back a little of their own money, and he said to his Conservative friends, "bid high, take $5, $10, $20 and $50; make them pay for it." The combinesters an dothers had been taking the heart's blood of the people long enough.

He described the difference between the two parties on the school question this way: The Government will coerce, the Opposition will conciliate Manitoba.

Mr. Devlin, M.P., made a vehement speech and showed himself a stump orator of great power. He opened with a fierce attack on certain Catholic priests, though he did not name them. He was here to discuss the question as a Canadian, not as a Catholic. If the church assumed to exercise such power as it now attempted, he might not long be a Catholic; he might be excommunicated. He found nothing in the catechism of the church directing him to support the Tory party. The doctrine was put forth in certain parts of this county that all good Catholics should vote for and support Sir Charles Tupper. In the name of his fellow-Catholics, he protested against that. He was ashamed of it. The faith which had stood the storms of 19 centuries was not going to be shattered by the failure to elect Sir Charles, and he was not going to bow down and worship him as a Pope. He had been threatened with being deprived of the use of a certain hall, and thus being branded as a bad Catholic. He meant to give a hint to that gentleman. He was as good a Catholic as he was, and if he couldn't get the hall he would gather the people in the highway and denounce tyranny and preach freedom to his countrymen. He denounced Sir Charles for not mentioning the school question at Amherst or Truro, and regarded his language at Glace Bay, that there was to be no coercion of Manitoba, as most important. He wanted to "warn certain gentlemen in this county to give their advice very guardedly" and to be "very careful of their threats." He spoke advisedly. Mr. Laurier was being criminally misrepresented by these men, and if he were a vindictive man, he would make these men answer in the courts.

The speaker in dramatic tones declared that at the great day of judgment Mr. Laurier would stand in a much better light before the throne than the men who were going through Cape Breton denouncing him as a bad Catholic.

Mr. Devlin spoke of Sir Charles as an able and brilliant man, but claimed that not one of his promises had been fulfilled; that the gross debt was $321,000,000; that the country was being depopulated, and that there was more distress and less prosperity in Canada to-day than there had been in 20 years.

Mr. C. F. McIsaac followed with a lively personal attack on Sir Charles Tupper, whom he described as not having much courage or being as brave or bold as Sir Hibbert was at the Antigonish campaign.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

Prof. Cavanagh and the Head.

We are requested to ask those intending to have their heads examined to call only in the afternoon or evening. The Professor has been overworked, and cannot receive any more orders for written charts. The copyright for his latest printed chart—which is ahead of any other chart—was only granted by the Government last year. He still explains marriage adaptations, and tells character from photos "free of charge," and has created wonder by his peculiar power. One lady said that it might have been worth $5,000 to her, just the reading of one photo she was greatly interested in. Another, a well-known business woman, said it saved her from a most unfortunate marriage. She investigated about the gentleman she was going to marry and found things as the professor stated. This extraordinary man remains at the Grand Central Hotel till Saturday.

A Serious Mistake.

We apprehend it is one of the serious mistakes that can be made, to lessen one's advertising at the beginning of the year to the extent that the blank becomes noticeable. There is business to be done in the dullest season, if business men will only put their wits to work. Take for instance the dry goods business. Immediately after the new year the trade in what is familiarly termed white goods commences. Watch the announcements of the larger houses, and they will be found to devote considerable space to the selling of cottons, linens, sheetings, and every line that goes into the making up of bedding, ladies' underwear, and articles of this kind. It seems an anomaly to sell white goods in midwinter, and yet trade has been made to shape in this direction. The point we are anxious to get at is that what applies to the dry goods business can be made to almost every other business. People do not stop buying because Santa Claus has gone out of business.—Business.

A very pleasant, (and we have reasons to believe) profitable time was spent in the rooms last evening together with directors and committees. Plans of work were talked of and a good deal of interest manifested. Watch for particulars.

We again gently remind some of the members of the Association, that they are in arrears. Be present if possible.

Death of Mr. James Jackson.

The many friends of Mr. James Jackson, of Otonabee, will regret to learn of his death which took place at Orillia on Monday last. It will be remembered by our readers that Mr. Jackson was seriously ill for some months last winter, but towards spring and during the summer he recovered sufficiently to be able to move about and visit some of the summer resorts in the hope of recuperating, but without the desired results. About one month ago, having previously sold his farm, he removed to Orillia, where he only resided about two weeks when his former trouble of the heart returned; and he passed away on Monday, leaving a wife and three children. He was the eldest son of the late Robert Jackson, of Otonabee, and was a member of Court Peterborough, C. O. F., whose members will take charge of the funeral arrangements, and under whose auspices he will be interred on Thursday morning at 10 a. m.

Royal Arcanum (Assessment System.)

Mr. David Adair, Provincial Inspector of the Royal Arcanum, Boston, has been in town for a few days during which he has secured a large number of applications for this excellent assessment order, all of whom are leading business and professional men. Peterborough Council is composed of our very best citizens, and the large prospective increase in its membership will be the starting of a new and more successful era in its history. The growth of the order has been most remarkable the past few years. In 1895 no less than 14,467 new members were admitted, each one of whose life is insured for $3,000 full rate, or $1,500 half rate. The total membership is now 172,000. The large sum of $4,197,000 was paid in death claims last year, an average of $11,300 every day of the year. Mr. Adair leaves for Lindsay to-day, and on Thursday evening will initiate 16 new members, the result of one week's work in that town. There and here, and in fact everywhere, the personnel of the Arcanum is of a very high order. Mr. McGachan, Manager of the Montreal Bank at Lindsay, is a most enthusiastic Arcanumite and occupies a seat at the Grand Council of the Province of Ontario.

The Late Mr. J. R. Dundas.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph R. Dundas, ex-M.P., a member of the firm of Gunn, Flavelle & Co., who died on Friday, took place Monday afternoon in Lindsay, the body having been taken from Toronto. His death was the result of a long illness, the kidneys being the seat of the trouble; Dr. Milner, the family physician, was in constant attendance, and Drs. J. E. Graham, Teskey and F. [illegible] William Hingston, of Montreal, were consulted, but without avail. Mr. Dundas was 60 years old, and came to this country in 1847 from the north of Ireland, where he was born. He conducted for some years a provision business in Peterborough, the firm being known as Cluxton & Dundas. In 1864 he removed to Lindsay and continued in business until 1891. In that year he came to Toronto, entering the firm of Gunn, Flavelle & Co., which until recently was known as Dundas & Flavelle Bros., their business being dry goods, grain and flour milling. In addition to this he was Vice-President of the Central Canada Loan Company and President of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company. For some years he was a director of the Midland Railway before that line became a part of the Grand Trunk system. He was an active member of the Conservative party, and represented South Victoria in the Dominion Parliament for some years. He was married in 1864 to Miss Jones, of Rochester, his wife and six daughters surviving him. He was a consistent Methodist and had long been an office holder in the church.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB PUBLIC DEBATE.

Held in the Y.M.C.A. Hall Last Night—The Almond-Eyed Sons of the Orient Must Go.

The Y.M.C.A. hall was filled last night on the occasion of the first public debate by the Fortnightly Club. A great deal of pleasure was anticipated by the large audience present, and they were by no means disappointed. The subject of debate was the resolution, "That Chinese labourers should be excluded from the Dominion of Canada."

The burden of proof rested on Messrs. W. J. Drope and E. A. Peck. Messrs. W. H. Hill and R. M. Dennistoun acted on the defence. The chair was filled in the absence of President Fessenden, by Mr. D. W. Dumble. The pleasantness of the evening

WAS GREATLY INCREASED

by three pianoforte selections by Miss Naomi Lewis. Smith's "Adieu," Beethoven's "Deutsche Tanze," and Nevyn's "Shepherd's Tale," were most sympathetically and artistically executed, and earned well merited hearty applause.

The arguments and facts arrayed by each debater in support of his position were both numerous and effective. In fact the sympathies of the audience were constantly moving, and not until Mr. Drope gave the final blow in his reply, did the listeners have the satisfaction of knowing where they stood on the question. The following are but a few of the many points brought forward.—The affirmative speakers declared, that Chinese immigrants are but parasites, having but one object, "the accumulation of wealth" which they take back to their native land, after a few years of abode in Canada. They spend little or nothing, living as cheaply as they possibly can and importing their own clothes. They are not an assimilable race, refusing to adapt themselves to the new conditions they find here. They underbid Canadian labourers and thereby succeed in driving the latter into new fields of labour. When they have a chance, through the scarcity of native labourers, they demand exorbitant wages. The class of Chinese that come to Canada is a most degraded one, being largely of the pauper and criminal classes, and brought out by immigration agents. They are increasing very rapidly in numbers in British Columbia and even in the other provinces.

The U. S. Congress passed in 1882 a prohibitory law against Chinese immigrants and found the law so beneficial that it was renewed at the time of its expiry. There is no reason why they should emigrate, their own soil being very fertile and productive and their population less dense than in either England or Belgium. They are not a law-abiding people, and have no regard for truth. They are utterly without originality and make very poor soldiers. For these reasons a prohibitory law should be passed, excluding them from the Dominion.

The negative speakers denied the accuracy of many of these alleged facts and confirmed their statements by reading from eminent authorities and from letters recently received from gentlemen in B. C. and Montreal. They advanced the arguments that those nations that excluded aliens have lived to regret their rash actions, giving as instances the

from France, the Moors from Spain and the Jews from Russia. The trade of the U. S. with China to-day is almost nil, due to the restrictive policy of the American nation towards China. Some of the great fortunes of America are the result of commerce with China. The C.P.R. would suffer most materially if trade with China were cut off. England should be an example to Canadians in their liberal policy towards aliens. Immigration always elevates the status of labour. It is the immigrants that do the low and cheap work, the natives and older settlers being employed as bosses. Immigration tends to prevent the farming community from leaving their farms and flocking to towns and cities. The Chinese have a history of whose antiquity they may be proud. They were highly civilized when Britain was in savagery. Education is more general in China than in any other country. Immigrants of every nationality bring new ideas into a foreign country, and these establish some industry to which they are especially adapted. If we restrict the Chinese it would be the basest ingratitude on our part to send missionaries to China. In British Columbia there is now no strong antipathy towards the Chinese. They often become Christianized here and return to their native land to do missionary work. The fundamental principle of the British constitution is EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL.

To Chinese labourers we owe the building of the C.P.R. and the prosperous state of British Columbia to-day, etc., etc.

At the conclusion of Mr. Drope's vigourous and effective reply the chairman arose, and, after ably summing up the arguments and complimenting the speakers, gave his decision in favour of the affirmative.

The secretary then made an important announcement to the effect that all members of the club that are willing to contribute papers next season are requested to send to him at once the title of their subject and the month they prefer to deliver their paper in.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the Judge's Chambers on Tuesday evening, Feb. 18th. Mr. Kenner, Classical Master of the Collegiate Institute, will deliver an address on "Æsop." A very pleasant evening is anticipated. Six weeks from last night an open meeting will be held, at which Rev. W. R. Young will deal with the French Revolution.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

The Names Which They Will Recommend to the Council.

At the meeting of the Committee on Appointments last evening nearly all the old officials were re-appointed.

The question of the treasurership was not taken up as Mr. McGill has not as yet formally resigned.

It is rumoured that the committee decided to recommend the names of Messrs. Wm. Aldridge, Thos. McKee, T. B. McGrath and John Kincade for appointment as assessors.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Moon Dogs.

Persons who were abroad at an early hour yesterday morning witnessed a beautiful lunar phenomenon. The moon herself was the centre of a brilliant white cross, whilst on either side, at a distance of about sixteen degrees, were what might not inaccurately be called great prismatic parhelions, or moon dogs. Beyond the radius of these and at the opposite points of the lunar cross there were rainbow-coloured crescents with their convex sides toward the moon, whilst all about the sky was "hazed" with ever-shifting swarms of ice particles shimmering in the moon rays. The atmospheric conditions from which these remarkable phenomena result are said to prognosticate a terrific wind and snow storm in a few days.

HOCKEY.

Belleville won from Port Hope at hockey on Monday on the latter's rink. Belleville should be invited up to Peterborough for a game.

As Peterborough is vitally interested in the result of the games played in the junior series, as the winners in the Toronto and Kingston districts will probably play off here, the following account is taken from the Whig, of Monday night's game in Kingston:—

"The third match in group II of the Ontario junior hockey series was played last night on the drill shed rink. Queen's II and Victoria were the contestants. The first mentioned teams were the victors, which places all three teams in the group on a level footing once more—each having won and lost a game The Limestones won from Queen's II and lost to the Victorias, and who in turn were defeated by Queen's, and the group will all have to play over again. This means that the final in the junior series will probably be played here instead of at Toronto. It will be brought about in this manner: Taking it for granted Queen's II defeat the Limestones and the Victorias repeat the dose, then the first and last named play off to decide the winners of the group. By this time Queen's senior team will be hard at work in the semi finals in the senior series and will be playing some of the men who were on the ice last night, this will leave the second team of strictly junior players, who will, most likely, fall easy prey to the Victorias. In case the Limestones win from Queen's, and the Victorias down the Limestones, then the same state of affairs will exist. Queen's will play junior men, and the Victorias are almost sure to be the victors. By the time these games have been run off, the winners of the Peterborough and Toronto groups will have played off the semi-final, and the winners of that match will most likely have to come here and contest the final game.

Queen's team, supposed to be composed of juniors, played Hiscock, McLennan and Harty of their senior team. While questioning the propriety of placing three such expert hockeyists against amateurs in the junior series, there is another point of view from which to look at the matter. If the result is brought about as mentioned in the introductory, which is for the credit of the city, then the breach of true, fair and square sporting spirit may be overlooked. Capt. Curtis must have taken this view of the matter when he named his team.

When the puck was set in motion honors were even for about two minutes. Several players on both sides attempted rushes but did not succeed. The play hovered about centre until Reyner secured the puck, passed it to Murphy who scored in two minutes. For the next four minutes the Victorias had decidedly the best of the play. Queen's played strong but the Victorias massed themselves and played to checkmate them. Finally McLellan made a dash up the rink, passed into centre to Harty who evened up the score. The Vics. pushed Queen's hard, Murphy and Taylor playing strong on Queen's goal, Hiscock and Ross blocked all shots that were made. Occasionally McLellan got free and rushed up, relieving his goal. On one of these trips on a combination play with Harty the last named made the score two to one in Queen's favor. The Victorias seemed afraid to tackle McLellan or Harty and for two-thirds of the match these players had, comparatively, an easy time. Reyner attempted several rushes but was generally blocked by Queen's centre. However, during the game he got in a few brilliant dashes which won hearty applause. McLennan and Harty did the work for Queen's. Queen's wings continually fed the centre men, who, when tackled, relieved to the wings. In this way they worked well together. The Victorias were not behind in team work, but did not follow the same tactics of Queen's players. The wings tried to rush but were generally caught by McLennan. The prettiest piece of play during the game was made when Murphy tackled McLennan, passing to Murray, who, in turn, tied the score. Half a minute later McLennan nursed the puck until within the Vics.' territory, when he shot it past Lamb and made the score 3 to 2, where it remained until half time was called about four minutes later.

When the game was resumed play became general. Queen's wing men were allowed to do more of the work for their team. Rigney, Reyner and Murray did some brilliant work for the opposition. Murphy tied the score once more by a clean shot from about the twenty-five yard line, straight through the poles. Excitement was intense and both teams settled down to hard work, and for ten minutes the best that was in the players was manifested. At the end of that time both teams went to pieces and the game belonged to nobody. Reyner took a cramp in his leg and play was halted for two minutes. This gave the warriors a breathing spell and they fought all the harder, but judgment was not used and the play waxed loose. Murray gained possession of the puck, got it up as far as McLennan and then passed over to Taylor, who, with one of the shots for which he is famous, entered Queen's citadel and made the score four to three. A few minutes later Murray was knocked out by being hit in the face with a hockey stick. As soon as the flow of blood was stopped, the game proceeded. A few minutes before time was called McLennan scored for Queen's and made the total a tie. It required ten minutes over-time play to decide the victory which was gained on a rush by McLennan, passing to Harty who scored, total 5 4, leaving Queen's the victors of the match.

There is no doubt about the Victorias being the fastest junior team in the city. Queen's with their strengthened team had to work hard, perhaps just a little more than was expected, to win. Two-thirds of the play was within their territory. McLennan's rushes saved them continually and the alertness of Hiscock saved them many a goal.

Instead of the speedy Victorias playing Peterborough, as they would have done if they had won this game, the whole Junior League games will have to be played over again, and the clubs are in the same position as when they started at the beginning of the series.

The Peterboroughs are going to put in some hard practices between now and the time when they will meet one of the Kingston teams in the semi-finals. To-night a practice will be held between teams composed as follows:—

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

An interesting prosecution has been made in Chatham, and the outcome shows how strong the Society is entrenched in the protection of the law. A child had been placed by the Society in a foster home, and the alleged husband of the child's mother went to its foster home, and under false representations took the child away and removed it to the vicious home from which it had been rescued. The man was tried for abduction and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. This is a wholesome lesson and this is said to be the first case of its kind that has arisen under the Act, and it is hoped will prove a grave warning to any other person inclined to violate the right of asylum in a virtuous home which neglected and abused children enjoy. The Children's Aid Society is not a sentimental institution but a practical working body with definite and well-directed aims, and sheltered by the strong arm of the law, though its first principle is to bring about reform of abuses by quiet methods. In future years thousands of honest, reputable and useful citizens, if they know the circumstances of their early lives, will rise up and call the Children's Aid Society blessed'—an organization that rescued them from the paths of vice that led to criminal courses and prison cells, and turned their steps in the ways that led to respectability and useful citizenship. Verily prevention is better than cure, and in this fact lies the essence of the usefulness of the Children's Aid Society. What the church has apparently failed to do; what well-intentioned, but spasmodic, diffuse and unorganized charitable energy has failed to accomplish, is the simpler and well performed mission of this truly beneficiat society.

His Face was a mass of Blotches.

But now his skin is clear as a year old babe's.

Scott's Sarsaparilla his Salvation.

Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is repellant to those with whom we come in contact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. I sold my business and moved to the city where Scott's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. The first bottle did me much good, and after taking five bottles my skin is as clear as possible, and not a sign of my previous disfigurement. I say Scott's Sarsaparilla is the best blood medicine going and am speaking from experience.

Pimples, blotches, boils, ulcers and all diseases arising from vital exhaustion and impure blood are radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla, a concentrated compound of the finest medicines ever known. Your druggist has it at $1. But get Scott's. The kind that cures.

RUSSO-TURKISH ALLIANCE.

A Rome Correspondent Reaffirms the Former Reports.

London, Jan. 27.—The correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette in Rome reaffirms the existence of an offensive and defensive alliance between Russia and Turkey. The correspondent further says that the Government's sudden summoning to Rome, a few days ago, of Count Nigra, Italian Ambassador to Austria, was for the purpose of consulting with him in regard to the serious effect which such an alliance must have upon the Triple Alliance.

WONDROUS WEALTH.

The Disputed Guiana-Venezuela Territory Immensely Rich in Gold

Washington, Jan. 27.—The last number of The South American Magazine, published in London, contains a glowing account of the riches of the disputed territory on the borders of Venezuela and British Guiana. It states that but for the recent extraordinary action of the President of the United States, the immense value of the colony would have remained comparatively unknown to the world, notwithstanding it contains some of the richest and most easily worked gold fields in the world.

The colony, it is said, was within 14 days of a pleasant steamship journey from England, and its population numbered 289,000, of which 12,000 were Portuguese and 4000 English, the balance consisting of negroes, Indians and East Indian coolies. The climate of the country was extremely salubrious, and the great primeval forests contained immense stocks of valuable wood. Communication into the interior was chiefly by means of steamships along the Esequibo. The country would probably prove to be the richest gold-producing country ever discovered.

In 1884 a few Indians and negroes went into the interior and brought down 250 ounces of gold. In 1889-90 the exports of gold from the colony were 32,332 ounces, and in 1894-95 they amounted to 134,047 ounces, making a total production of raw gold in a little over 10 years of upwards of £3,000,000 sterling.

LISTOWEL'S LOSS.

Mr. William G. Hay of Hay Bros. Succumbs Under a Surgical Operation at Guelph.

Listowel, Ont., Jan. 27.—Mr. William G. Hay, for 40 years one of the most prominent and public-spirited of the citizens of this town, died at 6 o'clock to-night at the General Hospital in Guelph, where he underwent an operation about three weeks ago. Mr. Hay was in his 65th year and was largely identified with the building up and prosperity of this town, in which he was a large property owner, being head of the firm of Hay Bros., grain merchants, managed latterly by his two sons, F. W. Hay and J. N. Hay. For some years he had been a severe sufferer, an dit was to give relief that he risked the operation that cost him his life.

He was a strong Radical in politics, and held pronounced secularist views.

Funeral on Wednesday afternoon.

The Deaths in the Jackson Family.

Chatham, Jan. 27.—Coroner Bray held an inquest to-day in the case of hte Jackson family of Raleigh Township. The fother and three children have died mysteriously within the past few months, and a post-mortem examination made of the last victim showed death from bacterial poisoning. Water from the well on the premises has been taken for analysis, and the enquiry adjourned to Feb. 10. The stomach of the victim will in the meantime be sent to the Government analyist for examination.

Will Wait Till After the Funeral.

London, Jan. 27.—It is announced that the new flying squadron of British war ships, now assembled off Berehaven, Bantry Bay, on the south coast of Ireland, will not sail until after the funeral of Prince Henry of Battenberg.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere —This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

A WOMAN VERY FAR NORTH.

Mrs. Beaumont's Life at a Trading Station Near the Arctic Circle in Alaska.

The first white woman who ever crossed the perilous Chilkat Pass in Alaska, and for three years has lived far north of the most northly of the new Alaskan gold camps, sometimes for weeks with no other white person near, arrived in San Francisco a week or so ago. She used to live in New York, by the way, although not actually a New Yorker. She is Mrs. T. N. Beaumont, the wife of the post trader at Fort Yukon. She is a young woman, a native of Belgium, and though she has spent the greater part of her life in Europe and in the big cities of this country, she is quite in love with her life among the Indians up on the edge of the Arctic Circle.

When Mrs. Beaumont crossed the Chilkat Pass she had to wear men's clothes, and native men's clothes at that. She had to walk, and had to help to drag the sledges loaded with freight too. The snow was notably deep, even for that reason, and crossing the pass was, and is, considered a hazardous undertaking for a man. She and her husband were the only white people in the region, and the nearest white woman at any time was several hundred miles away. Sometimes Mrs. Beaumont was left alone for weeks at a time while her husband went down the river to procure supplies, and at such times she did all the trading with the Indians coming to the post with furs. After a while there was a baby to help her through the lonely hours, and later another came.

The far northern part of Alaska is by no means a snowy waste, or at all a forbidding region. Mrs. Beaumont told an interviewer from The San Francisco Examiner, although it is of course somewhat dreary, during the long winter. Fort Yukon is away north of the Forty Mile Creek gold fields, but next year she will have comparatively near neighbors in the new camp called Circle City, near the Arctic Circle, only ninety miles from Fort Yukon. But it is not likely even then that she will have many women callers of her own race.

In the brief summer time there is a great variety of wild flowers about Fort Yukon, and at the height of the warm season, the country thereabouts is carpeted with blossoming plants. In the light days of the winters there is most excellent hunting. Moose and deer abound about Fort Yukon, as do ducks, geese, widgeon, grouse and other fowl, while there is also a great variety of food fish in the Yukon River.

Four or five families of Indians live near Fort Yukon, and at irregular intervals several scores of Indians come in from hunting trips and camp about the Fort while trading. They bring in lynx otter, beaver and mink skins and trade them for supplies of all sorts. The Indians are very friendly, and never gave the slightest trouble, even when Mrs. Beaumont was alone for weeks at a time.

Mrs. Beaumont expects to remain in California during the winter and to return to Fort Yukon next summer.

The New Evening Bonnet.

That the evening bonnet of the winter is decidedly a bonnet, writes Isabel A. Mallon in December Ladies' Home Journal, and not merely a strap of velvet with a bunch of blossoms on each side, is undoubtedly due to the fact that the Dutch bonnet having been worn by every woman whether it suited her or not has at last reached a rung on the fashionable ladder marked "undesirable." Of glossy felt, sometimes plainly shaped, sometimes cut in fine strips and plaited to shape, as well as of rich velvet, is the smart bonnet for evening wear. The rosette at each side continues to be in vogue, but for the evening this is either of fine lace or chiffon. The bunches of violets, so generally noted on the evening bonnets of last winter, are quite out of fashion. The new aigrettes, especially those of white, are quite ten inches high, and will suggest that one which stands so proudly on the drum-major's hat.

Wings, quills and feathers massed in rosette fashion are well liked on evening bonnets, while the large velvet roses of a purplish red, of which I have spoken before, are given a special cachet. The blue and green, black and white, and the scarlet and black contrasts are all approved by French milliners and seen in some of the smartest bonnets. Spangles of all colors and shapes make rich the dressy chapeaux, while beautiful buckles of Rhinestones or well-imitated colored gems, increase their elaborate air. French women are giving special vogue to the black and white contrast, which has, of course, this to recommend it—that it harmonizes with almost every costume.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

Iroquois, Que., Jan. 25.—This evening Russell L. Beach, a young man of 18, son of M.F. Beach, was in the basement of his father's mill, when his clothes were caught by a revolving shaft. He was carried round until every shred he had on but a pair of pants were torn off. This relieved him and he was still able to get to the first floor of the mill and call for help. One leg and one arm were broken, and he was otherwise severely injured.

Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 35 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Many a boy starts out in life with the firm determination of conquering the world. He means to achieve success and wealth and fame. His intentions are good, and his will is strong. If he has the bodily strength to carry him through, his efforts will be crowned with achievement. Bodily strength and health are his greatest capital. Without them he can hope for nothing. How many young men and young women are cut off just when the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. Consumption has been considered incurable, and the medical profession has never made a greater mistake than this. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections. There is no reason why the child of consumptive parents need ever have consumption if its blood and lungs are strengthened by the proper use of the "Discovery." All who have any reason to fear consumption, should read the chapters on that disease in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, has reached a sale of over 680,000 copies. It will be sent free of charge on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

ORIENTAL RIVALS.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE AWAKENING TO THEIR OPPORTUZITIES.

Developing Industries Which Threaten to Become Formidable Competitors of Those in Europe and America—These People and Industry Personified.

Mr. Wharton Baker, one of Philadelphia's leading merchants, has lately returned from a study of progressive spirit of the people of Japan, and the perreverance of the Chinese.

"It was a great sight," he said, "to witness the immense cotton mills of Osak, a city of 400,000 inhabitants, near Kobe, the seat of the cotton manufacturing industry of Japan, as well as the woolen mills, spindles and looms, running day and night, to supply not only the wants of Japan, but of Europe and other countries as well. Their chief product at present consists of a kind of cotton fabric which is used by us in rough shirtings and dresses for women. They expect not only to increase their export to Europe, but also to America, and the manufacturers, foreign and domestic, are elated over the prospects of great profits, which they fully hope to realize within the next few years.

They also manufacture a specialty of rugs after the order of those manufactured in this city, which they originally took for a pattern. Surgical instruments are being made there at about one-tenth of the cost of similar instruments in Europe. They have arrived at such a degree of perfection in the manufacture of these that it is impossible to distinguish the Japanese product from the European.

"I spent the greater part of my time in China, where I noticed that the people seemed thoroughly indifferent as to the result of the war. While there is much apathy in political matters and very little what Americans call patriotism, there is a universal spirit of industry and perseverance exhibited which surpasses that of any American. The kitchen gardening and farming, although done with poor tools would put to shame that seen on the model farms, the well-kept gardens of America, or even those of Belgium. In these gardens I saw growing all the vegetables known to us, and many with which we are not familiar. Their gardening and farming are not affected by draught, because of the very thorough and not scientific system of irrigation, a system that would be prohibitory with us, because of the expense of labor, which here properly commands adequate compensation.

"As an illustration of their low standard of wages, a first-class farm laborer receives but $1 per month, which keeps him in a way satisfactory to himself, although in abject filth. With this ridiculous sum he even clothes himself decently. Very poor people are to be seen in rags, and these only among a class such as the opium fiend, who is utterly worthless and very much like our American drunkard.

"The filth of all their cities, Pekin especially, outside of the range of foreign influence, is frightful to behold. Yet with all this filth it is easy to find beautiful and costly fabrics and surroundings such as one would expect to see in the homes of the rich. One passes frequently from a street foul with refuse into a residence of immaculate cleanliness.

"China, as well as Japan, is awakening to the position her cheap labor, her productive soil, her mineral wealth give her. And the Chinese have also erected a number of cotton mills for the purpose of supplying their own people with the cotton clothes which heretofore were brought from America and Europe. They are contemplating the erection of woolen mills in which to manufacture carpets and rugs for American and European markets. They now know that about 80 per cent. of the carpet wools used in these countries are obtained from China, and they expect soon to ship that wool manufactured into carpets instead of the raw material. They must, though, in the beginning, have superintendents familiar with such machinery as is used in America and Europe. They will have great difficulty in finding men whom they are willing to trust, as they are of an exceedingly suspicious nature.

"The Government of China, is, of course, very weak. But whether the present dynasty continues, or whether some Chinese revolution succeeds in changing the personnel of the government, or whether the European powers agree upon the partition of China, industrially and commercially, China will remain one great compact mass. The European and American parts of the world must accept the conditions that exist and protect themselves from Asiatic competition or sink in time, and not a long time at that, to the Asiatic level. In my judgment, the course of America is plain. We should recognize the quantity theory of money, re-establish bimetallism immediately and enact tariff laws that will protect American labor."

The Old Testament—What Is It?

What is the Old Testament? It is the entire body of Hebrew literature, theology, philosophy, history, fiction and poetry, including the poetry of love as well as that of religion. We have bound it all up together as a single book with the New Testament, as though the religion of the two were the same as the slaughter of the Canaanites or the massacre of the day of Purim were a step towards Christian brotherhood, and the sermon on the Mount. We have forcibly turned Hebrew literature into a sort of cryptogram of Christianity. The love-song, called the Song of Solomon, has been turned into a cryptogram description of the union of Christ with His church. A certain divine, when his advice was asked, about the method of reading the Scriptures, used to say that his method was to begin at the beginning and read to the end; so that he would spend three hours at least on the Old Testament for one that he spent on the New, and would read the list of the Dukes of Edom as often as he read the Sermon on the Mount. The first step towards a rational appreciation of the Old Testament is to break up the volume, separate the acts of Joshua or Jehu from the teachings of Jesus, and the different books of the Old Testament from each other. —From "Christianity's Millstone," by Prof. Goldwin Smith, in North American Review for December.

STORYETTES.

Grave and Gay, Epigrammatic and Otherwise.

The right and wrong of the question of the nude in art were never more forcibly put than by Dr. Samuel Johnson, a hundred years ago. "Sir," said the pestering James Boswell to him, "do you consider Mr. Opie's naked Venus indecent?" "No, sir," thundered the sturdy old moralist; "but your question is!"

The late Dumas, fils, used to tell of a double-action joke which he played on Meissonier, who was a botanist in his hours of leisure. The famous dramatist sent him a paper containing the dried roe of a herring, telling him that it was the seed of a very rare plant. "How are the seeds coming on?" he asked the great painter the next time he saw him. "Oh, beautifully; I have planted them in a circle." And he took the astonished joker to a corner of the garden where the heads of young herrings were just peeping up.

The following story is told about Mark Lemon, the famous editor of Punch. Once, when occupying the editorial chair, and taking a few days' holiday by the seaside, he received a new number in due course by post. Tearing off the wrapper, he found to his horror, not the cartoon agreed upon, but another, extremely vile in taste and execution; while libelous and otherwise objectionable matter appeared in various parts of the paper. One paragraph was printed upside down. In a state of panic the victom took train to town, to find—that all was precisely as it should be. The objectionable copy was an edition of one, printed for the express purpose of taking a "rise" out of "Uncle Mark."

"Pat" Alexander, to whom "Shirley" makes reference in his memoirs, on one occasion met Dr. William Chambers on the North Bridge, Edinburgh, and asked him excitedly: "Have you found her?" "Found whom?" "That woman you were advertising for." "Woman! I haven't been advertising for any woman." "Oh, yes, here it is," and from his waistcoat pocket he extracted a soiled advertisement clipped out of the Scotsman. The doctor took it and read: "Wanted, a woman to clean Chambers" When he looked for Alexander that gentleman had disappeared—wisely, perhaps.

KEEPING THE THERMOMETER DOWN.

Major McLaughlin put a new man at drying out dynamite in his mine.

"Now," said the Major, "you must be sure and keep your eye on the thermometer in the heater. If it gets above 85 degrees, you're liable to hear a noise round here. When it reaches 82 degrees you have just three minutes to work, for it will take it just three minutes to rise to 85."

An hour later the Major returned to see how the man at the heater was doing.

"Well, how is it getting along?" he inquired.

"Oh, first rate."

"Do you watch the thermometer?"

"You bet your life I do, and I'm keeping her down."

He reached into the heater and pulled out the thermometer.

"Whew! She's up to 84!" he remarked. "There, that'll fix it."

He jammed the thermometer into a bucket of cold water and hung it back on the heater. Then he wondered what McLaughlin was running for.—San Francisco Post.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

A Mother's Beautiful Child

Dragged Nearly to Death's Door by Severe Nervous Disease—Suffered Extreme Pain in the Head—Doctors Could Do Nothing—South American Nervine Called in at the Eleventh Hour and Restores to Health Little Annie Joy, of West Toronto Junction—The Great Remedy is Reducing the Death Rate of All Canadian Cities.

MISS ANNIE JOY, WEST TORONTO JUNCTION.

A bright little lad, or golden-haired girl, is the delight of your home. Whether you revel in riches, or know something of the privations of poverty, that child is all the world to you. It is no wonder that mother and father become anxious when sickness overtakes the little one.

The remedy, fathers and mothers, is near by. South American Nervine has been the means of giving back the bloom of youth to thousands of suffering little ones. It is not a medicine that buoys up the parents' hopes, only to have them in a short time dashed down again lower than ever. Whether with child or adult, it promptly gets at the seat of all disease, which is the nerve centres. From this fact it is peculiarly efficacious in the treatment of nervous diseases of man, woman or child.

A recent case is that as told by Mrs. M. A. Joy, of West Toronto Junction, whose little daughter Annie, aged 15 years, had been a sufferer from severe nervous depression for about two years. As with all mothers, no trouble and expense was spared in the effort to bring relief to the child. The little one suffered extreme pains in the head, so distressing at times as to render her completely helpless, sapping all her strength. The best skill of the most skilled physicians was called into request, but little Annie steadily grew worse. Becoming more hopeless and discouraged as the weeks went by, Mrs. Joy decided on trying South American Nervine as almost a last resort. Employing her own words she said: "I determined to give it a trial, although I felt it was useless."

To-day it is all happiness around that home, for before one bottle of the medicine had been taken, the mother tells us Annie commenced to show decided signs of improvement. The child has taken three bottles and has practically regained her natural health and vigor. There is nothing surprising in the fact that Mrs. Joy cannot speak too highly of South American Nervine.

Much was at stake, but this wonderful discovery proved equal to the emergency, and so it does in every case. Thousands of letters on file from well-known citizens prove this. For nervous diseases of young or old, from whatever cause, it is an absolutely infallible cure.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union and Epworth League.

WORLD'S C. E. PRAYER CHAIN—SUBJECT OF PRAYER FOR JANUARY.

"That churches and young people's societies and individual Christians everywhere may receive the in-dwelling Holy Spirit, and that the week of prayer and subsequent weeks of the month may be marked by a great ingathering into the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ."

ENDEAVOUR DAY.

On Sunday, Feby. 2nd, the Christian Endeavour Society will complete its fifteenth year. The event is to be celebrated by the pastors of the various churches, preaching sermons to their young people's societies. On Monday evening a union meeting will be held in St. Andrew's church school room. There will be a twenty minute prayer service, beginning at 7.30. We look for a large attendance of praying Endeavourers at this meeting. A fifteen minute service of song, beginning at 7.45, will be held before the regular meeting. The programme for the general meeting has not been completed, but we can promise a treat in Rev. Wilson McCanns address, "The Holy Spirit in Missions." Everyone welcome.

CHARLOTTE STREET.

The Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church held its regular monthly consecration meeting last Monday. There was a good attendance. The president, Mr. Geo. Tovey, occupied the chair. The topic "Why and how we should testify for Christ," was actively participated in by the members. We are glad to see some of our associate members expressing their desire to consecrate their lives to the service of God. We are praying that God will make our society one that should do more effectual work "for Christ and the church," during the year that is before us.

WITHOUT A LEADER.

St. Paul's Society tried a meeting without a chairman, and found it one of the most blessed and successful in their history. It being consecration night the secretary called the roll, which was responded to by giving the number of meetings each was present at. The meeting was then thrown open. One member stood up and led in the Scripture reading, the rest of the meeting was entirely impromptu; calling out the hymns, leading in prayer and speaking to the topic. There were so many who were ready to testify as to "How and why we should testify for Christ" an hour was altogether too short for the service, many being prevented from taking part. This manner of conducting a meeting will be tried again.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

St. Andrew's Society held their regular weekly meeting on Monday evening. Miss Forsythe, the president, took the chair. The meeting was an open one. Several of our members spoke briefly, and a number of passages bearing on the topic were read. Altogether the meeting was a lively and interesting one.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE.

A meeting of the County Executive will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Saturday morning, Feb. 8th, at 11 o'clock, when plans for the balance of the winter's work will be discussed, and also for the holding of the county convention on Easter Monday.

SPRINGVILLE C. E.

The meeting last Wednesday evening proved very interesting, being conducted by Rev. Mr. Adamson. His address on Temperance was brief and to the point. A good practical paper was read by Mrs. A. A. Goodfellow. After all the active members present, and some of the associate, had taken part the meeting closed with singing and prayer.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Conductor Wm. Pym is again in charge of the Haliburton train running out of Lindsay.

As No. 2 express—Conductor Riley—was leaving Agincourt yesterday morning a telegraph wire fell across the track and swept the lamp and stove funnels off every coach. Repairs were attempted in Lindsay with poor success, owing to the short stay.

We understand that the time-table of the Haliburton division will be changed slightly on Feb. 3rd, and that the north train will leave Haliburton half an hour later in the morning, reaching Lindsay a few minutes earlier. The train will leave Lindsay about the same time in the afternoon, but will reach the end of the line half an hour earlier. The difference in the time will be made up by faster running.

Mr. C. J. Pusey, president of the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway, was in town yesterday. He informs us that the road is now completed from Kinmount to Baptiste's Station, and that commencing Monday, Feb. 10th, the I. B. & O. R. will connect with the Victoria branch of the G. T. R. at Kinmount, running east to Baptiste, where stages connect for all points on the Hastings road. Passengers leaving Toronto at 7.45 a.m. reach Bancroft at about 8 o'clock in the evening. Returning leaving Bancroft at 4.30 in the morning they reach Toronto at 12 o'clock. There is, Mr. Pusey says, considerable trade being developed in the country through which his line operates, and that in this Peterborough merchants might share with proper exertions.

No change is expected in the C.P.R. time table until the usual spring shift.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

Successful Railway Employees' Ball.

The ball under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in connection with the C. P. R., was held at Havelock, Monday night, in Drain's hall. Trainmen as far east as Montreal and as far west as Toronto were present—one hundred and fifteen couples altogether. Prof.'s Miller and Butcher's orchestra—eight pieces—supplied music during the evening, with Michael Costello as floor manager. A most excellent supper was served at Graham's hotel. Special trains were in readiness to convey guests both east and west, early in the morning.

A mirror could not lie if it wanted to. The glass has nothing to gain by flattery. If the roses of health and plumpness of beauty are leaving your face, your mirror will tell you so. Health is the greatest beautifier in the world. When a woman sees the indications of ill-health in the face, she may with almost absolute certainty look for the cause in one or both of two conditions—constipation, and derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure permanently and positively any so-called "female complaint." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation. There is no reason in the world why a woman should not be perfectly healthy. She will gain in health, strength and flesh. Hollows and angles will give place to fullness and grace. She will be that noblest and most beautiful of all creation—a perfect woman.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

BURDOCK PILLS—small safe and sure, regulate the liver and cure constipation.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

AT THE CAPITAL.

The Government Standard for Manitoba Schools.

HOW IS IT TO BE ENFORCED?

Politics in the Department of Militia—A Section of the Auditor-General's Report Handed in—The Curran Bridge Accounts—Business in the House.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—In noticing Mr. Tarte's figures extracted from the Dominion census of 1891, showing the superiority of the Ontario system of education, judged by the test of illiteracy, The Citizen this morning says: "The public in Ontario are strongly of the opinion that the inferiority of Quebec education is due to clerical influence, and it is owing to this opinion that the feeling against interference with the Manitoba school legislation has been so strong. It is the avowed determination of the Government, however, to in now way diminish the guarantee provided by Manitoba's school laws for a high standard of teaching in that province. Whatever else the Remedial Bill may contain, it will enact as thorough efficiency for Roman Catholic schools in the western provinces as is enforced for the public schools."

It is just as well to understand what this means before it is thought necessary to pass Mr. Costigan's irreparable coercion bill. It is the same statement as Mr. Foster made to the Cardwell electors, and therefore it well represents the argument shortly to be pretty generally used by such advocates of Remedial Legislation as Mr. Northrup and Mr. Masson. The bill will provide for efficient schools. How? If efficiency is required by law the control of the schools must be vested by law in some person. Is it to be the Minister of Education for Manitoba or the Archbishop of St. Boniface? The Remedial Order says that the state of things which existed prior to 1890 is to be restored and the Government pledge as confirmed by Mr. Costigan is to enact legislation "on the lines of the Remedial Order." This, if carried out, would place the control of Catholic schools under the Catholic clergy. But, the Government organ says, the Government are not going to do that. They are going to enact thorough efficiency. How? The only way would be to give control of the schools to the Department of Education in Manitoba, with power to select text books, fix the curriculum and appoint teachers and inspectors who would enact the standard of works set up by the department. If the bill does all this, what use will it be to His Grace the Archbishop? What would then be the difference between these new schools and the present efficient public schools? What necessity for any change? It would relieve the minority of double taxation. Well, the minority are now relieved by the Legislature of everything but the one tax, and the Catholic laity are believed to be quite content to be placed on an equal footing with their fellow citizens, irrespective of creed or nationality. The question of religious exercises is all that is left, and no one believes there woud be any difficulty in arranging that with the Manitoba Government to the satisfaction of all.

Party politics have been the bane of the Militia Department for many years, although the theory is that the volunteer force is outside the domain of the party. At a time when the most experienced and wisest counsellors were required in military affairs, the most experienced and capable adviser, Col. Powell, the Adjutant-General, was superannuated. The next best thing one would naturally think was to promote the Assistant-Adjutant-General, Lieut.-Col. Aylmer, to succeed him. But at the present time party deputations are waiting on the Minister and party wire-pulling is being carried on actively to prevent the principle of promotion being acted on, and it is alleged that Col. Aylmer, admittedly an efficient man and capable officer, was at some remote period a Liberal in politics, as if the militia force of Canada consisted entirely of Conservatives and should be directed by a Conservative Adjutant-General. If Col. Powell's advice had been taken while he was in office the force would not have been allowed to run down. The selection of an Adjutant-General will afford proof of whether the present Government are determined to reform the administration of the Department of Militia and discard party considerations, or allow political influence to marr the administration and destroy the efficiency of the Canadian militia. It must be said to Mr. Dickey's credit that had he remained Minister a few days longer he would have recommended Lieut.-Col. Aylmer to Council.

The Ruditor-General's report of expenditure was laid on the table of the House this afternoon. Among contingencies at Ottawa are the following items: Cab hire $1655, travel of Ministers $7718, telegrams $18,754, washing towels $1382, luncheons of Cabinet $422, newspaper clippings $75. On December 2 the Auditor-General wrote an account of the proceeds of the sales of cheese and butter on which advances were made, and received a reply from Prof. Robertson dated December 9, 1896, stating that the cheese, mainly from Prince Edward Island, and some of the butter had been stored in cold storage in Montreal and not sold. He added: "When sold the whole amount of the advances will be repaid to the credit of the Receiver-General. This will not likely be later than the end of January, 1896."

The Curran bridge scandal grows worse the more light is thrown on the wretched affair. The Auditor-General discloses the fact that Mr. Haggart's statement, leading Parliament to believe that the accounts were audited before payment by the Auditor-General, was misleading, and that as a matter of fact the payments to Mr. St. Louis were all made before audit. Here is Mr. McDougall's letter addressed to Mr. Haggart:

"With reference to the recent debate in the House of Commons on the Curran bridge expenditure, you are reported on page 2988 of Hansard as saying: 'The accounts are certified to by the engineer in charge of the particular work; they come to the superintendent engineer in my department, and if they are within his knowledge, he certifies them to be correct; then they go to the Auditor-General, and he sees that the vouchers in regard to the work are perfect and complete. I never saw a single account paid, either by the Minister of Public Works or by the Minister of Railways. The parties are paid by cheques from the department, and the party who is supervising and checking and is responsible as to the payments is the Auditor-General.' Your information is quite correct when payment is made on direct application to the audit office, but you have overlooked the fact that some of the payments in your department are made under departmental letters of credit, and that all the payments to St. Louis were made in this way. The departmental letter of credit system is authorized by section 30 of the Audit Act. Under it I do not see any of the vouchers until after payment has been made. With reference to all expenditure under this system, the audit of this office is after payment."

The Minister, under date of July 3, sends the following curt reply: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 27th ultimo, calling my attention to certain remarks made by myself in the House of Commons debate on the Curran bridge expenditure."

It is stated to-night that the promoters of the Hudson Bay Railway Co. have harmonized their differences and will act unitedly with the object of securing financial assistance from the Government to enable it to build the line. Messrs. William McKenzie of Toronto and D. D. Mann of Montreal were here to-day conferring with Messrs. Sutherland and Isbester.

The City Clerk of Ottawa is sending out circulars to the different municipalities in the province, urging their co-operation in pressing upon the Legislature the abolition of all exemption from taxation.

IN THE COMMONS.

Mr. Taylor's Anti Alien Bill, the Shortis Commutation and Mr McLennan's Protection Bill Discussed.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The question of prohibiting citizens of the United States from performing labor under contract or agreement in Canada was the first topic of discussion in the Commons this afternoon. It was introduced by Mr. Taylor, who said that his bill was a copy of the United States law as applied to Canadians. He thought it was about time that there was reciprocity in this matter.

Mr. Mulock insinuated that Mr. Taylor was not [illegible] the object he had in view by introducing the measure. In previous years Mr. Taylor had not pushed it as energetically as he should.

Mr. Davin hoped the bill would pass He desired to see a stringent measure passed.

Mr. Sproule spoke in support of the measure.

Mr. Ingram thought it came with bad grace from Mr. Mulock to cast reflections on Mr. Taylor. If Mr. Mulock wanted the bill to pass he ought to spend a little time in trying to induce his friends to assist the measure. Personally, he thought the time had arrived when some protection should be afforded to Canadian workingmen against the competition of American labor.

Mr. McKay said that legislation in the United States was becoming more strictly defined against Canadians, and he hoped Government would take this matter up, so that our own workmen could be put on an equal footing with those of the neighboring republic.

After observations from Messrs. Gillmor and Landerkin, the bill was read a first time.

Mr. Dickey, answering Mr. Ryder, said the Minister of Justice did not report to council recommending the commutation of the death sentence passed on Shortis

Mr. Foster, replying to Mr. Davin, said that the consent of Premier Haultain was not necessary before the Lieutenant-Governor of the Territories could give assent to an ordinance.

Mr. Wood, answering Mr. Ryder, said no alcohol of American manufacture had been admitted into Canada duty free last year.

Mr. Ryder asked what was the latest date on which the present Parliament would possess constitutional authority to act.

Mr. Dickey replied: "I am not prepared to answer that question. I think it's a matter of opinion."

Mr. Laurier—A matter of law.

Mr. Dickey—A matter of opinion on law.

Mr. Dickey, replying to Mr. Grieve, said the amount due to the Government for binder twine supplied to Mr. R. Rogers of Manitoba had been paid

AND NOW GERMANY

Wants to Get a Settlement With Venezuela.

PAYMENT OF CLAIMS DEMANDED

Rumor That German Warships are on Their Way to Collect the Debt—Caracas Officials Deny That a Positive Demand Has Been Made—The Money Ready.

New York, Jan. 29.—A Caracas, Venezuela, special to The World says:

A Paris cable confirms the news that Germany will demand immediate payment of the railroad debt. It is reported that a German squadron now at Havana will enforce the demand.

The press here claim that the debt does not call for more than diplomatic negotiations, and should be settled in the courts. The Venezuela Government is having daily conferences and will probably meet the demand without protest.

The enrolment of militia continues active. Sixteen thousand men have been enlisted to date in Caracas alone, which has a population of 70,000. Other cities are equally patriotic and report proportionate enlistments.

The Society for the Defense of the National Territory has established a military academy. Foreigners living here who are familiar with military tactics and manoeuvres have offered to give instructions gratis.

Much excitement has been caused by the news that Spain will refuse to allow the American Commission access to the archives in her possession bearing on the boundary dispute. It is believed here that Spain fears the displeasure of England.

Spain's action is attributed to the action of the United States in insisting on the payment of the Mora claim and the aid which is given in the United States to the Cuban insurgents.

WANT CUBANS RECOGNIZED.

The United States Asked to Use Influence in Favor of the Insurgents.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Senate Chamber was to-day a theatre in which scenes of history were enacted in the presence of crowded galleries. First came a concurrent resolution reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations, requesting the President of the United States to use his good offices with the Government of Spain to have belligerent rights extended to the Cuban revolutionists. This was followed by a minority report from the same committee—Mr. Cameron (Pa.) composing the minority—with a concurrent resolution requesting the President to use his good offices with the Government of Spain for the recognition of the independence of Cuba. The reports accompanying the resolution's lengthy arguments were read and the resolutions were placed on the calendar, to be taken up for debate and action whenever the Committee on Foreign Relations may deem it advisable.

The resolutions heretofore offered by Mr. Call (D., Fla.), requesting the President to report to the Senate in regard to the arrest at Havana of three American citizens, and to demand their immediate release, was reported back from the Committee on Foreign Relations with the last clause stricken out and was also placed on the calendar.

The event of the day was the speech made by Mr. Tillman (D., S.C.), ostensibly in favor of the free coinage substitute for the House Bond Bill, but really a denunciation of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury.

Women Soldiers in Cuba.

New York, Jan. 29.—Gen. Molina, with 900 men, is reported to have defeated 3000 Cuban rebels, led by Collazo, in the Province of Matanzas. The insurgents made several determined charges, but were each time repulsed and finally compelled to retire from the field, their flag being captured by Molina's men.

With Collazo, the Diara correspondent says, were 38 women, dressed as men, armed with machetes and revolvers. Twelve others carried rifles and fought in the vanguard. The engagement lasted three hours and was ended by darkness. The official account giving the losses is not yet at hand.

WANT SHELTER FOR FARMERS.

Wentworth County Council Propose to Get Something for Market Fees Paid in the City.

Hamilton, Jan. 29.—The County Council this afternoon passed a resolution that the council should petition the Ontario Legislature for an act to compel cities to provide shelter for farmers offering produce for sale on markets before the cities are allowed to collect market fees, and where shelters are provided to fix a tariff of fees sufficient only to cover the necessary expenses of cleaning, heating and keeping the shelter in repair. The council also decided to ask for the co-operation of other counties. A grant of $10 was made to the Ontario Rifle Association for prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Gugel, Rebecca-street, celebrated their diamond wedding last night, having been married 60 years ago in Germany. They have resided here almost 50 years and are among the oldest residents. When they settled Mr. Gugel opened a small shoe shop, and made boots for the late Sir Allan McNab, Hon. Isaac Buchanan and other well-known people away back in the fifties. The old couple have nine grandchildren, and eight grand-grandchildren, one of their daughters being Mrs. E. Kraft.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1896.

A "DO-NOTHING" POLICY.

Sir Charles Tupper, in his Cape Breton speeches, has been dubbing the Liberal party a "do-nothing" party, and alleging that all the valuable legislation ever given the Canadian people has emanated from the Conservatives.

Considering the fact that the Conservative party has been in power in the Dominion continuously since 1867, with the exception of five years, it has had a better opportunity than its opponents to place its ideas on the statute books of the country. Some of these ideas the country is very familiar with, and the Gerrymander and Franchise Acts will never be forgotten as base attempts to legislate an opposing party out of existence. But, as regards really useful legislation, the Liberal party need not fear to compare the record of the Mackenzie government in its five years of office with the aggregate Conservative record since 1867.

Among the measures of the Mackenzie government are :

Valuable amendments to the election laws, providing among other things, for simultaneous voting, for vote by ballot, and for the trial of election petitions by judges, instead of by partizan committees of parliament.

The abolition of the real estate qualification of members of parliament.

The enactments of the Marine Telegraph law, which virtually abolished the monopoly of the Cable Company.

The establishment of a Dominion Military College, and reconstruction of the militia system.

The enlargement of the canals.

The perfect organization of the civil service.

The establishment of a supreme court for the Dominion.

The reduction of postage to and from the United States.

The free delivery of postal matter in cities and towns.

The opening up of direct mail communication with the West Indies.

The construction of a trans-continental telegraph line.

The better administration of government railways.

An improved copyright law.

The adoption of a final route for the Canadian Pacific railway, and the prosecution of considerable construction-work on this system.

The opening up of negotiations for the establishment of a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States.

A new insolvent law.

The establishment of territorial government in the N.W.T.

In addition to these, and many other measures that might be enumerated, the Mackenzie government satisfactorily settled the Manitoba Amnesty and New Brunswick school questions, affording in this respect a marked contrast to the bungling that has characterized the attempts of Sir Charles Tupper's friends to settle questions of a similar character.

Then, if Sir Charles will turn to the provinces, he will find that in most of them Liberal administrations are almost continuously in power, beloved and trusted by the people, and affording a clean, honest and capable administration of public affairs.

The Liberal party may be a "do nothing" party, but few beyond "the Great Stretcher" himself have sufficiently fertile imagination to see it in that light.—Brantford Expositor.

"THERE'S MILLIONS IN IT."

The Globe of Wednesday has a splendid cartoon, which fits the flamboyant policy of bluster, of Sir Charles Tupper to a nicety. It represents the High Commissioners, minister and politician, as Col. Mulberry Sellers, holding up a little loaf, labelled "British trade with colonies 13 per cent," to John Bull who holds in his arms a huge loaf labelled, "British trade with foreign nations 87 per cent." Sir Charles is offering to exchange the little loaf for the big one, with the assurance that the small one would expand beyond the wildest dreams of fiscal avarice, and that unity and glory would flow through the Empire, is a word "there's millions in it." The answer of John Bull expresses the situation exactly—"O come my dear Sir, what have I done that you should take me for a blooming idiot?" We all know that Sir Charles' magnificent schemes are as unsubstantial as his dream of preferential trade arrangements with Great Britain. He has no more chance to secure it, and no more warrant in saying that he can secure it, than there was of the fulfilment of his mendacious assurance that the United States were willing to give reciprocity in 1891. It is only another of his magnificently hollow promises doomed and foredoomed to be broken. This is the man who has become a millionaire at the expense of the taxpayers of Canada, who hangs on to a $14,000 a year office and neglects his duties in order to bulldoze the people into confirming a "nest of traitors" in power, when, it is on the cards, he will retire and enjoy his $14,000 a year. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people of Canada to attempt to feed them on, and bribe their support with, wild cat schemes like preferential trade with Great Britain. England's policy is free trade and she has positively and decidedly refused to imperil her trade of 87 per cent. with the world for the 13 per cent. of the trade of the Colonies, especially when it is proposed to force her trade into Canada over a 35 per cent. tariff wall—for the tariff wall against Britain is to be maintained, even though it is 50 per cent. higher against British than American goods. The Government supporters in Parliament voted down a Liberal resolution calling for a reduction of duties against British goods. Why should not Sir Charles try for preferential trade with the United States, which now enjoys a preferential tariff as against Great Britain, at the hands of our super-loyal Canadian statesmen?

AT Cape Breton on Wednesday, Sir Charles Tupper said that reciprocity would ruin the coal trade. He did not think of that in 1891 when he and Sir John Macdonald went to the country on the policy of reciprocity with the United States. Of course that was one of Sir Charles' magnificently mendacious promises, and serves to weaken the reliability of any other promise he makes now.

The Danger of Business Men and Mental Workers.

The Daily Press a Record of its Fatality —Not a Day But Has Its Victim—The Prominent Men of all Countries an Especial Prey—Dodd's Kidney Pills Always Cure.

Bright's Disease, at any stage, is simply an inflamed condition of the kidneys.

Men whose work is indoor, men whose habits are sedentary, and women, especially, are subject to Bright's disease.

Not a day but the sudden death of some man of note is wired to the public press.

We all of us have in mind the death of some splendid specimen of robust manhood in the apparent flush of health. An impression is made on our memory by the death of the public men of all lands.

Yet nineteen out of every twenty of such deaths are due to Bright's or some other form of kidney disease.

During four years' experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills we have never heard of a single failure to cure in any case of Bright's disease.

Many of those cures were at such a stage of this deadly disease that doctors and friends had given the victims up to die.

Such a case was that of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec.

Such, also, was the case of G. H. Kent, of Ottawa.

These men and hundreds of others whose names have been published by us are still living to tell their own story in their own words; all anyone has to do is to write, enclosing a stamp for reply and any of them will verify their testimony as from a sense of duty.

OOM PAUL IS SUSPICIOUS.

Any Persons Creating Disturbance in the Transvaal Will be Severely Punished.

Pretoria, Jan. 29.—In view of the fact that several of the mining companies operating in the South African Republic are considering the project of closing their mines, President Kruger has issued a proclamation asserting that he has reasons for suspecting that this action is prompted by the same spirit that provoked the recent disorders in the Transvaal, and he, therefore, while promising in every way possible to promote the supply of native labor and otherwise to protect and develop the mining industry, warns any persons who may create disturbances in the republic that the most severe penalties will be enforced.

The report of such a treaty caused a great deal of attention in diplomatic circles in St. Petersburg, but in the view of those best informed, there is nothing more behind the report than the good understanding which prevails between the two countries.

MONTREAL MATTERS.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike Elected President of the Board of Trade—Wreck on Victoria Bridge.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The Liberal candidate for the presidency of the Montreal Board of Trade, Mr. Robert Bickerdike, was elected to-day.

The number of ballots cast for Mr. Bickerdike was 475, while Mr. Cantlie received 378, the whole number being in excess by 100 of any previous vote of the Montreal Board of Trade.

The following are he gentlemen elected to form the Council for 1896, with the number of votes polled:

President, Robert Bickerdike, 475; first vice-president, John Torrance, acc.; second vice-president, J. McKergow, acc.; treasurer, C. E. Smith, acc.; James Crathern, 734; F. W. Thomas, 672; D.G. Thomson, 640; David Macfarlane, 633; William Nivin, 592; Robert Mackay, 553; J. E. Rendell, 535; Henry Miles, 527; W. McNally, 516; Charles Chaput, 504; G. F. C. Smith, 492; Chas. McLean, 479.

Some speeches were made, the most important being that of Mr. Robert Meighen, president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, who blamed Montreal merchants for not doing more to develop the great Northwest. He said Montreal controlled the cheese trade of the country and should control that of other commodities. Some one had said Manitoba wheat could not be shipped at Montreal in competing quantities, but Mr. Meighen told his hearers, amid loud cheers, that a representative of a syndicate had just completed arrangements with the Canada Pacific to bring over one million bushels of wheat to the elevators in this city for shipment to Britain.

The secretary of the Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway Company has written to the Hon. Dr. Montague, Minister of Agriculture, asking if American cattle can be shipped from the port of Paspebiac, Que., on the same conditions as at St. John, N.B. The same company also asks that permission be granted to slaughter American cattle at Paspebiac, where it is proposed to build large abattories for killing Canadian cattle and the shipment of dressed beef to Europe.

As the I.C.R. train from Halifax was coming through Victoria Bridge this evening one of the axles of the second-class car broke, and although no serious mishap occurred, traffic was suspended three hours while a special brought the passengers into the city.

THE REMEDIAL BILL.

It Was Before Council Yesterday and Will be Further Considered on Saturday.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The Remedial Bill was under consideration by Council to-day. The measure has been printed, along with all the Manitoba school acts since the organization of the province, so that easy reference can be made to any particular statute. Some progress was made with the bill and it was decided to consider it again on Saturday, when probably the measure will be approved. It is questionable, however, whether the bill will be introduced into the House until such time as Sir Charles Tupper has returned to Ottawa, the Ontario delegation holding that the Cabinet should have the benefit of his ripe experience and judgment on clauses of the measure. The bill creates a Catholic Board of Public Instruction as formerly existed in the province; restores Catholic denominational schools, and provides that Catholics supporting such schools shall be exempt from paying public school taxes. No separate school district shall be constituted as such unless ten Catholic ratepayers petition therefore. It is said that the drafting of the clause governing the legislative grant to separate schools has created some difficulty, there being no desire to coerce the province in this respect. Another clause which is somewhat of a stumbling block is that enabling Catholics dissatisfied with the efficiency of separate schools to support the public schools after due notice to the municipal authorities. It is altogether likely, however, that the clause will stand. The Ontario law to-day provides that any Roman Catholic may elect whether or not his taxes shall go to the support of public or Catholic schools.

UNITED IN DEATH.

Parents Separated Them Twice, But Will Not Do It the Third Time.

New Castle, Ind., Jan. 29.—One of the most sensational tragedies ever enacted in this part of Indiana took place at the residence of Captain A.T. Harris, a prominent citizen, at an early hour on Sunday morning.

Henry Wilson, son of Judge Wilson, and a prosperous young man, and his fiancee, Miss Clara Harris, were found in the last throes of death in the latter's room by the young woman's mother. The young people were to have been married on Monday last, but it seems that the parents of both seriously objected to the match, and the wedding was postponed. On Thursday they made an attempt to elope, but were intercepted. On Sunday Miss Harris sent word to her sweetheart to come to her house. Wilson went. Two hours later Mrs. Harris missed her daughter from the sitting room and went through the house looking for her. When she entered the young woman's bedroom she found young Wilson and her daughter lying on the floor, scarcely breathing. They died within a short time. On a piece of paper lying on the dresser was nervously scribbled a note, which read:

"You have separated us twice, but you will never do it again.—Clara."

The young couple had taken poison. Miss Harris was a beautiful young woman and highly accomplished.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common Sense Medical Adviser, profusely illustrated.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

In view of the dissatisfaction of many of the masqueraders at previous carnivals at the manner in which the prizes have been awarded, the management of the grand carnival, Jan. 31st, has decided to let every adult spectator have a voice in the distribution of the prizes. The manner in which this will be conducted is as follows: Every costume will have a number attached, every purchaser of a 25c ticket will receive a ballot with the list of costumes for which prizes are to be offered, when they will mark in column the number of the costume they think deserves the prize, and deposit in receptacles for same before 9.30. Prizes now on exhibition in window of P. Connal & Co. 2d

Be up to Date.

The gentlemen of Peterborough and vicinity are, as a rule, right up to date. If they are not, it is because they lack opportunity. When they get the chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear coverments, should remember that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. The best men in the land wear these scientific covermente for no other reason than protection to the head. These goods are known throughout the land, and need no recommendation. Read the announcement on another page, and bear the date in mind.—Huffman House Wednesday, Feb. 5th.

WEDDED LAST EVENING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Effie Webster and Mr. Bert Craig.

A pretty wedding was solemnised last evening at the residence of Mr. Wm. Webster, No. 14 Aylmer street, when his daughter, Miss Effie, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Bert Craig, of Ashburnham.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Ras and the bride looked most charming in a handsome gown of brown tweed. Her sister, Miss Dena, assisted her and was also prettily costumed in tweed.

Mr. Thomas Craig, cousin of the groom, performed the office of best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the many friends of the young couple who were in attendance were invited to partake of refreshments. The wedding presents which were received were most handsome.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig have take up their residence on Elizabeth street, Ashburnburnham. The bride for a number of years has been a valued assistant in the tailoring establishment of Mr. P. Simons.

THE LAMP EXPLODED.

But the Flames Were Extinguished Before Much Damage was Done.

As Mr. John McKee and a friend were returning home on Tuesday evening they noticed that the lower floor of the corner house in the terrace on London and George street was most brilliantly illuminated.

The brightness and flickering nature of the illumination led them to believe that the premises were on fire, and they rang the bell several times. As no one answered they tried the door and finding it open entered the hall, where they found the oilcloth in a blaze, the hanging lamp having fallen and exploded.

After tramping out the flames they tried to alarm the household, and finally succeeded in bringing the lady of the house to the top of the staircase. Naturally she was very much frightened when apprized of the state of affairs but being reassured as to their now being no danger, warmly thanked the gentlemen for their kindly interference.

A Pleasant Evening With Court St. Peter.

The "At Home" held under the auspices of Court St. Peter, No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters, in the court's rooms, on Hunter street, last night, proved a most gratifying success.

About seventy-five couple were in attendance, and dancing was kept up until the early hours of the morning.

The rooms were prettily decorated with the emblems of the order, bunting and evergreens for the occasion, and the music was furnished by Messrs. Corbett and Hartley's orchestra. Mr. Jos. Giroux was master of ceremonies, and the Messrs. Guerin looked after the finances.

Foolish Prejudices.

How does it happen that so many ladies are so very careful about dresses and bonnets, and neglect the head dress? It is because they are prejudiced against artificial hair? Ladies of the most exalted positions in the land are wearing Prof. Dorenwend's manufactured goods. They are beautiful and attractive and give a charming appearance to the face. Throw aside your false notions of propriety, and examine the Professor's elegant lines of Wigs, Switches, Braids and Wavy Fronts, etc. Read the advertisement in another column.—Remember Huffman House, Peterborough, Wed. FACILITIES FOR SUNSTROKE.

As will be seen by our council report, a deputation of officers, of "C" troop of volunteer cavalry waited upon the County Council yesterday to solicit a grant for the purchase of helmets for the troop. The matter was referred to the Finance committee, which now has it under consideration. The first question that naturally arises is, why should a volunteer troop of cavalry which should be armed and equipped by the Dominion Government, be reduced to the humiliation of coming, cap in hand, to the County Council, which is under no obligation, except a sentimental and patriotic one, to furnish the helmets required. The answer to this is, that our Government for some reason, whose wisdom it carefully conceals, refuses to furnish the cavalry with any other headgear than the miserable little forage caps, which are about the size of a tea biscuit and are more of a mere military badge than an efficient head covering. The troop thus equipped go to the annual drill, wearing only these little patches of caps and in so doing literally take their lives into their own hands, or rather on their heads, for cases of sunstroke, which may easily be fatal, are very frequent in camp. A soldier is supposed to risk his life for the protection of his country, but it is at the hands of enemies of his country, that he takes this risk, and he should not be required to endanger his life through insufficient equipment, due to the peddling parsimony of the Government, whose neglect of the volunteer militia is simply shameful. But the fact remains that "C" Troop of Cavalry requires suitable pith helmets, which can be purchased for about $100. The officers supply themselves entirely at their own expense, but it is unreasonable to ask the rank and file to do so. The fact that the Government refuses to supply these helmets brings the claims of the troops within range of the good offices of the county council, and if they refuse to act the members of "C" troop will go into camp next year in search of drill, glory and sunstroke. If the council should not see its way clear to making the grant it should at least adopt a strong memorial to the Government to take action in supplying the wants of the troop. In doing so it might draw attention to the fact that the immense sums squandered in the fuss and feathers branch of the militia service might be, without an iota's loss of efficiency, reduced, and the amount of the reduction divided among the rank and file, who do the really efficient service of guarding our native shores.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Four of the Members Sit on the Collegiate Institute Staff.

A serious difference of opinion has existed for some time between certain members of the Board of Education and the members of the Collegiate Institute staff.

Outsiders by their remarks so increased the breach that affairs came to a climax yesterday, when Trustee Ferguson openly and in public invited the staff to a personal contest to take place in the Curling Rink in the afternoon.

Four representatives from the staff duly appeared, armed with brooms and stones, and a hard-fought battle took place, resulting in the complete discomfiture of the pedagogues, much to the glee of the Board.

The contestants lined up under their skips as follows.

Dominies.	Trustees.
M O'Brien,	W H Hill,
W J Drope,	W G Morrow,
H RH Kenner,	W G Ferguson,
J Jeffries, sk.....5	Dr Boucher, sk.....12

On motion of Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Morrow, the matter has been referred to the Committee on Appointments to report whether in this single contest the Board has demonstrated its superiority over the teachers, or whether another is necessary.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Thursday, Jan. 30th.

It is not difficult to get away into retirement and there live upon your own convictions; nor is it difficult to meet with men and follow their convictions, but to enter into the world, and there live firmly and fearlessly according to your own conscience; that is Christian greatness.

But more than sympathy, the truth I prize,
Above my friendships will I God;

So let my banner be again unfurled,
Again its cheerless motto wear;

HOCKEY.

A team from the Collegiate Institute, composed of Brooks, goal; Kelly, point; Rickey, cover-point; King, Graham, Matthias and Bell, forwards, went to Keene last night and, to their credit, succeeded in defeating the hockey team of that village by the score of 9—4.

CURLIANA.

At the rink last night a game was played off between the following strong rinks:—

D Bellinghem,	R Kerr,
J McClelland,	C Rutherford,
Geo Brown,	J DPentland,

The Colts have returned from Cobourg with victory perched on their banners, having won the district series in the Midland Colts Curling Association. Port Hope and Cobourg are the other two clubs in the series, and as Peterborough drew the bye the two former clubs were pitted against each other. Port Hope won, and then tried conclusions against the Peterborough men, whose rinks were composed as follows:

C LeBrun,	V McGill,
G Hay,	W Thompson,
E Rutherford,	C Brown,
GJ Horkins, sk,	D Davidson, sk.

Horkins beat his man by 31 to 19 and Davidson was downed by 24 to 16, Peterborough thus winning on the aggregate by four shots. The game was a most exciting one from the start, Skip Davidson's opponents got a couple of big ends on him at the start, but Skip Horkins evened things up by taking a big lead over the rink against which he was playing. When the regulation twenty-two ends were played Horkins was eight up and Davidson eight down, making it a tie all around. Two more ends were played but the tie was not broken. In the next end both Peterborough rinks scored two shots and, breaking the tie, won by that majority. As Campbellford has won from Kingston and Belleville in the other district, the finals have to be played of between the Colts of that place and Peterborough.

The local men were much elated over their victory and waxed enthusiastic on the rink, cheering and throwing their caps in the air.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

JANUARY SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

A DASHING CAVALRY CHARGE.

A Short Session—A Military Deputation Asks a Grant for Helmets for "C" Troop Prince of Wales Dragoons—Deputation Received.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

January 28th.

This afternoon a short session of the council was held to receive a deputation representing "C" Troop of Cavalry, consisting of Lt. Col. H. C. Rogers, Adjutant Cockburn, Capt. Johnston, Otonabee, Lieut. Bradburn, town, Lieut. Tait, Lakefield. The deputation addressed the council urging the claims of the troop for a grant of money for a grant of money for the purpose of purchasing new helmets. The deputation was pretty closely questioned as to the details of the circumstances, and on motion the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

THIRD DAY—THURSDAY.

JANUARY 30th.

The council went into session this morning to receive Mr. W. H. Stephenson, representing the Norwood School Board.

Mr. W. H. Stephenson, addressed the Council asking that instructions be given the County Treasurer to pay the Norwood High School the balance claimed by the Board as the amount due by the county by law. Mr. Stephenson claimed that the total expenses of the Norwood High School for the year 1895 was $3,000.93, after deducting $423.90 from this, the Government grant, left a net cost of $2,985.97. The county's share of this was said to be 46 per cent. of this amount, $1,361.72 After deducting the fees of county pupils, $388.00, and the county equivalent to the Government grant, $423.96, it left a balance due by the county, claimed by the Norwood Board under the school law, of $369.76. The matter was referred to the County Solicitor to report as to the amount to be paid by the county.

The council adjourned.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

The council went into session again to receive a deputation of the East and West Riding Agricultural Societies.

The deputation was composed of Messrs. Geo. E. Elliott, President of the West Riding Society, and W. J. Green, Secretary, and Mr. F. Birdsall, President of the East Riding Society.

Mr. Elliott was the first speaker. He pointed out that last year they had asked a grant without success, and it had been intimated that if they had asked a guarantee the might have got it. He therefore asked the council for a guarantee. Unfavourable weather might result in a loss and he would ask for a guarantee in such ar event to provide against actual loss.

Mr. Birdsall based his claim on the grounds that the East Riding Society had found their grounds too small and must provide some additional land and he, therefore, asked the Council to assist them in making the proposed purchase. It would require about $750 to provide the land.

Mr. W. J. Green also spoke in support of a grant or guarantee.

The Warden remarked that he had always taken ground against hap-hazard grants to the two societies but he was not so much opposed to a guarantee.

Mr. Moloney moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee. He could not favour the grant, because the members should make the society self-sustaining, which he thought they could do with effort.

Mr. Elliot further explained, that the West Riding Society had lost money in their night entertainment, and they proposed doing away with it. The exhibition which was the best prize-giving exhibition in the district, otherwise had been self-sustaining, but it required assistance now.

Mr. Finlay favoured a grant, and he moved that a grant of $100.00 each be made to the East and West riding societies.

Mr. Burnham seconded the motion and Mr. Hawthorne supported it in a brief address.

The motion was put and carried on the following division:

Yeas—Messrs. Burnham, Casemen, Finlay, Crough, Hawthorne, Anderson, (R.) Peoples, Shaw, Andrews, Buck, Joyce, Forster and Armstrong—13.

Nays—Messrs. Brown, Johnston, Hales, Lancaster, Crowe, Anderson (W), Lesson and Moloney.

Mr. Elliott and Mr. Birdsall thanked the council for the grant, the latter remarking that he hoped the members of Otonabee would get new light on the subject.

Mr. Lancaster said the Otonabee township society had been refused a grant and they could not consequently support a grant to the county society.

Mr. Johnston stated in effect that public sentiment in Otonabee was against such a grant.

The council adjourned.

ST. PAUL'S CONGREGATION

HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING.

Various Reports Presented—A Flourishing Condition Indicated in the Several Departments of Church Activity.

The annual meeting of St. Paul's church congregation was held last evening, with Sheriff Hall in the chair.

Rev. Dr. Torrance presented the report of the Session as appended.

REPORT OF SESSION.

In presenting the annual report, the Session would express gratitude to God for blessings bestowed during the past year. Early in March, under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Moore and Mr. White, we entered upon a series of union evangelistic services, which continued during the whole month. They were largely attended and seemed to result in blessing to quite a number.

During the first half of the year the prayer meeting was largely attended, several of the elders and others taking part in conducting it. Since the summer vacation, however, the attendance has not been so large. It is to be feared that many in the congregation have little faith in the efficacy of united prayer.

The losses sustained by death and by removal have been unusually heavy. Thirteen of our members have been taken from us by death. Mrs. Tassie, who had been with us for about ten years, was called to her reward on the 21st of June. She was an active worker in the service of her Master and was much beloved by all who knew her. Mr. William Tully, our senior elder, entered into rest on the 19th of December. He had been connected with the church from the time of its organization and for 50 years had been an elder. As a young man he had been a member of the Bible class of Rev. J. M. Roger. He was a man of deep piety and his death will leave a blank which it will be difficult to fill.

The number admitted to the table of the Lord during the year was eighty-four, fifty on profession of faith, thirty-four by certificate. Sixty-four names were removed from the communion roll, thirteen because of death, forty one by certificate, and ten because of continued absence from communion. The membership now stands at 745, and the number of families at 265, a net increase of 20 communicants and 5 families for the year. In nineteen years and a half this congregation has gone up from 190 families and 369 members to 355 families and 745 members.

E. F. TORRANCE,
Moderator of Session.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Torrance and Mr. John Carlisle, the report was adopted.

Mr. J. W. Bennett presented as appended, the REPORT OF THE MANAGERS.

REPORT OF BOARD OF MANAGERS, 1895.

The Treasurer's Statement shows a balance on the wrong side of $120.30.

Had the collections, both open and envelope, been equal to those of last year the balance would have been in our favour.

Each year for the last four years our income has suffered a reduction on the previous year, as will be seen on comparing the collections for those years as follows:

1892	$4,793 60
1893	4,457 64
1894	4,367 23
1895	4,199 69

The envelope arrears on the 31st December last amounted to $382.78, but these have been reduced during the past few weeks to the sum of $267 02. This is much too large a sum when we consider that few—if any—of the members of this congregation are contributing as the members of other congregations are compelled to do, for the support of ordinances.

In accordance with the suggestion expressed in the last report of the Board, $191.92, the then balance, was placed to the credit of the Mortgage account. This has enabled us to pay $300 during the year upon the Church Mortgage, which now amounts to $7,500, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum.

The treasurer of the Mission School Fund has, with the assistance of the sum of $140,00 contributed by your board, settled the balance due the South Ward—bought some time ago at a cost of $1,234.00.

Several determined efforts have been made to obtain a substantial reduction of the amount charged by the Light and Power Co., for the four arc lights in the body of the church; but the result has been so unsatisfactory that the board are seriously considering the advisability of fitting the church with incandescent fixtures.

Although these would cost in the neighborhood of $600.00, in the first place, there would be a saving in light at a meter rate of over $100.00 per year which, it appears, would in several years pay for the fixtures in addition to furnishing a more satisfactory light.

The choir master has submitted to the board a plan for the enlargment of the choir gallery to be accomplished by moving the pulpit a few feet forward; but as yet no details have been settled upon.

The members of the Board retiring this year by rotation are H. S. Macdonald, A. E. Lech, Chas. N. Brown and J. W. Bennet, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

Auditors for the ensuing year should also be appointed.

The Board would be glad to hear at this annual meeting a discussion on any matters contained herein, or of any other subject lying within the province of the Board which has for its object the well-being of the congregation.

Respectfully submitted,

J. W. BENNET,
Secretary.

JOHN CRANE.
JAMES A. FIFE. } Auditors
Peterborough, January 22nd, 1896.

Mr. Peter Hamilton pointed out that it would be well for the congregation to give an expression of its opinion in regard to certain questions mentioned in the report. The change in the system of lighting would involve an expenditure of about $600, but as the arc lights did not give satisfaction to those sitting along the side aisles, he thought the change would be beneficial. The incandescent lights would be safer and more evenly distributed. Besides a saving of over a hundred dollars a year would be effected by the change. Regarding the extension of the choir loft, he explained, that at present these quarters were too crampted to admit of the membership of the choir being increased. Mr. Crane was desirous of bringsome of the young people of the church into the choir but, as stated, this was impossible until an enlargement was effected. The improvement could be made by moving the pulpit forward a few feet and the expense would be trifling.

On motion of Messrs. Madill and Gilchrist, the matter of changing the light was referred to the Board of Managers, the congregation expressing its confidence in their judgment.

The retiring members of the Board, Messrs. H. S. Macdonald, A. E. Lech, C. N. Brown, and J. W. Bennett were re-elected to office.

The Sunday school report was presented by Mr. J. A. Fife, the superintendent. The financial statement showed a balance on hand of $57.67. The Sunday school missionary balance sheet showed the collections for the year, etc., to amount to $274.66, which was spent as follows:—Home Missions, $90; Foreign, $90; French, $70; S. S. Association, $10; Sister S. S., $14.66. The average attendance at the Bible Class was 37, at the Infant Class 145, and in the General Sunday School 82, totalling 264.

The Missionary report was presented by Mr. J. D. Collins. It showed the money on hand to amount to $382.68, which was to be allocated as follows:—Augmentation $70.00, Home Missions $410, 08, Foreign Missions $350,00, French Evangelisation $152.00.

A number of other reports were received from societies in connection with the church, all of which indicated progress.

After the passing of a most hearty vote of thanks to the choir for its services during the year, the meeting adjourned.

Taking Cold

Is the cause of half our diseases.

The worst of taking cold is not always a cough.

It is often our nerves.

Our nerves become weakened and we become debilitated and sick.

The nerves keep us well when they are well.

When they fall sick, we do.

Exposure, worry, overwork, excesses, etc., will make the nerves play out.

HAIR HAIR

PROF. DORENWEND is Coming

It is contrary to nature that the head should be bald. Let that be fully understood. Is it not a fact that many ladies and gentlemen do not wear artificial hair for no other reason than prejudice. Unfortunately there has been a marked increase of late in baldness and gray hair, and the result is the loss of an attractive and refined appearance. MANY LADIES have the wretched habit of crimping and curling their own hair instead of buying an article according to the style. The result is they ruin their hair and when new styles come in they are unable to follow them.

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co. Ltd., of Toronto, has for thirty years demonstrated the beautifying effects of wearing his hair goods. Thousands of THE BEST LADIES and gentlemen of Canada and the United States are wearing his articles to-day. In many cases the manufactured article is more becoming than the natural growth, and not even an expert can detect that the hair is artificial.

The Professor carries an immense stock of Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees (half wigs), Bangs, Wavy Fronts, Switches, Braids, Etc., in every form, shade and quality. All can be pleased. Cast aside and provide yourself at once with a head dress that will give charming effects. Prof. Dorenwend will be in

PETERBOROUGH ON WEDNESDAY, FEB. 5th,

—AT THE—

HUFFMAN HOUSE.

This opportunity should not be lost. It might be added that the Professor also carries with him a full line of Hair Dyes in every shade, Hair and Face Bleaches, and Theatrical Wigs, Whiskers and Moustaches.

Let the date of the visit be borne in mind.

His Face was a mass of Blotches.

But now his skin is clear as a year old babe's.

Scott's Sarsaparilla his Salvation.

Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is repellant to those with whom we come in contact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. I sold my business and moved to the city where Scott's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. The first bottle did me much good, and after taking five bottles my skin is as clear as possible, and not a sign of my previous disfigurement. I say Scott's Sarsaparilla is the best blood medicine going and am speaking from experience.

Pimples, blotches, boils, ulcers and all diseases arising from vital exhaustion and impure blood are radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla, a concentrated compound of the finest medicines ever known. Your druggist has it at $1. But get Scott's. The kind that cures.

THE CUNNING HEATHEN.

John Chinaman Proves to be an Expert in the Art of Forgery.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 28.—Latest advices from China tell of the uttering by Chinese forgers on the Island of Java of £3,000,000 of Java bank notes. In order to have the notes accepted forged notes acceptances were placed on them. Already £600,000 of forged and discounted notes have been discovered, and many prominent Chinese merchants have been placed under arrest, including Captain China, one of the wealthiest Chinese in Java. It is believed by the police that the forgeries were completed in Singapore. One house, that of Tan Kim Tjing discounted £300,000 of the forged notes. Nast & Co. discounted £135,000, and other houses that discounted largely are practically bankrupt. Nearly all the leading Chinese merchants of Java have been victimized. Kwee Khe Soo, a native of China, now a resident of Sourabaya, and a band of native etchers, have been arrested. Soe has confessed to having committed the forgeries, and implicates many others, all of whom insist that they are innocent.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

Mr. Ewart Off to Ottawa to See What Has Become of the Bill.

Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—J. S. Ewart, counsel for the Roman Catholic minority, left to-day for Ottawa to look into what the Government is doing with the Remedial School bill. Mr. Ewart says: "There have been a good many rumors going round that this bill is to be a mild one, and after five years of hard work we do not intend to receive practically nothing as satisfaction for our labors. I shall do all I can to assist the Government in carrying out their pledges to deal justly with the Catholics of Manitoba."

A SERIOUS LOSS BY FIRE.

Mr. Joseph Egan of Westminster Loses Barns, Cattle, Horses and Crops

London, Ont., Jan. 28.—Last evening the barns of Joseph Egan, lot 3, con. 4, Westminster Township, were totally destroyed by fire, together with 19 head of valuable cattle and horses, the season's crops and a number of implements. Mr. Egan's loss will be very heavy, as he carried only $500 insurance on the buildings. The cause of the blaze is unknown. Mr. Egan suffered a similar loss about two years ago.

HAMILTON NOTES.

Determined Attempts of a Prisoner to Hang Himself in the Jail—General News Notes.

Hamilton, Jan. 28.—Thomas Hall, 20 Elgin-street, attempted suicide while locked up at No. 3 Police Station last night. When a constable visited the cell he found the prisoner in a semi-nude condition, and that he had tried to hang himself. The officer removed the suspenders, with which Hall made the first attempt, but when he returned later, discovered Hall had tried to hang himself by twisting his underclothes and using them for a rope. At this morning's Police Court he was dismissed on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

The G.T.R. wheel works began yesterday to run a full staff of men, all the floors being occupied, and the employes are accordingly jubilant.

MARY WAS AWARDED $2000.

A Simcoe County Girl and a Toronto Lawyer Chased a Man to Buffalo With Effect.

Buffalo, Jan. 28.—Miss Mary A. Erwin of the Township of Flos, County of Simcoe, Ontario, secured a verdict in the Common Pleas Court, Toronto, against Con. J. Saxton, for breach of promise and was awarded $2000. Saxton, who had married Madge Harber of Flos, had meanwhile transferred to his father-in-law his real property, mortgaged or disposed of his personal property, drew his deposits from the bank and the day after the verdict fled to this city, where Miss Erwin finally located him, and, in company with Alfred E. H. Cheswick, Q.C., of Toronto, arrived here yesterday and began suit against Saxton, alleging that in his transfers of Canadian property there was a conspiracy between Harber and Saxton to defraud her of the amount of judgment, etc., etc. Papers were served on Saxton and Mr. Cheswick and Miss Erwin returned to Canada this morning.

Immigration Convention.

Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—Those having charge of the arrangements for the immigration convention are sending out circulars to municipal and other bodies in the province, asking that delegates be sent to present the attractions and requirements of their respective districts. It is hoped to make quite a stir over the affair and attract attention, if not immigrants.

SKATING ON THE OUTER EDGE.

She didn't know I loved her—she couldn't really know,
Though mebby sumpin'—sumpin' kindy sort o' told her so;
Fer her eyes wuz allus downcast an' her cheeks got flamin' red,
An' her lips wuz sort o' twichy ez she turned away her head,
When I knelt to fix her skate straps an' my bunglin' fingers shook,
With the narvousness o' lovin' her, an' tryin' to make 'em hook.
So 'twuz both a kind o' torture an' a blissful privilege,
When I went with Mandy skatin'—skatin' on th' outer edge.

I used to hold her foot, ye see, an mebby once er twice
I'd git a glimpse of ankle, so slim an' turned so nice,
Et 'ud set my heart a-thumpin' and a-gyratin' aroun'—
'Peared like 'twu'd twist my innards inside out an' upside down;
An' then she'd try to help an' show some more bewitchin' curves.
Ez if that wuz the way to stidy down a lover's nerves!
A thousand times I started, ez nigh ez I can jedge,
To tell her how I loved her—skatin' on th' outer edge!

Till one bright night, I don't know how, 'peared like the moon's soft glow
Het up my blood to bilin' till the words began to flow;
Then she—she tripped and stumbled—would a-fallen, but my arm
Somehow found its way around, and held her close up safe from harm;
But her face wuz kindy white like, an' the answer came so low
I could scercely see her lips move, but I knew et wasn't "No."
An' the roses crept back softly when she gave that whispered pledge,
That through life we'd keep on skatin'—skatin' on the outer edge!

FROM SMILES TO TEARS.

They were five in number—ladies, evidently, and they boarded an electric car at the Tremont House. Possibly they intended to have a little fun before going home, and as they occupied nearly one-half of one side of the car, a merry little twinkle gleamed in the eyes of each.

Then the conductor entered. This was the signal for a simultaneous movement of five hands for five handbags. Five tightening strings were unloosened, five hands disappeared into uncertain depths, and then five pocketbooks came to sight.

Five hand bags were closed and five silver pocketbook clasps snapped. Five nickels did not appear. The first lady tendered five pennies, and as she did so she smiled. No. 2 lady caught the infection and passed up five pennies.

The the smile of No. 1 was a grin.

No. 3 did the same, and five ladies laughed. No. 4 was somewhat unlucky and while she was poking numerous hair pins, ribbon samples and other bric-a-brac—which every lady carries in her pocketbook—in search of her change, No. 5 fished up her five pennies.

More laughter, somewhat increased.

Finally No. 4 had to give it up. Three pennies was all that she could find, and she meekly tendered a quarter. She received her change immediately. Every conductor in Boston is pleased to receive pennies, because they are handy in making change on transfers. This conductor did not forget it, but he thought his opportunity had come, and without hesitation he dumped the twenty pennies into her dainty gloved hand outstretched to receive them.

The laughter had ceased by this time. No. 4 got real mad, and threatened to report the conductor. He kindly gave her his number, but she refused to take it.

The quintet alighted at Park square. Then the other passengers laughed. —Boston Herald.

THE McCORD CASE.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond, Jan. 30, (Special).—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said:—"After the doctors pronounced my trouble Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old and have lived here 40 years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price, 50 cents a box.

SIR JOSEPH BARNBY DEAD.

A Leading Musician of England Passes Over to the Majority.

London, Jan. 28.—Sir Joseph Barnby, the English musician, principal of the Guildhall School of Music, died this morning. He was born at York in 1838 and was a choir boy at the Minster. For nearly 20 years he wielded the baton as conductor of the Royal Choral Society at the Albert Hall, London. In 1875 he became precentor at Eton, but resigned the office on being elected in 1892 Principal of the Guildhall School of Music, in place of Mr. Weist Hill, deceased. He was knighted in August, 1894. Sir Joseph composed many anthems and hymns, and his glees, part songs and secular compositions have been very popular. Toronto musical organizations have sung many of his compositions. Sir Joseph's only brother, who worked at his trade as a shoemaker, recently died in York.

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere—This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

Before the finished fruit come bud and blossom. Bud grows into blossom and blossom into fruit. And so girlhood merges into womanhood and the woman into motherhood.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It turns danger into safety and pain into ease. It is a medicine which has but one object. It is good for but one thing. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, it promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all of the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." And this generally begins either at the time of puberty or childbirth, or at the "turn of life."

There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure. Thousands of grateful women have been rendered healthy and happy by its use, and the experience and testimony of many of them has been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser.

When Dr. Pierce published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would give away the next half million free. He is now distributing, absolutely free, 500,000 of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away. They are going off rapidly, therefore, do not delay sending immediately if you want one.

The world's record for lumber cutting is claimed for the Port Blakely Mill, of Port Blakely, Wash. During the ten months of this year up to the end of October 83,676,212 feet of lumber had been cut at this one mill, and it is estimated that the total output for 1895 will be at least 105,000,000 feet. Loaded in regular car lots this amount would make a train more than sixty miles long.

In 1894 the amount per head consumed for drink in England, Scotland and Ireland, respectively £8, 17s, 4d., £5 1d. and £2 2s 8d, proves that Ireland is twice as sober as England and once and a half as sober as Scotland.

Alaska's gold output for 1895 is estimated by G. H. Swinehart, editor of the Alaska Mining Record of Juneau, to be $3,000,000. Of this amount fully $800,000 has been obtained from placer mining alone, chiefly along the Yukon River.

This year's gold output for Colorado is estimated at from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000, which will be greater than that of any other single State or Territory. The estimate of the Denver News recently formulated by counties, is $16,000,000 and that of Director Preston, of the Mints, $15,000,000.

One of those rare occurrences, finding a "lost mine," has recently taken place about one mile north of the west end of Mosca Pass, in the Sangre de Christo range, says an Alamosa special to the Denver News. A small force of men will be put at work, and by spring it is expected regular shipments will commence. The ore in the bottom of the shaft assays five and one-half ounces in gold and 20 per cent. copper.

Horses have been extremely cheap in parts of the west for some time now, but it is thought bottom prices have been reached in Southern California lately. A really good mare sold in San Bernardina recently for $2, while at an administrator's sale in Ventura County, last week, a horse was sold to a Mexican boy for 50 cents. The boy did go high because he wanted the halter, which went with the horse.

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts says that a dressmaker ought to know the difference between the right and wrong sides of a piece of cloth, and that if the garment is not made with the right side out when no instructions to the contrary are given, the owner has a right to recover damages. The plaintiff in the case under consideration, whose dress had been made with the cloth wrong side out, obtained a verdict of $20.

There is no building material so durable as well-made bricks. In the British Museum are bricks taken from the buildings in Nineveh and Babylon which show no sign of decay or disintegration, although the ancients did not burn or bake them, but dried them in the sun. The baths of Caracalla and of Titus, in Rome, and the Thermae of Diocletian, have endured the ravages of time far better than the stone of the Coliseum.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

A Mother's Beautiful Child

Dragged Nearly to Death's Door by Severe Nervous Disease—Suffered Extreme Pain in the Head—Doctors Could Do Nothing—South American Nervine Called in at the Eleventh Hour and Restores to Health Little Annie Joy, of West Toronto Junction—The Great Remedy is Reducing the Death Rate of All Canadian Cities.

MISS ANNIE JOY, WEST TORONTO JUNCTION.

A bright little lad, or golden-haired girl, is the delight of your home. Whether you revel in riches, or know something of the privations of poverty, that child is all the world to you. It is no wonder that mother and father become anxious when sickness overtakes the little one.

The remedy, fathers and mothers, is near by. South American Nervine has been the means of giving back the bloom of youth to thousands of suffering little ones. It is not a medicine that buoys up the parents' hopes, only to have them in a short time dashed down again lower than ever. Whether with child or adult, it promptly gets at the seat of all disease, which is the nerve centres. From this fact it is peculiarly efficacious in the treatment of nervous diseases of man, woman or child.

A recent case is that as told by Mrs. M. A. Joy, of West Toronto Junction, whose little daughter Annie, aged 15 years, had been a sufferer from severe nervous depression for about two years. As with all mothers, no trouble and expense was spared in the effort to bring relief to the child. The little one suffered extreme pains in the head, so distressing at times as to render her completely helpless, sapping all her strength. The best skill of the most skilled physicians was called into request, but little Annie steadily grew worse. Becoming more hopeless and discouraged as the weeks went by, Mrs. Joy decided on trying South American Nervine as almost a last resort. Employing her own words she said: "I determined to give it a trial, although I felt it was useless."

To-day it is all happiness around that home, for before one bottle of the medicine had been taken, the mother tells us Annie commenced to show decided signs of improvement. The child has taken three bottles and has practically regained her natural health and vigor. There is nothing surprising in the fact that Mrs. Joy cannot speak too highly of South American Nervine.

Much was at stake, but this wonderful discovery proved equal to the emergency, and so it does in every case. Thousands of letters on file from well-known citizens prove this. For nervous diseases of young or old, from whatever cause, it is an absolutely infallible cure.

Mr. Foster, answering Mr. Forbes, said the Controller of Inland Revenue was a Cabinet Minister of full rank, holding the portfolio of Controllers of Inland Revenue. He was responsible to the Council as were other members of the Cabinet. For further information he must refer the hon. gentleman to the act.

Mr. Landerkin—Has he full salary?

Mr. Ives—Well, you would be glad to have it. (Laughter.)

Sir Richard Cartwright asked if the Government had discovered the culprit who had given information to the newspapers with reference to the order permitting American cattle to be shipped from Canadian ports.

Mr. Foster explained that the Premier had given the information to the press as soon as the order was signed. He did not know that it had been previously promised to the House.

Mr. Davies wanted to know if the Minister of Agriculture had recovered from the deep humiliation and shame which he had felt at the news getting into the public press. (Laughter.) Had that humiliation been assuaged by the announcement just made?

Mr. Foster thought Mr. Davies had better put the question on the order paper. (Laughter.)

Dr. Montague—My presence here is evidence that I have survived. (Laughter.)

Deputy Speaker Bergeron moved for a return of all petitions, applications, letters, etc., asking for commutation of the sentence of death recorded against Valentine Shortis into imprisonment for life, and of all the letters and memorials asking that the law be allowed to take its course; also the report of Justice Methieu. He reviewed the circumstace in connection with the Valleyfield murder, showing how brutal it was. He said there was talk of lynching, but the people had such confidence in the law that no such thing was attempted. He said the commission to Ireland to enquire into Shortis' sanity did more to convince the jury that Shortis was not insane, but a miserable, cruel young man, than anything presented at the trial. He contended that everything possible was done by the defence to save Shortis, but that a worthy and intelligent jury found the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree. The verdict was a matter of general satisfaction to the people of Beauharnois, because there had been slight fear among them that on account of the wealth of the Shortis family the criminal might escape. He had no doubt that in the commutation of the sentence either there had been too much sympathy shown or there had been a miscarriage of justice. He asked that if Shortis' sentence was commuted on account of insanity, why had he been sent to penitentiary instead of an asylum, as had been done. He called attention to the Chatelle murder case, in which a French-Canadian, far away from friends, without money and without a lawyer to defend him, had been tried and convicted in one day, and afterwards executed. There were evidences that Chatelle was not exactly sane. If Chatelle deserved death, and he did not question that, then did not Shortis deserve it far more? He held that if the Government had go advised the Governor-General there would have been no commutation. He dwelt on the danger of letting the public lose confidence in the administration of justice.

Mr. Dickey, Minister of Justice, deprecated discussion of the subject until full information was in the possession of the House. The crime itself, he said, was indefensible. He quoted authorities to show the discretion with which Parliamentary enquiries into the exercise of the prerogative of mercy should be conducted. He did not deny the authority of Parliament to make such enquiry, and declared the Government did not desire to evade constitutional responsibility in the Shortis case. All he asked was that the discussion should not be precipitated at present.

Mr. Laurier agreed that the present was not the time to discuss the merits of the case, but held it was proper to discuss whether the Government had discharged its duty in the case, when they had failed to advise His Excellency how to act. He read newspaper reports to the effect that the Government, not having advised commutation, the Governor-General had cabled to England for instructions and was told to exercise his own judgment. He said the exercise of the prerogative of mercy was no longer a personal prerogative of the Sovereign, but that in such cases the Sovereign had to act on the advice of her constitutional advisers. The Government did not do its duty in the Shortis case.

Sir Charles H. Tupper said Mr. Laurier should know that the best newspapers were not infallible, and that he should not charge the Government with being derelict in the discharge of duty until he had full and accurate information about the case.

Messrs. Mills, Mulock, Davies and Brodeur also spoke and after several amendments the motion was carried.

Mr. Davin moved that in the opinion of this House the duty on agricultural implements should be removed. He said Canadian implement manufacturers were able to compete with all comers in foreign markets and that that was evidence they did not need protection.

After recess Mr. Mulock asked if the last report of the Board of Visitors of the Royal Military College was to be laid before the House. He thought it should be, as he believed it contained many valuable recommendations.

Mr. Dickey said he would confer with his successor in the Department of Militia. He agreed that the report should be brought down.

Mr. McLennan moved the second reading of his bill designed to make the Government responsible for the wages of laborers employed by contractor on public works. The purpose of the bill was to protect laborers from unscrupulous contractors, who so often leave the country without paying laborers' wages. It provides that the Government shall recoup itself from the deposit of the company concerned and from plant, etc.

Mr. Haggart pointed out the difficulties in the way of enactment of the bill, in its present shape at least, and said perhaps if the bill was sent to committee, means might be devised to get over these difficulties.

Messrs. Kaulbach, McKay, Casey, Sproule, Ryckman, Davies and Bain (Wentworth) thought the principle of the bill was a good one. Both sides of the House seemed to consider that a bill for the purpose aimed at was highly desirable.

Mr. Ouimet also pointed out objections to the bill and suggested that the promoter of it should consult with the Departments of Justice and Public Works to see if some other method could be devised to attain the purpose.

Messrs. Ingram, McMullen, Moncrieff, McNeill and Mills (Bothwell) also spoke.

Mr. Dickey proposed that the bill should be read a second time and then referred to a special committee. This was done.

The House adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice price, I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN McNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

GALWAY.

From our own Correspondent.

Sessions of the Victoria Farmers' Institute will be held in Kinmount on Thursday, February 6th. Addresses will be delivered by Prof. G. Harcourt on the various branches of farming, and D. W. Beadle, Esq., will speak on the subject of fruit growing, benefit of spraying, etc. We trust that the tillers of the soil will avail themselves of the valuable lessons in new methods of farming.

Many of the farmers in this locality have abandoned the practice of growing wheat altogether, simply because after driving a distance of twenty miles with their wheat to the nearest mill the millers will take 15 pounds from every bushel. If the wheat tests 61 pounds they will give 35 pounds of flour and 10 pounds of bran and shorts It simply means that if a farmer goes to the mill with 100 bushels of wheat he only gets back 75 bushels in weight, and the only consolation he can get is that his load is a good deal lighter going home, while the miller gets 1,500 lbs. out of every 100 bushels of wheat that the farmer takes to the mill to get ground.

The demand for horses seems to be getting a little brisker. The last that have been sold here brought as high as one sheep for a horse. Had it been a young animal the owner would no doubt have realised a good deal more.

Our collector has made some of his rounds lately and has in one or two cases had to resort to extreme measures.

Mr. Wm. Cornell, of Rockdale, has bought a portable saw mill and intends to do first class work. We wish him success in his new enterprise. He has bought a team of horses from Mr. Wm. Young.

The Free Methodists are holding Revival services at Victoria. Quite a large number of people attend them.

Mr. Wm. Young, of Rockdale, has again gone to the woods, but he will be through in about two weeks time. He intends to go to Adolphustown, in the spring to take charge of his uncle's farm. Mr. Young will be well adapted for anything that that requires any push in it.

Mr. Daniel Youmans, of Blairton, has taken up a free grant farm, back at Bancroft. He intends to locate as soon as possible.

Mr. Benjamin Youmans, of Blairton, returned from the North Shore last week where he has been engaged in the lumber woods.

Mr. George Ellis, of Rockdale, intends to take up a free grant farm back at Bancroft.

The council had a busy day last week, but they showed their good sense when they gave THE EXAMINER the contract for the municipal printing. THE EXAMINER is the best circulated paper in the township, and therefore, if for no other reason, should be patronized.

In the last issue of the Havelock Standard, the correspondent of Garrison's Corners makes a mistake when he reprimands the Victoria Cheese Company for not publishing their cheese report. If our worthy friend was as diligent in reading the papers as he appears to be in looking after the Victoria cheese factory, he would have noticed about a month ago in the Peterborough EXAMINER a full report of the Victoria annual cheese meeting, and also a full financial report. Probably it would be a good plan for to send him a copy of THE EXAMINER of that issue, and if the report was not published as soon as he would have wished it to have been published, last year, probably the directors will try next year and send him a report a little earlier.

Mr. Walter Wilde, at the last meeting of the council, was appointed assessor. He is a young man of good business ability, and no doubt will prove a satisfactory municipal official.

The members of the Rush Point Sabbath school held a social last week. A pleasant evening was enjoyed.

The quarterly services of the Blairton Circuit of the Methodist church will be held in the Rush Point church next Sunday. A meeting of the Quarterly Board will be held in the Victoria church on Saturday, Feb. 1st.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

Hon. Dr. Montague's Statements Questioned.

THE HANSARD REPORT APPEALED TO

Dr. Landerkin Cornered the Minister of Agriculture—Program on the Remedial Bill—Efforts to Discredit Mr. Laurier—Proceedings in the House.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Dr. Montague is not making a brilliant success as Minister of Agriculture, but he is seeking to rival Sir Charles Tupper as the great stretcher. He once stretched his imagination to the point of imagining he was scrivener-in-chief to Her Majesty, comissioned to write out a proclamation from the Queen to the Cayuga Indians. On Tuesday he imagined himself pained beyond measure that the cattle order in council had been published by the press before the royal signature had bee attached. More, he was astounded and expressed his humiliation that it was given to the press when it was refused to Parliament. He explained that it was refused to Parliament on Friday evening because it had not yet been signed by the Governor-General. Yesterday the leader of the House (Mr. Foster) stated that it was the Prime Minister who caused such deep pain and humiliation to the Minister of Agriculture, and that Sir Mackenzie Bowell had given the order to the press after it had been signed by His Excellency. It was given out to the press on Thursday afternoon, Dr. Montague said it was refused to Parliament on Friday because it had not been signed. Mr. Foster said it was signed on Thursday, and was given out then because it had been signed. Who is telling the truth, the Minister of Agriculture, when he told Parliament the order was not signed on Friday, or the Minister of Finance, when he told Parliament the order was signed the day before Friday? Are the Ministers fooling with Parliament as they fooled with the Premier, or are they simply trying to bring ridicule on the Premier? At least they ought to tell the truth. The Hansard official report shows that Dr. Montague, when compelled to answer the question he trifled with in debate, the Minister of Agriculture had to confess that the Government had never raised a finger to obtain this concession, which it is stated they obtained a year ago. Dr. Montague purposely sought to create the impression that Dr. Landerkin's question was superfluous. Are the people expected to have confidence in men who will deceive the House of Commons and endeavor by such arts to get the upper hand of opponents in debate for the sake of momentary triumph?

When Senator Desjardins accepted office under Premier Bowell a few weeks ago the "traitors" were still on strike, and when they returned the Senator was in a dilemma and asked the Hon. A. R. Angers whether he should remain in the Government. Mr. Angers, a late colleague of these gentlemen, replied: "The Government is rotten from top to bottom."

The Remedial bill has passed the subcommittee, but it has not yet been brought before the full Cabinet in Council. A Cabinet Minister is authority for the statement that the bill is a "thorough" one, and Mr. Daly's threat that it would make Mr. Tarte laugh on the other side of his face bears this out, because Mr. Daly and his fellow-performers imagine that the Liberals from Quebec are afraid of a drastic bill. The Government are evidently bent on trying to coerce Mr. Laurier's followers from Quebec into voting for the bill or incurring the anathemas of the Bishops. This is a nice corspiracy for Messrs. Bowell, Haggart, Montague, Wood, Foster and Dickey to be engaged in.

Your correspondent is in a position to state positively the program agreed upon when the crisis was healed up. It was this "Draft a strong Remedial bill, let all the Ontario members who expect to run again and whose chances would be destroyed by supporting it vote against it, and then let Mr. Laurier vote against it if he dare. If he persists and votes on the same division list as Mr. Clarke Wallace, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, Mr. George Taylor, Mr. Edward Cochrane, and Mr. Joseph Martin, he will be dished in Quebec. The bill will be defeated to the relief of all, but Mr. Laurier will be politically dead in Quebec, and the Ontario men will be all right by voting against it." That is the plan of campaign, but it will fail. If the Government fail to carry their Remedial bill they must either resign or obtain immediate dissolution, so that the vengeance of the electors of Ontario upon Ontario Ministers who are trying to force objectionable schools on Manitoba for the sake of voters in Quebec who do not want them will be swift and fatal. As for Mr. Laurier, the Province of Ontario will stand behind him in his policy of taking this question out of the passion of party politics and putting it into the hands of an impartial and representative royal commission for inquiry, and Quebec will also support the Liberal leader, notwithstanding the fact that Archbishop Fabre of Montreal calls him the leader of the opponents of Separate Schools.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Questions, Facetious and Otherwise—The subject of Railway Passes and Mileage Allowance.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—It was decided today at the opening of the House, on the suggestion of Mr. McNeill, that the resolution of sympathy with the Mother Country should be the first order of the day for Wednesday next. The resolution will undoubtedly pass unanimously, the Opposition being strongly in favor of it. A Liberal from Quebec will second the motion.

Mr. Foster, answering Mr. Casey, said that since Sir Charles Tupper's appointment as High Commissioner in 1883, he had held conjointly the office of Minister of Railways for 11 months and 24 days.

Dr. Montague, replying to Mr. Featherston, said that Prof. Robertson, finding his duties as Dairy Commissioner to be very onerous, had asked to be relieved of the care of live stock at the experimental farm, consequently it was the intention to appoint a first-class man to look after live stock.

Mr. Perry asked whether Sir Charles Tupper was at present traveling in a private car through Cape Breton county at the public expense.

Mr. Haggart replied, I do not know hw Sir Charles Tupper is traveling. I loaned him my private car. I have no doubt he is traveling at his own expense.

Sir Richard Cartwright asked.: How much is he paying the Intercolonial Railway? but no answer was vouchsafed.

Mr. Foster laid on the table of the House further papers relating to the Manitoba school question. They include only the Dominion Order-in-Council of July 27 last and the reply thereto of the Provincial Government.

The House went into committee on Mr. Mulock's bill respecting the Senate and House of Commons. The first clause, providing that no Senator or member who, for the purpose of attending or returning from having attended a session of Parliament, travels by any railway to or from Ottawa either free or at a less rate than that charged to the general public, shall be entitled to mileage allowance, was rejected by 80 to 24.

Mr. Mulock spoke strongly against members of Parliament receiving passes.

Mr. McMullen said members of Parliament were the poorest paid individuals in Canada, and deserved every consideration. If, however, the public got the idea that by accepting a railway pass a member could be influenced in his legislative action, then measures should be taken to prohibit the use of passes.

Sir Richard Cartwright recalled a valuable suggestion made by the Minister of Public Works last year. He quite agreed that any railway subsidized by Parliament should carry members free. In that way the country would save the amount of mileage.

Mr. Ouimet said he was glad to hear Sir Richard Cartwright recall his (Mr. Ouimet's) suggestion. This session the House might not be disposed to legislate on this question, but next year Sir Richard and himself could form a coalition.

Mr. Mills—So you think you are coming back?

Mr. Ouimet—We are coming back, sure. (Laughter.)

Mr. Dickey said he was quite prepared to vote for withdrawal of the sessional indemnity, but in a young country like this possibly many thought the time had not yet arrived for such a step. He did not think public opinion outside the House had been properly educated on the question. Personally he felt that it was wrong to impute against any member that his vote could be influenced by the acceptance of a railway pass.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Davin, McNeill, Ingram, Davies, Cameron (Inverness), Casey, Mulock and Taylor, after which the bill was knocked out.

Mr. Casey moved the second reading of his bill to secure the safety of railway employes and passengers. He explained that generally the bill is designed to insure better protection for the traveling public and railway operatives by means of the air brake and other attachments. It fixes a minimum compensation payable for death or total disability, and deals with the duties of companies with respect to keeping the roadbed and plant in good order.

Mr. Haggart also took up the details of the bill and pointed out objections to it in its present shape, but agreed that it should be sent to the Railway Committee.

Mr. McNeill (Bruce) called attention to the many accidents at railway crossings and thought something might be added to the bill to provide for automatic gates at country crossings, which would be closed by an approaching train itself, and be reopened automatically as the train receded.

Mr. O'Brien thought something should be done to reduce the hours of work of trainmen.

Mr. Cockburn said that despite much talk of loss of life indulged in by the members, the blue book statistics show that last year nearly 14,000,000 passengers were carried and the loss of life was only nine. On the track, of drunken men and such, 91 were killed.

Mr. Mills interrupted to say that taking into consideration the number of passengers and the number of miles traveled, the average was only four miles.

Mr. Cockburn—That does not make any difference. It is just as easy to kill a man in four miles as more. A man is not dragged along for four miles before he is killed. It is instant murder. It is not like the case of the Opposition, who are being dragged along constantly, making unavailing efforts to save themselves. (Laughter.)

Proceeding, he said, in no other country was there less loss of life on railways than in Canada, and that the Canadian railways deserve credit for the record. He concluded by saying he hoped they would go on in future as they have been in the past. (Laughter.)

The bill was read a second time and sent to the Railway Committee.

Dr. Sproule moved the second reading of his bill to prevent adulteration of honey. It is aimed at the practice of adulteration with glucose.

Mr. Prior, Controller of Inland Revenue, approved of the bill subject to alteration in committee.

The bill was given the second reading.

The House adjourned at 10.30.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS.

Annual Report of the Militia Department Presented.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—His Excellency received a cablegram to-day from the Colonial Secretary stating that the funeral of Prince Henry of Battenburg will take place next Wednesday.

The annual report of the Militia Department, presented to Parliament to-day, shows a total expenditure last year of $1,574,013. The Deputy Minister in his report says the Government cartridge factory has lately passed through a crisis. Following the purchase of a lot of Martini-Metford rifles, orders were given for the purchase in England of the required machinery for the manufacture of .303 ammunition, and the superintendent of the factory was sent to England to supervise the manufacture under the orders of the Department of this new machinery. All the new plant has been received at the factory and has turned out to be of superior quality in all respects. At this stage Lieut.-Col. Prevost, the superintendent, died, and the factory was thus deprived suddenly of the services of a very superior officer. Capt. Gaudet, who is now following a course of technical instruction in England, will shortly return with all the necessary qualifications to carry on this important work.

The establishment list shows a total authorized strength of 28,002 officers and men. During the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1895 officers, 19,339 non-commissioned officers and men performed 12 days' drill.

The following were the issues of clothing made during the year: Cloth, serge and tweed tunics, 8736; cloth, serge and tweed trousers, 8314 pairs; cloth riding breeches, 1060 pairs; forage caps 6,540; great coats, 3886.

Col. Powell, late Adjutant-General, points out the desirability of the Government affording employment to graduates of the Royal Military College. He says the facility offered under command of Capt. Twining, of securing the services, during the summer vacation, of those who were fitted for it and were available for employment in the survey of ground and the preparation of a military map of a portion of Dominion territory is likely to result favorably, and to afford a knowledge of the qualifications for such duty of the graduatees.

The reduction in the estimates for the Department of Agriculture is explained by the report that Mr. Small, the secretary, and Messrs. F. Dionne, Levesque and Dauray of the Patent Branch, have been superannuated. It is said on good authority that Mr. Jarvis, for many years secretary to Sir John Carling, is to be promoted to the secretaryship of the Department. He is a most efficient officer.

GOT OFF LIGHTLY.

Nelson Cornell Sentenced to Two Months in Jail and His Wife Set Free in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—Nelson Cornell and his wife, who were captured in Windsor last week with a large quantity of drygoods in their possession, alleged to have been stolen from A.R. Kerr & Co., whole in the employ of the latter, were arraigned at the Police Court this morning, before Judge Jelfs. Both looked guilt-stricken and trembled. Chief Smith read the indictments, charging Cornell with stealing from A. R. Kerr & Co., on Oct. 25, 1895, four yards of gloria silk, and on Sept. 19. 1895, 11 yards of crepe. On behalf of the prisoner, George S. Lynch-Staunton, declined to elect, and pleaded guilty. The latter took objection to the woman being forced to unveil her face for the satisfaction of the morbid curiosity of the crowd, and Judge Jelfs allowed her to stand with back to the auditors and unveil her countenance, while the indictment was being read. The lawyer, on her behalf, declined to elect, and pleaded not guilty, on a charge of stealing four yards of satin and three pairs of curtains. J. W. Nesbitt, Q.C., counsel for the prosecution, said that after having investigated the charges he found that he could not obtain sufficient evidence to substantiate them. Judge Jelfs accordingly dismissed her and committed Cornell for trial.

Before Judge Snider, Cornell again pleaded guilty. Mr. Staunton presented his plea, which was that the prisoner's friends had promised to recompense the company for the loss they had sustained; besides, the private prosecutor was desirous that as lenient a sentence as possible be given. Judge Snider sentenced him to the County Jail for two months.

In view of the fact that the goods supposed to have been stolen exceed $1000 in value, general surprise was expressed at the lenient sentence, but other charges may be preferred, the prisoner having been charged with stealing four yards of silk and 11 yards of crepe cloth only.

A horse's carcas, brought to the city by a man from the vicinity of Caledonia, was sold on the Central Market this morning. The carcass was dressed for meat purposes, but it is a mystery who bought it, as the butcher who had it for sale left the market before daylight. The meat was tender and juicy, and sold at three cents a pound.

The day duty constable at No. 3 Police station was the victim of a conspiracy by two prisoners this morning. James Cameron of Milton was arrested for being drunk last night, and Pat Savage of Harrisburg on a charge of trespass and wilful damage to Grand Trunk property. Savage personated Cameron, and the officer released him, knowing it was customary to release prisoners on first offences. When Savage's name was called this morning there was no response, and Cameron was dismissed.

VERY FEW VOTES NEEDED.

The Montreal Herald thus deals with the electoral situation :—" In the general election of 1891 there were 26 constituencies which returned Conservatives by an average majority of less than 40 votes. In these 26 constituencies the highest Conservative majority was 79 and the lowest 1. Divided into provinces 16 of these constituencies are in Ontario, 6 in Quebec, 2 in Nova Scotia, and 2 in New Brunswick. The average vote in the 16 Ontario ridings which returned Conservatives was less than 30. The utter contempt and disgust felt for the aggregation which calls itself a Cabinet, even among life-long Conservatives, warrants the belief that the very slight turn over necessary for the return of Liberal candidates in these ridings will come about as certainly as the general election is held."

THE Globe calls it the great I commissioner.

SIR John McDonald had nothing to do with the national policy, the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway or with Confederation.—Sir Charles Tupper said he did it all himself. It's a pity Sir Charles is so modest. He should have told us all this before and we should not have been hugging a delusion so long.

SIR Charles Tupper may have good reason for advocating a fast Atlantic service. After the General Election no steamship service can be too fast to take Sir Charles Tupper to London, and the emoluments of the high commissionership; but when he gets there he may find that another bird has been placed in the nest.

THE World has a cartoon of truly Tupperian quality, in which Sir Charles Tupper is represented as a nation builder. Yes! And he has made a millionaire fortune out of the contract; almost as much as the cold million, "My dear Onderdonk" took out of the public chest on the head of his Port Moody and Kamloops C. P. R. contract.

THE Bobcaygeon Independent says:—" When Tupper, the Great Stretcher, left his office in London to come to Ottawa he declared publicly that the object of his visit was to confer with the Canadian Government regarding the Pacific cable and a fast Atlantic steamship service. When Tupper made that declaration this journal ventured the assertion that he was not stating the truth. Was Tupper or this journal right? We have seen how poor, blundering Bowell was betrayed; we have seen how seven dishonourable scallawags conspired to get Bowell removed and their own gang placed in office, and we all know that such conspiracy was directed and such betrayal was designed by the Great Stretcher, Tupper. What a smash-up!"

THE Hamilton Herald (Independent) says,—Tupper of the Tuppers is keeping up his campaign of wind and words in Cape Breton with a dash and roar calculated to make the moon weep and the sun veil its face. The prodigious exercise of jaw is having its regulation effect. Already the coal miners are imagining themselves wearing fur overcoats, riding in imported carriages and smoking imported cigars, while their wives have deserted the humble washtub and bread pan to bedeck their red-jointed fingers with diamond rings and anoint their persons with perfume. Oh, Tupper of the Tuppers, of all the daisy jollers of earth you are the dasiest. The only regret is that it comes so high.

MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

Shall Partisanship be Allowed to Demoralize the Canadian Militia?

Party politics have been the bane of the Militia Department for many years, although the theory is that the volunteer force is outside the domain of the party. At the time when the the most experienced and wisest counsellors were required in military affairs, Col. Powell, the Adjutant-General, was superannuated. The next best thing one would naturally think was to promote the Assistant Adjutant-General, Lieut.-Col. Aylmer, to succeed him. But at the present time party deputations are waiting on the Minister and party wire-pulling is being carried on actively to prevent the principle of promotion being acted on, and it is alleged that Col. Aylmer, admittedly an efficient man and capable officer, was at some remote period a Liberal in politics, as if the militia force of Canada consisted entirely of Conservatives and should be directed by a Conservative Adjutant-General. If Col. Powell's advice had been taken while he was in office the force would not have been allowed to run down. The selection of an Adjutant-General will afford fair proof of whether the present Government are determined to reform the administration of the Department of Militia and discard party considerations, or to allow political influence to mar the administration and destroy the efficiency of the Canadian militia. It must be said to Mr. Dickey's credit that had he remained Minister a few days longer he would have recommended Lieut.-Col. Aylmer.

AUDITOR-GENERAL'S REPORT.

Queer "Contingencies"—The Curran Bridge Bungle—Unauthorised Payments Made.

The Auditor-General's report of expenditure has been laid on the table of the House. Among contingencies at Ottawa are the following items: Cab hire, $1,655; travel of Ministers, $7,718; telegrams, $18,754; washing towels, $1,332; luncheons to Cabinet, $422; brief bag for Solicitor-General, $32; newspaper clippings, $75. On Dec. 2nd, the Auditor-General wrote for an account of the proceeds of the sales of cheese and butter on which advances were made, and received a reply from Prof. Robertson, dated Dec. 9, 1895, stating that the cheese, mainly from Prince Edward Island, and some of the butter had been stored in cold storage in Montreal and not sold. He adds:—"When sold the whole amount of the advances will be repaid to the credit of the Receiver-General. This will not likely be later than the latter end of January, 1896."

The Curran Bridge scandal grows worse the more light is thrown on the wretched affair. The Auditor-General discloses the fact that Mr. Haggart's statement, leading Parliament to believe that the accounts were audited before payment by the Auditor General was misleading, and that as a matter of fact the payments to Mr. St. Louis were all made before audit.

THE SOMERVILLE CASE.

An Old Farmer Tells of a Cure for Rheumatism.

By a Happy Fate a Great Sufferer Comes to Know of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

One sometimes stops to think of what might have been but for some apparently trival happening.

Mr. James Somerville, residing at 157 Bellwoods avenue, Toronto, had been a sufferer for two years from acute rheumatism.

But one day his duty took him, in his capacity of undertaker, with a funeral to a rural churchyard near Richmond Hill.

By chance he was billeted to the hospitality of a near-by farmer, who, noticing his weak and crippled condition, did more than entertain him—he prescribed.

"You go and get a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They'll knock that rheumatics out of you," he said.

"And so I bought the first box," explained Mr. S. "I really do not know," he said further, "what would have become of me had I missed knowing about Dodd's Kidney Pills, for the first box completely cured me.

"I had pain and weakness across the back which I well knew came from the kidneys, but I had no idea that this had any relation to the terrible rheumatism from which I so often suffered—sometimes in bed for several weeks.

"And yet I have not used them properly. I have turned to them several times in my distress, using only until relieved.

"I now realize that I should have used them to get myself wholly back into perfect health, as I read others have done."

FOURTEEN FEET WATERWAYS.

Canada Should Have Them in Order to be Able to Move the Manitoba Wheat Crop.

Montreal, Jan. 30.—Mr. Alex. McFee, the well-known grain dealer, is a firm believer in a fourteen-feet waterway from Montreal to Lake Ontario, and his speech yesterday before the Board of Trade is much talked about. To your correspondent to-day Mr. McFee stated that unless we get that depth of water we will never be able to compete with the Americans. He said that the finances of the country will not permit Canada to push ahead the deepening of her canals so as to be able to bring the wheat crop of Manitoba down to Montreal for export to Britain rather than via New York. He believes that the question is one of Imperial importance, and that England would aid in the work if it were pointed out that there is a future for British ships in the Upper Lakes. Canada will not be able to build these ships, which must be of 2000 tons, and why should not English ships trade in the lakes as well as in the Atlantic?

Mr. McFee states that the Montreal Transportation Company are now having a steamer built in England to trade in the lakes between Fort William and Kingston, and if the matter were brought before the people of Great Britain by the coming Congress in London, and if it were shown that profitable employment would be found for English ships in the Great Lakes, he believed that the Old Land would co-operate with Canada in the immediate and rapid deepening of the latter's waterways. "It's not free canals that Canada wants, so much as plenty of water," added Mr. McFee, who is of the opinion that this is the reason why 4,000,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat were exported last year via Buffalo and so ridiculously small a quantity from Montreal. He contends that the surplus trade had no option last fall but to go to Buffalo. If we had fast boats to cross the lakes in three days from Fort William to Midland and three days added to Montreal by rail, the ocean steamers would enter into contracts for large quantities.

Mr. G. B. Reeve, the new Grand Trunk traffic manager, arrived here to-day, and in answer to a question as to the truth of the report that the Chicago and Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk systems were to be amalgamated to such an extent that both roads could be operated by a central organization located in this city, Mr. Reeve replied that although the report was a little premature, he had no doubt that it was founded on fact. "Indeed," said he, "I believe that the amalgamation is not only a possibility of the future but a probability as well. To bring about such may be an item in Mr. Hayes' program, although in speaking thus I am only conjecturing. As to the difficulties in the way they are easily surmounted. True, a few of the offices of the C. & G.T.R., notably that of secretary-treasurer, will have to remain in the United States under the terms of the existing law, but on the whole I see no reason why the two systems could not be amalgamated under one management. I am sure the result of such a union would prove equally beneficial to both roads. It would reduce the running expenses of each, and in addition, would bring the officials together for mutual aid and co-operation. I certainly look for a union of the two roads in the near future."

Mr. L. J. Seargeant, the late general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, left to-day for New York, where he will take the Campania for England.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT

Told a Buffalo Reporter About Canadian Loyalty.

"CANADIANS ARE NOT COWARDS."

The Ontario Premier Hopes There Will be No War—No Annexation Sentiment on This Side—A Unit in Loyalty to the Mother Country.

Buffalo, Jan. 30.—Sir Oliver Mowat, who was in this city for a couple of hours yesterday was run down by the inevitable interviewer. On the recent war scare, Sir Oliver spoke at some length. He said: "With all our differences, racial and sectarian, we are a unit when we appear to be in danger. French Canadians joined heartily with Protestant Ontario, and demonstrated how little real sentiment there is for annexation to-day. Never in my whole public career have I seen so much loyalty to Great Britain.

"You don't think there is any possibility of war?"

"I hope not—nay, I pray God such a dire calamity may be honorably avoided. You know that the United States has many good reasons, apart from one common language, to be friendly towards Great Britain. We are really brothers, and such a war would be cruel, wicked and fratricidal. Still, it is wonderful how quickly Canada responded to the call of danger, and how all races and creeds joined together in a determination to show their solid strength and patriotism on behalf of the Motherland. Of course, we do not believe there will be war. Personally I pray that such may be avoided. We have no reason to be other than friendly and neighborly, but Canadians are not cowards, you know. We have had friction with the United States before on many issues, but never without cause, and I do not see why all disputes should not be amicably settled. We claim only the right to live neighborly and do our business honorably with the United States, but we also claim the right to know what is best for ourselves and to be allowed to manage our own affairs as we deem fit. This Canadians will always do. We are not cowards, you know, nor are we alarmed even now."

Continuing, Sir Oliver said: "England's splendid isolation is the admiration of the world. There is no mistaking her temper or her power. She seems doubly proud and heroic as she stands out alone against the powers, as if she almost gloried in her friendlessness. She stands out a splendid spectacle. And if she should be called on to fight, I venture to think she will not fight alone, or she will be equal to the occasion."

Sir Oliver spoke with horror of the Armenian atrocities, and talked freely on other subjects until the interviewer came to the Manitoba school question, and here the veteran Premier hesitated. He did not, however, hesitate to express an opinion that Manitoba's resistance would not extend to civil war, and continuing, said: "The Dominion Government has a hard road to travel, and it certainly looks as if it would be stranded on that question. Yes; I think you will soon hear of a Liberal Government in power, with Mr. Laurier as Premier."

"But how is he going to settle that question, since he is a Catholic?"

Sir Oliver shrugged his shoulders and smiled.

THE REMEDIAL BILL.

A Draft of it Published in Winnipeg—Ex-Premier Harrison Says it Will Not Do.

Winnipeg, Jan. 30.—An alleged draft of the remedial school bill, prepared by the Ottawa Government for submission to Parliament, is published here to-day. After reading it ex-Premier Harrison said: "It won't do. We cannot go back to the old system. The people of this country will not stand it."

The doctor took up the paper and read: "Catholic Board of Public Instruction; restoration of Catholic denominational schools; Catholics supporting such schools exempt from paying taxes to Public Schools.' "These are things which we have decided against. They cannot be reintroduced. We cannot go back to the plan of handing over funds to the Separate School Board, the chairman of which looks to His Grace of St. Boniface for instructions."

"How would you prevent it?"

"My idea would be to make all schools come up to the standard in three things—qualifications of teachers, uniform Government inspection, and a uniform curriculum, including text-books. Then when the schools had fulfilled these conditions and had taught the subjects of the curriculum a specified number of hours per day, they would be entitled to the Government grant. Now, as to religious exercises, suppose the half-hour or hour after the conclusion of purely secular work, as prescribed, be given over to the trustees to do with as they see fit. If a majority of the section is Catholic, they will elect Catholic trustees, and the exercises during that hour will be Catholic; if Protestant, vice versa; or, as would probably be the case in a large number of schools, there would be no religious exercises at all, and regular work would go on right up to the close of school hours. Of course there would be conscience clauses to let those go who did not wish to remain. This seems to me a fair plan. We are willing to give to the Roman Catholics every right we enjoy, but we do not see why they should have special privileges. As solving the question on these lines, I believe the plan I have just outlined would be satisfactory, and I know it would be fair.

The court to-day fixed the remuneration of the Commercial Bank liquidators at $5000 per annum for the chief, and $500 each for two assistants. It was stated to the court that many of the shareholders were seriously thinking of forming a company to take over the assets of the bank and pay off the present indebtedness. The principal part of the work of winding up was realising on real estate and collecting moneys, and they thought this could be done much cheaper by employing one competent man to do the work. Another dividend of ten per cent. will be paid, making a total of seventy cents on the dollar.

NO POWER TO GRANT DIVORCES.

A Very Important Point Raised by a Decision of Chief Justice Davie of B.C.

Victoria, Jan. 30.—The legal fraternity were thoroughly surprised to-day. A divorce case came before the Supreme Court, but Chief Justice Davie refused to hear it, holding that the Supreme Court of this Province has no power to grant divorces. The matter was also brought before the Legislature to-day. If Chief Justice Davie is right, serious complications will ensue, as many divorces have been granted in the past, and some of the parties have remarried. It is believed that the Roman Catholic Church is behind Chief Justice Davie on the stand he has taken.

Nomination in Northumberland, N.B.

Newcastle, N.B., Jan. 30.—This was nomination day in Northumberland for the Ottawa vacancy, caused by the promotion of Mr. Adams to the Senate. The Liberal candidate is Hon. Peter Mitchell and the Conservative James Robinson.

A FORWARD MOVE.

Gen. Baratieri Demands Release of the Italian Prisoners.

Rome, Jan. 30.—Gen. Baratieri, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, has sent a trader named Felter to the camp of Ras Nakonnen, commanding the native army, demanding the release of the Italian column under Col. Galliano, which was besieged in the fortress at Makalle by the Abyssinians, and recently reported to have evacuated that position. The Abyssinian forces are advancing. They were within 30 kilometres of the outposts of Baratieri's army when this despatch was sent, and a conflict between the opposing forces was imminent. Gen. Baratieri has 28,000 men and 60 cannon.

Spain Shows Contempt for Uncle Sam.

Madrid, Jan. 30.—In official circles no importance is attached to the resolution reported to the United States Senate yesterday by its Committee on Foreign Relations in regard to Cuba, nor is any particular attention paid to it by the public in general. A special despatch from Washington to The Imparcial describes it as laughable.

A Miser Dead in Paris

Paris, Jan. 30.—A shabbily-dressed man was seized with a fit in the street here to-day and was carried to the poor lodging that he had occupied for twelve years, where he died in a short time. The police in seeking to identify him made a search of his room and found American securities to the amount of 2,000,000 francs, and also proof that the man became an American citizen in 1877. Nothing was found, however, to show what his real name was.

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere—This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognised as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

Manitoba Legislature Will Have the Shortest Session on Record.

Winnipeg, Jan. 29.—Members of the Provincial Cabinet say the session of the Legislature which opens next week will be the shortest on record, as there is really no important legislation to be submitted. As the Federal Government has undertaken to pass a new school bill Premier Greenway won't propose any amendments to the present law until Sir Mackenzie Howell and Sir Charles Tupper have finished their contract. The Legislature will be asked to, and, of course, will, endorse all the Manitoba Government has so far done on this question.

SEATON DISCHARGED.

George Mitchell Denounced as "More Dishonest Than Judas Iscariot."

London, Ont., Jan. 29.—Investigation into the alleged inciting to arson charge against John Seaton was continued at the County Court to-day before Judge Edward Elliott. The chief witness was George Mitchell. In summing up the evidence, Judge Elliott denounced Mitchell in unmeasured terms. Hale and Mitchell contradict one another, and he placed no reliance whatever on the evidence of Mitchell. "He is more dishonest than Judas Iscariot," said the Judge. Seaton was then discharged.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common Sense Medical Adviser, profusely illustrated.

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT.

Runaway.

On Thursday morning last while Mr. and Mrs. Henry Denne, of Peterborough, were driving into Lakefield their horse became frightened just as they crossed the bridge, by several children running to catch on the cutter, and ran away. The cutter was upset and the occupants thrown out, and when it got in front of Mr. C. D. Crawford's store it struck a post and broke away from the horse. The cutter ran between two buildings at Mr. Stone's shop and was caught. Mr. and Mrs. Denne were not injured beyond receiving a severe shaking up, but the cutter was considerably smashed up.—Lakefield News.

MR. ALBERT TURNER CANED.

The George Street Choir Make a Presentation Last Evening.

Last evening the members of the choir of the George street Methodist church met at the residence of Mr. James Edgecumbe, Water street, for the purpose of expressing their regret at the departure of Mr. Albert Turner from town and consequently the necessity of the severance of his connection with the choir of which he has been a member for the past eight years.

Mr. Edgecumbe was in the chair and after all were assembled called upon Mr. W. W. Daly to read the following address:

To Mr. G. A. E. Turner,—

DEAR FRIEND,—The severing of friendly ties is proverbially painful, and the announcement of your prospective removal from our midst fills us with acute regret.

We appreciate your worth as a good citizen, but we are assembled to-night more particularly to accentuate our sense of bereavement as members of the George Street choir, of which you have been a valuable and enthusiastic supporter for many years.

When we recall the many happy and profitable hours during which we have associated together in years gone by, when we reflect on your invariable courtesy and geniality, your unswerving loyalty to our choir through adversity and prosperity, coupled with the unstinted aid of your tuneful voice, ever ready to assist, we feel that your absence will create a gap difficult indeed to fill, and entail on us a distinct loss.

We desire at this early opportunity to express our sincere and heartfelt sorrow at the prospect of losing you; and at the same time to utter our assurance that you carry to your new sphere of action our very best wishes for your welfare.

We ask you to accept this cane as a slight memento of good will, and suggest that it is emblematic of the support so readily and heartily accorded by you to our choir.

May the Divine Master, Whom we have been wont to praise and worship in sacred song so long together, continue to keep and prosper you in your new home, is our ardent prayer.

Signed on behalf of the George street Methodist choir,

W. W. DALY,	HATTIE SEWARD,
R. J. CROWEN,	LIBBIE LUMSDEN,
JAS. EDGECUMBE,	BELLE BUTCHER,
H. A. YERNEY,	ANNA L. MAGUIRE,
GEO. F. SCHNEIDER.	EDITH KERNEGHAN.

Peterborough, Jan. 30th, 1896.

Mr. Turner was then presented with a beautiful gold-headed cane suitably inscribed.

The recipient of the handsome recognition responded in a few words expressing his appreciation of the gift, after which brief addresses were made by Mr. Jas. Edgecumbe, Mr. W. W. Daly, Mr. Chowen and Mr. Maguire, expressive of the regret experienced by all at the severance of an association which had always been of so pleasant a character.

Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Kernegan, Miss Clara Belleghem, Mr. J. Brown, Mr. Alf. Skitch, Mr. Daly and Master Kerneghan sang solos and Miss Pascoe recited during the next few hours, which were spent in a social manner.

During the evening the guests were invited to a most dainty repast prepared by Mrs. Edgecumbe.

Mr. Turner leaves on Feb. 10th to assume the charge of a department in Morgan's big Montreal establishment.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The Reports Submitted Were Most Encouraging.

THE RECEIPTS OF 1895 EXCEEDED THOSE OF THE YEAR PREVIOUS.

The Ladies of the Congregation Furnish Tea, After Which the Annual Business Meeting is Held—The Various Reports Presented.

The annual meeting in connection with St. Andrew's church was held last evening with Rev. A. MacWilliams in the chair. At the conclusion of the opening devotional exercises, Rev. A. MacWilliams, the pastor, presented the report of the session, showing that the number of members received during the year was 66, the greater majority by profession of faith. Thirty were removed by certificate, three by death, leaving a net gain of 33. The number of baptisms during the year was 12.

THE MANAGER'S REPORT

was presented by Dr. Bell; it showed the receipts of 1895 to exceed those of 1894. The subscriptions were increased by $170, and the loose collections by $22.59. The total receipts amounted to $3,074.77, and the expenditures to $3,057.99.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

report was presented by the secretary, Mr. W. J. White. The report showed the school to be still increasing in number and regularity of attendance. There are twenty-two classes, with a staff of thirty-two officers and teachers. There are 108 names on the Bible class roll and 243 in the Sabbath school and infant class, making a total membership of 351, an increase of 36 during the year. The average attendance is 223. Mrs. H. Waddell's class raised $27.46 towards supporting a girl at the Point aux Trembles French school. During the year a piano has been purchased and an orchestra introduced into the school. The total receipts amounted to $232.65; the expenditures were $132.65, including $5.00 given to missions, leaving a balance on hand at the close of the year of $99.66. The report of the Bible Class showed their receipts to be $75.41 and total expenditure $45, leaving a balance of $31.41.

THE W. F. M. SOCIETY

report was presented by Miss A. Edmison. Several members took talents at the beginning of the year and the returns showed that six of those had increased their dollars to the sum of $112.50, which is certainly a record of which to be proud. The Society sent a box of clothing, valued at $39, to the North West Missions during the year.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY

report was read by Mrs. H. Jones, secretary, showing that several most successful entertainments have been held during the year. A pound social was held in December, when $25 worth of provisions were received and distributed amongst needy families. The total receipts during the year were $80.80 and expenditures $63.88, leaving a balance of $14.92. The officers for 1896 are: Mrs. John McClelland, president; Miss Forsythe, vice-president, and Mrs. Hilliard Jones, secretary-treasurer.

THE Y. P. S. C. E.

report was presented by the president, Miss Forsythe, and was most encouraging, the meetings being well attended and the interest in the society steadily increasing. There are now 65 names on the roll—46 active and 19 associate, with an average attendance of 50. There are now eight committees actively at work. The Visiting Committee made 523 visits during the year. The Juniors contributed $5 towards the Knox College Students' Mission Fund, $5 to a church in Harvey. Ten dollars remains in the junior treasury to be given to the missions as decided. A number of baskets were made up at Christmas for the poor.

Dr. Bell and Mr. J. D. Tully, the retiring members of the Board of Managers this year were re-elected. Mr. T. Fitzgerald and Mr. F. W. Gladman were elected to fill vacancies on the Board. Mr. J. D. Tully's term of office as trustee on the Nicholls Hospital Board having expired, he was reappointed. The auditors appointed for the year were Messrs. W. J. White and F. A. Walden.

Votes of thanks were passed to the chair, Sunday school Secretary and Assistant, Ladies' Aid Society, Women's Foreign Missionary Society, managers, ushers of the church, Sunday school organist and orchestra, the Y.P.S.C.E., the Junior Y.P.S.C.E. and to the chairman of the evening.

Tea was provided by the ladies of the congregation from five until seven o'clock, of which the members partook, and afterwards spent a social hour previous to the holding of the business meeting.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

Piano Tuner.

Mr. George Gumpricht, as a first class piano tuner, is highly recommended by Messrs. Heintzman & Co., and all leading piano dealers. Orders may be left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

PASSED THROUGH TOWN.

A Railway Official on a Tour of Inspection Along the Line of the G. T. R.

Mr. McGuigan, Manager of the western division of the Wabash R. R., with headquarters at Kansas City, is at present on a tour of inspection over the whole G. T. R. system, at the request of General Manager Hayes.

Mr. McGuigan passed through Peterborough on Wednesday from Toronto on the No. 2 express to Port Hope, and very few knew that the quiet, studious-looking gentleman who occasionally passed through the coaches at the different stations was on a mission so important and pregnant with coming results. We may add that he did not occupy a palatial car, but stood the comforts and discomforts of the ordinary coaches with the other travellers. It is understood that the new general manager makes no parade of his exalted position, and travels about with as little fuss as any other citizen of this fair Dominion. There is likely to be a great shaking up of dry bones on the various systems before long. It is expected that Mr. McGuigan will shortly replace Mr. Stephenson, the present general superintendent of the G. T. R., and that the latter will take the position of assistant general manager, at present held by Mr. Wm. Wainright.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Our chemist analyzes a sample of every pound of Cream Tartar we use and the ingredients are used strictly in accordance with his report, so that there can be no possible chance of failure if you BAKE with

Rev. C. B. Kenrick, Port Hope, is in town making a few days visit. His many friends were very much pleased to see him, but regret that overwork has made a little rest and relaxation necessary.

Rev. Canon Harding, Apsley, writes:—"Will you allow me through your columns to inform your many readers in Apsley and other parts of Peterborough county that I have received a letter from Mr. Anderson to the effect that there has been handed to him from friends in the county a handsome gold-mounted cane, with the words "Presented to D. Anderson, Apsley, 1895," engraved on the head. Mr. Anderson wishes to express his sincere thanks for such a valuable proof of their kind remembrance."

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

BATTALION NOTES.

The Martini-Enfield is Better than a Magazine Rifle—How it Compares with the Lee-Metford.

Probably the only man in Canada who has had an opportunity to critically examine and use the new Martini-Enfield rifle adopted for the Canadian militia, says the Hamilton Spectator, is Private Hayhurst, the Queen's prize winner. Mr. Hayhurst has been connected with a gun manufactory in England, and knows all about the mechanism of modern arms, as well as being an expert in their use, so that his opinion is doubly valuable. When he was in England last summer the final tests of the new rifle were being carried on and he had an opportunity of examining and using it. His description and estimate of the new are will be read with special interest.

"I think the new Martini-Enfield," said Mr. Hayhurst, "is the best single-shooter yet manufactured, and in several respects it is superior to the Lee-Metford, notably in loading and firing. The Martini-Enfield is loaded and fired with practically two motions, whereas the Lee-Metford has four or five. In the former the soldier grips the stock with his right hand inserted through the lever beneath the stock; with one motion he drops his hand to his ammunition pouch, opening the lever as it goes, which ejects the shell; his hand goes back to the breech, inserts the cartridge, and, as it slides back to the grip of the stock, the action closes the lever, which loads and cocks the weapon. With the bolt action of the Lee-Metford the soldier has to loose his grip on the stock, catch hold of the bolt, run it forward several inches and turn it down; then turn it up, pull it back, and again take hold of the stock. When using it as a single-shooter, he has also to reach to his pouch for the cartridge and insert it."

"How many shots a minute can be fired by the Martini-Enfield?"

"A good marksman can fire twenty shots a minute. I would undertake to fire more shots in a minute with it than could be discharged from the magazine arm, even when the magazine is used. Though I could not fire so quickly as the other fellow while he used the nine shots in the magazine, the superiority of the Martini-Enfield as a single-shooter would make up for it during the remainder of the time."

"How does the range of the Martini-Enfield compare with the magazine rifle."

"It has just as great a range. Its range is 5,300 yards, and it will shoot practically point blank up to 500 yards."

"Is the barrel a converted Enfield, like the converted Martinis sent over last year, or is it a light new barrel?"

"It is a new barrel, the same diameter as the Lee-Metford, but differently grooved. It takes the same bayonet as the magazine rifle. The barrel is superior in endurance to the Lee-Metford. While I was in England last summer the barrels were tested on a machine gun firing 600 or 700 shots a minute. The Enfield barrel, after firing 10,000 shots, was as good as ever, whereas the Lee-Metford barrel only stood 3,000 rounds at that rate of fire. It is probable that the Enfield barrel will be substituted on all the Lee-Metford magazine rifles now in use, as they become worn out. The English volunteers are being armed with the Martini-Enfield also. Another great advantage in the new gun is in the ammunition. The same small bore ammunition is used all over the Empire, so that ammunition can be got to any British port or from any direction, should communication be interrupted."

BELMONT, METHUEN AND CHANDOS.

A Township Annexation Proposal.

Several of the ratepayers in the northern portion of the township of Methuen are agitating in favour of the amalgamation of the north half of that township with the adjoining township of Chandos, with which, as regards situation, their interests seem to be more identified. A natural barrier exists between the northern and southern portions of Methuen in the form of an area of about 12 miles of rock in the region known as "Huckleberry Plains," which from its nature will never be permanently occupied by settlers. This strip forms a physical division of Methuen and presents a barrier to a feeling of interest on the part of the comparatively isolated north half of Methuen, in the municipal affairs of Belmont, with which they are municipally connected; but the fact of the people of the north half of Methuen, being immediately alongside Chandos, and, from the nature of things, intermingling freely in social intercourse with the people of Chandos, points to an indentity of interest that would make the municipal union of these two sections a natural procedure. Chandos it is understood, would not be adverse to taking their southern neighbors into the family, so to speak, and it is also understood that Belmont would offer no opposition to the change. Chandos would not be required to assume any liability in the way of indebtedness, as Belmont and Methuen would be willing to assume whatever financial liability—and it would be very small, if any—that may exist. The people of north Methuen have a feeling which is natural under the circumstances, that they are practically neglected, and Belmont feels that it costs more to make the assessment, collect the taxes and contribute to the school funds than they receive. It seems that all parties concerned would be better served by the proposed change and the cost would be much lighter all round. It appears that there are two small schools, one in South Chandos and the other in North Methuen, that are expensive to both municipalities out of proportion to educational results, and a new school house built at the common expense, at McFadden's corners, would be more convenient and satisfactory to both and entail less expense. The cheese industry, and the circumstance of the factory being in Chandos, has operated to bring the two settlements more closely together, and to furnish another argument for municipal union.

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOTES.

Sundry Matters Before the Committees—Embankments to Replace Mud Lake Floating Bridge.

A deputation composed of Messrs. Galvin and Moloney, Councillors, Eamismore, and Mr. John N. Telford, Smith, addressed the Committee on Roads and Bridges upon the proposition to fill in the line of the Mud Lake floating bridge, making a solid embankment from the Smith to the Eamismore shore. They suggested that the work should be done by degrees—a certain portion filled in from year to year and that the material replaced by the filling be used for the repairing of the remaining portion of the bridge. The committee took the matter into their consideration, and doubtless some reference to the subject will appear in the report.

Mr. White, of Douro, appeared before the Committee in reference to the construction of a new 120 foot bridge, with approaches, at the point known as Carveth's bridge. The estimated cost was $3 40. No action was taken.

Messrs. John Riddell and John Buckham appeared before the committee in reference to a grant to assist in the filling in on the Otonabee shore of the approach to the Benefort bridge.

The ferry scow at Gannon's Narrows is drawn up on the shore, and is greatly out of repair, and needs caulking and other improvements very badly. Mr. Belcher has gone to the Narrows to look after the matter.

The Finance Committee decided to make a grant of $50 to "C" Troop of Cavalry to assist in purchasing helmets.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

The Grocers are now out with an acceptance of the Clothiers' challenge, and are eager to play for fun, money or marbles—coin preferred.

The Kingston Whig says: On account of the tie in group II. of the junior hockey series, the executive of the union have drawn another round for the three teams. This pitted the Victorias against Queen's II. on Friday night and the winners against the Limestones on Monday night. The Queen's II. defaulted to the Victorias and this team and the Limestones will fight for supremacy and the winners of the group to-night. The executive of the union wanted the Victorias to play Queen's II. on Thursday night, the winners to play the Limestones on Friday night and the winners again to go to Peterborough on Monday night, but the three teams interested promptly "kicked" against such an arrangement, so the schedule was drawn again as stated.

The Hockey team is practicing for the finals and semi-finals, but will be unable to have the rink during the beginning of the week, so will play a match with Norwood and another with Port Hope,—the latter to take place in Cobourg. Whitby may also be visited next week, as a challenge has been received from the team of that place.

The Victoria Colts, of Toronto, are expected to play a match with the local team here on Friday next, a week from to-day.

CURLIANA.

Three rinks of curlers went up to Lakefield yesterday to play a friendly match and were defeated by three points. The games were all close and most interesting. The score was as follows:

DR. FRANKLIN'S INVENTIONS.

Many of His Ideas Have Been Patented Many Times.

There is not in existence a biography of Benjamin Franklin which gives a complete account of the inventions and scientific discoveries made by the versatile genius who is rightly called "the brains of the American Revolution." Great as was Franklin as a diplomat and statesman, says the Boston Pilot, he was greater as a scientist in the domain of physics, wherein he planted seeds which bore fruit in his own time, and again in our own generation.

His pet study, electricity, which in the eighteenth century was a diversion of schoolmen, has become a gigantic industry, affording employment for nearly 2,000,000 persons in the civilized parts of the earth. To Franklin are we indebted for many things which remained fallow in the science of electricity, until Davy, Faraday, Edison, Brush, Thomas and Tesla began to pick up the threads which Franklin left in the bloom of life, when he was summoned from earth. Within two years an expensive litigation between two joint stock companies concerning the right to use a certain submarine electric machine for blowing up ledges and sunken wrecks was brought to an end when evidence was introduced showing that Franklin used similar apparatus in the Delaware River in 1787. Many of his inventions have been patented over and over again in our patent office, where articles in daily use by the cave dwellers may be patented by any person foolish enough to consider a United States patent of any value, and who does not know that the 400 patents taken out by Edison have been "pirated" under the protection of United States laws, which are apparently made for the profit of infringers of patents and for the bankrupting of inventors. Franklin's electric inventions number 18, all made when his intellectual faculties were brightest.

Running a Town by Electricity.

The electric storage battery, in whose development lies the hope of emancipation from electric light wires, trolley wires and other unsightly obstructions, has reached a point of perfection, as shown by an exhibit in Philadelphia, which makes it a commercial possibility, and promises a large extension of the usefulness of electricity in every-day life. With a further development in the direction of cheapness, it may be possible to reproduce, in towns unprovided with cheap means of motive power, the conditions existing in Great Falls, Mont. In that town electric power produced economically at a water privilege does all the mechanical work. It propels, lights and heats the street cars, runs the elevators, the printing presses, the cranes, and all kinds of machinery, and is used for pumping, for excavating and for rock crushing. It is even applied in the building trades, it not being unusual to see on the streets a mortar-mixer attached to an electric wire leading down from a pole. The restaurants cook by electricity; the butcher employs it to chop his sausages, and the grocer to grind his coffee. The housewives run their sewing machines and heat their flatirons by electricity; they bake their cakes in wooden electric cake ovens that can be set away on the shelf like pasteboard boxes. They have electric boilers, broilers and teakettles.—New York Evening Post.

The Age of Speed.

We are living in the age of speed, and the greater the speed attained on land or water, the greater the satisfaction of the community who wishes to be transported. A Frenchman now comes forward with an entirely new idea, or rather perhaps we should say a practical application of an old idea for steamships. He proposes to propel vessels at a very high rate of speed over the water instead of under. For this purpose he has built a flat-bottomed boat, with screws set nearly at a vertical angle, although slightly inclined aft, the object being to lift the boat very nearly out of the water by the screws, and at the same time propel it forward. For ocean service, of course, the idea is impracticable, but it seems to be rather fitted for use on rivers where waves of any considerable size are not met with.

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT.

Be up to Date.

The gentlemen of Peterborough and vicinity are, as a rule, right up to date. If they are not, it is because they lack opportunity. When they get a chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear coverments, should remember that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. The best men in the land wear these scientific coverments for no other reason than protection to the head. These goods are known throughout the land, and need no recommendation. Read the announcement on another page, and bear the date in mind.—Huffman House Wednesday, Feb. 5th.

His Face was a mass of Blotches.

But now his skin is clear as a your old babe's.

Scott's Sarsaparilla his Salvation.

Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is repellant to those with whom we come in contact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. I sold my business and moved to the city where Scott's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me. The first bottle did me much good, and after taking five bottles my skin is as clear as possible, and not a sign of my previous disfigurement. I say Scott's Sarsaparilla is the best blood medicine going and am speaking from experience.

Pimples, blotches, boils, ulcers and all diseases arising from vital exhaustion and impure blood are radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla, a concentrated compound of the finest medicines ever known. Your druggist has it at $1. But get Scott's. The kind that cures.

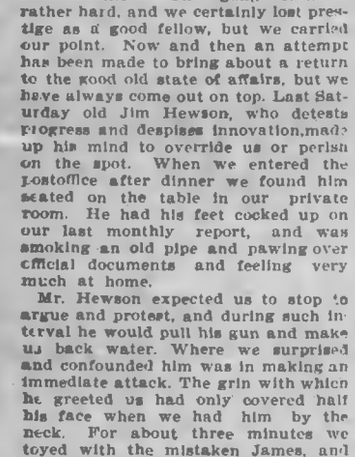
Ah at Postal Matters.

During the three years our predecessor held the office of postmaster of this town his private room in the post-office was the rendesvous of a gang of idlers and loafers. When we assumed the reins of government we publicly announced that no one would be admitted to this room except on official business. The gang took it rather hard, and we certainly lost prestige as a good fellow, but we carried our point. Now and then an attempt has been made to bring about a return to the good old state of affairs, but we have always come out on top. Last Saturday old Jim Hewson, who detests progress and despises innovation, made up his mind to override us or perish on the spot. When we entered the postoffice after dinner we found him seated on the table in our private room. He had his feet cocked up on our last monthly report, and was smoking an old pipe and pawing over official documents and feeling very much at home.

Mr. Hewson expected us to stop to argue and protest, and during such interval he would pull his gun and make us back water. Where we surprised and confounded him was in making an immediate attack. The grin with which he greeted us had only covered half his face when we had him by the neck. For about three minutes we toyed with the mistaken James, and then heaved him out of the window on the sidewalk. He left behind him his guns, his hat, one boot, his coat-tails, a handful of hair, one eye-brow and two front teeth, and at the present writing he is under the doctor's care and anxiously inquiring if the earthquake destroyed the whole town. We will state again that the postmaster's private room is for the postmaster alone. Outsiders are admitted only on official business. Mr. Hewson is now thoroughly satisfied on this point, but if there is any other critter in this locality who has any doubts about it he is invited to enter unannounced.

We Admit It.

Our esteemed contemporary was out with a sensational article last week holding us up to ridicule for being chased out of Pine Hill by an indignant mob of citizens whom we had insulted in a grievous manner. The affair is very easily explained. Ten days ago we were invited to go over to Pine



"WE KEPT AHEAD OF PURSUIT."

Hill and deliver our lecture on "Was There an Earthly Paradise?" We deliver this lecture now and then for the benefit of charity, and this is the first time any audience has found fault with it. We take the ground that there was a Paradise, and we enumerate many things which went to make it so. Pine Hill is a town of 210 saloons and one store. Nineteen out of every 20 Pine Hillers are drunk from Monday morning to Saturday night. Because we didn't mention whiskey as one of the factors going to make up an earthly Paradise we hurt their feelings, and a row was the result. We own right up that we got off the platform as soon as the eggs began to fly. We not only got off the platform, but out of the building. We were shot at as we ran for our mule, but once on his back we kept ahead of pursuit. Yes, we were egged and stoned and shot at and chased for five miles, but we don't feel very bad over it. There were 350 men in the crowd, and we are not idiot enough to imagine that we can stand off a gang of that size. We are tickled to death to think we brought home our scalp with all the hair on it, and we grin with delight as we figure up that the crowd must have wasted at least 500 bullets. There may be an editor in this great and glorious territory fool enough to stand up to a mob howling for his blood, but we are not in it.

A Laughable Affair.

For several weeks past Mr. John Day, the genial landlord of the Golden Nugget Hotel, has been at odds with Capt. Bill Thompson, proprietor of the Last Chance saloon. As we understand it, they got into a dispute over politics, and both made threats of what they would do at some future time. Sunday afternoon last they met on Cochise Place and renewed the quarrel. Each had two guns, and after calling each other liars and scoundrels they proceeded to shoot. We happened to be out for a walk and within half a block of the men as the ball opened, and when we hurried to the scene we found it funny enough to make us sit down and laugh. Each man was dodging about like a puppet, firing into the air or into the ground, and it is an actual fact that 24 bullets were fired and neither man grazed. When their guns were empty they threw them away and began to cry and pull hair. The shooting attracted a crowd, and when it was learned that neither was wounded both combatants were hooted off the street. Up to date both have remained in seclusion, and it will be well for them to keep it up for another week. Such shooting as that in a town like this is simply abominable, and if the parties named indulge in any more of it they will leave town astride of a rail.

No, Thanks.

A Chicago dealer in shoes whose advertisement will be found in another column writes to ask if we will accept a pair of pointed-toe shoes as a token of esteem in which he holds The Kicker as a family paper and an advertising medium. We reply that we feel highly flattered but we can't accept the gift. If we had the shoes we should feel like wearing them, and if we put on those pointed toes and took a stroll along Apache-avenue we know just what would happen. Jim Skinner, Hank White, Bob Taylor and the rest of the crowd love us and would tackle a mad grizzly to prove it, but they don't love us well enough to permit us to crowd the Twenty-first century down their throats. About the time we got to spitting over our shoulder and slinging on Broadway style, the boys would out with their guns and begin shooting, and if we got back to the office with a toe left we'd be in great luck. It's natural to us to be a sport and a Jim-dandy, and tears come to our eyes when we think of those shoes, but we know the feeling of our people and have no desire to furnish a victim for a funeral.

"DODGING ABOUT LIKE A PUPPET."

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond, Jan. 20, (Special).—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. One box helped me and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old and have lived here 40 years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price, 50 cents a box.

WHEN they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. His enjoyment of life is limited. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. He is alive to be sure, but life doesn't possess very many advantages.

Are not all these things equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor as much of it as he would like. If he transgresses any of the rules of his diet, he is punished for it. He suffers much, gets little sympathy.

Dyspepsia starts with indigestion, and may lead to almost anything. Indigestion means a variety of things—it shows itself in many ways. At first, perhaps a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn. Headaches begin to come pretty soon after that, and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and it is probably the most serious trouble that ever takes hold of a man. Its seeming simplicity is the thing that makes it most dangerous, because it leads to neglect. Constipation means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body is being filled with it. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. There is no telling what may come of it. Constipation is the start of it all. And yet people are careless about it. It is the most serious thing in the world, and the easiest to cure if you go about it right. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Cure it positively, certainly, infallibly. Cure it so it stays cured. Cure it so you can stop taking medicine.

And that is something that no other remedy in the world will do.

A NIAGARA PRODUCT.

Facts About Acetylene Gas From the Ontario Bureau of Mines—What Niagara Power Is Doing.

The most complete and accurate information yet given out concerning the new acetylene gas is probably contained in the recent report from the Ontario Bureau of Mines. The report states that the process for th economic production of calcium carbide and acetylene is the most promising discovery that has been made in recent years for the supply of light and fuel.

The inventor, Thomas Leopold Wilson, is a Canadian. The materials used are common lime and carbon—in any form—hard or soft coal, coal dust, petroleum, tar or peat. These are treated in an electric furnace, and Mr. Wilson is confident that where electricity can be generated with water power the cost of manufacturing calcium carbide brings it easily into competition with other materials from which fuel and light are obtained, and that a plant erected near a great water power like that of Niagara Falls will supply a continent at a figure with which coal gas cannot compete. The power of Niagara is ample for almost any conceivable requirement; while it is alongside a mountain of limestone, and coal dust or culm can be had at little more than the cost of hauling from the mines of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Arrangements are already being made to procure electrical energy for this purpose from the falls on both sides of the Niagara River from the company which controls the power franchise at the falls; so that it is probable that the carbide will soon be manufactured on a commercial scale in both the United States and Canada.

The carbide, containing 40 parts by weight of the element calcium, which is the basis of limes, and 4 parts by weight of carbon, will be cast direct from the electric furnaces into rods or cylindrical cartridges. One of these, 12 inches long and 1 1-4 inches in diameter, will weigh a pound and render five cubic feet of gas when simply subjected to the action of water, which is allowed to drip upon it slowly from a pipette or dropping tube. The oxygen of the water combines with the calcium of the carbide to form lime, while the hydrogen of the water unites with the carbon of the carbide to form acetylene. Owing to the great richness of the gas, it can only be used in flat flame burners, in which it emits a light greater than any other known gas; its illuminating value, figuring on a consumption of five cubic feet per hour, being no less than that of 240 candles.

Prof. Lewis asserts that the calcic carbide can be produced in the United States for about $20 per ton, and the beautifully pure lime obtained by the decomposition would net, as a by-product, $2.50 per ton.

The possibility of liquifying acetylene by moderate pressure permits enormous volumes of gas to be compressed into the liquid state in small wrought iron or steel cylinders, from which it may be fed slowly through burners. This quality promises to make it of the greatest possible value for floating buoys, and also for portable lamps, where there is no ordinary gas supply. In this way it would take the place of the illuminating product of petroleum, and thus offset the alleged exhaustion of the oil fields. In that event the value of the new discovery might be so grat as to be beyond computation.

Modern Missionary Work a Craze.

Certain modern crazes fall far below in what may be called the poetry of delusion—the dignity of hallucination—though one, at least, has an aura of nobleness, which, in some instances, redeems it from rank mischief. We mean the modern craze for missionary work in unlikely and unsympathetic countries, where the lives of the missionaries are in danger, where the converts they make are, for the most part, unredeemed scoundrels, and when the civilization of the people is older and more compact than our own, better suited to the needs of the people, and of the kind wherein morality, customs and religion are all as closely and inextricably interwined as the fibres of a plant. Separate them and you destroy the whole structure. But this argument has no effect on those whose craze it is to carry the Bible into the far East and so turn bad Buddists into worse Christians. Nor does it give them pause that by their rash action—self-sacrificing if you will, but none the less impertinent and meddlesome—they may create a war among the nations wherein thousands on thousands will be sacrificed. The missionary craze has no respect for ultimates, beyond that doubtful gain of inducing a Chinaman to repeat the Apostles' creed instead of chin-chinring Joss—of substituting for the Brahmin's belief in the genesis of man from the body of the god, the story of the clay figure and the abstracted rib. For all the misery and murder that may follow his tampering with established faiths—for all the unsatisfactory nature of the conversions he may make—he goes on in the old path, and shuts his eyes to the evil he so diligently effects. He is impelled by the craze of interference, and reason is as a dumb dog while he careers over the ground mounted on the hippogriff of an impracticable and a mischievous enthusiasm.—From "Cranks and Crazes," by Mrs. Lynn Linton, in North American Review for December.

Bridget's Want of Faith.

One of the first things the observant trained nurse does when a new patient enters the hospital and is put in bed is to place a delicately constructed thermometer under the sick one's tongue and get the temperature. A chambermaid from one of the downtown hotels was taken to one of the city hospitals not long ago and the above described operation was performed at once.

"What in the wurruld are yez doing that for?" she asked after the nurse got through.

"I'm merely taking your temperature," responded the maid with the muslin cap.

"Rats!" said the occupant of the sick couch. "How are yez going to tell by that little thing whether I've got a temper or not?"—Washington Star.

How He Wrote It.

"It's surprising," said Banks, "how often experienced writers for the press misquote familiar sayings."

"That's a fact," chimed in Rivers. "I remember the other day I wrote 'Whom the gods love they first destroy.' I meant, of course, 'Whom the gods would chasten they first'—no—'Whom the gods love die young'—that isn't right, either. 'Whom the gods would make mad they first'—or, rather, 'Whom the gods destroy they—they'—well, that's the way I wrote it, anyhow."

He Knew a Thing or Two.

Master (to cook)—You needn't say anything to your mistress, Jane; but have you a policeman for a sweetheart?

Cook (indignantly)—Certainly not, sir.

Master—Then you'll have to get one, or else leave. I want some one to eat up the cold mutton.—Pearson's Weekly.

Just That and Nothing More.

The conversation turned upon a speaker who was not particularly gifted.

"He has only three faults," said one of the company. "First, he reads his speeches; second, he reads them badly; third, they are not worth reading."—Geillustreerd Weekblad.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor,—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

To Broil a Fowl.

If the fowl ordered for roasting is found too old for this purpose it may be made tender and good by braising.

Prepare it as for roasting, trussing it into good shape. Cut into dice a carrot, turnip, onion and a stalk of celery. Cut them in a pot with a few slices of salt pork and on them place the fowl with a few pieces of salt pork laid over the breast. Add a bouquet of parsley, one bay leaf, three cloves, six pepper-corns, also a teaspoonful of salt and a pint of hot water.

Cover the pot closely and let simmer for three hours. If any steam escapes a little more water may have to be added. When done rub a little butter over the breast, dredge with flour and place in the oven for a few minutes to brown. Strain the liquor from the braising pot, season to taste and serve it as sauce with the chicken.

The Sugar in the Coffee.

People who really enjoy their cup of coffee say that sugar should always be put in the cup first, then the coffee poured over it. Too much boiling ruins the taste of any quality of coffee. An excellent cup of coffee can be made with cold water. As soon as it comes to a boil, take directly from the hottest portion of the stove.

Slipper for the Pastors.

Book covers, pin cushions, sofa pillows, photograph cases, whisk broom holders all make very acceptable Christmas presents. Remember, if you send a pair of slippers to your "beloved pastor," to have them made up. There isn't one in this town but has a trunkful of slipper uppers.

Rheumatism Runs Riot

When there is lactic acid in the blood, liniments and lotions will be of no permanent benefit. A cure can be accomplished only by neutralizing this acid and for this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine because Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25c

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

BRITISH SQUADRON AUGMENTED

Six More Warships to Join Her Pacific Fleet—The St. Petersburg Novosti Demands That the Dardanelles be Opened to Russian War Vessels.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—The Novoe Vremya publishes the following special despatch from Vladivostock:

"News comes from Yokohama that the English squadron in the Pacific is being augmented by six warships. At the same time a considerable increase is being made in the Japanese navy."

England and Japan are evidently preparing energetically to meet possible complications arising out of the Corean and Russo-Chinese understanding.

The Novosti says, on the subject of the alleged Russo-Turkish treaty:

"Russia can guarantee the existence of Turkey only if reform, such as the opening of the Dardanelles to Russian warships be offered. It is impossible to adduce any valid reason why Russia should be forced to lock up her fleet in the Black Sea. It is simply a policy of outrageous violence, to which Russia submits because she loves peace, but the prohibition is bound to disappear."

MOBBED AT PRETORIA.

Prisoners Attacked While on Their Way to Jail—Had to Run for Their Lives.

Cape Town, South Africa, Jan. 30.—A correspondent at Pretoria writes that the Reform Union prisoners were set upon in the streets of the Transvaal capital while on their way to the prison there. They were roughly treated and obliged to run to jail to escape being torn to pieces. One of the American prisoners, apparently John Hays Hammond, was flung down, trampled upon and bruised, amid the yells of the armed Boers. The aggressors were not arrested. The prisoners were allowed nothing more in jail than ordinary criminals are. The heat of the burning sun to men accustomed to luxury and the risk of typhoid fever from diack of sanitation were awful. They had to eat their food off the ground at first.

New York, Jan. 30.—Ballard Smith cables to The World from London:

The Pretoria jail, in which, unless released to-day, John Hays Hammond and four other leading men of Johannesburg are confined, is described as a wretched structure of red brick with a standing gallows always in plain view from the cell windows.

Mr. Werner, the head of the great diamond house of Werner, Beit & Co., whose partner, Lionel Phillips, is one of the five prisoners, tells me there is no danger of the death penalty being inflicted upon any of the accused, but thatunder the Transvaal laws almost any other penalty is possible.

Under a special law applying to "proclaimed mining lands," which applies to Johannesburg, and therefore to the accused, all their property may be confiscated in addition to any physical punishment.

Friends of the accused Americans warmly approve the suggestion that a United States warship be sent to Cape Town or Delagoa Bay, and that her captain be instructed to go to Pretoria and represent the American Government there.

Recent private advices from the Transvaal report that President Kruger and the other authorities are disposed to be much more severe with the Johannesburg civilians than at the time of the release of Dr. Jameson and his followers.

MR. MORLEY SAYS ARBITRATE.

The Ex-Chief Secretary Blames Both Salisbury and Cleveland

London, Jan. 30.—Right Hon. John Morley, who was chief Secretary for Ireland in Mr. Gladstone's last administration, and who was defeated at Newcastle-on-Tyne in the last general election for members of the House of Commons, to-day opened his campaign in the Montrose district, which was made vacant by the resignation of J. S. Will (Liberal). Mr. Morley addressed the electors at Arbroth and took occasion to the trouble between Great Britain and the United States. He contended that Lord Salisbury had blundered in seeming to question the Monroe doctrine, while on the other hand, President Cleveland had erred in making a claim that a self-respecting nation could not entertain. Mr. Modley denounced the jingoish vaunting of British strength, and declared that if ever there was a question that ought to be arbitrated, it was the Venezuelan boundary question.

BLOOD SPILLED IN CAPE BRETON

Free Fight at a Political Meeting Held by the Liberals Mr. Devlin the Chief Speaker.

French Vale, N.S., Jan. 30.—The first blood in the political campaign in the County of Cape Breton was drawn here to-day at a meeting addressed by C. R. Devlin and C. F. McIsaac, M.P.'s, which broke up in disorder. The place is 15 miles from North Sydney, and there are quite a number of old country French settlers here. During Mr. Devlin's French address Councillor Gillis, a leading Conservative, interrupted by saying, "Speak Her Majesty's language," a proposition which proved annoying to the French auditors. Mr. Devlin, however, paid no attention to the interrupter, and afterwards delivered a three-quarters of an hour attack in English on the Conservative Administration. When he was about concludin, Mr. Gillis again interrupted, which called for a rebuke from a Mr. Leclair. The latter is an elderly gentleman, but notwithstandin that, Mr. Gillis struck him a fierce blow. Leclair retaliated, and floored his man with a knock-out blow. Then the friends of each man took sides, and a free fight ensued, with the result that eyes were blackened, clothes torn and considerable blood spilled. There was only one lady present, and she took refuge behind Mr. Devlin, who stood his ground against the advice of his friends to fly for his life. As a matter of fact, he was the last one to leave the meeting.

Sir Charles at Louisburg.

Sydney, Jan. 30.—Sir Charles Tupper concluded his campaign, speaking at the historic town of Louisburg, this afternoon. He proceeded there from Glace Bay, where he returned this evening, to remain at Mr. McKeen's residnce until Saturday. He then goes to Sydney Mines to remain over election day. His speech to-day was shorter than usual, and he only touched upon subjects that he has gone into in his previous speeches.

Yes, Indeed.

"My dear, will you love me as much as ever when I'm dead?"

"I shall love you more."

Reason for Worry

"You ought not to worry so much about that boy every time he gets out of your sight," said the young man's father.

"It shows how thoughtless you are that you don't worry about him," was the maternal response.

"I don't see why."

"When you left home he was going to play football, wasn't he?"

"Yes."

"And his route takes him over two grade crossings."

"I believe it does."

"And the first thing he did when he got outside the door was to light a cigarette?"

"I saw it."

"And yet," she concluded, with a world of scorn in her voice, "you tell me not to worry about him."—Washington Star.

An Acquired Gift.

"I'm a victim of kleptomania, Your Honor," pleaded the prisoner. "I can't help stealing."

"Indeed," said the justice, with interest. "I've heard of such cases. Is your kleptomania a natural or acquired gift?"

"Acquired, Your Honor," replied the prisoner, thoughtlessly.

"I thought so. Ten dollars and costs. Call the next case."—Chicago Post.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE
OF PETERBOROUGH
COMING OUR WAY
ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

INCREASED DEFICIT.

A Total of Over Five Million Dollars.

MR. FOSTER'S FINANCIAL SHOWING

The Expenditure One of the Largest the Country Has Had—Debt Increased Nearly Seven Millions—Defence of the Increased Vote for the Militia.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—In the Commons this afternoon, after routine business, Mr. Foster rose to deliver the annual budget statement. He was loudly cheered from the Government benches. At the outset he reminded the House that the budget speech last year was delivered May 3, consequently he was better enabled to speak with accuracy as to financial results of the year than might be the case at this time. He estimated the revenue for the year at $33,300,000, believing that there would be a betterment between April 20 and June 30, over the corresponding period the preceding year, of $419,724. Sir Richard Cartwright had taken exception to the reliability of this estimate, but he was glad to say that the estimate was within the mark, the increase being $597,351. (Cheers.) The whole falling off in the revenue last year was $2,396,563. The exports exceeded the imports by $2,867,121, such an occurrence having taken place only once before since confederation. Whatever there might be in the balance of trade theory, the fact that the exports exceeded the imports was so much gain to the business interests of the country. ((Hear, hear.)

He proceeded to read a table showing on wat items the duty had fallen, the principal ones being iron and steel, spirits and wines, wool and manufactures thereof, and wood and manufactures thereof. The articles from which an increased duty had been obtained were chiefly sugars manufactures of cotton, arrowroot, biscuits, etc., and grain of all kinds. The excise showed a decrease in every item, with the exception of cigarets, the net decrease for the year being $584,865.

During last year the lowest consumption per capita of spirits, wines and liquors had been reached. The consumption of spirits per head was .656 gol'an. beer 3.471 gallons, wines .109 gallon per head, and tobacco 2.163 pounds per head of the people. Whether this decrease arose from reasons of economy or change in the ideas of the people, he was not prepared to say.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Or from successful smuggling?

Mr. Foster, continuing, said the total revenue was the smallest since 1885-86; the customs revenue was the smallest since 1879-80, and smaller by six and one-third millions than it was in 1889-90. The per capita rate of custom collection from 1874-75 to 1877-78 was $3.44 per head of the people. The custom collections in 1874-75 was $3.95 per head, and last year $3.52 per head. (Hear, hear.) That is, it was only eight cents greater than the average in the period of 1874-78 and 43 cents less than in 1874-75. (Cheers.) The excise was nearly twice what it was in 1879-80, and the per capita rate last year 27 cents more than the average for the period 1874-78. This taxation was of course, largely voluntary.

Coming to the expenditure for 1894-95 he had estimated the amount at $38,-300,000, the actual expenditure being $38,132,000, this being one of the largest the country had had. The average expenditure for the last eight years was $36,908,862, so that last year was considerably above the average. The charges on debt had of course largely increased during that period, and subsidies to the provinces also increased by $200,000. The deficit last year was $4,153,875. Looking at that deficit, it must be remembered that $2,002,311 was accounted for by the amount laid up in sinking fund, so that the real result of last year's operations so far as consolidated revenues and expenditure were concerned left a net deficit of $2,151,564. The deficit was less by $350,000 than he had anticipated. Adding to the deficit that of the previous year the total was $5,364,207. It should be remembered, however, that last year there was remitted to the people in taxation on sugar alone to the value of $5,475,000, so that had this money been collected it would have wiped out the deficits of the past two years, and have left a slight surplus of $160,000 or $200,000. (Cheers.)

Mr. Mills—Assuming that the importations were the same?

Mr. Foster—Certainly. Speaking of deficits, it was well to take into account the five-year period when hon. gentlemen opposite were in power. Possibly it might be timely to refresh the minds of the members on that point. From 1890-95, the period of hard times and depression, the net deficits were $1,617,932. From 1874 to '78 the net deficit was $5,491,314. (Ministerial cheers.) The Opposition might also be reminded that although their deficit amounted to five and a half million dollars, they remitted no taxation, but on the contrary, laid on extra taxation, while by the present Administration taxation had been remitted in sugar alone to the amount of $19,000,000. (Cheers.)

Continuing, Mr. Foster pointed out that the debt had increased last year by $6,891,897, the average increase from 1890 to 1895 being $2,296,214 per annum. During that period of five years there had been spent on capital account, on canals, the I.C.R. and the C.P.R., $16,992,301, and adding to that the railway subsidies amounting to $5,865,748, he thought the addition to the debt was fully justified. (Hear, hear.) In 1894-5 the per capita amount of interest paid on the debt was $1.83 per head, and in 1887-88 $1.99 per head; so that notwithstanding the increase in the debt, the burden fell less heavily last year than it did years ago. (Cheers.)

Dealing with the financial outlook for the current fiscal year, he estimated revenue and expenditure at $37,-000,000, or that they about balance each other. Taking into consideration that the period of world-wide depression was about over, and counting upon a small increase in the receipts for the balance of the present fiscal year over the same period last year, to balance the revenue and expenditure for the current fiscal year, he thought the time for deficits was about over, and the time for surpluses was fast approaching.

Sir Richard Cartwright—You count on an increase of revenue for the balance of the present year,

Mr. Foster—Yes. In regard to capital expenditure for the current fiscal year, he estimated it would be about $4,100,000. Providing that this estimate is carried out, and taking away the sinking fund of $2,070,000, there will be an increase to the debt during the current year of $2,000,000. With reference to the revenue and expenditures for 1896-97, owing to the distance of the period, he was unable to give any reliable estimate.

After pointing out that the total expenditure for the present year as shown in the estimates brought down was $33,750,000, he went into an explanation of the increases over the preceding year. The increase of $80,000 in the vote required for Indians was in the establishment and maintenance of schools. The increase of $30,000 in the vote for mounted police was to meet the expense incurred by the establishment of a post on the Yukon River, and to meet the added cost of placing there a detachment of mounted police so as to bring about the reign of law and order into force there.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Are we to have any supplementary estimates?

Mr. Foster—Yes, but not a large one.

Referring to the increase in the vote for the Postoffice Department, he said that the increasing demands upon that department, and the fact that now there was a deficit of about $800,000 between revenue and expenditure, made the time somewhat distant when a reduction might be expected on the rates of postage.

Speaking of the inscrase of $247,270 in the vote for militia, he said: "For a number of years only a portion of the active militia have been drilled each year, and this consequently left the whole force to be drilled only once in two years. There may have been the same necessity in preceding years for drilling the whole force as in this year, but recent events have brought the lesson a little closer and nearer home to us, and the Government has come to the decision that for the present, and we hope for each year after this, the rural militia will be called out for drill during each year. It is largely for this purpose that the increase of $247,270 has been made in the estimattes, although the appropriation also stands for better equipments and accoutrements for the militia force. No part of this sum, however, is to be devoted to the arming of the militia with new rifles, or for whatever else may be considered necesary to be done in the way of equipment and strengthening the defences of the country. For that a special credit will be asked for later, but the sum is too large to allow its being taken out of the consolidated revenue fund.

Now, we may be met by objections of two or three classes to an increased vote for this purpose at the present time. There is one class of people who affect to believe that any more than an ordinary expenditure upon the militia force of Canada at the present time might be interpreted to the disadvantage of Canada as regards its relations with the United States. There is another class of people, and I hope a small class, who do not think it worth while that the militia of this country should be put in that forward state of efficiency as they may believe that it would not be the worst of calamities if, after all, this country were quietly and peaceably to merge itself with the country to the south of us. The Government, however, does not believe with either of these small classes of people in our country. It does not believe that at the present time, and under present circumstances, it is the thing which is necessary and prudent to do. They take this step, not with any feeling of hostility to any country under the sun, not with any wish for war or bloodshed, but with the highest and strongest hopes for the continuation of the blessings of peace in the future which have been so long the lot of this country in its relations with the United States, and with other countries.

But I think we cannot forget that here we have a heritage the accumulated wealth of which is at present very large, and which in the future will be almost illimitable, that we have a country and institutions which are worth the sternest and strongest defence that can be given to them, and that the Government and Parliament would not be doing its duty to the great trust it has reposed in it if it refused or neglected to place into the hands of its citizens means of defence, adequate means of realstance to any armed invasion were it unfortunately to come upon us. More than that, by birth and adoptio, by the possession of ample freedom, by the long possession of good government, the people of this country, whether French or English-speaking, or if not all, at least a great majority, have their convictions continually formed and strengthened in the line of what I may call the centrifugal force which in this country, in Australia, in all the dependencies and colonies of Great Britain, is tending to marshal the outlying dependencies of the Empire around the centre of power and life. And if Canada is to become, as it must become, a very important member of that great unity, it is well that, in addition to all other sacrifices we have made, the other money we have spent to make Canada a strong part of the Empire, we shall also make an adequate provision for the equipment of our militia for the defence of our country, a provision which, while it is not open to the charge of extravagance, shall certainly go as far as is reasonable, and fulfil common sense demands for adequacy.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Are you prepared to state how much?

Mr. Foster—Not at present. That will be given before long.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Before the budget debate closes, I hope. The House should know it when discussing the statement of the debt of the country.

Mr. Foster—That does not at all follow. It has been the habit ever since this Parliament was, to bring down supplementary estimates, and the same will take place this year.

Sir Richard Cartwright—And a very bad habit, too.

Proceeding, Mr. Foster quoted figures to show that the Dominion had come through the commercial depression of 1890-91 and up to the present, most satisfactorily, trade, traffic, shipping, savings, etc., all showing increases, while there was a deficit of only a million and a half net, and during the same time the debt had increased but about 15 millions, despite a reduction in the tariff of raw sugar alone of nearly 19 millions. He also quoted statistics to show that during this period industries not only were maintained, but made advances, as was shown by the export returns. New industries were also established, such as iron smelting works at Hamilton, etc.

Referring to the condition of the farmer during this period, he showed that exports of wheat, cheese, and nearly all agricultural products increased. Not only did foreign trade in farm products increase, but the home market did. The farmer not only got the benefit of an extension of the market at home through the increase of population during the period, but he also took away from the American farmer Canadian trade that the American formerly held. In 1889-90 we imported 33,000,000 pounds of meats, while in 1894-95 we imported but six million pounds. The same was true of flour and other products. The mining trade emerged from the period of depression larger than when it entered, and Canada's credit was better than ever. There was hope at home, and prestige abroad.

He made a vigorous attack upon the Liberal charge that the Conservative party had placed very high taxes on the people. He admitted that there was a considerable increase in 1879, when the National Policy was inaugurated, such increase being made at the dictation of the people. Ever since, however, the Government had been sedulously careful of the interests of the people by watching that protection should only be reasonable. Moreover, the Government had remitted taxation of the people to a great extent. Tea and coffee and tin, articles of common use, were taxed by the Liberals, but in 1892 the Government struck the duties off, and from 1892 to 1895, over fifteen millions were saved in this way. The Government struck out bill stamps, a tax on business transactions, and postage on newspapers, and thus up to 1895 had saved to the people $3,387,000. In 1887 the duty on anthracite coal was removed, saving thereby up to 1895, $19,000,000. In 1895 a general reduction was made in the tariff, saving to the people over one and a half millions. Adding all together the Government had made reductions in taxation of $46,903,800. In 1895 the average of customs duties per head was $3.52, and in 1875, under Liberal rule, it was $3.95 per head. The item of free goods was constantly increasing. From 1874 to 1879 there was a decline of twenty-three millions in free goods, but from 1880 to 1895 the free list showed an increase of twenty-six and a half million dollars. (Cheers.)

He proceeded to explain the effect of the tariff reductions of two years ago, and read a statement showing the percentage of reductions in different articles. These reductions were made at a time of the greatest difficulty. Prices were low in every great manufacturing country of the world, and, despite this fact the Government gave to the great consuming class in the country the substantial advantage of remissions of taxation and the consequent cheapening of goods which took place. (Cheers.)

One other topic he desired to allude to. From 1878, when people by a large majority gave their verdict for a change in the fiscal policy of the country, the Liberal-Conservative party and the Liberal-Conservative policy had dominated Canada. (Cheers.) The Liberal-Conservative party's record of 17 years was before the country, and by that policy and record they are willing to be judged. (Cheers.) They desired to be judged upon the whole policy, and not upon particular parts which the Opposition might choose to pick out in order to suit their own convenience. (Hear, hear.) If the record of the Government was fairly looked at, the people of the country would come to the same conclusion at the next election as they did in 1878, in 1882, in 1887 and in 1891, and indicate their preference for the continuance of a reasonable measure of protection. (Cheers.) The policy of the past 17 years had been a vigorous one. Parliament had assented to propositions for extending internal communication. The record of the Liberal-Conservative party embraced the building and completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and of many miles of railway in different parts of the country. The canal system had been extended, and now the country was within two years of the

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1896.

THE World, a leading Conservative journal, thus refers to the leading Conservative journal, the Mail and Empire, under the suggestive heading of "Satan Rebuking Sin":—"The Mail made a reputation for itself as a strife-worker in the five years or more it devoted to creating and fostering religious and race hatred in this country. The Roman Catholics have not forgotten the thousands of columns of attack made upon them in its pages. Now it is engaged in rebuking Mr. Laurier for the same work." This was when the Mail was an assumedly independent journal, before it degenerated into a mere party hack, willing to do any sort of dirty work in the interests of the faction it represents, for it does not represent the decent element of the Conservative party, who know that its slander of the Liberal leader is gratuitious and pointless. Mr. Laurier's voice has been raised in favour of a peaceable solution of the troubles, which, if they have not created, the Government, have, by their tortuous policy, acutely intensified.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER may claim that he has taken a hand in Canadian politics at the unanimous request of the Conservative party of the Dominion, yet he is hand in glove with a "nest of traitors," a patch-work Cabinet that cannot command one word of commendation from a single respectable Canadian journal, but which on the contrary is credited with ruining the party. As to this the Toronto World, a stalwart Conservative Journal says:—"The Conservative party is being jollied along to the very brink of the precipice—like a reeling, tottering men in the hands of a blind guide. Hardly anything will save it from going over into the abyss!

Not one of the Conservative members at Ottawa has raised his voice in public to call a halt. Only the Conservative press has put in a protest, and this the fifteen men at Ottawa who profess to have the party's interests in charge, see fit to ignore. They see the Conservative party for the first time in its history without journalistic support in the great Province of Ontario. Not a single daily paper from the Detroit river to the Ottawa feels called upon to champion that ill-starred Remedial Bill. Even the renegade Mail refuses to take up the cause—unless a sufficient inducement is forthcoming."

Such talk as this is terrible, and that too at a time when the forces are being lined up in battle array. The party may be unanimous in calling on Sir Charles Tupper, but the press which is supposed to reflect Conservative opinion has not one good word to say of the aggregation of egregious incapables at Ottawa, by a monstrous stretch of courtesy, called a cabinet.

No. XLIX.

The Church and the Industrial Classes (No. 4)

Having reviewed the divisive tendencies connected with the rapid social and industrial changes of the 19th century, our author proceeds to consider the influence of the intellectual movement of the same period. This intellectual movement has been more influential amongst the industrial than amongst the leisured and professional classes. Foremost amongst the educational influences stands the newspaper. During the last half century "the penny morning and the half-penny evening newspapers" have been created, and the newspaper has ceased to be a mere news sheet or political organ, and becomes a medium for all sorts of intelligence—sporting and scientific, social and literary. The newspaper has become, as it were, a circulating national library, containing all kinds of stuff, good, bad and indifferent, always appetizing, though not always wholesome and refreshing. In the old chartist days newspapers were few, but they were filled with a serious purpose. Serious men read them, passed them from hand to hand, and seriously discussed their contents. Now, though many journals are high-toned, not a few are edited on the principle that they

and the pleasure they conceive is of no noble or generous order. There are society papers for the working as for the upper classes, and each is spiced with the sauce its readers most relish. Every forward movement has its drawbacks, because man is endowed with such gifts that he can misuse every advantage, yet with the poet we believe there is "progress in the main." And the extension to the industrial classes of education, with its corresponding intellectual expansion, has developed latent capacities in those classes which entitle them to the sincere admiration of all, and should afford a sufficient guarantee of yet further advance in all that is included in that comprehensive word—culture. The industrial classes have proved themselves to possess political capacity in a high degree. they have had statesmen and legislators of their own raising; their unions have exhibited as much organizing and administrative genius as could be found in any modern government. Those who have had any experience in the organization of churches, political parties, societies of any kind know how much foresight, tact patience and self control are required, to organize large numbers of men previously unaccustomed to organization; to weld them together into the strong associations of the present, has, no matter whether we approve or not, been one of the most remarkable achievements of the century.

Education again, has advanced by leaps and bounds. Free libraries and reading rooms now exist in many of our cities, and the day is not far distant when they will be universal. A special literature is growing up to meet the popular demands. Science ceases to be technical and becomes so simple that he who reads may run; history is cultivated by masters of literary style, travels are made as fascinating as fiction, and fiction is as full of accurate knowledge as if it were science. Men who once knew no story but the Pilgrim's Progress, now read Thackeray and Dickens, Walter Scott and George Eliot; or those whose only history book was the Old Testament now read Carlyle and Froude, Gardiner and Lackey; or those whose only poetry was Watts' or Wesley's Hymns, now study Tennyson or Browning, Clough and Matthew Arnold. And they cannot read these things without getting a certain largeness of view or a critical attitude that makes them impatient with anything that savours of a narrower and more unreasoning world."

Such are some of the phenomena of the intellectual development of the century. "Now," says our author, "has there been any correspondent change in what passes for religious education. On the contrary, may we not say that it stands where it did fifty years ago. Anything more fatuous than the policy of the religious communities on this matter it is hardly possible to conceive." This is strong language, and strong language generally provokes opposition. But (again we repeat so far as England is concerned) the author is as well qualified to speak as and he a man held in the highest esteem, not only by one denomination alone but by all, deliberately maintains that "What is called religious education is, to speak the blunt truth, often only a preparation for scepticism. Crude views of Biblical history crudely presented to a boy of fourteen, and then confusedly remembered by him when he has become a man, may be said to be material for the ideas as to religion and the Bible, which are discussed and destroyed by the sulphurous criticism of the secular hall and the free-thinking press." What then is our author's remedy? We regret that in stating this he has not entered into greater detail. But in regard to his general position we are in entire agreement. "Here," says he in an eloquent passage, "the most courageous is also the wisest policy . . . . the youth ought to be taken as far into the confidence of the scholar and the mind of the religious thinker as he is able to go; and as the mind grows instruction ought also to grow with the mind. And so far from being limited to the texts and catechetical formula that are the hope of our Philistinel school, board legislators, it ought to be made as many sided and comprehensive as religion itself, sympathetic to poetry, akin to art, related to history, bound up with philosophy, embedded in science. If religion could only be so taught, then the whole education of our people would become a discipline in the knowledge, whose end is piety, and whose inspiration is God."

We seem to catch in these words an echo of two famous texts: "Therefore having the first principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection," and "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I felt as a child, I thought as a child; now that I am become a man, I have put away childish things."

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere—This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure! Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

FORWARD MARCH!

After the Discoverer the Adventurer---After the Original the Imitation.

SUPREMACY PRESUPPOSES CHARACTER.

The True and Real—The False and the Doubtful Placed Side by Side—Resemblance May Deceive the Unwary.

The secret of the composition of Dodd's Kidney Pills has been strictly guarded, and to prevent the criminal use of this name it has been lawfully registered.

The paltry sales effected by imitators and counterfeiters is not our worry—it is to guard from disappointment those whose hopes have been built on the faith gathered as the result of the almost countless cures published by the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

It is an outrage almost infamous to cheat this hope of the afflicted and despairing sufferer, and the duty of defeating nefarious designs is the intention we are acting upon.

Sufferers from any form of kidney disease who have resolved, on the strength of the evidence furnished by us, to resort to legitimate kidney treatment, should never allow themselves to accept any substitute or imitation of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

There can be no advantage to you in buying other than the original and genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The very fact of a similar name, the fact that the substitute has the plea of being just as good, should arouse suspicion on the part of the buyer.

From the first line ever printed concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills, we have voiced but a single claim—"for kidney diseases only."

And to-day they stand on their merits supreme as a remedy for a single purpose, the perfection of kidney treatment.

Sold by all druggists and dealers, in boxes, at 50c., or where not obtainable, they will be sent by mail on receipt of the price. Address The Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont.

HEALTHY OUTLOOK FOR CHEESE

Although the volume of business for export has not been quite as large this week as last, the tone of the market is as firm as ever, and holders are confident. A shipper here stated that if as much business continues to be done in February as during the present month, supplies here will show such a marked shrinkage that England will find it difficult to satisfy her wants before the new production sets in, especially if it be true, as reported by English houses, that their home make will fall short, between 500,000 and 1,000,000 boxes. The highest figure so far paid on this market for finest Western cheese is 9½c, although 9⅝c was paid a few days ago for a very fine lot of Quebec goods. Summer goods are getting pretty well cleared off, sales being made of that class, showing a fine quality under the trier as September at 8⅞c to 9c. Summer cold storage cheese is also getting very scarce in New York. A further advance of 6d has taken place in the public cable for American cheese since our last report, the figure being now quoted at 46s for finest white and coloured; but of course sales have been made at above that price. The market here closes firm, with holders demanding 9⅝c to 9¾c for their finest fall western.—Trade Bulletin, Montreal.

A HAMILTON BAPTIST PREACHER

Joins with the Leading Members of the Faculty of McMaster Hall in Praise of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Every one who uses Dr. Agnews' Catarrhal Powder has a good word to say for it. In these columns a short time ago was quoted the favourable opinion of three members of the faculty of McMaster Hall, the great Baptist university. Of the same denomination is to be added to-day the hearty endorsement of this remedy by the Rev. G. Anderson the indefatigable and successful pastor of the Wentworth Baptist church, Hamilton. He has used this medicine, and does not hesitate to proclaim its good qualities. Just at this particular time of the year this remedy is doing a grand work in removing that dreaded trouble to many—Hay Fever.

One short puff of the breath through the blower supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use it relieves in ten minutes, and permanently cures Catarrh, Hay Fever, Colds, Headaches, Sore Throat, Tonsilitis and Deafness. 60 cents.

Sample bottle and blower sent on receipt of two 3-cent stamps.

SAFETY FOR OUR GIRLS

Paine's Celery Compound Makes New and Pure Blood, Strong Nerves, and Builds Up the Body.

MISS BOULANGER.

Medical men everywhere admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the best medicine for pale, weak and sickly girls. It builds up wasted tissues, makes pure blood, and produces strong nerves, enabling girls to reach healthy and perfect womanhood.

Mrs. Boulanger, of St. Henry, Montreal, saved her daughter's life by having her use Paine's Celery Compound at a most critical time. The young lady is now one of the healthiest, brightest and most attractive girls of the town. Her mother writes thus about the wonderful cure:

"My daughter, aged 17 years, has for a long time been in a weak state of health, so much so, that she was not able to do any work about the house, and often was unable to comb her own hair; this has been the case for some years, and I feared she would never be strong.

"I was induced to have her use Paine's Celery Compound. She has used two bottles and is now a different girl. She is not only able to wait on herself, but often does the whole of the housework, and promises to be as strong as a girl of her age should be.

INCREASED DEFICIT.

completion of 14-foot navigation on the great lakes to the sea. And not only that, but the Government had taken measures for making this country independent of any foreign state by the building of the great Soo Canal. (Cheers.)

The Liberals had opposed every every measure of progress propounded by the Government, and had sneered at efforts to extend communication with other parts of the world. Take the line subsidized to the West Indies, which Mr. Laurier and his friends had opposed. Eight years ago our trade with the West Indian Islands aggregated $4,000,000; to-day it aggregated eight and a half millions. —(Cheers)—or an increase of 112 per cent. With China and Japan, by the aid given by Canada and the Mother Land, our trade now amounted to $2,800,000, as compared with the beggarly average of three quarters of a million when the Liberals were in power. (Cheers.) So with regard to the Australian line, uniting the colonies of Australia and Canada in a common effort to support this service, and resulting ultimately in the institution of the Colonial Conference, the outcome of whose deliberations here is that the British Government proposes to give 75,000 pounds per year for ten years to co-operate in building up a great line of communication from Sydney to Canada and Liverpool. (Cheers.) So, therefore, in the line of steamship communication the Government could boast of a vigorous and consistent policy with splendid results. (Cheers.)

Coming now to industrial establishments and the expansion of the industrial life of this country, everyone knows what immense advances have been made in the past 17 years. (Hear, hear.) But, to make the comparison more impressive, he would take the past ten years, which included the census decade. In that time there had been an increase of 25,844 establishments, or an increase of 51 per cent.; of capital invested, an increase amounting to $183,534,194, equal to 114 per cent. (Cheers.) The number of employes had increased by 112,930, or 44 per cent. The wages paid increased by $40,320,000, or 68 per cent. The raw material employed increased by over $76,000,000, or 42 per cent, while the product of manufactures increased by the immense sum of $165,000,000, or 53 1-2 per cent. That comparison did not include the increase between 1879 and 118, or between 1891 and 1895. It might suit the purposes of the Opposition to laugh at these figures, but the same policy existed and the same Government was in power when the whole census was taken, and if one part was reliable the other part sought to be taken was approximately reliable as well. (Hear, hear.) Was there any reason for a change now? Was there anything in the record of the past 17 years to show why the policy should be changed for some other? There was none. Hon. gentlemen opposite were men of different political faith, so far as the tariff was concerned. (Ministerial cheers.) They had advocated commercial union; they had advocated unrestricted reciprocity, and their latest fad was free trade as in England. (Laughter.) Only the other day Sir Richard Cartwright had pinned his faith to what he had written in The Economist five years ago, when he said that free trade with the United States was of greater moment to this country than free trade with any other portion of the world.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Hear, hear.

Yes, continued Mr. Foster, the hon. gentleman knows that free trade with the United States means discrimination against the rest of the world. (Hear, hear.) He asked again why any change should be made in the present fiscal system. If the people in 1879 thought it necessary that our industries should have the vantage ground of a protective tariff in order to build up the country, and stand up against foreign competition, there was greater reason than ever that that policy should be continued. (Cheers.) competition with the outside world had not decreased, but had increased. The United States had a 40 per cent. tariff, and now a Republican House of Representatives had sent a bill to the Senate to still further raise the tariff. All other nations were backing up industries by tariffs.

He proceeded to show the immense possibilities of developing the resources of Canada and the Empire, and showed what the Dominion is capable of in the way of providing food for the Mother Land. In a recent article in The Nineteenth Century the question had been discussed whether the empire could feed itself. Why, sir, if statesmanship is not able practically to solve that question, statesmanship must find it impossible to solve any of the great questions which from time to time present themselves for solution. The empire able to feed itself, yes! The writer said 100,000,000 bushels of wheat were necessary to England, other than what the colonies afforded her at the present time, in order to feed the people of the empire there. One hundred million bushels of wheat! Why, fifty thousand Canadian farmers with 100 acres each in wheat, and raising thirty bushels to the acre, would produce 150,000,000 bushels of wheat for export to Great Britain. (Chers.) And, what is fifty thousand farmers cultivating five million of acres compared to the numbers of millions of acres of good wheat land in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories which has not yet been scratched by the plough? Meats to the amount of one hundred and forty millions of pounds would have to be supplied by the colonies to make up for the deficiency already supplied, and which England consumes. Why, cattle, and horses, and pigs in illimitable quantity could be raised in this country. And as to butter and cheese, fifty thousand farmers, owning fifty cows each, or 2,500,000 cows in all, would supply butter and cheese enough to meet the surplus of what is required in Great Britain. And with the vast lands of the Northwest, that is not an estimate which cannot be reached if means are taken by which it could be reached. No, sir, I might go on to amplify this. The surer which is necessary for the consumption of Great Britain could be supplied by the West Indies and by the East Indies. By cultivation of the cane which, by going out of disuse, is impoverishing the planters and laborers, the East and West Indies might again have their period of progress and of remunerative protection. So all the way through, it is a problem which only requires time and good statesmanship to solve, and, as I said before, it is for Canada, it is for Australia it is for the other colonies of Great Britain and for Great Britain herself, to ponder seriously and carefully, wether or not an arrangement cannot be come to which will make the empire and its dependencies sufficient within themselves to feed the empire, and by doing that will add to the force of business, and will add to remunerative production in each. (Cheers.) And what is better and greater than all that, sir, it will make these outlying dependencies of Britain and Britain itself, having common interest of trade and common defence, it will make them strong and united to begin that race of Imperial rule and Imperial progress which I believe is in store for the Briton in Canada, the Britain in Australia, the Briton in Asia, the Briton in Africa and the Briton in the isles of the sea. (Prolonged cheers.)

The Minister spoke two hours and ten minutes.

Sir Richard Cartwright.

After recess Sir Richard Cartwright replied. He declared that no other country was more unfit than Canada to try the experiment of protection. He held that its vast area and sparse settlement, and its geographical position, cut it off from every market but that to the south. He denied that exports showed any really appreciable increase. Most of the exports were of articles such as wooden goods, which, he held, should not be placed to the credit of the Government in a country so especially favorably situated with respect to these goods as Canada was. Canada last year exported one million dollars' worth of household goods, and these were settlers' effects. He charged that Canada was altogether over-governed and declared there should be a halt in the extravagant course of the Government. He said the Conservatives vaunted about their love for England, but how did they show it? They imposed high duties on manufactured goods, and England, being the greatest producer of manufactured than any other country. In 1874 under the Liberals, the imports from Britain were 63 millions, but in 1895, under the Conservatives, they were only 31 millions. He held that the slow increase in population proved that something was wrong. The soil, the men, and everything else about Canada itself were good, and therefore, the very bad condition it was in must be due to the possession of a remarkably bad Government.

Sir Richard did not take up the budget speech in detail, but, after speaking one hour moved the adjournment of the debate in order that he might deal further with the subject at the next sitting of the House.

The House went into committee on Mr. Sproule's bill to prevent adulteration of honey. Some progress was made, and the House adjourned at 10 p.m.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE
OF PETERBOROUGH
COMING OUR WAY
ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

Maltine With Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Consumption, Colds and Bronchitis.

No objections can be urged against the generally acknowledged remedial properties of pure cod liver oil beyond its tendency to upset the stomach and impair the appetite, and fortunately even this drawback is overcome in the preparation Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. This oil is rendered palatable and of easy digestion, the appetite is improved and the hypophosphites are of great service in pulmonary affections and in wasting diseases generally. Maltine, too, is unique, not only for its nutritive value, but by reason of its energetic action upon starchy foods, throwing into circulation a largely augmented supply of nutrition available for the replacement of the waste. A trial will convince all of its efficacy.

When they get the chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear coverments, should rememebr that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. The best men in the land wear these scientific coverments for no other reason than protection to the head. These goods are known throughout the land, and need no recommendation. THE LOCAL E. B. A. GIVES A BANQUET.

THE GRAND PRESIDENT DOWN FOR THE AFFAIR.

Mr. Bert Giroux was to Have Been Presented With a Handsome Pin, but Was Unable to be Present.

Preparations have been going on for some time in local E. B. A. circles for the fitting reception of Mr. D. A. Carey, the Grand President of the Order in Canada. The hall was most artistically decorated for the occasion with bunting and evergreens, and when the Grand President arrived on Thursday evening he was most warmly greeted.

After a few words of introduction by Mr. J. Daly, who occupied the chair, Mr. D. A. Carey stepped forward, and in a few graceful words expressed his gratitude for the kind invitation the local branch had extended him, and the pleasure he felt in complying with it. He related the circumstances which gave birth to the Emerald organization in Reading, Pa., and gave an exhaustive history of its growth and expansion from its origin to the present. He dwelt at some length on the utility of such organizations and the manifold benefits to be derived from active membership therein.

In the Emerald and kindred organizations persons who were wholly unknown to each other were brought together, closer and more intimate acquaintanceships were formed, brotherly feelings were cultivated, Christian charity was promoted, and mutual advice and assistance were given to enable fellow members with the contradictions of the world, and avoid the many pitfalls which impede their journey through life. He instanced here the great good which is being accomplished in this regard by the ladies' branches in the city of Toronto. Many young women lived in Toronto whose parents and relatives resided elsewhere, not unfrequently in Europe. These young women found themselves lonely and friendless, but when they entered the ladies' branches of the E.B.A. they found many there ready and anxious to assist them and thereby lighten for them the burdens of this life. Mr. Carey passed on to speak on the mental culture which active membership in such organizations provides for the person who profits by the opportunities. Active membership in any organization necessitates a close study of the constitution, accurate exercise of judgment in its interpretation, and calm and prudent deliberation to amend it to meet the requirements of changing circumstances. Many facilities were also afforded to practice extempore speaking. In these and manifold other ways the mind was trained in these societies, and the speaker attributed any fluency which he now possessed in public speaking to his active work in the meeting hall of the E.B.A in the city of Toronto. He spoke at considerable length on of the society, emphasizing the necessity of providing for the contingency of illness and the support of the family in case of premature removal from this world. Not the least, however, was the moral and religious good operated through such organizations as the E.B.A. The constitution was pre-eminently Christian in expression and sentiment, and had received the approbation of the most eminent members of the Catholic Hierarchy. It was founded on the principles of faith, hope and charity, and consequently, though all its members must be practical Catholics, it knows no distinction of nationality, and its constitution does not breathe a single sentiment of atagonism to any church, to any political party, or to any other benevolent organization. It is founded on charity. Charity is love of mankind and hence no word of antipathy to others is uttered in its meeting hall.

TO BATTLE SUCCESSFULLY

The speaker closed a most eloquent address by appealing to his auditors to consider the benefits which would certainly accrue to them should they join societies of this kind, and urged all to consider the advantages which the E. B. A. held out to its members and hoped the local branch would continue to increase and prosper.

Mr. A. J. Gough, expressed the appreciation of Mr. Casey's remarks by the audience, and moved a to the speaker, which was heartily carried.

VOTE OF THANKS

The Grand President was also highly complimented by Rev. Father Scollard, on the nature of the address.

During the evening a most excellent programme was furnished by Miss Maggie Butler, Mr. D. Gordon, Mr. James Brown, Mr. D. Simons. Mr. Thos. Begley and Mr. Charles Podger, the latter of Lindsay.

Afterwards the members and their friends adjourned to Welsh's restaurant, on Hunter street, where an oyster supper was partaken of.

Mr. Thos. Cahill, honorary member of the order, occupied the chair, and when the banquet was well under way an impromptu toast list was carried out, speeches being made by Mr. Cahill, Mr. J. Daly, President of Branch No. 21; Messrs. Chas. Podger and George Nottingham, of Branch No. 31, Lindsay; W. J. Devlin, Wm. Rudkins, Joseph Begley, James Bogue and D. A. Carey.

The idea of holding the reception and banquet originated with the desire of the Branch to make some recognition of the services of Mr. Bert Giroux, financial secretary, during the year, and it was the intention to present him with an address and a pin, but a sudden call away from town frustrated the intention of the members. The presentation will take place at the next regular meeting of the branch.

The Sting Within.

It is said there is a rankling thorn in every heart, and yet that none would exchange their own for that of another. Be that as it may, the sting arising from the heart of a corn is real enough, and in this land of tight boots a very common complaint also. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a never failing remedy for this kind of heartache, as you can easily prove if afflicted. Cheap, sure, painless.

Foolish Prejudices.

How does it happen that so many ladies are so very careful about dresses and bonnets, and neglect the head dress? It is because they are prejudiced against artificial hair? Ladies of the most exalted positions in the land are wearing Prof. Dorenwend's manufactured goods. They are beautiful and attractive and give a charming appearance to the face. Throw aside your false notions of propriety, and examine the Professor's elegant lines of Wigs, Switches, Braids and Wavy Fronts, etc. Read the advertisement in another column.—Remember Huffman House, Peterborough, Wed. CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—On my return to town after a day or two's absence, I read your article upon the Children's Aid Society, calling attention to the manner in which the law afforded its protection to its wards, and commending very warmly the work of the Society. With all you said in regard to the great work being done I heartily agree; but I feel disposed to dissent from the remark that the society is doing a work that the church has failed to do. From my personal knowledge I know that the church, irrespective of creed, is actively concerned in promoting the work of the society.

Yours, very truly,

JUSTICE.

We are very glad that our commendation of the work of the Children's Aid Society has received the approval of our correspondent, who we know is earnestly concerned in the advancement of its interests. But he entirely misunderstands our meaning, if he drew the inference from our remarks that the church showed any lack of interest in the Children's Aid Society; for no one could so mistake the situation. We recognize that the work of the society is nobly carried on in Peterborough by the efforts of workers in its cause, who are also noted as earnest workers in the respective ranks of the several churches, which, without distinction of creed, are largely and effectively represented in the Children's Aid Society. The idea we intended to convey—though it may not have been explicitly enough expressed, was this, that the church, speaking broadly, has no specific organization, nor special equipment such as is possessed by the Children's Aid Society for the carrying out of its mission of rescue from, and consequent prevention of, crime or, at least, vicious living. But one that for a moment reflects cannot but recognize the fact that behind all the efficient work of the society is the grand influence of the church; practically all its workers are church members, whose hearts have been touched with the sacred form of charity of whose warmth the work in behalf of the children is a natural consequence, by the teaching of the church. Going back to just causes, none of the many forms of the noble work with which the age abounds exists, that is not founded upon and buttressed by Christianity, as represented by the church. The Children's Aid Society is endowed with special equipment for its work by statute, but Christian sympathy and Christian charity give it effect—legislation furnishes the machinery, the church furnishes practically the motive power that operates it.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 58 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Were wise cooks in their day and they knew the virtues of using Cream Tartar and Soda in their baking. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Mr. A. L. Hogg, who has been renewing old friendships in town, after an absence of fourteen years, left last evening, via Peterborough, for Chicago.—Lindsay Post.

Mr. George Crowe, who has been in Ashville, South Carolina, for the benefit of his health, for the last few months, has returned to town looking considerably improved.

The Lindsay Post says:—Mrs. Wm. Workman, of the north ward, returned home last Wednesday, after spending a two weeks' visit with her sister in Peterborough.

Mr. J. H. Gratz, of the tandem pair known as Gratz and McCall, who were in Peterborough last year pacing Harley Davidson, is again in town. He is the agent for a wheel firm.

Mr. W. J. Witham, Inspector York County Loan and Savings Co., is in town in the interests of that institution, and may be seen at the office of the local superintendant, Mr. A. A. Cutting, 352 Water street.

Miss Maggie Calcutt handsomely entertained "The Willing Workers," a society of young ladies in connection with St. Luke's church, to tea at her residence the other evening, after which a pleasant sleigh drive took place about the village and town.

Sergt-Major Firth, who for some time past has connected with the 13th (Winnipeg) Field Battery, left to-day for Peterborough, Ont., where he will in future reside. Mr. Firth leaves a large circle of friends behind who sincerely regret his departure, while at the same time, of course, they wish him the success he is well entitled to in his new field.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mawhenny, of Holland, Manitoba, are visiting with relatives in town and Mount Pleasant. Mr. Mr. Mawhenny's father was, for a number of years, the member for the constituency of Lakeside, Marquette district, and has been a resident of Manitoba for 28 years. He has made farming a success in Holland, which is a growing town on the line of the C.P.R., about 85 miles from Winnipeg, and lays claims to being one of the gardens of the province. Mr. Mawhenny reports the farmers hopeful, the season having been a favourable one. He has two brothers-in-law in town—Mr. G. W. Green, pump and fanning mill manufacturer, and Mr. G. D. Denny, on the staff of the South Ward School. Mr. and Mrs. Mawhenny return to Holland next week.

SONS OF CANADA GRAND CARNIVAL.

IT WAS A SUCCESS FROM EVERY STANDPOINT.

There Were Almost a Thousand Spectators in Attendance Last Evening at the First of the Series and Everyone Was Delighted.

The first carnival of the season was held at the rink last night, under the auspices of the Sons of Canada. It was far in advance of any of those held last year, as only those wearing genuine costumes were allowed upon the ice, dozens of darkies and tramps being barred out. Although this decree diminished the number of skaters on the ice, still the pleasure of the spectators was greatly enhanced by the enforcement of this new rule and the management will reap the benefit of it at the next carnival, when many who did not care to expend time and money on getting up pretty costumes will do so when they find that there will be a general rivalry for the prizes amongst the skaters and that the carnival is conducted in a manner to encourage them.

The costumes, last night, were very pretty indeed, the ladies, especially, appearing to have vied with one another in getting up most beautiful effects in gauge and spangles.

Mephisto was there, as usual, and was seen to be exercising his smiles on fairies, new women and Columbines, as the fancy took him. Handsomely attired knights of the 16th century devoted themselves to "fair graduates," and Miss Sumner glided about over the ice supremely unconscious of her violation of the laws of nature. A huge twelve foot figure paraded the rink, walking on his hands and waving his feet in the air, exulting over the recent victories of the Liberals in the by-elections. Sprightly little fairies, all a glitter with tulle and stars, coquetted with gallant British tars, whilst scores of couples brilliantly attired, but most incongruously mated, deported themselves on the ice to the inspiring strains of the Fire Brigade Band.

At nine o'clock the masks were removed after the ballots had been cast by the spectators for their favourite characters. The voting resulted in the awarding of prizes as appended:

A NEW "FAKE" ON FARMERS.

"Cheek" Appeals for Charity and Converts it Into Cash.

A resident of Ashburnham has struck a new line of exercising his wits at the expense of others and to his own advantage. Last Tuesday a man drawing a single sleigh with a 12 foot hay rack called on a respected farmer in Ennismore with a pitiful tale of hard times. He represented that he had a "horse and rig," but was unable to purchase fodder for his horse. If he had fodder he could get work to make a living. He pleaded his cause so eloquently and so moved the spirit of charity of the farmer that the latter sold him a load of straw—1,200 lbs—worth $4 50 at the barn and two bushels of oats—50 cents—for $3, and felt so much pity for the unfortunate that if the latter has asked for a small load of straw for nothing he would have given it him. But the most interesting part of the story remains; when the farmer came upon the market, Wednesday, he found his unfortunate friend in the act of selling the load of straw. He had had it weighed on the market scales, and its weight was 1200 pounds. He was offered $5.50 for it, but he was holding it up for $6.00, which he got. Thus he made a pretty good thing out of his venture, a clear profit of $3,00, not counting the 50 cents worth of oats—pretty good return for the capital invested—simply a large amount of unmitigated "cheek." After inquiring it was found that this enterprising gentleman had played a similar game upon about a score of farmers. He even had the "gall" to call next day, after being at the market, and with the same story, upon the father of the man he had operated on the day efore but his game was known and he failed in his mission. He was not at all discouraged, but drove on to the next concession where he worked his straw-"rack-et" upon another farmer. These incidents require no comment. Words would fail to do them justice.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Rheumatism of 20 years' standing radically cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Sarah Browning, an estimable resident of the Ambitious City, was for twenty years a sufferer from acute rheumatism, and her restoration to health is so remarkable that we present the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom are doubtless sufferers from this painful complaint which arises from blood poison. Mrs. Browning says: "I used only one bottle of Scott's Sarsaparilla and received such benefit that I continued taking only at intervals for two months. That is seven months ago, and the pain has not returned. I had spent a fortune in various "treatments" and was told by one medical man that a cure was impossible as I had suffered so long."

Scott's Sarsaparilla cures by making and keeping the blood pure. It increases flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods. It is the most successful medicine in the world to-day, for dyspepsia, nervous troubles, rheumatism, sciatica, syphilitic afflictions, pimples and all diseases originating in a foul condition of the blood. Dose from one half to one teaspoonful.

A LIGHT KEEPER'S STORY.

HIS WIFE WAS A FEARFUL SUFFERER FROM RHEUMATISM.

Her Joints Were Swollen and Distorted, Her Nights Almost Sleepless and Her Appetite Gone — Suffered for Several Years Before Relief Was Found.

From the Kingston News.

Mr. Hugh McLaren, lighthouse keeper on Wolfe Island, is one of the best known men in this section, and to his vigilance in the performance of his duties is due the safety of the many crafts sailing in that part of the St. Lawrence. Mrs. McLaren, his wife, has been an invalid for a number of years, and in conversation with a reporter recently, Mr. McLaren stated that she was rapidly regaining her old-time health under the treatment of that most marvellous of modern medicines — Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Asked if he had any objections to giving the particulars, Mr. McLaren replied that emphatically he had not if such publication was likely to benefit any other sufferer. He said: "A number of years ago my wife contracted rheumatism, and for a considerable time was a helpless invalid. Her joints were swollen and distorted; her nights were sleepless and her appetite poor and very fickle. During those years she experienced excruciating tortures, the pain never ceasing day or night. She had the benefit of skilled medical advice, but the treatment afforded no relief, and we began to fear that her trouble had gone beyond human aid. On a number of occasions I had read in the papers of cases of rheumatism being cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this at last determined us to give them a trial. She had used some three boxes before any improvement was noticed; and then we began to note that she slept better and that her appetite was improved. Then the pains gradually began to subside, and after using about a dozen boxes she was able to get up and walk about. She continued the use of the pills for a while longer, and although occasionally she feels twinges of the trouble in changeable weather, she now enjoys better health than she has done for years, and can sleep as soundly as ever she did in her life, while her appetite never was better. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a wonderful medicine, for I know they have done wonders in my wife's case, and I feel certain that if any who are afflicted as she was will give them a good trial, equally happy results will follow, and I therefore give this testimony freely, hoping that it will benefit some other sufferer.

Mr. McLaren's strong testimony proves the claim made that Dr. William's Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail, and that they deserve to rank as the greatest discovery of modern medical science. The public should always be on their guard against imitations and substitutes, which some unscrupulous dealers for the sake of extra profit, urge upon purchasers. There is no other remedy "just the same as" or "just as good" as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the genuine always have the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box.

SALISBURY REPLIES

To the Remarks of Mr. Morley at Arbroath.

THE DESPATCH SENT TO MR. OLNEY

Was in Support of the Monroe Doctrine — Understood by Mr. Monroe—Only Military Occupation Would Have Been Effectual in Turkey.

London, Jan. 31.—Prime Minister Salisbury delivered a speech here to-night, in the course of which he rebutted the statements made on Thursday night by Mr. John Morley to the electors at Arbroath concerning the Monroe doctrine. Mr. Morley said that Lord Salisbury had blundered in seeming to question the Monroe doctrine, and if there ever was a question that should be arbitrated it was the Venezuelan boundary question.

Lord Salisbury said to-night that although the doctrine formed no part of international law, his despatch to Secretary of State Olney supported it as a rule of policy as strongly and distinctly as possible, but in the form in which President Monroe himself understood it.

The Prime Minister expressed sympathy with the Armenians, but denied that Great Britain was under an obligation to declare war against the Sultan of Turkey in order to compel him to govern justly, and cited the treaties in proof of his contention. He ascribed the atrocities to the passions of race and creed. He believed that the Sultan's government was wretched and impotent, but there was no ground for imagining that the Sultan had instigated the massacres. It might be asked why Europe did not interfere. He could only answer for England. She had lacked the power to do the only thing necessary to end the troubles, namely, to militarily occupy Turkish provinces. None of the powers wished so to ocupy them.

Lord Salisbury concurred in the belief that the only authority, albeit it was an evil one in that country, was the prestige of the Sultan's name. Patience must be exercised and His Majesty must be given time to enforce the reforms he had promised. He remarked upon the gradual return of order in Anatolia during the last few weeks, although he admitted that these signs should not be trusted too much. He concluded by declaring that if Great Britain did not co-operate with the other powers she must act against them, which would lead to a calamity far more awful than the Armenian massacres.

Tornado and Flood Visit the Colony—Heavy Loss of Life—Property Loss of $7,500,000.

Brisbane, Queensland, Jan. 31.—Great loss of life and very large destruction of property has been caused in the northern part of this colony by a tornado and floods. It is impossible as yet to tell how many persons lost their lives, but it is known that great numbers were drowned. The damage to property is estimated at $2,500,000. Several coasting vessels are missing and it is believed that they have felther foundered or been driven ashore and thatt all laboard of them were lost. Townsville, a seaport on Cleveland Bay, suffered more than any other place in the districts affected. There is scarcely a building in the town that escaped damage.

Advices from the Tonga Islands show that a hurricane lately passed over them. Two ships at Tongataboo Island were wrecked and the thousands of cocoanut trees on the plantations were torn up by the roots, causing heavy loss to their owners.

THE McCORD CASE

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond, Jan. 20, (Special).—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said:—"After the doctors pronounced my trouble Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old and have lived here 40 years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price, 50 cents a box.

Not to His Taste.

Mr. H. is the coroner in a thriving town not a thousand miles from Washington, and he frequently runs in to put in a day with his friends at the capital. Saturday night he dropped in at an up-town cafe, and in a private room found a couple of friends seated at a small table.

"Join us in a glass of claret," said one.

"Claret is not just the drink for my business," replied H.

"How's that?" asked his friend.

"No body in it," said H.

The Safest of Risks.

After moving a large stock of goods into a building in the wholesale district the owners learned that they could get no insurance.

The building was on the "black list" of the insurance companies, because one of the tenants had already burned out four times under suspicious circumstances, and, apparently, with pecuniary profit to himself.

It was, therefore, impossibe for this tenant to get insurance from any company, and the boycott went so far as to include any building that harbored him or his stock of goods.

The business concern that had moved into the "blacklisted" building was much disturbed. The head of the firm went to an insurance agent and said: "I wish you could arrange it some way to insure our stock."

"I'm sorry," replied the agent, "but the companies have no confidence in the man on the floor above."

"He can't get insurance, eh?"

"Not a cent's worth. They're onto him all along the line."

"Well, do you think there's any danger of a fire in that building as long as he's not insured?"

"Well, I should say not. I never thought of that before."

"I'm very unfortunate," said the young artist.

"You are deficient in one important quality," replied his candid friend.

"What is that?"

"Tact. When Mr. Greesem came to see you about a portrait, you never stopped to think he made his fortune out of a lucky streak in kerosene."

"Never."

"And you told him he ought to have his picture done in oil, and he didn't leave his order."

"That's so."

"And when Mr. Skimker, who has prospered as a dairyman, called at your studio you rushed from Scylla to Charybdis and advised him to be done up in water colors. You're a good painter, my boy, but what you need is discretion."—Washington Star.

There is more than sentiment in the saying of Sir Walter Raleigh to his executioner, "What matters it about the bead if the heart is right?" The trouble is that in this high pressure age the heart is seldom kept right. By careful estimate it is calculated that one weak or diseased heart. Think for a moment the important work that the persons out of every four or five has a heart has to perform, and it is not difficult to realize what a derangement even to a slight extent, of this organ means. Dr. Agnew's cure for the heart is a cure for heart troubles and nothing else. It is a mistake to suppose that remedies that are given out as panaceas for all the ills that flesh is heir to can effectively cure heart disease. Within 30 minutes after taking the first dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the heart relief is secured, and eventually complete restoration is effected,—Sold by H. S. Madconald.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable, an allegory. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined? Yes, and realized.

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures. The sufferings from an outside, visible hurt, are a mere pin-scratch to the torments of a diseased liver.

But, moderns are ahead of the ancients. There is a sequel to the old story. Dr. Pierce is the author. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. Every atom of the "Discovery" is an active agent against disease. It flies like a ferret, wherever it is sent. It is as sure as the needle of the compass. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self.

Mr. W. Rogers, of 507 Grayson St., Louisville, Ky. has this to say for himself and the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I was a dyspeptic. I had not had a comfortable night in six years. I have taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am now fifty years old. I feel thirty years younger." Yours truly.

INDIAN CONJURORS.

A Chicago Occulist Relates Two Wonderful Performances He Witnessed.

A Chicago occulist has returned from a nine months' investigation of the tricks performed by the conjurers of India, says the New York Herald. "The most remarkable exhibition of these yokis," he says, "was an example of what is sometimes called levitation. Four sabers were thrust into the ground, with their sharp points up. After two yokis had made passes before his face and apparently hypnotized a man, perfectly nude, they placed him on the points of the sabers. He rested on them, unsupported by anything else, for perhaps two minutes. Then the yokis lifted his body about a foot above the swords, removed their hands, and he remained suspended in the air for fully a minute.

"Then, at a signal from one of the fakirs, his feet descended and his head arose until his body was perpindicular, and he stood erect on the ground, and then woke up. While his body was suspended in the air I passed under it and satisfied myself that there was absolutely no support. I know exactly how Hermann and Kellar perform their feats in levitation, but this was not done in the same way.

"Another thing which I could not understand was done by a fakir and a boy of fourteen years, the latter being stripped of all clothing. From a spool the fakir unwound about thirty feet of thread, coiled it, and then cut it up into pieces of about seven or eight inches long. These he rolled into a ball and gave the boy, who swallowed them. A minute later the fakir made a small incision in the boy's left side, cutting through the skin, and then pricked around with a pin until he had extracted the end of the thread. With my own fingers I then pulled out, through the skin of that boy, about three feet of thread. Then I asked the fakir to pull out the rest of it, and did pull out about twenty-seven feet more. Before he made the incision in the boy's side I examined the place carefully, and there was no lump or indication of anything being under the skin. When the thread was withdrawn there was no sign of the place where it came from.

The Cry of the Beggars.

The cry of the beggars, true or false, will never cease; advancing civilization and wealth tend rather to increase it. The cry appeals to instinctive sympathy; and, whether true or false, demands attention to ascertain the truth, and imperatively to prevent destitution. It is the primary duty of every man (says Sir Frederick Eden, in his celebrated "State of the Poor,") according to his ability, to relieve his fellow creatures in distress, by the dictates of humanity, and of Christianity, and for the political interests of the commonwealth in rescuing citizenship from incapacity. In the last of these two considerations Pericles asserted that there should be no poor in Athstate supply, and relegated labor to ens. The Civis Atheniensis demanded slaves.

Neither the rigid discipline of ancient Sparta, nor the independence of modern America could obliterate the stigma of craving want. The question is now how to stifle, or get rid of the beggar's cry, but how best to deal with it.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Ltd. Proprietors, Montreal.

To find employment for the unemployed, or to legislate sufficient wages are schemes which experience has exploded. To defy economic laws, and argue that they should not be, is only to paralyze exertion, and staunch the capital which might sustain it.

The beggar's cry represents God's own demand for men's mutual service. The first claim it makes is on private charity, and those who withhold any means they have to meet it will find a Nemesis in ultimate account when present beggars will be begged by them for a drop of water, and when those who had pity will be repaid a thousand-fold.—From "How London Deals With Beggars," by the Rt. Hon. Lord Norton, President of the Mendicancy Society, in North American Review for December.

Morbid Sensitiveness.

Did it ever occur to you in forcible, emphatic fashion that we are largely the victims of our imagination, and that, through its agency we lose much of the true beauty of life?

Love would not be love without its vague imagining, now of supernal blessedness, and now of demoniacal torments. A look, a word, will do it all—a look given in entire unconsciousness—a word that meant nothing but its first simple and self-evident meaning. But the vague imagining of the lover takes this quite unconscious expression of eye or of speech, and turns it into a thousand shapes, twists from it a thousand meanings it never had outside of the region of fancy. We fall out and make up again for things as light as air and with not so much substance as a cloud. And that we have created the whole procession of causes why we should feel so and so, and make ourves happy or unhappy in consequence—created it all out of our own imagination—is a doctrine of lies to which we give no heed. Vague imaginings are responsible for many of our tempers, and we "fly" for a thing that does not exist. We thought it did and acted on the thought, which was to us as solid as knowledge and fact. Then the poor delinquent of our vague imagining explains with tears of disdain—hotly or calmly, as the case may be: and we have to eat our leek of wrath and the humble pie of contrition as the sole reality in the whole affair.—Exchange.

A Wise Minister.

The potentate was plainly agitated. "My couriers," said he in an angry tone to his Minister of War, "informs me that all is in readiness to squelch the rebels who have dared to question our authority, and yet I find you delaying the advance. If I thought there were any treachery——"

"Have patience, oh Brother of the Sun and Boss of the Moon," replied the minister, in the tone of one who was sure of his ground. "We are but waiting for them to get out a set of postage stamps, which we will rush in and seize, and by the sale of them pay the whole expense of the war."

"Verily," said the admiring monarch "thou hast a head like a tack."—Indianapolis Journal.

Catarrh in the Head

Is due to impure blood and cannot be cured with local applications. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured hundreds of catarrh because it purifies the blood and in this way removes the cause of the disease. It also builds up the system and prevents attacks of pneumonia, diphtheria and typhoid fever.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with everyone who tries them. 25c.

The Forge of the Future.

In the opinion of a writer in the Mechanical News, the forge of the future will consist of a lead-lined glass or porcelain vase filled with cold acidulated water. This will be connected with the positive pole of a dynamo. The apparatus will be rendered complete by a pair of tongs connected with the negative conductor, the handles being insulated. In working, the smith seizes the piece of iron to be heated with the insulated tongs and plunges it into the bath of sour water. In a remarkably short time the iron rises to a white heat. So rapid, indeed, is the heating by this means that the water, and the portion of iron not immersed in the water, are but slightly warmed. The principle involved is simple, the resistance to the electric current producing the light and heat. It is found that enormous heat can be produced by such a method, much greater in fact than is necessary to extract iron from the most refractory ores.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

unfortunate

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run down; then is the prudent time to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

A substitute only imitates the original.

Furs are a Necessity, and you cannot gain anything by waiting later to buy them, as our prices are as low as they will be in March. Then why not buy now and have the comfort as well as the assurance of good health, during the changeable winter weather?

Our stock of Furs is extra fine and extra well assorted for this season of the year and the prices are extremely low.

Come in some time soon, whether you want to buy or not and let us show you our goods. We'll convince you of the truth of our statements.

WISE WOMEN!

Two Opinions Freely Given.

Wise women always use Diamond Dyes when the work of home dyeing begins. The majority of women know that Diamond Dyes produce the richest, strongest and most brilliant colours. Two users of Diamond Dyes freely give their opinions.

Mrs. A. Chittick, Windsor, N.S., says: "Have used Diamond Dyes for over two years and find them ahead of all others; they are the best for producing clear and lovely colours."

Mrs. Jas. H. Coulter, Neepawa, Man., says: "I have always much pleasure in using Diamond Dyes; I think they are grand, and always make old things look like new."

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

For cool gall it would be hard to find an equal for the sporting editor of the Kingston Whig. In commenting on the season's hockey, he says.—"In the junior series these teams may be looked upon as the winners: Group I, Peterborough; II, Victorias, Kingston; III, Granites, Toronto; IV, Berlin. The final match will, it is expected, be contested by the Granites, of Toronto, and the Victorias of this city."

The Victorias should be satisfied with their luck in getting into the semi-finals, without aspiring to the finals. Kingston city has never yet held the junior Championship.

A Kingston exchange says: "It was intended to have the final match in Group II of the Junior Series between the Victorias and the Limestones played to-night, but as some members of the last named teams are employed in banks, and as the end of the month is at hand bringing to them extra work, these members will be obliged to work to night, and therefore will not be able to play the match as scheduled. Monday night has been set for the contest, which will be a keen one, as quite a rivalry exists between the teams. The last time these young whirlwinds met they put up a surprisingly fast game, but the meeting on Monday will be even swifter."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. E. J. Hartley is billed to give an exhibition of fancy skating at the carnival to be held at Lindsay Friday evening next. Mr. Hartley is also engaged to give several other exhibitions through Central and Eastern Ontario, the next few weeks.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common Sense Medical Adviser, profusely illustrated.

"MY DAD'S THE ENGINEER."

The Latest Song—Have you Heard it?

The very latest popular song is "My Dad's the Engineer," and a copy (with words and music, full sheet music size) worth 50c., will be forwarded to any of our readers who will mention this paper, and send 5c. in stamps to Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. This firm, who have had such great success with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, Ointment, Catarrh Cure and Linseed and Turpentine, also Scott's Sarsaparilla, have just printed over half a million large, six page papers, containing interesting stories, reading matter and good music. The popular song "You Can't Play in Our Yard" is printed with words and music in full. A free copy of this valuable paper will be sent to anyone sending for "My Dad's the Engineer."

Parents Must Have Rest.

A President of one of our Colleges says "We spent many sleepless nights in consequence of our children suffering from colds, but this never occurs now: We use Scott's Emulsion and it quickly relieves pulmonary troubles."

Rev. J. Van Wyck of Hamilton, Pastor of Gore Street Methodist Church, Visits one of His Congregation, Mrs. Clarkson, Wife of the Manager of the Star Oil Company, and Writes Mrs. Ryckman Particulars Bearing upon Her Case of Bright's Disease.

Hamilton, Jan. 24th, 1896.

Mr. Ryckman,

DEAR SIR,—I have been conversing this day with Mrs. E. Clarkson, 138 Hannah street east this city, who claims to have received a great benefit from the use of the Kootenay Cure which is sold so generally by you at the present time. Her special trouble was Bright's Disease and was of nine years' standing. It was so pronounced by two physicians. While she does not claim to be completely cured, having taken only four bottles of the remedy, yet she feels so much better that she does not hesitate to recommend its use to anyone afflicted as she has been. The pains in her head have entirely ceased, and almost from the back. The complexion wears the glow of health, and the puffed appearance is gone from the face. She has increased nine pounds in weight in two months, and is thereby encouraged to believe that what has so improved her physical condition will ultimately accomplish a complete cure.

J. Gage, Chief Justice Meredith, Geo. A. Cox, Hon. G. W. Ross, Edward Gurney, Hugh Blain, D. E. Thomson, Dr. N.A. The petition relating to the Independent Order of Foresters' bill was up before the Standing Orders Committee to-day. One clause proposes to give the order power to hold property worth $500,000 instead of $100,000, as now. It was discovered that the requirements of the law as regards notice had not been complied with; accordingly this clause did not pass, but Dr. Oronhyatekha will try to have ot restored before the Private Bills Committee. The other clause permitting insurance as high as $5000 passed through.

John S. Ewart, Q.C., of Winnipeg, counsel for the Roman Catholic minority, has arrived here to watch the progress of the Remedial Bill.

HAIR HAIR

PROF. DORENWEND is Coming

It is contrary to nature that the head should be bald. Let that be fully understood. Is it not a fact that many ladies and gentlemen do not wear artificial hair for no other reason than prejudice. Unfortunately there has been a marked increase of late in baldness and gray hair, and the result is the loss of an attractive and refined appearance. MANY LADIES have the wretched habit of crimping and curling their own hair instead of buying an article according to the style. The result is they ruin their hair and when new styles come in they are unable to follow them.

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co. Ltd., of Toronto, has for thirty years demonstrated the beautifying effects of wearing his hair goods. Thousands of THE BEST LADIES and gentlemen of Canada and the United States are wearing his articles to-day. In many cases the manufactured article is more becoming than the natural growth, and not even an expert can detect that the hair is artificial.

The Professor carries an immense stock of Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees (half wigs), Bangs, Wavy Fronts, Switches, Braids, Etc., in every form, shade and quality. All can be pleased. Cast aside Denunciation of Hell-Inspired Hypocrites.

LETTER FROM BISHOP CAMERON

Remedial Legislation Opponents Condemned—Sir Charles Tupper's Promises—Rev. Father Quinan and Other Ministers Speak to Their Congregations.

Sydney, C.B., Feb. 2.—Bishop Cameron of Antigonish, whose jurisdiction extends over this county, has issued a pastoral letter to the priests in Cape Breton County on the Manitoba school question. Your correspondent was able this evening to secure the most important part of it, the unpublished portion being the instructions regarding the issuance of its contents. The following is the first section: "A great wrong has been done for the past five years to the Catholic minority of Manitoba, a wrong entailing a most serious pecuniary loss to the sufferers as well as jeopardizing the salvation of countless souls; a wrong which, if not abated, may sooner or later be inflicted on the Catholic minorities of other provinces in a more or less cruel degree. And yet we meet the appalling spectacle of multitudes of men, who are loud in their praise of liberty and justice, and religion, arrayed against remedial legislation, the only available means under the constitution of redressing that wrong, and then doing all they can to perpetuate a monster evil, subversive of religion, justice and liberty, in order to attain their own selfish ends in defiance of God. And to our shame, among these hell-inspired hypocrites, Catholics are to be found, not a few, who will vote against justice being done to their sorely oppressed coreligionists, and who, to add insult to injury, will move for a commission of investigation instead of remedial legislation, a commission pronounced to be 'the hollowest sham' by the most competent of living judges of the subject."

Considerable excitement has been caused by the publication of a letter showing that steps were on foot to influence the people of Gabarus, a fishing village, in favor of the Government by holding out hopes of the construction of a breakwater and the extension of the lobster fishing season. The Liberals have taken steps to warn the people against paying any attention to a promise which has been made before and is still unfulfilled.

To-day, as on last Sunday, the Roman Catholic clergy made announcements favoring the election of Sir Charles Tupper, in view of his stand on the Manitoba school question. A few Protestant clergymen made some remarks of a different character. At the conclusion of divine service in the Church of the Sacred Heart (Roman Catholic) this morning, Rev. Father Quinan, when he had removed his vestments and stepped down to the rail, asked his congregation to remain seated, as he wished to speak to them. He first referred to a rumor that was circulated about Sydney that he on last Sunday had prayed for Sir Charles Tupper, and the efforts he made to interview the author, which, failing to do, he was led to the conclusion that the story was started by some wag. He proposed to-day to speak to them on the coming election, but in order that there should be no misconception of what he had to say he had committed it to writing and would read if from manuscript. Before doing so, however, he maintained the right of the clergy to advise his flock on political matters, in that connection drawing a distinction between the priest and the pastor. He said he had given a great deal of consideration to the Manitoba school question, and to the policy of both political parties on it, and drew conclusions unfavorable to the position of Mr. Laurier. Turning to his manuscript Father Quinan read the statement that on Tuesday next they would be called upon to elect a man to represent them in the House of Commons. Besides the man there was a question of immeasurable import to them, as Catholics. The Manitoba school question, he said, was their question as well. The rights of the minority in Manitoba should be as sacred to them, although thousands of miles from the scene, as if their own rights had been interfered with. There were times, even in Sydney's own affairs, when a Mayor was decapitated because he had the courage to assist the Catholics in procuring public aid and recognition for convent schools. Returning to the Manitoba school difficulty, he said: "Sir Charles Tupper will settle the question. We have his word for it." He also said he had heard Sir Hibbert Tupper, and looked into his eyes when he said it, pledge his word to redress the grievance of the minority in Manitoba, and concluded by saying that their religious interests should be dearer to them than their political interests. In the course of his extempore comments he animadverted very strongly on the alleged criticism of the Catholic priests by a public man, evidently referring to Mr. C. R. Devlin, as reported in The Halifax Herald. Speaking to your correspondent afterwards, a member of the congregation said the rev. gentleman was imposed upon by The Herald correspondent, as the words attributed to Mr. Devlin were incorrect. Mr. Devlin, the gentleman said, made no harsh criticism of the words or actions of any priest. On the contrary, he spoke in flattering terms of them. When Rev. Father Quinan was reading the statement referred to above, a prominent member of the congregation rose to his feet to address the speaker, but was asked to be seated, as the rev. gentleman would not submit to any questions or interruptions. At Little Pres d'Or Father McPherson spoke for an hour to his parishioners, strongly supporting the Government on the school question.

Rev. J. D. Forbes, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this morning, told his congregation to vote in accordance with the dictates of their conscience.

In the Methodist Church Rev. E. David Hickey, in his prayer, hoped that his people would put down corrupt and unclean government, and that the best of feeling would prevail.

Italy Thrown on the Breiband.

London, Feb. 2.—The Times will tomorrow publish a despatch from Rome saying that Great Britain has referred to France for her approval Italy's request that she be allowed passage for her troops through Zeila, on the Somali coast. This, the despatch adds, is unbearable. Italy is now thrown more than ever on the Triple Alliance.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE.

Philadelphia Visited by the Worst Conflagration in Years

Philadelphia, Feb. 2.—The fiercest, most stubborn and most destructive fire that has visited Philadelphia in years, broke out at 3.20 this morning in the Cellar of the Hazeltine buildings, 1416 and 1418 Chestnut-street, and before it had been subdued, the Hazeltine buildings and the American Baptist Publication Society's building, at 1420 and 1422 Chestnut-street, were destroyed, the drygoods store of Homer Le Boutillier & Co., 1412 and 1414 Chestnut-street, was badly damaged and the rear of the hotel, La Fayette, which faced on Broad-street, was damaged to the extent of $75,000. The approximate total loss by the fire is $1,000,000, the greater part of which is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is not known. Eight or nine firemen were injured by falling bricks, but none of them was dangerously hurt.

BLAZE AT BRAMPTON.

The Establishment of Mr. E. O. Runians Got a Bad Scorching.

Brampton, Feb. 1.—At 11 o'clock tonight the citizens were intensely alarmed at the cry of fire, which was soon located in the work room of E. O. Runians, general merchant, situated in the largest block in Brampton, known as the Green Building. The fire was confined mainly to the work room, but about $15,000 damage was done to the stock by water and smoke, and the building also will require to be overhauled.

The insurance companies interested, with amount carried by each, are, as far as can be ascertained to-night, given below: British American, $8000; Wellington Mutual, $1500; Alliance, $1000; Gore Mutual, $3500, Waterloo, $3000; Hand-in-Hand, $1000; Perth Mutual, $7000; Guardian, $5000; Western, $10,000. Mr. Runians presented the firemen with 12 rubber coats for their heroic work.

Firebugs at Gananoque.

Gananoque, Feb. 1.—The skating rink on Gorden-street here was burned down last night. The building was owned by C. E. Britton. Insurance in British America Company, $1400. Recently it had been used by a livery stable keeper named D. J. Lloyd as a store room for vehicles, etc., not in use. Lloyd's loss is about $1200, with no insurance. The presumption is strong that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

TO MAKE PIG IRON.

Hamilton Smelting Works Ready to Begin Operations—Girl Killed With a Snowball.

Hamilton, Feb. 2.—The difficulties in getting into working order a concern the magnitude of a smelting works having been successfully overcome, the Hamilton Iron and Steel Company is now in a position to turn out pig iron, and to-morrow the first blast will take place; and the company has the proud distinction of being practically the first manufacturers of pig iron in Ontario. This fact will be suitably brought to bear upon the mind of everyone interested in the development of the Canadian mines in general, and the consumer of iron in particular, as the company will extend invitations to prominent members of both Governments and foundrymen to be present when the furnaces are working full blast. The process which the crude material from the mines goes through in its transformation into the marketable commodity of pig iron will no doubt be witnessed by a large number of people from various parts of the province.

A Reported Fatal Railway Wreck.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Feb. 1.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Big Four Railroad, a mile north of Hardentown, at 8 o'clock this morning. One car left the track near No. 1 bridge. The engine passed over, but 31 cars crashed through the bridge, which gave way, plunging the cars into the creek below. Michael Keiger was taken out with one foot torn off at the ankle. It is supposed eight tramps were killed, but it is impossible to reach them on account of the debris.

HYAMS TWINS GONE.

Departed From Toronto Yesterday on a Special Train.

LEFT THE COUNTRY IN QUICK TIME

They Put Up $750 Cash Each and Were Set Free—Took a Grand Trunk Train and Were Out of Canada in Two Hours Mr. Wellman With Them.

Toronto, Feb. 3.

Harry Place Hyams and Dallas Theodore Hyams were yesterday admitted to bail in the sum of $750 cash each, and were allowed their liberty.

They were released at 12.25 p.m. and, accompanied by Mr. Wellman, drove in a hack direct to the Union Station. Mr. Johnston followed in a coupe and the twins and their American lawyer left on a special train, presumably bound for New York.

Much curiosity was aroused when the twins were brought from the jail to Police Headquarters on Saturday afternoon. They came in a hack, accompanied by Detective Cuddy. No one seemed to know why they had been transferred until about 4 p.m., when Magistrate Miller was summoned and asked to admit the prisoners to bail. Crown Attorney Curry objected to this step being taken until word was received from Montreal that the charge against Harry in that city had been settled.

Accordingly Mr. Miller refused to execute the bail bond until receiving a notification from the Montreal authorities. Lawyer Horn of the defence set out for Montreal on the first train, where he arranged the matter there by getting Harry released in $100 bail. High Constable Bissonette officially confirmed this by telegram, the message being received shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday. Crown Attorney Curry, E. F.B. Johnston, Q.C., and F.L. Wellman, the New York lawyer, immediately proceeded to Police Headquarters, where they were met by Magistrate Miller, who signed the order of deliverance, and the twins breathed the air of freedom for the first time since their arrest last February on a charge of murdering Willie Wells to obtain the insurance on his life.

The Crown Attorney and the lawyers for the defence would say nothing of the arrangement that led to the release of the twins, but it was learned on good authority that it was the outcome of a conference between the Attorney-General and Messrs. Johnston and Wellman on Saturday morning. The attorneys for the defence evidently were sanguine of securing the release of the prisoners on Saturday, as it had been arranged that they would stay over night at the house on Munro-street, from which the prisoners have been receiving their meals since their incarceration at the jail. Of course they will not appear again to answer the charges against them, and their bail will be estreated.

The charge against the notorious brothers in Jersey City has evidently been patched up, as it is understood that Mr. Wellman will give the twins safe conduct to New York, from which city they will go to the home of their mother in the Southern States.

The departure of the twins enacts the last chapter of the greatest murder trial that Canada ever had. The prosecution spent some $18,000 in endeavoring to secure a conviction, while the defence must have spent in the neighborhood of $100,000. At the conclusion of the second hearing of the great murder trial, the expenses of defence were estimated at $78,000.

It is not likely that the Hyamses will ever be seen in Canada again, and their sudden departure yesterday was hailed with pleasure by the local authorities. Should they ever return to this country, they will in all likelihood be arraigned on the charges still remaining against them.

A special despatch from Niagara Falls, says: A special passenger train arrived here on the Grand Trunk Railway at 3 o'clock this afternoon, shrouded in mystery. No one seemed to know who its occupants were, even the trainmen were not aware of who the special party were; outside of them the only individual aboard, that was recognized here, was the Canadian passenger agent of the N.Y.C., J. J. McCarthy, who refused to give any information. The train consisted of baggage car and coach, and immediately upon its arrival here, was hustled across the bridge to the N.Y.C. depot, on the American side, where an engine was in waiting and started off at full speed towards Buffalo. Upon further enquiry it was learned that the train had aboard Harry and Dallas Hyams, with their counsel, Mr. Wellman of New York. It is said the party landed the train outside of the Union depot, Toronto, and, after getting aboard the twins changed their entire clothing, discarding the old ones. The trip from Toronto here was made in two hours. Their destination could not be ascertained.

EIGHT KILLED, SIXTY WOUNDED

Collapse of a Church in France During the Celebration of Mass.

Paris, Feb. 2.—A terrible accident, resulting in the killing of eight persons and the wounding of 60 occurred to-day at Manievrier, a village near Angers, in the Department of Maine-et-Loire. The accident was due to the collapse of the village church, in which mass was being celebrated. The structure was comfortably filled, most of the worshippers being women and children. Suddenly the walls began to sway, and before all the congregation could get outside they fell. The roof descended upon the struggling throng beneath, and it is surprising that no more than eight persons were killed. The condition of some of the injured is so serious that it is feared they will die.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Wedding bells were merrily ringing on January 29th, at the residence of Joseph Lowes, first concession of Emily. The occasion was the marriage of his daughter, Miss Gertie, to Mr. Herbert McLean, of our village. The bride was ably assisted by her sister, Miss Annie, while Mr. Walter McLean filled, with credit, the position of groomsman. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. The Rev. J. N. Tanner, of Omemee, officiated. A very appetising dinner was done justice to. The young benedicts left by C. P. R. train for Toronto and other western points. The presents to the bride, though numerically small, were of choice and useful character and marked the esteem in which she is held. May sunshine ever gladden the home of the new initiates of Hymendom!

Mrs. Sam Casey delighted her husband the other day—it's a girl.

Mr. Wm. Preston was delighted recently too—he has a brand new baby girl.

Mr. Sam. English, proprietor of our hotel will move out soon, after a 6 months term. He goes to Omemee. The brilliancy seems to fade from our corporation star.

Messrs. Preston and Handley assume control of our foundry lately managed by Mr. J. J. Saddler, of Toronto. We wish them success in their enterprise.

GALWAY.

From our own Correspondent.

Good sleighing. The farmers of this section are busily engaged hauling wood and tan-bark to the village.

Mr. John McGann, formerly teacher of S. S. No. 4, Galway, has gone to Dorset, where he intends to teach school.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Maurice Hickey, of this place, who has been laid up for some time with a severe cut on his hand, is speedily recovering.

Misses A. Barr and B. Foley have rented two large rooms in Mr. M. Mansfield's brick block, where they have commenced dressmaking.

Miss Kate Allen, of Swamp Lake, has been living in Kinmount for some time, visiting her parents and friends.

Mr. John Allen, jr., who had been home for a few days, has returned to the woods again.

Mr. Jas. Mansfield and Miss M. Doherty were the guests of Mr. Jas. Allen, Sunday.

Mr. Thos. R. White, of Silver Lake, who has had a severe attack of la grippe, is recovering.

Miss Mary A. Allen, clerk in M. Mansfield's store, who has been home for the past two weeks with a severe felon on her hand, is speedily recovering, and it is to be hoped will soon be able to return to her situation.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen, to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

Mr. Foster's Budget Speech Weak and Unsatisfactory.

WHOLE MONTH WASTED IN WAITING

Parliamentary Inaction—Some Details in Regard to the Budget—Difficulties Which Beset the Government in Regard to the Vexatious Remedial Bill.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—It is a month to-day since Parliament assembled "for the despatch of business," as the royal proclamation has it, and the records fail to show a hand's turn of business. Nothing has been done—absolutely nothing. If Parliament had been summoned last week it would be about as far ahead as it is now. There is not a single Government order on the paper save the pro forma one of supply. No Government measure has been introduced. Mr. Foster has asked the House to go into Committee of Supply on the estimates for the year ending June 30, 1897, but he has been unable to bring down the remainder of the estimates for the current year, ending June 30, 1896. He acknowledged that he has more estimates for this year, but they are not ready. Nothing is ready, the demand for money always excepted. No wonder even the Ministerial benches were empty when Mr. Foster rose on Friday to deliver his budget. Nothing could prove the lack of interest in any business outside of the school question better than the unprecedented fact that Government supporters refused to even come into the House for the budget. There were more Liberals than Conservatives present, and even the colleagues of the Minister of Finance absented themselves. Mr. Daly and Mr. Costigan alone remained. The Minister of Public Works said there was not enough life left in this Parliament to deal with a question of mileage, and it is true that ten times the force in the voting of supplies. Every allowance must therefore be made for the depressed effect of Mr. Foster's budget. If anyone can make the best of a bad case, it is Mr. Foster, but this time the case of the Government was so bad that even Mr. Foster's great rhetorical skill could put no gloss on it. The Citizen, the Government organ here, remarked on Saturday morning that the conditions of the speech were more difficult than usual, and added: "The Finance Minister had to announce, coincidently, with a loss of revenue and a deficit for last year owing to decreased trade, an increase in estimated expenditure for next year and an addition to the public debt." Mr. Foster had tacitly to do more than this. He had to admit that the National Policy had failed to build up an export trade, had failed to stop imports, and consequently had failed to furnish a "home market"; and it had failed even to appreciably increase the exports of manufactured goods; that while increasing taxation it had failed to provide a revenue; that there was a deficit of over $4,000,000 on addition to the debt of over $6,000,000, and a prospective increase of debt for 1897 by $2,000,000; that it had kept out and driven out population; that the revenue from Dominion lands was paltry and declining; that the interest on the public debt was millions larger; that the expenditure had practically got beyond his control, and that the revenue was insufficient to meet it except in the best of times, when money was most plentiful. All these and many other admissions are to be found in Mr. Foster's speech. The most remarkable admission of all was that the burdens of the people were so heavy under the National Policy that they had since 1883 been relieved of $46,000,000 of taxes. Blessed Government! so generous to the people, and ungrateful people to be oblivious to these blessings. But the hard-hearted and hard-headed people ask this little question of the Finance Minister: If you have remitted all these taxes, put $46,000,000 into our pockets as you say, how is it that our customs taxes are as high as ever and our excise taxes 50 per cent. higher? Taxes in 1878 were $17,841,000; in 1895 they were $25,446,000. Mr. Foster thought he would at least prove that the tariff revision of 1894 had reduced the taxes, so he read a list of reductions, a list thrown as a sop to the powerful public opinion aroused by the Liberals, which forced the Government to make a pretence of reducing the taxes, but he did not read a list of the increases, nor did he note the fact that the net results of that revision is to give an average rate on dutiable goods for 1895 of 30.6 per cent., as compared with 30.03 per cent. before the revision. The fact is that any reductions made in the tariff have been mainly for the benefit of a particular few. Mr. Foster's list of reductions included such articles as plumbago, mucilage esential oils, skates, paraffine, wax, sandpaper, soy, flaxseed, perfumed soap, sugar candy, spirits of turpentine, varnish, elastic webbing, picture frames and other articles of a kind not of great concern to the farmers and poor people of this country. Mr. Foster, in 1894 increased the taxes on tallow candles, oatmeal, roofing slates, hats and caps, screws, table knives, knitted goods, carpets and mats, window shades, ready-made woolen clothing and other articles more familiar to the people. The main point is that on the great mass of articles entering into comon consumption the duty was not changed, so that the reason for the agitation against the tariff, which culminated in 1893, still exists.

The remedial bill makes slow progress. There is no draughtsman in the Cabinet capable of constructing the clause to cover the point. Of course the points are difficult. A whole Cabinet of lawyers could not draft a bill which is going to re-establish Catholic schools under Catholic control and at the same time provide for a state of efficiency satisfactory to the State. The money question and the taxing question are insurmountable difficulties. There is no way of compelling the Legislature to grant money to the Ouimet-Haggart schools, and it is a problem how the bill can provide machinery for the collection of taxes for the support of these schools.

The bill will, on the statement of a Minister to-day, be introduced next week.

SILVER MEN TRIUMPH.

The Senate Finance Committee's Amendment to the House Bond Bill Goes Through at Last.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The long struggle in the Senate over the question of free coinage of silver terminated at 3 p.m. to-day in a victory for the friends of silver. The great fight was over the Finance Committee's substitute to the House bond bill.

The title of the bill was changed so as to make it read, "To restore the coinage of silver dollars and for other purposes." All the sections of the House bill are struck out, and instead of them the bill provides that the mints shall be open to the coinage of silver, and that 412 1-2 grains troy of standard silver shall be coined upon the same terms and subject to the same limitations as regulate the coinage and legal tender quality of gold. It also directs the coinage of that portion of the silver bullion in the Treasury that represents the seigniorage, such silver dollars to be used in the payment of the current expenses of the Government. It forbids the issue of national bank notes of denominations less than $10, and it directs the redemption of greenbacks and of the Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890, in standard silver dollars, or in gold coin, at the option of the Treasury Department, and their re-issue as under existing law. The bill now goes to the House for concurrence in the substitute, and the next move after the House refuses to concur will be the appointment of a conference committee.

The substitute for the House Bond Bill, which the Senate yesterday adopted, is described as a Free Coinage Bill.

The bill provides that from the date of the act the mints of the United States shall be open to the coinage of silver, and the dollar shall be of the present weight and fineness, and also provides for the issuance of silver certificates. It further provides for the coinage of the seigniorage now in the Treasury, and authorizes the immediate issue of certificates upon the same in advance of it being carried. One section of the bill provides that no bank note of less than ten dollars shall hereafter be issued, and those outstanding of less amount shall be taken up and cancelled as rapidly as possible.

Section 4 provides that the greenbacks and treasury notes shall be redeemed in standard silver dollars, or in gold coin, at the option of the Treasury, and the greenbacks when so redeemed shall be immediately re-issued.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

Correspondents of New York Newspapers Give Their Ideas for American Readers.

New York, Feb. 2.—The London correspondent of The Sun cables:

It would be difficult to overstate the disappointment and chagrin with which even Lord Salisbury's friends have received his speech of yesterday.

The Chronicle does not hesitate to say that the Prime Minister's speech is "the most amazing utterance that ever came from the lips of a governor of a great empire at a crisis of its fortunes." It adds: "It will deepen the feeling of distrust with which his conduct of foreign affairs on at least two great questions is coming to be regarded, not only in the United Kingdom, but throughout the world."

The Daily News uses this strong language in describing the Premier's words on Armenia: "He told all whom it might concern, including the Sultan, that in his opinion as Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary, this country is in no way bound to protect the Armenians against their oppressors. The little monster who gloats in Constantinople over the butcheries, and worse than butcheries, which he orders and rewards, will receive this announcement as glad tidings of great joy. It will come as a last message of death, misery and despair to those Armenians who have not yet suffered death by torture for worshipping Christ. Unless we are much mistaken, it will be read with inexpressible shame and disgust by thousands of decent men and women in England.

"Let us suppose for a moment what Lord Salisbury said was true, and that we had no concern with Armenia. At least we might abstain from encouraging the Sultan in his hellish work, as he certainly will be encouraged by Lord Salisbury's speech.

"What Lord Salisbury says is not true. It is a hideous and ignoble distortion of the truth. This country is bound, as one of the great powers, by the treaty of Berlin, and by her own special agreement with Turkey, commonly called the Cyprus convention, besides, to protect Armenians and to guarantee their security against Circassians and Kurds. Lord Salisbury's speech will be considered by the Sultan as a definite recantation of all the warnings which the Prime Minister had previously addressed to him and an apology for uttering them."

This is by no means merely opposition opinion. It is the view which a large proportion of Lord Salisbury's political supporters will take. He has seriously alienated, by last night's speech, much of the support which his Government sadly needs in the still pending crisis. He has also awakened genuine distrust of his own strength and abilities which England's enemies will be even quicker to take advantage of than his political opponents at home.

In the light of Lord Salisbury's confession of British failure and impotence in the East, the general European political situation becomes more critical than ever.

It is still frequently suggested that Austria and Italy would prefer friendship with England in case the German Emperor proved recalcitrant. Prince Ferdinand's pitiable vacillation is added anxiety to Austria, and tends to increase her antagonism towards Russia and draw her away from Germany. It is still the general belief that the Kaiser is cultivating close relations with the Czar, and that his course is not regarded with approval by his southern allies.

Lord Salisbury's strange speech can hardly fail to strengthen the hands of of England's enemies. It will be certain to encourage the Sultan and the Czar to proceed with their plans whatever they may be, in Asia Minor, with the confident assurance that Great Britain will not seriously protest.

Speculations as to eventualities, however, are still vain. The game is being played in the dark. Startling news may come to-morrow, or may be delayed for weeks, of even months.

Mr. Ford, cabling from London to The Tribune on the same subject, says:

The approach of Parliament is heralded by an outbreak of oratory in different parts of the United Kingdom. Lord Salisbury's speech Friday night before the Nonconformist Unionists was not happy in thought or phrase. His Home Rule parallel between Ireland and the Transvaal was clumsily drawn, and his talk about Armenia was absolutely disheartening. It is not strange that many Englishmen are saying that the United States are more likely to intervene in Asiatic Turkey than England, although, as The Spectator remarks, the Americans will be certain to adhere to their traditional policy of abstention from European affairs until their own countrymen, not Armenians, are massacred.

DEEPENING THE CANALS

A Live Question in Montreal Board of Trade Circles—The Civic Ring Badly Fractured.

Montreal, Feb. 2.—The shipment of Manitoba grain at this port for Europe, or how to bring about the distribution of the Canadian Northwest's surplus products at this point, bids fair to become the live question before the new executive of the Board of Trade.

The other day the mercantile community was astonished by the statement made in the report issued by the Montreal Board of Trade to the effect that during 1895 the Grand Trunk only brought 9000 bushels of Manitoba wheat to the port of Montreal, while the quantity moved in the same direction by the Canadian Pacific was little beyond 45,000 bushels.

But some one says that it all comes down by water, yet so far is this statement from being correct that only 100,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat was exported from the port of Montreal during the season of 1895, when about 4,520,000 bushels went by the American ports, via Buffalo.

As Mr. McFee stated in his interview the other day, larger vessels must be got into the great lakes, carrying the British flag, and in order to get these craft up there a 14-foot waterway must be secured between Montreal and Lake Ontario. The feeling here is that Sir Charles Tupper's new program should include the deepening of the canals at the very earliest opportunity, and with this end in view the Corn Exchange, of which Mr. Edgar Judge has just been elected president, will go to Ottawa in order to urge the matter on the attention of the Government. The delegation in question, which, however, will not go up to the capital before Sir Charles Tupper's return, will be composed of Montreal exporters, the large importers, the steamship interests, and the inland forwarders, all of whom will ask that the deepening of the canals shall be pushed forward with all possible speed, and that a strong and patriotic effort be made to secure the shipment of the great bulk of the Northwest grain crop at Canadian ports.

The municipal elections took place yesterday, and the ring, which has misgoverned at the City Hall for a number of years, received a terrible check. In fact every ring candidate, except Alderman Rainville, who has been re-elected in the Centre Ward, met with overwhelming disaster. Amongst the slain are Aldermen Nolan, in St. Ann's, defeated by Mr. Thomas Kinsella by 723, and in the same ward Alderman Connaughton was re-elected by 419 votes over Mr. Dan. Callery.

In St. Mary's Ward Alderman Joe Robert, a very shining light in ring circles, has been left at home to the tune of 880 votes, Mr. Charpentier taking his place.

In Hochelaga, the ward represented by Ald. Prefontaine, the king of the council, one of the latter's most faithful henchman, Alderman Hurtubise, has been beaten by Mr. Wilson, with 87 votes to spare.

In St. Louis' Ward, Alderman Savignac and Renaud, both of whom always voted right, have been re-elected, the first-named by 292 and the second by 19 of a majority.

In St. Lawrence Ward the ring also made a grand stand, with their favorite contractor, Mr. James Cochrane, as their candidate. The result is that Mr. James Harper carries the ward by 620 votes, burying the ring for all time to come in that civic division.

There was also an interesting fight in St. Jean Baptiste Ward, where Alderman Leclaire, a very obnoxious member of the council, has been defeated by Mr. Ouimet, a nephew of the Minister of Public Works, by 435 majority. In St. Gabriel Word, Alderman Turner was re-elected, defeating ex.-Ald. Tansey by 27.

In the Centre Ward, a very stubborn contest was also waged, and here the ring had their one victory by the re-election of Ald. Rainville, chairman of the Finance Committee. The vote stood thus: R. Prevost 489, Ald. Rainville 445, H. Laporte 402, A Boyer 367. The two first are, consequently, elected, and in all the other wards, where only two candidates are mentioned, elections by acclamation had already taken place.

Archbishop Fabre has just changed the manner of collecting tithes in the diocese of Montreal, where the tax for the support of the parish priest was formerly levied in grain. Since, however, hay has become such a profitable commmodity in this province, at the expense of grain, it happened very frequently that Monsieur le Cure came out at the little end of the horn. His Grace, however, has hit upon a plan that meets the difficulty, by ordering that the faithful, from this time out, pay 10 cents per ton on the hay raised by each Catholic farmer.

THE CRY OF A BABE

Led to a Ghastly Discovery in Rochester—A Family Poisoned.

Rochester, N.Y., Feb. 1.—Attracted by a faint cry of a baby, J. D. Peet pried open the kitchen window of Martin Lynn's house, No. 2 St. Clair-street, this morning. He fell back horrow stricken as the ghastly sight that met his eyes. Lying on the floor, looking ghostly, was Martin Lynn, his wife, and two little children. In the chamber beyond, lying on a tumble-down bed, was the man's sister, dead. The doors were forced open and air was let into the house. Lynn was found with his legs stretching across the kitchen stove, in his right hand was a pipe, with the tobacco half smoked. Near him lay Mrs. Lynn, face downward. Under her breast was a month old baby, trying to nurse. On the other side was another child, who was crying faintly: "Mamma, mamma," It was this cry that had been heard by Mr. Peet. On the floor by each body were pools of slimy, sickening liquid of a yellowish tinge. They were all taken to the hospital, more dead than alive. At midnight none had gained consciousness, and it is impossible to state the cause of their illness. The coroner, however, is of the opinion that saleratus biscuits was the cause of the poisoning. They had been in this condition 36 hours when found.

IRISH PARTY LEADERSHIP.

A General Belief That Mr. Thomas Sexton Will Succeed Mr. McCarthy.

London, Feb. 2.—The meeting of the anti-Parnellite section of the Irish Parliamentary party, to discuss the selection of a leader in room of Justin McCarthy, who, it is said, will retire from the leadership this week, will be held in Dublin on March 3. Mr. McCarthy's retirement is attributed solely to his declining health and arrears of work. The Dublin meeting will merely discuss the question of who shall succeed Mr. McCarthy. The final selection will be made in London. It is the poinion now that Thomas Sexton, who represents North Kerry in the House of Commons, will be selected to lead the party.

All the morning papers will to-morrow discuss the approaching retirement of Mr. McCarthy.

The Daily News praises his tact, temper and igni ty. It adds that if political capacity is the sole guide in selecting his successor, Mr. Sexton ought to be chosen for the place.

The Standard pays a tribute to Mr. McCarthy's amiability, and says it does not see a successor to him who will be capable of holding the anti-Parnellite party together.

BRITISH AND GERMAN.

A Lively Row Between Sailors at Brussels Over the Emperor's Message.

London, Feb. 2.—The Daily News will to-morrow publish a despatch from Brussels, saying that the crews of the German steamer Proussen and the British steamer Hathmore, became involved in a dispute Saturday, over the message recently sent by Emperor William to President Kruger of the South African Republic. Words soon led to blows and the fight was progressing fiercely when the police intervened and arrested several of the combatants. One of the German sailors was so badly injured by the pounding he received that he is likely to die.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 21 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

Yours truly,

MARY ANN O'BRIEN.

What are you wearing On your feet this weather?

There is style in footwear as there is in hats. Each year the Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are modelled to fit all the fashionable shapes of boots. They are thin so as to prevent clumsy appearance and feeling and to make them so necessitates the use of the finest quality of rubber. While Granby Rubbers and Overshoes are up to date in Style, Fit and Finish, they retain their old enduring quality.

Granby Rubbers wear like Iron.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

Highly Recommended.

The "Our Flat" Company, which plays to-night at the Bradburn Opera House, arrives in town preceded by the most complimentary press notices. Several Peterboroughnians who were in Toronto, last week, and saw the company at the Grand Opera House recommend it as the best refined comedy company on the road.

The Home Life.

Notices calling the annual meeting of the guarantors and policy-holders of this association have just been issued. The meeting will be held in Toronto on the 11th of February. The annual reports show an increase of cash premium income of 52 per cent. over the year 1894, while the new insurance applied for amounted to $836,500. The death claims occurring during the year amounted to 31 per cent. of the premium income. The results of the year's work are considered highly satisfactory for a comparatively young company. W. A. Died in Minedosa.

The many friends in town of Mary H., wife of Rev. A. Andrews, will regret to learn of her death, which took place at Minnedosa, Man., on Friday, January 31st. The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Rev. A. Fletcher, of the Methodist church, and sister of Mrs. (Dr.) Fife. She leaves behind her four sons and one daughter. She was well known in Peterborough, where she frequently visited, as a most ardent temperance worker, and has on different local occasions delivered excellent addresses on the subject of temperance. She was very highly respected in all relations of life. Mrs. Fife will have the sympathy and prayers of a large circle of friends in her bereavement.

Keeps Everlastingly at It.

Avoid extremes. Don't be niggardly. Some men think that one or two announcements are sufficient, and that the sought-for customers remember for all time to come the advertiser and his wares. Mr. F. T. Wilkes, of the Waterous Engine Works Co., Brantford, remarked to me not long since: "We have been advertising for thirty years, and it is just as necessary to continue as it was to begin, 'keeping everlastingly at it' is forced upon us as a prime necessity." But it is easy for beginners to run to the opposite extreme and use too much money and too quickly. Some will buy a page of space and then rest content to keep silent. Events follow each other so rapidly that impressions are soon effaced, and one must impress by giving "line upon line" to fix attention. Much better to use judicious space for months and years, in consecutive issues of good live newspapers, or other other periodicals, than to make a big splurge, and then quit, under the false conception that all has been said that is necessary.

NEW MAP OF THE TOWN.

Prepared at the Cost of Much Labour and Means by Mr. W. L. Innes.

A properly compiled map of the town has been a long felt want by the members the legal profession, real estate men and the public generally in Peterborough.

There has never been an official map of the town, with the exception of a plan of the original town plot as laid out by the Government in 1847, composed of only that part of the town bounded by Smith street on the north, Townsend street on the south, Park street on the west and the River Otonabee on the east. It will therefore be seen that a properly compiled map of the town is a requisite of which the citizens are much in need, and without which no community is in a condition to transact real estate business in a manner that will insure the claim under a title without fear of dispute in regard to boundary lines. The Legislature has recognized the necessity of such maps and enacts that every corporation shall file in the Registry Office a map showing all the subdivisions of the land into lots, streets, etc.

Although many land surveyors have practiced in Peterborough, not one was endowed with courage sufficient to undertake a task of such magnitude and involving the expenditure of so much time and money in preparing the details of a map for registration.

Mr. W. L. Innes, of the firm of Ranney & Innes, land surveyors, etc., with commendable zeal, began almost a year ago to gather together the necessary copies of town plans and as the result of months of hard work, is on the eve of bringing before the public a most complete map, such as is required for registration.

A look at the huge canvas will explain how it was that other surveyors forebore attempting such a task, and Mr. Innes admits that when he began he greatly underestimated the amount of work which would be required before the map was finished.

Some idea of the work entailed may be gathered when it is stated that the size of the paper upon which the original is drawn is six feet by eight. As the scale is four chains, or 264 feet to the inch it will be seen that the town covers an area of over 11,000 acres or over 17 square miles. From east to west it measures about three and a half miles and from north to south nearly five miles. The map includes all of the town proper, all of Ashburnham and the adjoining portions of the township of Monaghan, Smith, Douro and Otonabee. The breadth and length of every lot and the bearing of every line is actually shown. In fact the map includes practically all the information contained in 108 registered plans of the town, 26 of Ashburnham, 10 of the township of Smith, three of Douro, four of Otonabee and 15 of Monaghan. Although, of course, many small and inferior maps of the town have been compiled at different times none were ever sufficiently complete to comply with the requirements for registration purposes, whilst Mr. Innes, not content with complying with these requirements, goes further and also sets forth much other valuable information. A street and plan key accompanies the map, which will enable a total stranger to pick out any location at a glance. The map also includes all the railways running in and out of the town, and also the plan of the proposed Trent Valley Canal.

The delineations are plain and distinct, the streets are marked in bold block letters, and the figures are slant Egyptian. The compiler is entitled to great credit for the manner in which he has completed so laborious a work and should look forward with assurance to the council accepting it as the official map of the town.

Harmony Among Church Choirs.

The project of having the programme, of the Charlotte street Methodist church choir concert on Thursday night, contributed by members of the choirs of St. Paul's, St. Andrew's and the George street Methodist church, in conjunction with the choir of the church, is a movement in the right direction. The proper function of choirs is to sing in harmony, and when harmony of heart as well as tone is cultivated, the public should express their appreciation of the occasion by attending the concert and enjoying the splendid music that will result, as well as, at the same time, encouraging a spirit that will tend to develop the feeling of brotherly love and good intent that should exist to a greater degree among the several denominations. Their objects and aims are common and their personal and denominational relations should be characterized by a spirit of harmony and co-operation. 1d

DR. TORRANCE TALKS ON THE Y. P. S. C. E.

THE CRITICS OF THE MOVEMENT CRITICIZED.

The Pastor of St. Paul's Thinks That the Society is Doing a Good Work And Advances his Reasons for Think it Should be Encouraged.

Rev. Dr. Torrance delivered a most practical sermon on the Christian Endeavour Society movement last evening to a large congregation in St. Paul's.

In opening he mentioned other great movements in the church which had taken place during the century such as the advance in missionary work, in Sunday schools and the establishment of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Clarke, he stated, was the founder of the Christian Endeavour movement in Portsmouth, Maine, just fifteen years ago. At first it was tentative and no such results as had been attained were dreamed of by the founder. The society in connection with his church increased steadily in membership, month after month. Other churches heard of it and sent for the constitution in order to found similiar organizations in connection with themselves.

THE MOVEMENT SPREAD

over the United States then reached into Canada and crossed the Atlantic into Europe. It did not rest there but extended its influence until progressive branches were founded in India, China and other heathen lands.

There could be no doubt, the speaker urged, that the hand of God was in this movement which was productive of so much good.

The society was, however, not without its hostile critics. It was often brought as an objection to it, that it multiplied the organizations in connection with the Christian church. Granting this to be a fact, Dr. Torrance thought that if it was a good organization this could not be brought as an argument against it, as the same could be brought against the Sunday school and missionary societies, as both of these multiplied the organizations in the church, but no one would dream of doing away with them now. The Christian Endeavour Society was a felt want, and as the result of the movement many who would otherwise have drifted away from the church had been saved. The society also the church and did not interfere with any of the other organizations. On the contrary it assisted them through its committees. The Sunday School Committee had for its object the increase of the Sunday School membership, and the Missionary Committee worked in the interests of the Missionary Society of the church.

SERVED TO STRENGTHEN

This objection, therefore, the speaker held, was not a valid one.

Again, it had been said that many attended the meetings for other than religious purposes. This statement was refuted with indignation, and the object of the author of it severely criticized. It was said that many attended for the pleasure of social intercourse. This was not the case, he felt positive, regarding the society in connection with St. Paul's, but even if it was so, would that be a valid argument against the society's existence? No! It was an advantage to young people even if this was the case, as some truth would without doubt find its way into the hearts of those who attended, and eventually

LEAD TO THEIR SALVATION.

Again, it was brought up as an argument against the movement that the pledge was at variance with the spirit of the Gospel. It was said that the pledge was too legal and opposed to the free spirit of the Gospel, but this seemed to be a very shallow objection. Pledges were taken in connection with the Sacrament of Baptism and with the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper—pledges of the most solemn character.

While these were the chief objections to the movement strong arguments could be adduced in support of it.

The Societies kept many young people in touch with the church, who would otherwise drift away as they grew up. Every minister realized the difficulty in keeping the lad of 15 or 16 within the fold of the church. He was almost certain to drift away for a time. The society worked along lines which tended to keep these young people still in connection with the church. Few young people ever attended a week-day service and it was for sixty or seventy young people to come together as they did in connection with the society, and study the Word on a week day.

Again, the Society tended to increase the interest in the Bible, as the pledge required all to read the Bible every day. Many natures were spiritually stunted through not reading the Scriptures and imbibing the truths contained in them. The young people had need to study the Bible to a certain extent to be able to take an active part in the meetings, which was a great advantage. They also became endowed with the courage to speak of what they learned, and this is what was much needed in the church to-day, as too much in this line was being left to the ministers, which was totally at variance with the spirit of the New Testament church. The ministers should not have to do all the talking, as, if they did so, the church was not in as live and healthy condition as it should be. There was a latent power in the Christian church which, if called into action, would shake the world, but unless others took more part in speaking of their understanding of the Scripture, this power would continue to slumber on.

The Society was also the link which was doing much to bring the Christian Church together. Through it, union would in time be consummated.

Dr. Torrance concluded his most interesting discourse by urging the congregation to take the kindliest interest in the workings of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the tooth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentifirce. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood, that this appetising dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined the Germans, anymore than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know, that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

THE BIG BONSPIEL ON AT THE RINK.

The First Draw Played This Afternoon

The town to-day is filled with the bright and beaming faces of foreign curlers, surmounted by the popular Tam O' Shanter headgear. The knights of "the besom and stane" are here for the purpose of competing in the big curling bonspiel which was inaugurated at the rink this afternoon at two o'clock.

It was feared on Saturday that the thaw would prove dangerous and so the skaters were shut out in the evening and the centre ice flooded, and though it was thawing outside there was seven degrees of frost in the rink and it was thought best to take no chances. The precaution, however, was unnecessary, as Jack Frost was abroad Saturday night and put the ice in splendid shape at the rink.

The curlers began coming in on the early trains and all day each train brought in its complement of a rink or two. It will be impossible to play off even the primaries to-day, but as many as possible will be finished. This afternoon the following draws were being played in the club competitions :—

Lindsay	vs	Cobourg
Bobcaygeon	vs	Lakefield
Orillia	vs	Cobourg

The clubs are all represented by two rinks.

The draw for the evening play will be made later on in the day, when more of the clubs have registered, as many are expected on the evening trains.

The trophy offered for the club competition which is now being played off, was procured through the Peterborough Hardware Company, and consists of a magnificent silver tankard, two feet in height, mounted on a handsome black ebony base, and surmounted by the figure of a curler stooping over in the act of delivering a stone. The trophy is one which is well worth competing for, and the visitors have all been around to cast a covetous glance upon it.

In the single rink competition the prizes consist of four pair of handsome stones presented by the Peterborough Club, and four very pretty agate fobs presented by the Ontario Curling Association. The contest for the prizes will be even more keen than in the Club competition.

During the afternoon the rink presented a lively scene, indeed, as hundreds of visitors were watching the various matches in progress.

The bonspiel will probably last until Wednesday evening.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realised more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

ARCHDEACON TIMS AT ST. LUKE'S.

There was a good congregation at St. Luke's yesterday morning, when Archdeacon Tims preached on the subject of the Indian Homes in the diocese of Calgary. His text was taken from Acts xiv., 27, and he said he desired to imitate the example of St. Paul in rehearsing to the assembled church all things God had done for them and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. The Indians were first brought into contact with white men with the traders, who brought fire arms and firewater in return for buffalo skins. This led to the destruction of the buffalo, the great means of support for the Indians, and Government stepped in and settled them on reserves and provided them with rations.

Archdeacon Tims was sent to the Blackfoot tribe, who numbered in all 6,000, (4,000 of whom were in Canadian territory) in 1883, by the Church Missionary Society. He travelled 500 miles in a wagon. He knew nothing of the language, and no other missionary was there. At the end of two years he knew the language, had begun to educate the children, had assisted the Indians in building huts. He could now preach in the Indian tongue, and supplied the Indians with that head knowledge of Christian truths, which must precede heart knowledge. The Blackfoot was not easily converted, but Mr. Tims gave several touching instances of the influence of Christianity over them.

During the next few years he devoted himself to the erection of schools. The work had grown and extended to the Blood, Sarcees and Piegans, and there were five boarding schools, with 170 resident children. Forty children had been baptized at their own request and eight confirmed.

The erection of buildings was expensive and it was principally in support of this fund, and for the general expense of the homes that they required help.

He warmly thanked the Bible class, the Woman's Auxiliary and the whole congregation for their past assistance, and hoped it would be continued.

In the afternoon Archdeacon Tims addressed a full attendance of the Sunday School children, and in the evening he preached at the South Ward Mission. He is also engaged to preach at St. John's on Feb. 23.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man ; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

Nervous Prostration.

Cured effectually by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

His heart was affected.

"Overwork as a student at college brought on an attack of nervous prostration," says Mr. Gilbert, a railway missionary. "I was exceedingly nervous and if I exerted myself my heart commenced to flutter violently, and I was warned that even ordinary exercise endangered my life. But thanks to Scott's Sarsaparilla I feel better than I ever expected to feel, for I can now address a meeting without effort, can walk a brisk pace for two hours or more without exhaustion and am free from that distressing palpitation. In my work I have oftentime recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla, and have seen many cases where its effects have been most marked."

Scott's Sarsaparilla acts like magic in restoring shattered nerves because it rebuilds the nerve centres. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and all nerve derangements wear on the system. Scott's Sarsaparilla makes new blood and muscles and strong nerves. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle. Dose from half to one teaspoonful.

Running a Town by Electricity.

The electric storage battery, in whose development lies the hope of emancipation from electric light wires, trolley wires and other unsightly obstructions, has reached a point of perfection, as shown by an exhibit in Philadelphia, which makes it a commercial possibility, and promises a large extension of the usefulness of electricity in every-day life. With a further development in the direction of cheapness, it may be possible to reproduce, in towns unprovided with cheap means of motive power, the conditions existing in Great Falls, Mont. In that town electric power produced economically at a water privilege does all the mechanical work. It propels, lights and heats the street cars, runs the elevators, the printing presses, the cranes, and all kinds of machinery, and is used for pumping, for excavating and for rock crushing. It is even applied in the building trades, it not being unusual to see on the streets a mortar-mixer attached to an electric wire leading down from a pole. The restaurants cook by electricity; the butcher employs it to chop his sausages, and the grocer to grind his coffee. The housewives run their sewing machines and heat their flatirons by electricity; they bake their cakes in wooden electric cake ovens that can be set away on the shelf like pasteboard boxes. They have electric boilers, broilers and teakettles.—New York Evening Post.

The Age of Speed.

We are living in the age of speed, and the greater the speed attained on land or water, the greater the satisfaction of the community who wishes to be transported. A Frenchman now comes forward with an entirely new idea, or rather perhaps we should say a practical application of an old idea for steamships. He proposes to propel vessels at a very high rate of speed over the water instead of under. For this purpose he has built a flat-bottomed boat, with screws set nearly at a vertical angle, although slightly inclined aft, the object being to lift the boat very nearly out of the water by the screws, and at the same time propel it forward. For ocean service, of course, the idea is impracticable, but it seems to be rather fitted for use on rivers where waves of any considerable size are not met with.

The Forge of the Future.

In the opinion of a writer in the Mechanical News, the forge of the future will consist of a lead-lined glass or porcelain vase filled with cold acidulated water. This will be connected with the positive pole of a dynamo. The apparatus will be rendered complete by a pair of tongs connected with the negative conductor, the handles being insulated. In working, the smith seizes the piece of iron to be heated with the insulated tongs and plunges it into the bath of sour water. In a remarkably short time the iron rises to a white heat. So rapid, indeed, is the heating by this means that the water, and the portion of iron not immersed in the water, are but slightly warmed. The principle involved is simple, the resistance to the electric current producing the light and heat. It is found that enormous heat can be produced by such a method, much greater in fact than is necessary to extract iron from the most refractory ores.

Words of Weight and Wisdom

Canada's Well-known Railroad Contractor, Mr. J. W. Dinwoodie, III.

Treated by Several Doctors and Tried Nearly Every Proprietary Medicine—Got Very Little Benefit—Was Influenced to Use South American Nervine—Found Immediate Relief—"The Nervousness Has Entirely Left My System"—"I Will Never Be Without It in My Home."

MR. J. W. DINWOODIE, CAMPBELLFORD, ONT.

Men of affairs usually weigh their words. They are not of that class of people who carry their hearts upon their sleeve. One of the best known men of affairs in Canada is Mr. J. W. Dinwoodie, the large railroad contractor, evidence of whose work is to be found in all parts of the Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to chain one section of our vast Dominion with another and bring its people into easy touch with each other through the medium of the iron horse, as Mr. Dinwoodie has in a short lifetime done, is a work of which any man may be proud. Hard and brainy labor, however, is necessary to success of this character, and the strongest constitutions are in danger of breaking down under the strain. It has been so with Mr. Dinwoodie. The great thought that he has had to give to his work, and the care and responsibility that it has carried with it finally told on his constitution, and he became a victim of nervous troubles, his liver and kidneys becoming seriously disordered.

Naturally he consulted a medical man. Comparatively no relief was obtained. He changed his doctor, and did not stop with one, two or three physicians, but he got no better. Various proprietary medicines were recommended, and, as he says himself, "Tried them all, but got very little benefit. Last fall I was camping out, and I was feeling very ill. I happened to pick up a paper with the advertisement for South American Nervine. I determined to give it a trial, and procured a bottle from the local druggist. After having taken but a few doses I found very great relief. The severe pain that I had been suffering in the small of my back left me and the nervousness that had rendered me, in a large measure, unfit for work, has as a result of the continued use of Nervine, become banished from my system. I am now able to enjoy refreshing sleep the night through. I keep South American Nervine always in the house, and I do not hesitate to say that it is the very best medicine I have ever taken, and most confidently recommend it to anyone troubled with nervousness of whatever form and the attendant diseases of the liver and stomach that follow this weakness."

The important fact can not be too often emphasized that South American Nervine cures at the nerve centers, from which emanate all diseases. This being an undoubted scientific truth, fully and perfectly demonstrated by science, it is never an experiment to use Nervine, but in this remedy is always found a certain cure.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause?' But there is a cause. It is to be found by the intelligent physician in some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs of generation. The woman who half understands herself, feels that she cannot always be complaining; she cannot always have the doctor in the house. The young girl suffers, bodily and mentally, in silence. The trouble usually comes so gradually it is attributed to some outside cause. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. All these symptoms are simply protests of the silent, long-suffering nerves. The trouble shows in dark circles below the eyes, a downward curve of the mouth, a sallow, brownish-yellow neck.

Unregarded, the trouble grows. A few years of tortured invalidism, probably insanity, before merciful death comes. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the fruit of years of study. It is the product of an investigating mind united with a generous nature. When an intelligent person gives years of study to a subject there must be some good result. The "Favorite Prescription" is a compound of extracts of herbs that makes a strengthening, soothing medicine. It acts directly upon the distinctly feminine organs. It stops drains from lining membranes by healing diseased parts, thereby curing also the inflammation that is always present.

"I was in a critical condition. Often I was in despair. I experienced a great improvement by taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have taken six bottles, and I am sure that it will not only cure ulceration but all diseases of females." Yours truly,

(Mrs.) R. T. Rudd

ALL AROUND THE FARM.

Dairying Will Not be Profitable This Winter—Road Improvments.

The Practical Farmer says that there is little doubt that the coming winter will see a good many farmers abandoning dairying as a winter business on account of the high price of many of the cow feeds and scarcity, but in most of these instances we think a mistake will be made. A disadvantage is that cows are selling cheap, even for the best, and next spring they will be unusually high, and the dry cows wintered will eat and produce nothing to compensate for their food. When it comes to a problem of exchange, it is doubtful if feed even at present prices can be turned into anything more profitable than 20-cent butter, provided one has a warm barn and the necessary arrangements to well care for his cows, so that there is not an undue demand upon the food to protect the cow from the rigors of winter; and this waste makes the feed bill high, when tar paper and hemlock boards would have accomplished the same purpose and left the food—extra—to have gone either to a more economical keeping of the cow or a greater yield of milk. One of the reasons why the winter dairy well managed is profitable is that there is a daily compensation for one's labor and outlay in feed, as there is a constant call for milk and butter in the winter, and one is not obliged to anticipate or run up bills for the future, as butter and milk are spot cash goods, and it is a quick rotation—if the term may be used—of feed into produce, and as quickly turned into money. Not the least of the economies of the winter dairy is the fact that as now demonstrated, the milch cow will actually do better and produce better on the more rough foods like corn fodder, roots and the like, with corn and cob meal combined with some oil meal and the like, than upon fine and more costly market hay, and this gives the farmer a chance to turn these bulky, unsalable feeds into the finest of foods for humanity, and, more, gives him employment in the winter, and in his interesting and profitable work he finds little time to yearn for a seat in the legislature. The winter dairy has a place in the farmer's farm work, and there should be little abandonment of the industry, for the man who so does will soon regret his decision. Better keep at it.

The Connecticut Farmer recently said that it is reasonable to predict that road improvement is destined to spread with great rapidity in the next ten years, and the capital which heretofore built railroads will now seek investment in fine macadamized roads. The first necessity for developing a country of the size of the United States was a system of railroads that would bind together the widely separated points of industry and population and the construction of such a stupendous system absorbed most of the energy and capital of our financiers. But the country now is better supplied with railroads than any other on the face of the globe, and the limit to the extension of long railrood lines is practically reached in many parts of the country. It is impossible to have every small hamlet and village connected extension of long railroad lines is practicable, but the transportation problem cannot be said to be solved until every small place and farm of any size is connected with the great arteries of commerce by means of fine macadamized roads. It is this necessity for building more and better common roads that makes the question such a burning one to-day. The next generation must devote itself to the construction and improvement of common roads feeding the railroads with the products of the great agricultural regions.

Agricultural Briefs.

A stiff brush is better than a card or a currycomb to keep animals clean.

In riding through an extensive dairy section to-day I saw wagon loads of ripe pumpkins on nearly every farm, gathered and piled in the open near the barns. As we are having a freezing temperature about every night, this good cattle food was simply being ruined by needless and heedless exposure.

Farm House says it is more and more generally admitted that the fall is the better time for setting out fruit trees. Less pressure of business enables nursery men to get them out in better shape and to handle them quicker, and the climate is less fickle. If to be heeled in, do not leave them exposed to frosts and drying winds.

While we hear considerable of farmers and dairymen grumbling about the lack of profits in their business, we see occasionally reports of enterprising businessmen going into farming on a large scale to make money. The question naturally arises: Is the blame not with the farmer? If his methods are not the best he must expect to fail. Businessmen do it, and there is no reason why farmers should not. Only the wisest and shrewdest succeed in anything.

Farmers who grow turnips, beets carrots and other roots, generally wait until the whole crop is harvested before beginning to market it. In this way they lose, for the price is then always lowest. There is a better market for these roots early in the season, and the roots are then much sweeter and tenderer than later. Of course there will be some loss of growth in the portion marketed early, but if the roots are thinned as gathered, and only the thinnings sold, there will be a larger growth of what is left.

There is always considerable difference between the best and the poorest pigs of a litter. This shows itself at birth, and almost invariably the pig that is largest and best then, will, other things being equal, make the best hog. It is sometimes said that the runt pigs can be made better by better feeding. This is true to a certain extent. But the reason the pig is a runt is usually because digestion is poor. Feeding a runt pig too much injures its digestion still more, or if the food is digested it goes to make fat rather than growth. For this reason the poorest pigs in a lot should be put up for early fattening, giving longer feeding to those that will best pay for it.

Hood's is Wonderful.

No less than wonderful are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other preparations and physicians prescriptions have failed. The reason, however is simple. When the blood is enriched and purified, disease disappears and good health returns, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier.

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

THE JUDGE'S DAUGHTER.

Her Blood Told When Men Came to Woo Her.

She was the daughter of a judge, and she listened with languid interest to his plea.

"I love you devotedly," he cried passionately, "I am prepared to devote my life to you."

"Be specific in your pleading," she cautioned. "Do not stray too far from the point at issue."

He hesitated, and then asked earnestly:

"Will you be my wife?"

"Ah," she said, "now I see the point you wish to make."

"I am not rich," he urged, "but I have enough to give you a comfortabl home, and my prospects are bright. I offer you the love of an honest man, who will do all in his power to make you happy. I"——

She stopped him by a gesture.

"It is useless to continue at present," she said, firmly, but kindly. "There are several cases ahead of yours on the docket."

"But," he protested, "I want"——

She stopped him again.

"I must insist that these matters be taken up in their regular order," she said sharply. "Put your proposition in writing and file it with my maid, and it will receive due attention when it is reached in the regular course of business. I haven't time to listen to oral arguments in a case that can be as well presented in briefs."

With a sigh he left, and put in his time until late that night preparing a petition for a rehearing.—Chicago Post.

It can be set up by anyone in a few minutes. It contains no loose screws, no intricate parts, or anything in the nature of a puzzle. This suite consists of a wardrobe 3 feet 9 inches wide, a dressing chest 3 feet 6 inches in length, a washstand, two cane-seated chairs, an ottoman, a bedstead on castors with the bedding complete, a chamber service, and a mosquito curtain if required. The whole of this multum in parvo forms the entire furniture of a comfortable bedroom. It folds into itself, forming a package 6 feet long by 2 feet 6 inches deep, by 2 feet 1 inch high. No packing case is required.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. NO DEER TO BE KILLED IN THE WATER.

The Game and Fish Commissioners Will Make This Recommendation.

At the meeting of the Game and Fish Commission Friday, it was recommended that all members of deer hunting parties should be required to take out a license, for which 50 cents should be charged, and to this two coupons should be attached, and no person is allowed to kill more than this number of deer.

It was also recommended that there should be a severe punishment for any person who killed deer in the water.

The regulations regarding duck, it was decided, would remain the same, except in shooting the hunter should be prohibited from anchoring his boat further than 50 yards from shore.

The Game Warden will be given the same powers as license inspectors, and will be allowed to raid any place under suspicion without a special license.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The engineer of the local running through Whitby from Peterborough to Toronto met with a most distressing accident at the junction there the other morning. It is the orders for the local to hitch to the best coach of White's Lindsay-Whitby train and take it to Toronto and back, as a matter of convenience to the passengers on the Whitby-Lindsay line. To accomplish this coupling in the morning it is the custom for White's locomotive to back up the coach to the local, and on the occasion mentioned the bunt came just as the driver had his arm through by the eccentric, which caught his arm and tore the flesh and muscle off it to the bare bone.

Aaron Burt, 80 Pearson avenue, Toronto, has asked the aid of the police to locate his brother William, who has been missing since Jan. 20th. He is an engineer on the C. P. R. and lives at Havelock. On the day named he came into Toronto Junction on his engine from the east and disappeared.

The missing man is 39 years old; is 5 feet 5 inches in height; is of stout build; weighs 170 pounds; has light hair turning gray; light moustache and four fingers of right hand mangled by an accident. He was attired in dark clothing and a curly lamb skin cap.—Toronto News.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

LITTLE CHIPMUNKS.

SOME OF THEIR INTERESTING TRAITS AND HABITS.

Check Pouches Stored With Nuts—October Finds Them in Well-stocked Winter Quarters in Tiny Burrows Under the Ground.

Like their squirrel cousins, the chipmunks possess a vast deal of inquisitiveness, coupled with a far greater fearlessness of man, so that one gets very good opportunities for acquaintance. In these fall days the little striped fellows are full of bustling toil. New York's suburbs and the sparsely settled annexed territory contain thousands of merry chipmunks now making ready their winter homes, and if people would watch them a little they would find them interesting and social little neighbors.

Their subterranean dwellings are begun as soon as the spring weather becomes well settled, usually late in April or early in May. If a pair of them begin building and are overtaken by one of the cold rains so frequent in the spring, they scurry back to winter quarters and resume their hibernating sleep. Owing to their social instincts they usually select a site not far from the home of another pair. Under a loosely piled stone wall or the roots of a lonely tree is a favorite nesting place.

Owing to the number of enemies who constantly hunt and destroy them, the 'munks have to build a rather elaborate burrow. At least, two, and sometimes three or four, entrances lead to the nest proper. These openings are usually made under a surface rock or a tuft of ferns or the roots of a tree, where they attract very little attention. By a devious course of sometimes twelve or fifteen feet the underground path leads to the den under the wall. The other path will lead in from an entirely opposite direction. The hole always plunges steeply down at first, far below the level of the den. This permits a gradual "up grade" to be preserved as the path, thus draining the burrow and preventing washouts after heavy rains.

After the young are reared and the August harvest days come on, the chipmunks enlarge their home by excavating pantries or store-rooms all along the paths. These are to hold the winter's provisions. Under the nest itself, which is about a foot high by two feet in length and warmly lined with fine, soft grasses, these little caves are roughly scooped out and left unlined.

Among the most provident creatures, these midgets relax their merry play about the time the grain fields grow yellow and begin to soberly work. Until then they seem to have not an earthly care. Now the games of "I spy" and "tag" are abandoned, and, with ridiculously swollen out cheeks, young and old begin to carry home grain and early nuts. Chincapins, hazel nuts, acorns and "pig-nuts" they lug in vast numbers. One chipmunk has been known to hold seven good-sized acorns in his capacious little cheek pouches, so when one realizes that each one makes a hundred or more trips a day to the burrow he will soon see what a store is being laid away.

Unlike the squirrels, those little fellows seem to dread the cold days. In late September, when the frosts have come, they spend only a short time each day outdoors. they rush out under a nut tree, grab the first prize in sight and scurry home as though pursued by fiends. Sometimes they hasten with reason too, for some late foraging hawk will have spied the striped jacket among the yellow leaves, and the race is for life. Weasels, too, are greatly dreaded. These silent marauders prowl right up into the very burrows and slaughter entire families in cold blood.

By the middle of October every chipmunk is snugly hid underground. No one has ever recorded seeing a chipmunk out doors in November, though the squirrels continue laying by their store until the snow buries and conceals the nuts. Perhaps it is their long, long slumber that makes these little animals so lively and pert and bright of eye in the first warm days, but, whatever the reason, they are about the merriest and wisest of our small furry friends.

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Are extremely frequent in this climate, and their danger lies in the opinion too often entertained that they will wear themselves out. That they do not and that hundreds are being hurried in consequence to untimely graves is one of the most patent facts of our existence. The only rational treatment is to employ Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, a preparation of inestimable value in all pulmonary complaints. In addition to supplying the oil in a form in which it may easily be assimilated and without disturbing the stomach, it represents the nutritive properties of wheat, oats and barley, and is therefore a reconstructive and tissue former of eminent value. Not less important is the action of maltine on starchy foods. These are rendered digestible and capable of replacing the wastes of the body. This is Nature's own method. Try Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

ALL AROUND THE FARM.

Dairying Will Not be Profitable This Winter—Road Improvements.

The Practical Farmer says that there is little doubt that the coming winter will see a good many farmers abandoning dairying as a winter business on account of the high price of many of the cow feeds and scarcity, but in most of these instances we think a mistake will be made. A disadvantage is that cows are selling cheap, even for the best, and next spring they will be unusually high, and the dry cows wintered will eat and produce nothing to compensate for their food. When it comes to a problem of exchange, it is doubtful if feed even at present prices can be turned into anything more profitable than 20-cent butter, provided one has a warm barn and the necessary arrangements to well care for his cows, so that there is not an undue demand upon the food to protect the cow from the rigors of winter; and this waste makes the feed bill high, when tar paper and hemlock boards would have accomplished the same purpose and left the food—extra—to have gone either to a more economical keeping of the cow or a greater yield of milk. One of the reasons why the winter dairy well managed is profitable is that there is a daily compensation for one's labor and outlay in feed, as there is a constant call for milk and butter in the winter, and one is not obliged to anticipate or run up bills for the future, as butter and milk are spot cash goods, and it is a quick rotation—if the term may be used—of feed into produce, and as quickly turned into money. Not the least of the economies of the winter dairy is the fact that as now demonstrated, the milch cow will actually do better and produce better on the more rough foods like corn fodder, roots and the like, with corn and cob meal combined with some oil meal and the like, than upon fine and more costly market hay, and this gives the farmer a chance to turn these bulky, unsalable feeds into the finest of foods for humanity, and, more, gives him employment in the winter, and in his interesting and profitable work he finds little time to yearn for a seat in the legislature. The winter dairy has a place in the farmer's farm work, and there should be little abandonment of the industry, for the man who so does will soon regret his decision. Better keep at it.

The Connecticut Farmer recently said that it is reasonable to predict that road improvement is destined to spread with great rapidity in the next ten years, and the capital which heretofore built railroads will now seek investment in fine macadamized roads. The first necessity for developing a country of the size of the United States was a system of railroads that would bind together the widely separated points of industry and population and the construction of such a stupendous system absorbed most of the energy and capital of our financiers. But the country now is better supplied with railroads than any other on the face of the globe, and the limit to the extension of long railrood lines is practically reached in many parts of the country. It is impossible to have every small hamlet and village connected extension of long railroad lines is practicable, but the transportation problem cannot be said to be solved until every small place and farm of any size is connected with the great arteries of commerce by means of fine macadamized roads. It is this necessity for building more and better common roads that makes the question such a burning one to-day. The next generation must devote itself to the construction and improvement of common roads feeding the railroads with the products of the great agricultural regions.

Agricultural Briefs.

A stiff brush is better than a card or a currycomb to keep animals clean.

In riding through an extensive dairy section to-day I saw wagon loads of ripe pumpkins on nearly every farm, gathered and piled in the open near the barns. As we are having a freezing temperature about every night, this good cattle food was simply being ruined by needless and heedless exposure.

Farm House says it is more and more generally admitted that the fall is the better time for setting out fruit trees. Less pressure of business enables nursery men to get them out in better shape and to handle them quicker, and the climate is less fickle. If to be heeled in, do not leave them exposed to frosts and drying winds.

While we hear considerable of farmers and dairymen grumbling about the lack of profits in their business, we see occasionally reports of enterprising businessmen going into farming on a large scale to make money. The question naturally arises: Is the blame not with the farmer? If his methods are not the best he must expect to fail. Businessmen do it, and there is no reason why farmers should not. Only the wisest and shrewdest succeed in anything.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

Close of the Campaign Down in Cape Breton.

THE TORIES ARE NOT BLOWING NOW

About the Big Majority Rip Van Winkle Tupper Will Have—Ontario Conservatives are Scared Over the Alliance in the East—Bishop Cameron's Pastoral Letter.

Sydney, C.B., Feb. 3.—To-morrow will bring to a close one of the most notable political campaigns in the history of Canada. Sir Charles Tupper, a political Rip Van Winkle, as he has been dubbed by his opponents, seeks to re-enter the Canadian political arena once more, and a careful study of the situation leads to the belief that he will be successful. Mr. David McKeen, ex-M.P., is a shrewd calculator, and he told your correspondent that whatever doubts he may have had during the campaign they have been removed. The Conservatives, however, are not blowing about such a large majority as they did a week ago. The bulk of their bets are made on the basis of 500 majority, whereas their claims all along have been from 1000 upwards. Apart from the prestige of being a Cabinet Minister, at least intended to be, Sir Charles Tupper, during the campaign has insisted, evidently with success, that he has been the salvation of the coal industry of this county. The dread of becoming a starving populace owing to the removal of the duty on coal has been so persistently drummed into the miners that there seems little hope that the Liberals can cut down the big majorities given for Mr. McKeen in the mining districts. Yesterday's utterances in the Roman Catholic churches, based on Bishop Cameron's pastoral letter, will also play an important part in the back country districts. Political lines are so finely drawn in the two Sydneys that it will not change many votes, but the temperament of the Scotch Catholic farmers is said to be vastly different. The Conservatives realize the importance of staying, if possible, the effects of the recent bye-elections in the upper provinces, and are consequently straining every effort to send Sir Charles Tupper back with an increased majority. That may not be followed with that great measure of success which they hope for, and their principal dread now is that the Liberals will make some gain and spoil the effects of whatever degree of satisfaction they may derive from sending Sir Charles to the Commons. The Liberals have not relaxed their efforts in any way, and there are many persistent workers who hope for a complete victory, no matter how small Mr. Murray's majority may be.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—La Patrie says: "Mgr. Cameron, Bishop of Antigonish, has just issued a mandement to tell the electors of Cape Breton to vote in favor of Sir Charles Tupper. Thank you, Monseigneur. Like Mgr. Fabre and Mgr. Labrecque, you and your clergy are giving high lessons of political discretion, of Christian charity, of spirit and independence; you are contributing immensely at the present moment toward securing love for the holy religion which you should preach instead of making political speeches right in the temple within a few feet from the holy ciborium, such as the speeches delivered at Sydney by Abbe Quinn yesterday. Like at Vercheres, so at Charlevoix, the Cape Breton mandement arrived just on the eve of polling day. Once again, thanks, But let us tell you, political bishops, that you will never place at the disposal of the rotten Government which we have at Ottawa a sufficient number of mandements to convince the Liberals that it is for them a duty of conscience to vote in favor of Sir Charles Tupper whom the history of latter days sets down with reason as the most corrupt and most compromising man in the land. You shall never have a sufficient number of pastoral letters to make the people believe that Mr. Laurier is a tool of Satan, a 'hell-inspired hypocrite,' as you state in your said mandement. The document issued by the Bishop of Antigonish, a prelate who is better known as a politician than as a monk, is an insult to all the Liberals in the country, whom he represents as imposters, and the insult will be strongly resented."

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The manifesto of the Bishop of Antigonish created a stir in political circles here. The Ontario Conservatives are a little scared at the result of the Government's alliance in the east. The story that Mr. Laurier had written Archbishop Walsh to use his influence to stop the ill-advised clerical utterances in Quebec is an item concocted to injure the Liberal leader, who said to-night that the story was false. When Bishop Labrecque issued his fruitless election manifesto in Charlevoix the Hon John Haggart said to the Hon. J. A. Ouimet, "He did not go far enough." It follows that Bishop Cameron's "hell-inspired hypocrites" will suit Mr. Haggart, though his friends are fearful. The Government's bargain with certain prelates to sell Remedial Legislation for votes has been exposed too soon, and it will prove a boomerang in the general elections.

THE DEAL WENT THROUGH

And the Massey-Harris Company Will Start Up at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 3.—The Massey-Harris Company, limited, of Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock, Canada, the largest manufacturers of agricultural implements in the Dominion, have decided to establish an American plant at Niagara Falls, N.Y., and to-day telegraphed their agents there accepting the proposition of a party of American gentlemen who controlled a piece of land in the city, which the company desire. This piece of land comprizes 16 and 210 acres in the eastern part of the city, with a frontage of 1200 feet alongside the New York Central Railroad tracks.

The Massey-Harris Co. will employ from 500 to 1000 hands, as the requirements of their business demand. The Board of Public Works of the city met immediately after the announcement was made and ordered that sewers, water and gas mains be laid to the site of the company's proposed plant. The electric railroad will be extended to the site and improvements made.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Mr. James Stephenson, general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, after 40 years' service, severs his connection with the company at an early date, his health having become impaired. Mr Spicer Goes, Too.

New York, Feb. 3.—It is stated that W. J. Spicer is to retire as general manager of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railroad, in pursuance of a plan of merging the executive offices of the line with those of the Grand Trunk Railway system of Canada. Mr. Spicer has been in the railway business 40 years.

MONTREAL TOPICS.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—There was a great outcry a week or two since regarding the alleged establishment of soup kitchens in St. Henri, all of which has since been denied by the parish priest. Here is what St. Henri has done. Twelve years ago the town had a population of 4500, which has now reached 22,000 souls. The Merchants' Cotton Manufacturing Company, which was built in 1882, employs 750 hands, and pay out to the mill hands alone the sum of $12,000 every month. In 12 years St. Henri has become the third largest town in Quebec Province, so that it is easily seen why the Grits grudge all this prosperity.

Mr. Joel Leduc, one of the wealthiest French citizens, was buried to-day, and it is understood that the estate reaches nearly half a million dollars. The widow gets $4000, a son $100,000, while the nepnews, amongst whom is the M.P. for Nicolet, receive $25,000 each. Mr. Leduc also leaves $20,000 to charitable and educational institutions.

CONTADICTION BY MR. LAURIER

Of the Story That He Wrote Archbishop Walsh Suggesting a Letter on the Manitoba School Question in the Interests of "Peace Among the Sects."

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—This has been about the dullest day of the session. The proceedings in the House were almost devoid of public interest, not even the few question on the order paper eliciting much information. The point was raised to-night by Mr. Laurier, on his motion regarding the appointment of the two Controllers to positions as Cabinet Ministers, that Messrs. Wood and Prior were not responsible to the House, and consequently that they were not legally Ministers. Mr. Dickey took issue with the Opposition leader. There was nothing, in his judgment, which debarred Controllers from being members of the Cabinet. This question having been disposed of, business for the day was concluded, but not before Sir A. P. Caron had intimated that, inasmuch as considerable important business had yet to be transacted by Parliament, it would be necessary for the House to sit later at night.

The budget debate will be resumed to-morrow by Sir Richard Cartwright.

The story from Toronto, that Archbishop Walsh will shortly issue a letter declaring it to be his conviction that the Manitoba school question occupies secondary place to other issues in Federal politics, is discredited here.

Another statement that His Excellency and Mr. Laurier had written that Archbishop take the step suggested in the interests of "Peace among the sects," almost causes refutation on its face. Mr. Laurier was asked by your correspondent to-night as to the accuracy of the report, and he gave it a most emphatic contradiction.

The Remedial Bill was under consideration in council again to-day, when 'tis said the measure was got into something like ship-shape for presentation to Parliament. Report has it that the bill has been changed considerably by council from the draft, as originally submitted by the sub-committee.

Sir James Grant has made a careful examination of Sandow, the strong man, and declared him to be one of the most remarkable athletes whom he had ever met in his 40 years' of medical practice.

Mr. C. R. Devlin retured to-day from Cape Breton, where he was stumping for the Liberal candidate, Mr. Murray.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—At the commencement of to-day's sitting of the House, 21 private bills received their second reading, so that the different committees will be able to get down to work this week. Most of the bills apply to the Province of Ontario, and include the following: Respecting the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway Company—Mr. McLeod.

An act to incorporate the Huron and Ontario Railway Company—Dr. Sproule.

To amend the act incorporating the Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters—Mr. McGillivray.

Respecting the Guelph Junction Railway Company—Mr. Masson.

To incorporate the Hudson Bay and Pacific Railway Company—Mr. Macdonell (Algoma).

Respecting the Winnipeg Great Northern Railway Company—Mr. Lloyd.

To incorporate the Equitable Benefit Company of Canada—Mr. Maclean (East York).

GOVERNMENT OBSTUCTION.

The Government organs, especially the Mail and Empire, are very vigorously denouncing what they are pleased to call the obstructive tactics of the Opposition. Parliament was called together the second of January. It was not the fault of the Opposition that the Government had nothing ready for the House to consider, and brought about a long adjournment. It was not the fault of the Opposition that one-half of the Cabinet kicked over the traces and brought on another long delay. And now after Parliament has been sitting a month there is not a single Government item on the programme, except the formal order of supply, and Mr. Foster even acknowledges that he has not brought down all the estimates. The Government is trifling with the country, and are the real obstructionists. The House is justified in insisting that the special business for which the House was called together should be considered first, and ample time allowed for full discussion. The government took the extraordinary and unprecedented step of calling a sixth session of the seventh parliament, for the express purpose of dealing with remedial legislation. Now it appears that while representatives have been kicking their heels in idleness around the parliament buildings, or watching the family fight between Cabinet ministers, the latter have been too busy with that fight to draft the first line of the remedial measure. It is claimed that supply must be passed. There is no pressing emergency about supply. There are estimates voted up to June 30th, and what the people demand is to see what the Government is going to do about the special business for which Parliament was especially summoned. The dying days of a Parliament under the most favourable circumstances, are unsuitable for dealing with a question whose treatment, everybody agrees, threatens to convulse the country. But the Government, who shirked the subject at the last session, seem determined to postpone it to the fag end of the final session of a dying Parliament, and to rush something through in the hope that in the meantime something will turn up to their advantage. But this course will not be allowed. Hireling organs may shout "obstruction" all they like, but the Opposition is determined that the very gravest interests of the country shall not be sacrificed on the malodorous altar of political selfishness and self-seeking—shall not be sacrificed to the schemes of a faction bound to hang on to the spoils of office even with their dying grip. There must be ample time to discuss and fully consider the special legislation the government is pledged to introduce.

A STRONG INDICTMENT.

Mr. Sheppard, of the Toronto Star, and at present in Ottawa watching the progress of events in parliament, is becoming more and more disquieted over the work of the government. Parliament was called to press remedial legislation on the Manitoba schools. It met a month ago and the measure has not yet reached the house. Meanwhile the members are merely amusing themselves, time and the public money are being wasted, and there is no telling from the present outlook just when or what the end will be. So Mr. Sheppard ruminates and remarks:

"A dying parliament has no business to consider extraordinary legislation, no no matter whether it is good or bad. Beaconsfield declared such conduct to be politically immoral and refused to legislate on a very much less important matter without first consulting the people.

"The seventh parliament of Canada is pursuing the opposite course. It is holding an extra session around its own deathbed, with a deliberate intention of violating the wishes of the electors that it dare not face.

"Its conduct is not only indecent and dishonest, but it is tyrannical, scandalous and strikes at the very root of constitutional government.

"This is not responsible government. Since Sir John A. Macdonald died the government has been degenerating, until it no longer has even the semblage of pretending to care for the people or to follow constitutional usage.

"Unhindered by any fear, except the rebellion of his mercenary ministers, the premier of Canada, who is not the choice of the electors, but the accident of a funeral, is a dictator holding the life, property and liberties of the Canadian people as completely in his hand as if he had the powers of the Czar of Russia.

"Though Canadians are being treated as if they were serfs, when an opportunity occurs they will show the present government, if it persists in its course, that the people of this country are too well educated and too long accustomed to the rights of British subjects to tolerate any such tyranny."

This is strong language from a friend of the party, but circumstances justify it, and the country will echo the Star editor's opinions at the polls.

BLIND LEADERS OF THE BLIND

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Being an old stager, nearly 65, and close on 51 years in Canadian trade, I trust your readers, in such an important district, will ponder over what I state from experience. I am a staunch Liberal and consider the present particularly venal government at Ottawa is best described in the heading of this letter. In place of building up our country they are ruining it, and its reputation abroad, all the time. And now, Mr. Editor, for proofs. Not content with an already ridiculously high tariff, instituted in 1879, Sir Charles Tupper, chiefly in the interests of his Nova Scotia friends, quadrupled the iron duties in 1887, and they continue at from 45 to 50 per cent. on bar and pig iron! Fancy the tariff "and bonus" on foundry pigs amounting to 75 per cent. on the English price! But this is not the worst, for the customs' duty to-day on clean rice is 83 per cent., and on syrups and coal oil, 125 per cent!! In the last issue of the Kingston News I see it brags of the moderate per capita taxation, but that is a mere nothing to the cost of living, and are your readers surprised to learn that the privileged, bloated, plutocrat rice millers charge Canadians over double the current value of rice in England, and of course are "yearly" amassing about $125,000 of a fortune out of our "hard-worked" earnings! How long is this sort of thing to continue? And now as to shipping. There were under 500 ocean steamers came to Montreal in 1895, showing a decrease of 154 (!!) compared with 1893. The absurd iron duties prevent their loading in Britain, and, as a consequence, (farmers please note) our shippers have to pay more freight on produce to Europe. Readers of The EXAMINER, are your eyes now more fully opened to see the folly of the Tory government?

Yours truly,
D. C. BARKER.

TROUBLE IN THE GRENS

Over the Appointment of a Senior Surgeon for the Regiment.

Toronto, Feb. 4.

There is said to be trouble brewing among the officers of Toronto's stalwart regiment, the Royal Grenadiers. According to a general rumor, the bone of contention is the vacant position of regimental surgeon.

Some months ago Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson, M.L.A., was gazetted Assistant Surgeon-General of the Canadian militia, that appointment necessitating his retirement from the senior surgeonship of the Grens.

Almost a year has elapsed since then, and yet the vacancy in the Grenadiers has not been filled.

According to the rules of promotion generally observed in such cases E. E. King, M.D., the assistant surgeon of the corps, would succeed to the office, but no announcement of Dr. King's elevation has been so far made.

This fact has caused considerable talk in military circles, and it is alleged in certain quarters that Dr. King's failure of promotion is due to opposition on the part of some of his brother officers. The power of promotion lies in the hands of the commanding officer of a regiment.

An officer of the corps interviewed last night on the situation refused to make any statement whatever in connection with the case.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the tooth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentifrice. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

CONSTANT HEADACHE

THE VICTIMS FOUND IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE.

A Sure Sign of Run Down Constitution, and Poor or Watery Blood—A Host of Other Evils Follow in the Train—Why Suffer When a Means of Relief is at Hand.

Those who have suffered from almost constant headache, who have felt the keen pangs of pain darting through the back and side, who have found their heart throb wildly at one time, and almost cease to beat at another, can best appreciate the blessing of perfect health. There are far too many such sufferers, and to those who will follow her example, the case of Miss Anna L. Philbrick of Danville, Que., will point the way to renewed health and activity. Miss Philbrick says:—

"Words fail to express the gratitude I feel for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. My system was run down to such an extent that I was unable to do anything. I suffered from severe pains in the back, side and chest. My heart would throb wildly at the least exertion. I had constant headaches, and was in a word a complete wreck. Our doctor treated me for eight months, with no beneficial results whatever. Words would fail me to express what I suffered. Having read so much about Pink Pills, my father at last determined that should I give them a trial. By the time I had used three boxes there was no longer any doubt that I had found a medicine that would cure me. My appetite had improved, the color began to return to my cheeks, and the pains diminished somewhat. I continued using the Pink Pills until I had taken seven boxes, when every vestige of my illness had disappeared, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I hope some other poor sufferer may take heart and find health from my experience.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for all diseases arising from an impoverished condition of the blood or a shattered condition of the nervous forces, such as St. Vitus dance, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism, paralysis, sciatica, the after effects of la grippe, loss of appetite, headache, dizziness, chronic erysipelas, scrofula, etc. They are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, correcting irregularities, suppressions and all forms of female weakness, building anew the blood, and restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper (printed in red ink), and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

A DOCTOR'S CONFESSION.

HE SAID HE COULD NOT PRESCRIBE ANYTHING BETTER THAN PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

In hundreds of cases, grateful parents have given strong testimony in favour of Paine's Celery Compound.

Fathers and mothers positively declare that their children's lives were saved by the wonderful medicine, after all ordinary prescriptions had failed to restore health and strength.

Paine's Celery Compound is particularly adapted for all weak, frail and nervous children. It quickly builds up the nervous system, makes solid flesh and fat, and gives strength to all the muscles and tissues. Mr. Robert D. Templeton, Winnipeg, Man., writes about his child's case as follows:

"I take great pleasure in recommending your Paine's Celery Compound for all children's troubles. Our little girl was very sick a short time ago, and we had to call in a doctor, who said he could not prescribe anything better than your Compound."

A PERMANENT GUARDSHIP

Will Hereafter be Stationed at the Esquimalt Fortifications.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 3.—The latest information obtained by the naval authorities at Esquimalt relative to the movements of H.M.S. Royal Arthur would appear to indicate that she is not to leave this station after all. H.M.S. Imperieuse coming out as soon as she is commissioned not to relieve the flagship but to act as guardship in connection with the fortifications at Esquimalt. Hereafter, the guardship will be a permanent feature of Esquimalt naval life, and will carry the supernumeraries to be drafted from time to time as occasion requires into the other ships on the station. It is now generally understood that the Royal Arthur will recommission here, with Arthur Y. Moggridge as commander.

BOTH ARE PENNILESS.

But the Hyamsee Twins Will go West and Make Money.

New York, Feb. 3.—Harry P. and Dallas Hyams, the twin brothers whose sensational trials in Toronto for the alleged murder of William C. Wells, a brother-in-law of Harry P. Hyams, in order to get his life insurance of $30,000, attracted much attention, are now in this city, having arrived here this morning in company with Francis L. Wellman, their counsel. It is said that they will go West and settle. They are said to be penniless, as their trials have cost them over $100,000.

WHAT MR. EWART SAYS

The Remedial Bill is Sure to Pass the House of Commons.

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—J. S. Ewart, counsel for the Roman Catholic minority, who went to Ottawa last week to look after the interests of his clients in the preparation of the Remedial School bill, returned to-day. To a reporter he said everything was going smoothly at the Capital from his standpoint. Being asked if he expected the Remedial bill to pass the Commons, he replied: "Certainly; members of both parties will vote for it. Mr. Laurier will undoubtedly vote for it, and many French Liberals. Why, Mr. Laurier has already taken back his proposal for a commission."

"If the bill carries, do you think the Government will be able to operate it?"

"Well, if they can't, I can show them a plan by which they may be successful in overcoming that apparent difficulty."

DR. MONTAGUE IS ILL.

there were 23 appointments to the public service during the same period.

Mr. Foster informed Sir Richard Cartwright that 800 cheese were in store at Prince Edward Island, 124 at Kingston and 60 at Montreal, the island cheese being required to meet the requirements of local trade. The product of the factories in Prince Edward Island had been sold to Hodgson Bros. for the past three years because they had bid the highest price of any Canadian firm. Last year's make had been sold to this firm on terms which are to be kept private until the cheese are disposed of by them. The amount realized will be quite sufficient to pay the Government advances, charges, etc., and would leave a considerable amount for distribution among the patrons of the different factories

Mr. Foster told Mr. Boston that it was not the intention of the Government to make any grant to the volunteers who served through the rebellion of 1837-38.

Mr. Dickey, answering Mr. Rider's question about the criminal Shortis, said that it would be more convenient to embody the information sought for in the papers, which would be brought down this week.

Mr. Foster informed Mr. Davin that the Government was taking steps to protect the sheep of the Territories against the introduction of scab from the United States.

The question of remission of duty on agricultural implements was again brought up by Mr. Davin, who said that the statement had been made that the McCormack Company had invoiced binders for sale in Canada at $80 each. No doubt some of these were included in 685 binders sent to the Northwest Territories last year, which were invoiced at $95. This, therefore, was a case in which the producer had paid a duty of $15. At present the markets of the Territories were practically monopolized by the Massey-Harris Company. While that firm treated the farmers with every consideration as a general rule, and were selling as cheaply there as in Dakota, it was unpleasant for any portion of Canada to be in the hands of a monopoly. If there were competition, farmers might be able to get cheaper binders, or on better terms. He had pressed the matter on the Government, but as Mr. Foster had brought down his Budget Speech and there were no tariff changes, he hoped the Finance Minister would take the matter into consideration next year. As the House had negatived a motion of this kind the other day, he would withdraw his motion.

Mr Davin moved that a committee consisting of Messrs. McDonald (Assiniboia), Boyd, Martin, Sproule, McMullen and the mover be appointed to enquire into the present system of grading wheat in Manitoba and the Northwest, an despecially as to fraud, whereby it is alleged farmers are cheated of what they are justly entitled to for their wheat. The committee to have power to send for persons and papers, and report from time to time. He said farmers were being defrauded by purchasers of grain, who refused to grade it in accordance with the standard and thus paid lower prices.

Controller Prior said the department had received no complaints of fraud, but promised to make an investigation.

Mr. Martin thought the wheat standards should be fixed and not changed from year to year, and that smutty wheat should not be allowed to be mixed with No. 1 wheat, but graded separately.

Mr. Wood, Controller of Customs, formerly Collector of Inland Revenue, pointed out that on the question at issue, farmers, buyers and millers had very divergent views. He said the trouble that arose in grading was the result of fixing standard No. 1 too low. No. 1 wheat averaged 64 pounds to the bushel, when the standard was but 60 pounds. Dealers then graded No. 2 quality up to No. 1 by adding a certain quantity of No. 1 to it. This was the chief cause of grievance. That, however, was impossible this year, as No. 1 standard had been fixed at 64 pounds to the bushel, the average weight of the year's crop. He held that smutty wheat, when cleaned, made just as good flour as it ever could have made. He assured the House that the department had carefully thought the whole matter out, and felt confident that his successor in office (Col. Prior) would continue to give the matter his best attention.

Mr. Foster objected to the appointment of a committee. He held that a Parliamentary committee, on account of being so far from the field of operation, could only get a small amount of evidence, and that at great cost. The subject had already been thoroughly investigated, and there was a standing promise of continued watchfulness on the part of the department. Moreover, it was a matter of departmental administration, and it was a question whether Parliament should interfere with department affairs in such manner as was proposed.

Mr. Laurier thought the motion one that should be adopted. He did not think the cost would be excessive, as the testimony of buyers in the east could be got at on one side and the growers' views from the west.

The motion was lost on a division.

The question of the validity of the appointment of the Controllers of Customs and Inland Revenue to the Privy Council was brought up by Mr. Laurier, who moved for copies of all orders in council and correspondence relating to the appointment of the Hon. E. G. Prior and of the Hon. John F. Wood to the Privy Council of Canada, and copies of commissions issued to them. He said, in his opinion, the position of both Controllers as members of the Cabinet was anomalous, not lawful and contrary to the principle of the system of constitutional government. A Minister of the Crown was responsible to the Crown and to Parliament. Controllers were now members of the Cabinet, and still not responsible to Parliament, but to a fellow-Minister. He held that from the very nature of their positions, therefore, Controllers were debarred from being Ministers at the same time. He quoted from the speech of Sir John Macdonald, delivered on the the introduction of the Act creating Controllerships, to show that the intention was that Controllers should not be made Ministers. He also quoted the statute to show that the Government's action was not within the law. He charged that the elevation of Controllers to the Cabinet was an electoral expediency in connection with the Victoria, B.C., campaign. Sir Adolphe Caron contended that Sir John Macdonald's explanations were perfectly clear, and said he could not see how any other deduction could be made than that the course taken by the Government was correct. He pointed out that as Ministers, Controllers were responsible for advice they gave the Crown.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) declared it was contrary to English practice to make one Minister subordinate to another, and that all should be equal. In this case the Controllers were subordinate to the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Dickey held that the Controller's position was in every respect quite legal and that the act creating controllerships had been followed on lines which experience had showed to be advisable. He admitted that the intention of Sir John Macdonald was that Controllers should not, of necessity, be members of the Cabinet, but then Sir John had never intimated that a change in this respect would be unconstitutional.

Mr. Davin said that Parliament had only agreed to the passage of the act creating controllerships on the understanding that the Controllers were not to be members of the Cabinet and that therefore the act was being violated by the Government's action.

The House adjourned at 10.15 p.m.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

At that time the magistrate discharged the accused, but ordered him to return the goods to Fairweather & Co., stating his belief that they had been obtained fraudulently.

The Druggists Have Their Turn.

The druggist is an important factor in all civilized communities. He is generally well posted on "men and things." He is quick to recognize merit in the medicines he handles. Hear what three out of scores that might be quoted, have to say about Pinemalt, the New Lung Remedy :—

R. W. Chambers, Druggist, Blenheim, Ont., writes; "Pinemalt is taking here. No new remedy of recent years sold so fast."

J. L. Luckham, druggist, Glencoe: "Pinemalt is a popular remedy in this locality."

J. F. Roberts, Druggist, Parkhill, Ont., recently elected representative of the western district to the College of Pharmacy, writes: "Pinemalt I have had in stock but a few weeks, yet only one other medicine sells faster. It has caught the public."

Pinemalt stands at the top as a remedy in colds, coughs, la grippe, asthma, and all troubles of the throat and lungs. In chronic cases, and in consumption, use Pinemalt and Hypophosphites, instead of plain Pinemalt.

"THE IRISH IN MILITARY LIFE.

Interesting Address by Mr. Hampden Burnham at the C. L. A. Rooms.

At the rooms of the Catholic Literary Association last night there was a small audience, due doubtless to bad weather and to counter attractions. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick occupied the chair, and Ven. Archdeacon Casey was also upon the platform. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags of all nations in readiness for the flag social this evening, the decorations being the work of Mr. Alf. Kingscotte.

The programme opened with a well sung duet, "The Pilot Brave," by Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Ball.

Mr. Jos. Begley gave a humorous address on the "Young Men of To-day," hitting off the foibles of this class with a great deal of wit characteristic of his nationality.

Mr. Hampden Burnham gave an admirable address on "The Irish in Military Life. He began with the early history and sketched the careers of noted Irishmen, instancing particularly Col. Butler and Count Brown of Austria, and also the five noted Laceys who attained military eminence among European sovereigns. The work of the Irish Brigade was also dealt with. Particular attention was given the work of Wellington in the Peninsular campaign, and the gallant deeds of the Connaught Rangers, Wellington's great victory at Waterloo in which the the Enniskillen dragoons covered themselves with glory, were fully and graphically treated of, as well as the exploits of the dragoons at Balaklava. The address throughout was of absorbing interest and contained frequent references and glowing tributes to the native courage of the Irish and their gallant deeds in war. It also contained a large amount of incidental historical information. The speaker's diction is polished and his manner effective.

Complimentary remarks upon the excellence of Mr. Burnham's address were made by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and a cordial vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Cahill and seconded by Mr. R. Sheehy. was enthusiastically passed.

After a song, "The Girl I Left Behind," sung with excellent effect by Mrs. Geo. Ball, and a song by Mr. Costello, "Love's Sorrow," the interesting and profitable hour at the C. L. A. Rooms was concluded by "God Save the Queen."

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood that this appetizing dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined to Germans, any more than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

Our Flat.

A very large and fashionable audience greeted Emily Bancker and her suberb company of artists at the Opera House last night. This was the first appearance of the company in this city, and the audience were therefore full of expectations which were realized to the fullest extent. Miss Bancker as Mrs. Sylvester is a bride of a few days, who had married a hard-up dramatic author, thereby incurring the disfavor of her father, who is a very wealthy capitalist. The newly married couple are always pressed for money, and the numerous ludicrous situations caused by the actions of the creditors, particularly the taking of the furniture, which was on the instalment plan, evoked roars of laughter. Mr. Geo. W. Parsons as Reginald Sylvester, and Phillip H. Ryley as Clarence Vane the unsuccessful actor, were exceedingly funny.

Foolish Prejudices.

How does it happen that so many ladies are so very careful about dresses and bonnets, and neglect the head dress? It is because they are prejudiced against artificial hair? Ladies of the most exalted positions in the land are wearing Prof. Dorenwend's manufactured goods. They are beautiful and attractive and give a charming appearance to the face. Throw aside your false notions of propriety, and examine the Professor's elegant lines of Wigs, Switches, Braids and Wavy Fronts, etc. Read the advertisement in another column.—Remember Huffman House, Peterborough, Wed. It was around this match that the most interest centered and a fine exhibition of curling was given. That veteran, Skip Ray, of the Thistles, speedily took a lead over Skip Weller, whilst on the other rink Skip Attrill, for the Granites, contrived to keep as many points above Skip Ferguson as Skip Ray kept ahead of Judge Weller. During the course of the evening, the Thistles would be a point or two up one minute and a point or so behind the next. So the game see-sawed up and down, keeping both players and spectators wrought up to a great pitch of excitement all the time, as the rivalry between the two clubs, though of the friendliuess nature, is very strong. The Thistles won the Kendry Cup from the Granites, but on the other hand at Toronto the Thistles were downed in the first draw, whilst the Granites were successful. Opinions, therefore, varied as to which club possessed the strongest players, and hence the interest taken in the match. The frequent ties in the score during the game were hard on the nerves, but towards the end the Thistles drew away with a lead of five. In the last few ends the Granites by magnificently steady playing pulled down this lead, and when the first rinks had played their 22nd end Skip Ray was seven shots ahead, whilst on Rink No. 2, Skip Ferguson was seven points behind, with one more end to be played. Everything depended, therefore, on Rink No. 2 as the tie would be broken by the result of the end, which would win the match. Skip Ferguson had built up a nice end for the Thistles and put almost the finishing touch to it with his first stone. The Thistles lay shot, and it was so well guarded there was no possible way to take it out. Skip Attrill resolved to break up the guard if possible with his first shot and rely on his last to secure the end for the Granites. He accordingly sent a "bullet" whizzing up the rink; it took a wick off the first guard and striking a second and third stone effectually cleared a passage through, leaving the shot easier to remove, though quite a few stones still lay in front of the rings. Skip Ferguson tried to repair the damage and succeeded in laying a guard about three feet in front of the shot with about two inches of the stone exposed. Skip Attrill and his vice, W. L. Allen, after a consultation and the advisability of "raising" one in or "wicking in" off another, decided that the best method was to try and run a port, draw past the guard and raising the Thistle shot out, lie in its place. The shot was a hard one and victory or defeat for the Granites depended upon it. The stone was grandly laid down with an out turn. Slowly it came curling up the ice and the Granites began to cheer as it swept through the port safely and to all appearances would just skim past the guard and take out the shot. The Granite shouts grew louder and the Thistles looked very anxious indeed. But oh what a ringing cheer went up from these same Thistles when Skip Attrill's stone just touched the guard hard enough to be diverted from its course and leave the shot unharmed. Secretary Knapman, up on a beam, led the cheering, while even the old veterans in the ranks of the Thistles grew enthusiastic over the victory and spent some time in congratulating the winners.

The Granites have nothing to be ashamed of in losing the match by a margin so narrow and another contest between these rinks is eagerly looked forward to, as a hair's breadth could have turned the tide of victory.

In single rink competition Mr. W. J. Read's Bobcaygeon rink won from A. St. A. Smith's Granite rink by the score of 21 to 7, and L. Sibert's Port Perry rink won from Mr. T. C. Boyd's Bobcaygeon rink by 17 to 12.

In the second draw of the club competition the Thistles of Peterborough won from Oshawa by 25 shots, Skip Ray beating his man by 22 points.

The following single rink matches were played off during the evening :

DEATH OF REV. FATHER BLOEM

Fatal Result of a Railway Accident.

On Monday morning as Rev. Father Bloen, parish priest at North Bay, was getting on board a C. P. R. coach at that place, he had the misfortune to slip and falling the wheels crushed the right leg very severely and also the left foot. The reverend gentleman was at once taken on the train to the hospital at Mattawa, where the right leg was amputated two or three inches below the knee. Ven. Archdeacon Casey received a telegram last evening that he had stood the operation well and that there were hopes of his recovery. But, this morning another telegram was received, stating that death had taken place this morning. Rev. Father Bloen was well known and very highly respected throughout the diocese and has often visited Peterborough, especially on occasions when the priests of the diocese assembled here. His many friends will sincerely mourn the untimely death of the venerated priest.

BOARD OF HEALTH'S LAST MEETING.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER.

It is Adopted and Ordered to be Forwarded to the Government as the Board's Annual Report—Mr. B. Shortly, the New Chairman.

The Board of Health of 1895 held its last meeting yesterday afternoon, when Dr Clark, Medical Health Officer, submitted the following report for the year:

The year 1895 has been one of the most satisfactory of all the years since Boards of Health were first appointed. Not only has a large amount of work been done by the Board and its officers, but the sanitary condition of the town, throughout the year, has been excellent as shown by the low death rate and the comparatively small number of cases of infectious disease. The start made in the construction of a general system of sewerage ought of itself to make 1895 a red letter year in the sanitary history of Peterborough.

DEATH RATE.

The death rate for 1895 is the lowest but one on record, being 14.2 to the thousand. In 1890 it fell to 12.85, but this was rather abnormal and accidental, for in the following year it rose to nearly 17. Few towns equal in population to Peterborough could expect to have a continuous death rate of only 12.85. But the rate for 1895 is what may be called a very low normal rate, one which we may hope to see maintained but which may be increased considerably without causing alarm.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES.

In the year 1891, some anxiety was created by the appearance of a number of cases of typhoid fever in the central and more crowded parts of the town. This is a matter of much more serious import than that of isolated cases, occurring here and there. It means general as well as local causes, a congested population with no facility for the removal of waste products. It means the possibility of an epidemic. Fortunately the summer and winter of 1895, passed away without any fresh outbreak. The cases of typhoid in town were few and scattered, as were also those of diptheria. Regarding the latter I may say, that although hitherto known as a filth disease, it often seems to originate in a most mysterious way.

In England, a country in which sanitary precautions are carried to the greatest perfection and are being constantly improved upon, statistics show that diptheria is steadily increasing. There appears to be some unknown factor or some fortuitous concourse of atoms or circumstances in the development of the disease. I have examined the houses and analysed the drinking water of places where diptheria has occurred. In many cases the probable cause may be got at; in others it is an utter mystery. A few cases of scarlet fever were reported. This disease appears to be gradually dying out. Isolation and disinfection are doing their work. We no longer have the extensive epidemics of former times, and the cases which occur are, as a rule, much milder.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES.

No complaints were made during the year as to slaughter houses, but a few were sent in referring to Matthews' Pork Packing Establishment. We made frequent inspections of this place, and always found that the best means were used to keep down nuisances. The most odor came from the fertiliser dryer. The Messrs. Matthews endeavour to utilize every portion of the hog—the blood, hair and residue of grease and lard (in fact every part, except that which is used are food) are dried by means of a furnace and sold in form of powder for fertilizing purposes. The vapours from this process are pungent, though not dangerous to health, and give rise to complaints. Lately a condenser has been put in by means of which the fumes are passed through a mixture of spray and steam which absorbs them. Since then I have heard no complaint. I may say that for a year past nothing has gone into the bay from this place but the washings of the floors.

REMOVAL OF GARBAGE AND EXCRETA.

House to house inspection has shown that this is pretty thoroughly carried out. Privy vaults are cleaned out once or twice a year; earth closets every month or two during the summer, or as occasion requires. Earth closets are much more likely to be kept in order than vaults. Few summonses were issued during the year as to these points. Some complaints were made as to the nature of the garbage deposited in Spaulding's Bay, and beside the Goose pond, and in some cases justly. Dead cats will find their way into ash heaps and old rubbish. The only solution for some of these difficulties is the erection of a crematory for garbage as is done in the leading cities.

SEWERAGE.

The most gratifying sanitary work of the year has been that which successive Boards of Health have been urging on successive councils so long, the commencement of a system of general sewerage for the town. The outfall sewer has been pushed forward as rapidly as circumstances would permit, and ought to be extended along George street as soon as possible, so that connections could be made with the more crowded streets and the creek relieved from the odium of being called "an open sewer." George street, between Hunter and Brock is in more need of drainage than almost any other part of the town. The present drain extends only a few feet north of Hunter, but carries away a good deal of waste from main and side streets as far as it goes. Beyond the end of the drain George street is as thickly peopled on both sides as below, and yet has never had the least drainage. In connection with this subject, let me call attention to an important point: We have had a number of instances during the year when either through ignorance of the possible dangers, or from motives of economy, field tiles have been used to carry away kitchen slops or other liquids. This is a great mistake and may cause serious results, especially when the drains run near houses or wells. Field tiles are not cemented at the joints, and are intended for the drainage and distribution of water from cellars or wet ground. The proper tile for carrying off any kind of liquid waste is a glazed one with cemented joints. No serious consequences have been known as yet to occur from this practice but the Board of Health will have to take it into consideration sooner or later.

WATER SUPPLY.

The Water Company continue to supply excellent water, concerning which no complaint has been made, nor has there been the slightest evidence of any form of illness from its use. I have examined a large number of samples from wells and find them improving considerably in purity, still when diphtheria or typhoid begin to appear the safest way is to boil all water used for drinking purposes for twenty minutes and keep it in proper receptacles protected from the air.

ICE.

There have been no complaints as to the purity of the ice supplied nor any disease traceable to it. The condition of the Little Lake as an ice field have changed very much lately. The sawdust nuisance has been stopped; the Edison drain no longer discharges there, having been connected with the outfall sewer, and drainage from the packing house, creek and George street sewer is practically insignificant, being rendered innocuous by oxidation and subsidence long before the ice quarter is reached. We may, therefore, congratulate ourselves in having a safe, convenient and permanent supply of ice, not only for our wants but for exporting purposes.

MEAT AND MILK.

The Chief has called me several times to inspect meat exposed for sale on the market, which appeared to be diseased, sometimes it is a very difficult matter to decide this, but I have always taken the ground that any form of food should be above suspicion and consequently in most cases have had it returned. Fewer complaints have been made as to the quality of milk sold in town, and these have been generally regarding insufficiency of cream.

CESSPOOLS.

They are becoming a growing nuisance and danger, worse than the ordinary privy vaults. Houses are now built on the modern plan with bathrooms and closets. Cesspools are sunk in connection with these, the reason given being that sewerage is at hand and the pipes may then be turned from the cesspool to the sewer. A by-law of the town enacts that no cesspool shall be constructed without details being submitted to the Medical Health Officer for his approval, but this is disregarded, and besides the council can overrule it. Either sewerage should be pushed throughout the town rapidly or a stop be put to the construction of cesspools.

On the whole we have much reason to be satisfied with the sanitary condition of the town at present. There is a low death rate, very little infectious disease, and sanitary work is systematically carried out. Certain parts of the town which have long been looked upon as plague spots are losing their bad name; Spaulding's Bay is gradually disappearing; the Little Lake is becoming purer, and Whyte's dam has been proven to be not so dangerous as many supposed. It is to be hoped this improved state of affairs will continue.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. CLARKE, M.D.,
Medical Health Officer.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING.

THE TREASURER'S RESIGNATION IS RECEIVED.

A Large Number of Reports Submitted by the Different Committees—Mr. W. A. Stratton Addresses the Council on Behalf of Mrs. Wm. Bowman—She Claims Damages.

There was a great budget of business up before the Town Council last night in the shape of a large number of voluminous committee reports.

Although the new council wasted considerable time in useless discussion upon motions already passed and adopted reports, yet the business was transacted with creditable dispatch and energy. The Mayor occupied the chair, and the following members were in attendance: Messrs. Best, W. H. White, Hughes, Denne, Mills, Phelan, Weir, Sawers, Moore, Langford, Graham and John White.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and referred as follows:

From Richard Hall, drawing attention to the fact that the Y.M.C.A. proposed erecting a building on the lot on the corner of George and Murray streets at a cost of $18,000 for the lot and building. Under the will of the late Mrs. Nicholls the sum of $20,000 was set aside for the erection and maintenance of such a building, but the trustees were inclined to think that unless the town guaranteed to exempt the premises from all taxation, that the interest on the amount that would remain after paying for the building and lot, would be insufficient for maintenance. The trustees, therefore, do not feel justified in assenting to the large expenditure unless the council agrees to consent to special legislation being obtained at the next session of the Legislative Assembly to this end.

Referred to the Finance Committee.

From W. E. Hudson asking for more time in which to pay his taxes. Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the City Council of Ottawa, asking the Council's co-operation in seeking legislation regarding the amendment of the present law as to taxation of property for municipal purposes, owing to the large exemptions that are now allowed.

On motion of Mr. Moore the petition will be signed by the Mayor and forwarded to Mr. H. Stratton, M.P.P., for presentation to the legislature.

From Thos. Finn asking for remission of taxes. Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Thos. Bullen asking for more time in which to pay his taxes. Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Robert Grant endorsing a claim for $340 for loss sustained by stoppage of work in constructing Section No. 1 of the outfall sewer. The bill is as follows:—

W H Moore, law costs	$79 00
Watchman, 35 days at $1.50	52 50
Six months' interest on $1,500 at 7 p.c.	52 50
Foreman, 2 days at $2.25	65 00
Extra costs of stopping and starting twice in constructing 230 feet of sewer in short sections, instead of usual lengths	90 00
	$319 00

—Referred to the Sewerage Committee.

From Charles Munden, asking for a pedlar's license, without fee.—Referred to the License Committee.

HAIR HAIR

PROF. DORENWEND is Coming

It is contrary to nature that the head should be bald. Let that be fully understood. Is it not a fact that many ladies and gentlemen do not wear artificial hair for no other reason than prejudice. Unfortunately there has been a marked increase of late in baldness and gray hair, and the result is the loss of an attractive and refined appearance. MANY LADIES have the wretched habit of crimping and curling their own hair instead of buying an article according to the style. The result is they ruin their hair and when new styles come in they are unable to follow them.

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co. Ltd., of Toronto, has for thirty years demonstrated the beautifying effects of wearing his hair goods. Thousands of THE BEST LADIES and gentlemen of Canada and the United States are wearing his articles to-day. In many cases the manufactured article is more becoming than the natural growth, and not even an expert can detect that the hair is artificial.

The Professor carries an immense stock of Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees (half wigs), Bangs, Wavy Fronts, Switches, Braids, Etc., in every form, shade and quality. All can be pleased. Cast a call

RHEUMATISM

Its Cause and Cure.

A poisonous Acid in the Blood, which needs removal.

Only one means for a radical cure.

Rheumatism is a blood disease, due to the presence of uric acid—a poison—in the system, and it is only by the removal of this pain-producing poison, that a radical cure can be effected. Acute rheumatism is hereditary, and thus it is that young children are often victims to this torture. The use of liniments, embrocations and outward applications, may give temporary relief, but can never cure, for the poison is in the blood, and until it is expelled, rheumatism, sciatica and neuraligic pains will continue. Scotts' Sarsaparilla cures rheumatism by removing the cause—by neutralizing and expelling this poisonous acid. In chronic cases, this medicine reaches the source of the disease as no other medicine can. It gives renewed energy to the organs that sustain life, the forces that make the blood. For the nervous troubles of youth, for the debility that precedes old age, for ladies in their severe ordeals, it is without a compeer.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated compound of the finest medicines known to modern medical science—The dose is from one half to one teaspoonful and during its use the ordinary vocations are not interfered with.

SIX OF THEM DIED.

The Terrible Sufferings of a Party of Polish Jews En Route to America—Smothered Down in the Hold of a Steamer.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 3.—On this trip of the Beaver Line steamer Lake Ontario, there arrived in this city about 70 immigrants from Russia and Germany. All but 19 of them took train for the West immediately after the steamer reached port, but these had to remain behind. They had tickets from their homes in Poland, in the north of Russia, for the United States, but none had the $10 which the U.S. law provides they must possess before they cross into that territory.

The Society of Russian Jews in this city, which was formed a short time since, have taken the case of their unfortunate fellow-countrymen in hand, and have been corresponding with their friends in the United States. Yesterday enough money had been secured to send seven of the party to New York, and more is expected today.

Polish Jews cannot get out of their native land without passports and these are most difficult to obtain. Immigration agents have provided another way, but it is attended with much danger and loss of life. When a party decides to leave Poland they manage to reach the border of the Baltic Sea and there are smuggled on board a steamer, hidden in the hold and taken into Germany. The 19 people who were stranded here were a party of 26 who were smuggled from Poland in this way. They were all stowed together in a filthy space in a steamer's hold, and when their five days' passage across the sea was completed and the hatches were taken off six of the number were dead. The others could not have lived many more hours. The people who are here say they have suffered terribly, for the most of the time having had neither food nor water. Before Germany was reached the bodies of the dead had begun to decompose, and the stench from them was horrible. The survivors themselves wonder how they lived through that horrible five days' voyage. But they did and will soon send for others to join them in America.

In case enough money is not secured to allow the 12 remaining here to get into the United States it is said that they will locate in New Brunswick.

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere —This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

PREFERRED THE AGUE.

The Mountaineer's Objection to Work Was Ineradicable.

On a log at the door of a dug-out sat a man with his back all humped up, his lips blue and his teeth chattering, and it was needless to ask if he had ague. His general appearance went to show that he had been "enjoying" chills and fever for many a long day.

"Got a family?" I asked, after passing the time of day.

"Yes, got a woman, but she's gone over to Johnson's" he answered.

"You haven't done much work on your claim, I see."

"No, sir. Can't do no work with chills and fever hangin' about."

"How long have you been afflicted?"

"'Bout two years."

"But I should have thought you would have cured yourself before this."

"Stranger," he said, as he looked up at me in a doubting way, "do you carry a package of quinine about with you?"

"I do."

"And the stuff will break up these chills inside of a week?"

"Perhaps not as soon as that, but inside of a fortnight at least."

"No mistake about that?"

"None whatever."

"And you are goin' to leave me enough to make a well man of me?"

"Certainly, I shall be very glad to do so."

"Thankee, stranger, but I don't want it!" he said, as he rose up and sat down again. "It's a big piece of luck that the old woman happened to go away an hour ago."

"Don't you want to be made a well man?" I asked in astonishment.

"No sir—not if the court knows herself, and you bet your life she do! If I'm cured of these chills I'll hev to work on this claim, and I'd ruther hev seven chills a week than work one day! No quinine, stranger, and if you meet the old woman on the road and she says anything about me tell her it's a hard case and she needn't look fur me to git well under five y'ars!"—Detroit Free Press.

Baseball in the Far West.

The glass-armed toy soldiers of this town were fed to the pigs yesterday by the cadaverous Indian grave robbers from Omaha. The flabby, one-lunged Reulens who represent the Gem City in the reckless rush for the baseball pennant had their shins toasted by the basilisk-eyed cattle drivers from the west. They stood around with gaping eyeballs like a hen on a hot nail, and suffered the grizzly yaps of Omaha to run the bases until their necks were long with thirst. Hickey had more errors than Coin's Financial School, and led the rheumatic procession to the morgue. The Quinceys were full of straw and scrap iron. They couldn't hit a brick wagon with a pickaxe, and ran bases like pall-bearers at a funeral. If three-base hits were growing on the back of every man's neck they couldn't reach 'em with a feather duster. It looked as if the Amalgamated Union of South American Hoodoos was in session for work in the thirty-third degree. The geezers stood about and whistled for help, and were so weak they couldn't lift a glass of beer if it had been all foam. Everything was yellow, rocky and whangbasted, like a stigtoscel full of dogglegammon. The game was whiskered and frostbitten. The Omahogs were bad enough, but the Quincy Brown Sox had their fins sewed up until they couldn't hold a crazy quilt unless it was tied around their necks.—Quincy (Ill.) Herald.

UNLIKE ANY OTHER MEDICINE.

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century,

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognised that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

SEEMS sometimes as if the world were all wrong. Seems as if all the things we like disagree with us, and all the things we don't like, agree with us. Dyspepsia lurks in most of the good things we eat, and indigestion follows the gratification of appetite. Of course, it isn't Nature's fault. Nature does the best she can, and if a man will only help her a little bit at the right time, he may eat what he likes and as much as he likes. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for people who are troubled with indigestion. Particularly for those in whom it manifests itself in the form of constipation. The "Pellets" are quick and easy in their action. They are in perfect harmony with Nature. They effect a permanent cure. You need take them regularly only a little while. After that, use them occasionally when you need them—when you have eaten something that disagrees with you. They are not violent in their effect, do not derange the system at all, and may be taken just as freely as you would take water or any other necessity of life. Once used they are always in favor. You can get the "Pellets" at any drug store. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well.

A GREAT BOOK —ABSOLUTELY— GIVEN AWAY!

Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 large pages and contains over 300 illustrations—some of them in colors. It is a complete family doctor book. It is written simply and concisely, and is indexed so that reference to it is made easily and quickly. Over 680,000 copies have been sold at the regular price of $1.50. The profits on this enormous sale enable the publishers to distribute 500,000 copies absolutely FREE. A copy bound in strong paper covers, will, therefore be sent FREE to any one who will send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. HASN'T A BIT OF FUN.

WHAT'S THE USE OF BEING A MONARCH TO LIVE LIKE THIS?

The Sultan Works Mare, Insists on Doing It All, Trusts No One and Is Mulish and Suspicious—He Is Between Two Fires Now and If He Does Anything He Is Sure to be Kicked.

What kind of a man is this Abdul Hamid, Sultan of Turkey, who defies the great Powers by doing nothing; who is charged with being the instigator of the assaults upon Armenian Christians in his territories; who has asked Lord Salisbury to give him a fair shake; upon whom the whole world is now gazing?

Some one in Washington, who is described by the correspondents as having spent some time in Constantinople and to know the Sultan well, is thus quoted: "The Sultan wears the most careworn, despondent expression I have ever seen on a human face. People who go to ceremonies at which the Sultan can be seen and look for the grand monarch, attended by pomp and circumstance, are always surprised and disappointed when they see him. He is very simple in his tastes, unostentatious in his manners and cares nothing for display. He invariably wears the field uniform of an infantry officer, which is plain black broadcloth, with a red cord up and down the seams. I know many people who have gone to Constantinople, with the usual prejudice against the Turk and have in a very short time come to feel the deepest sympathy with him, a man who has more cares on his shoulders than any one else in the world.

"From what people hear and know of the personal instincts of the Sultan—that is, from what he does and says—his disposition is most kindly. He is very generous; he gives his personal attention and large sums of money from his private purse to all worthy objects of charity, and has founded many benevolent institutions, including an asylum for old people. Whenever there is a calamity or a disastrous fire and a severe accident of any kind Abdul Hamid is very ready to express his sympathy and make a contribution for the relief of the suffering, and it is admitted on all hands that he is in perfect sympathy with the advancement of knowledge. Hundreds of school houses have been erected all over the empire by his orders, and what is more remarkable in a Mohammedan country, these include many schools for girls—even for the higher education of women. The principal high school in Constantinople, which was built by the Sultan, is named in honor of his mother. It is a well-known fact that whenever an important matter of state comes up or whenever he is perplexed as to the course he should pursue he drives over to see the Valide Sultana, as they call her, in order to consult her and get her judgment before he sees his ministers. She lives in a handsome palace on the outskirts of the city.

"When Abdul Aziz was assassinated in 1876, just before the outbreak of the war between Russia and Turkey, he was succeeded on the throne by Murad, his uncle, for the succession in Moslem law does not go from father to son, but to the eldest member of the ruling family. Murad reigned but three months. It was commonly stated that immediately after his accession to the throne Murad developed signs of insanity. In fact there were reports that his mind was unsound before he was created Sultan.

"The Sheik Ul-Islam, who might be called the pope of the Mohammedan church, issued a fetwan or rescript declaring that Murad was incapable of exercising authority, and at the same time, probably to place the matter in a proper light before the Governments of Europe, two distinguished physicians from Vienna were summoned to Constantinople. They made a thorough examination and agreed as to his mental incapacity. This was final and Abdul Hamid, his brother, the next eldest member of the family, on August 31, 1876, ascended the throne without revolution or bloodshed.

"Murad was placed in a palace on the shores of the Bosphorus near Constantinople, where it is presumed he has been ever since. The public know nothing of him. The enemies of Abdul have often claimed that he is sane and is kept a prisoner in order that he may not interfere with the prerogative of his younger brother, but not until recently have there been any suggestions about releasing him and restoring him to power. Nor have these been indorsed by any men of importance or influence. Murad is undoubtedly crazy. If he had been sane, or even sane enough to be cunning, he would certainly have found some way to communicate with the outside world during the 20 years of his imprisonment. He might have sent a message to the British Ambassador or to some other member of the diplomatic corps at one time or another. Nor would Abdul have allowed him to remain in so convenient a location under ordinary guard if there was any doubt as to his condition. If he was sane enough to be made the head of a political revolution there are plenty of adventurers and conspirators around Constantinople who would have taken advantage of the fact.

Abdul has been on the throne for 20 years, which is a long time for a Turkish sovereign. He is regarded by all Europe as a man of ability and good intentions, but his weakness consists in his inability to devise and conduct a methodical and responsible administration. He trusts nobody. He is himself the Government, the fountain of all power and the director of all details which in other Governments are left to bureau officers. He requires the most trivial official matters to pass through his hands. For example, he reviews the decisions of all the courts of Turkey when they impose sentences for more than five years' imprisonment.

"One of his secretaries says one morning the minister of justice laid before the Sultan with a recommendation of approval the record in the case of a man who had been sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment. Turning to his minister, the Sultan asked: 'Have you ever been in prison for 15 years?'

"'No, Your Majesty,' replied the minister.

"'Well, it is a long time,' remarked the Sultan. 'Make it five years.'

"It is the common understanding in Constantinople that this method of administration reduces the Sultan to four hours' sleep per day, allows him no time for rest or recreation, and makes him the hardest working monarch in the world. It is, of course, this very devotion to detail, that discredits his administration and causes the greatest confusion in his Government, for everything he does not attend to stops, and everything he has under consideration is hung up until he has made up his mind what to do or given instructions to his ministers about it. All of his ministers, even the grand vizier himself, are mere clerks. The statements and promises they make to foreign ambassadors are frequently discredited by the Sultan. Whenever they attempt to anticipate him they usually get into trouble, for he is so suspicious that he often goes exactly to the contrary of their advice and repudiates pledges they may have honestly made.

"Another great difficulty is that the Sultan imagines he passes individually upon all matters brought before him and that his instructions are faithfully carried out, but that is impossible. The multitude of his duties and the infinite amount of business he endeavors to transact make it all the easier for his ministers and their subordinates to deceive him, and he never knows what happens with half the business after it passes his hands. Orders, proclamations and other papers are prepared by secretaries at the palace for his signature, and are then sent down to the ministry for execution, but between the palace and the porte—that is, between the personal staff of the Sultan and the grand vizier and the council of ministers—there is an ever-slumbering hostility, each striving with the greater influence with the soverign. The one often counteracts and neutralizes the work of the other and at intervals endeavors to bring the other into disgrace.

It is well known that some time in 1890, shortly before the grand vizier, Kiamil Pasha, fell, he told the Sultan plainly that it was impossible to conduct the Government on his plan, and described to him the intrigues and jealousies that were raising so much mischief with the people and around the court. He named more especially one palace favorite, an Arab priest, whom he asserted was constantly engaged in thwarting the plans and policy of the ministry.

"It is most likely that Kiamil Pasha's recent fall after being in office but a few weeks was due in some way or another to this same cause, for he is a statesman in every sense of the word, and is considered more honorable and intelligent than most of the public men in Turkey. He is 72 years of age, has been in the Turkish embassy at St. Petersburg and Governor of Syria, he has traversed nearly every foot of the empire, is perfectly familiar with all foreign affairs, and speaks with the grace of the native, English, French, Italian, Greek and Arabic.

"Three or four years ago two young Americans wished to cross Asia on their bicycles. The American minister at Constantinople strongly discouraged their adventure, but as they persisted, he took them to Kiamil Pasha, who was then grand vizier. The latter also objected, owing to the turbulent condition of the country and the lack of proper roads. But when the American youths told him they were going anyhow, he yielded to their determination and said: 'Well, it can be done, and if you insist upon going, I will show you the road.'

"He then sat down before a map with them, laid out an itenerary, for their journey, gave them letters to all the Governors and officials in the towns they would pass through and made very valuable suggestions as to their conduct on the journey. For months nothing was heard of them and the grand vizier shared the concern of the United States minister as to their fate. He made frequent inquiries at the legation concerning them and was greatly gratified when he found that they had got through all right.

"The chief cause of the present turbulence is the effort of the Armenians to obtain independence. Their movement has disturbed the entire people, and as is natural in such cases, all discontent, for whatever cause, has come to the surface and broken out in violence. But the most serious danger that threatens the Sultan is the suspicion of his own people that he is inclined to submit to the dictation of the European powers. Whenever he makes a concession to the Christian nations he arouses the hostility of the Mohammedans in his own empire, and whenever he favors the Mohammedans he endangers the peace of Europe. He is thus between two fires and tries to do nothing. As he has no cabinet of advisers behind him in whom he places confidences he has to go it alone, and the ministry becomes suspicious and discontented when he ignores their counsel. They would naturally prefer some one who would permit them to participate in public affairs and treat them with greater dignity and respect."

"The Common People."

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they want is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING.

The amendment was also lost, after which the report was adopted.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Langford, recommend that the committee be authorized to purchase gravel for raising the grade on George street, and to arrange for having it drawn to where it is required, at the rate of 20 cents per yard for drawing and that the drawer of the gravel, and also the stone required for the back filling of the bridge on George street, be paid on the certificate of the Street Inspector.

Adopted on motion of Councillors Langford and John White.

THE FIRE WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE

recommended —

1. That twenty pairs of boots and twenty coats, of rubber, be purchased for the fire department and that this committee be authorized to ask for tenders and award the contract for them.

2. That the rubber clothing when procured be kept on the vehicles with the hose and that they be used only at fires, and for this purpose be placed in charge of James English.

3. That the two teams in the fire hall do outside work day about and that each team be driven by its own driver, and that the agreements with the drivers be changed, if necessary in order to carry out this recommendation. Also that the team remaining in the fire hall be given proper training each day.

That teamsters deliver wood under direction of the Charity committee.

Adopted motion of chairman Mills and councillor W. H. White.

The Charity Committee recommended, through its chairman councillor Sawers.

1. That no action be taken in reference to the application of Mrs. E. Guy for compensation for board for Anna Tyndall.

2. That the amount expended by your committee in 1895, including $16 63 for salary of relief officer, was $2,005.16. The amount expended by the committee in 1894, including salary of relief officer, was $2,287.56, showing a saving in 1895 as compared with 1894 of $282.10. The total amount charged to charity in 1895 was $2,949.12, the difference between that amount and the amount expended by the committee being made up of accounts of 1894 paid in 1895, $662.45 passed by order of the Council on the order of the Mayor and members of the council without being passed or sanctioned by the committee, $185.20, paid to the Protestant Home $170, and salary of town physician, $160. The amount of accounts outstanding at the end of 1895 was on committee's order $170, on order of Mayor and A Protestant Home $4—a total of $195.24.

3. Your committee as authorized, advertised for tenders for wood and received a number of tenders. We recommend that 75 cords be purchased from Stephen Holland, mixed wood at $1.50 per cord; 50 cords of green tamarac from T. Fitzgerald at $1 24½ per cord; 50 cords of dry mixed wood from W. G. McCall at $1.50 per cord; 15 cords of mixed wood from Waller & Co., at $1.50 per cord, and that for any further wood required the tender of the Peter Hamilton Co. be accepted, which is to supply wood in quantities and at times as required at the following prices: Good cedar wood, $1 50 per cord; good mixed wood, $1.75 per cord; good seasoned body hemlock, $2 per cord; green tamarac, $2.25 per cord; any tamarac $2.25, 4 feet dry or green wood, $3.50; 22 in. sawed hardwood, $3.75; and that the wood be paid for on the certificate of the chairmen of this committee.

4. That this committee be authorized to purchase 200 bags of potatoes, and that they be paid for upon the certificate of the chairman of this committee.

Adopted on motion of Councillors Sawers and John White.

THE PRINTING COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor John White, recommended that the town printing be let at the same rates as last year, and that it be divided among the offices of the EXAMINER, Review, Times and Harper Printing Co., on the same basis as last year, except that the printing of the auditors report be giving to the Times office.

Adopted on motion of Councillors John White and Mills.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS,

through its chairman, Councillor Sawers, recommended that no action be taken on the application of Wm. Hudson for appointment to the position of sanitary inspector, as the police perform the duties required by the Board of Health; also, that Messrs. Wm. Aldridge and Thomas McKee be appointed assessors for Wards No. 2 and 4, respectively, and that Messrs. T. B. McGrath and John Kincaid be appointed assessors for Wards Nos. 1 and 3.

Councillors Sawers and W. H. White moved that the report be received. In amendment Councillors Moore and Denne moved that it be adopted. The amendment was lost and the original motion passed.

Councillors Thane and Phelan moved that Messrs. Aldridge and McGrath be appointed assessors for Wards Nos. 2 and 4.

Councillor W. H. White moved that Messrs. J. J. Hartley and Enos Evans be appointed assessors for Wards Nos. 1 and 3.

In amendment Councillors Sawers and Graham moved that Messrs. McGrath and Hartley be appointed for Wards 2 and 4, and Messrs. Kincaid and McKee for Wards 1 and 3. This resolution carried on the following vote:

Yeas—Councillors Best, Hughes, Phelan, Weir, Sawers Langford, Graham and John White—8.

Nays—Messrs. Wm. White, Deane, Mills and Moore—4.

BYLAWS.

Mr. Sawers introduced the bylaw for the appointment of the assessors for 1896. It passed its several readings and was signed and sealed, though not before another effort was made to appoint Mr. Aldridge. The salaries were fixed at $125 each on motion of Councillors Sawers and Weir.

Councillors Wm. White and Mills moved in amendment that the salaries be $100 each, but their resolution was lost.

Mr. Moore's bylaw regulating the dates upon which the monthly meetings of council will be held in future, received its second and final readings and was passed.

MR. W. A. STRATTON was heard, on motion, regarding the complaint of Mrs. Wm. Bowman, concerning the tearing up of the street in front of the C.P.R. restaurant. Mr. Stratton said that his client considered that her business had suffered greatly on account of the street being torn up to such an extent as to prevent the entry of vehicles into the yard and to endanger the life and limb of foot-passengers at night. The street had been torn up for eight weeks and though a complaint had been filed with the Council no action had been taken to remedy the evil. Although Mrs. Bowman preferred to have the matter settled amicably she was prepared to resort to the Courts, if the Council did not see fit to consider her claim for damages. She was willing to produce witnesses before a committee of the Council to prove that her business had suffered and was willing to allow the committee to settle the matter if reasonable damages were awarded her.

Councillor Best stated that the fault lay with the street railway, as no vehicles could cross their raised tracks. The company had been notified to attend to the matter but had failed to do so. If the town was liable for damages on account of this the sooner the street railway franchise was revoked the better. He had tried all fall to get them to fill in their tracks but had failed to get them to take any action.

Councillor Langford stated that the Street and Bridge committee, intended to begin levelling off the street in the morning. If the track was not now on its proper level, the street railway would have to lower or raise it at their own expense later on.

Mr. Stratton remarked that although the levelling of the street would certainly be satisfactory, it would not compensate Mrs. Bowman for the loss already suffered.

No further action, however, was taken in the matter by the council.

On motion, Mr. Cameron was heard in reference to a map of the town which he had compiled. He asked the council to grant him $150 towards defraying the expense of issuing it. In return he would present the town with as many copies as were required for the municipal offices. If an additional grant of $30 was made he would supply the corporation with 150 copies of the map, two feet by two feet in size.

As it was understood that Mr. W. L. Innes was also preparing a map of the town, no decision was arrived at concerning Mr. Cameron's request, it being referred to the Finance Committee.

MR. MCGILL'S RESIGNATION.

Councillors Best and Weir moved that as the council was desirous of retaining the services of Mr. McGill, as Treasurer, he be requested to withdraw his resignation.

In speaking to the motion Mr. Best pointed out that it had been stated that Mr. McGill's absence from town unfitted him for the treasureship. It was unnecessary, he stated, for the treasurer to sign the cheques for small amounts. If they were signed by the chairman of the Finance Committee and by the Mayor, this was surely a sufficient guarantee as to their correctness. So long as the bank was satisfied to accept these cheques there was no reason why the council should object. If this was the only argument against Mr. McGill as treasurer the town pay sheets could be signed by him on Mondays, when he was always in town and the other accounts were never in need of hasty settlement. In losing Mr. McGill, as treasurer, the town stood to lose a great deal and gain no advantage and he should be persuaded to reconsider his resignation. As a trustee of the Nicholls Trust Fund he had always been most obliging and there was a strong probability that through him some of the bequests to the town would be handsomely supplemented. In concluding his remarks he again urged that it would be wise to make an effort to retain the services of Mr. McGill if possible, particularly, as he had pointed out, the town could not suffer through his absence. If there was any risk attached to the issuing of cheques in the manner which he stated, the risk was the bank's and not the corporation's. The theory of taking something off the town clerk's salary and adding it to that of a treasurer, and dividing the municipal duties between them looked well enough on paper, but would never work, and complication would be sure to arise. He considered that the clerk was not overpaid as it was, as he was often working until ten o'clock at night with committees, as well as attending to his regular day work.

Mr. Sawers thought the two offices should be kept separate and distinct, but thought that Mr. McGill knew his own mind when he resigned and therefore his resignation should be accepted.

Councillor Moore stated that Mr. McGill had told him personally of his intention of resigning and in doing so fully appreciated his position, knowing that he could not fulfil his duties and be absent from town. A suitable man could be found to take the position at $300, without interfering with the town clerk in any way. He wished to refute the statement that he wished to transfer the town's account to another bank.

Councillor Langford knew that Mr. McGill's sentiments in reference to the matter were that he could not fulfil the position and be absent from town. He would like the matter left open for a few weeks, however, until the council was more fully informed on the subject.

Councillor Phelan in supporting Mr. Best's motion, stated that he would be very sorry to see Mr. McGill's resignation accepted just at present.

No further action was taken in the matter other than the reception of the resignation as recorded above.

NEW MAP OF THE TOWN.

Prepared at the Cost of Much Labour and Means by Mr. W. L. Innes.

A properly compiled map of the town has been a long felt want by the members the legal profession, real estate men and the public generally in Peterborough.

There has never been an official map of the town, with the exception of a plan of the original town plot as laid out by the Government in 1847, composed of only that part of the town bounded by Smith street on the north, Townsend street on the south, Park street on the west and the River Otonabee on the east. It will therefore be seen that a properly compiled map of the town is a requisite of which the citizens are much in need, and without which no community is in a condition to transact real estate business in a manner that will insure the claim under a title without fear of dispute in regard to boundary lines. The Legislature has recognized the necessity of such maps and enacts that every corporation shall file in the Registry Office a map showing all the subdivisions of the land into lots, streets, etc.

Although many land surveyors have practiced in Peterborough, not one was endowed with courage sufficient to undertake a task of such magnitude and involving the expenditure of so much time and money in preparing the details of a map for registration.

Mr. W. L. Innes, of the firm of Ranney & Innes, land surveyors, etc., with commendable zeal, began almost a year ago to gather together the necessary copies of town plans and as the result of months of hard work, is on the eve of bringing before the public a most complete map, such as is required for registration.

A look at the huge canvas will explain how it was that other surveyors forbore attempting such a task, and Mr. Innes admits that when he began he greatly underestimated the amount of work which would be required before the map was finished.

Some idea of the work entailed may be gathered when it is stated that the size of the paper upon which the original is drawn is six feet by eight. As the scale is four chains, or 264 feet to the inch it will be seen that the town covers an area of over 11,000 acres or over 17 square miles. From east to west it measures about three and a half miles and from north to south nearly five miles. The map includes all of the town proper, all of Ashburnham and the adjoining portions of the township of Monaghan, Smith, Douro and Otonabee. The breadth and length of every lot and the bearing of every line is actually shown. In fact the map includes practically all the information contained in 108 registered plans of the town, 26 of Ashburnham, 10 of the township of Smith, three of Douro, four of Otonabee and 15 of Monaghan. Although, of course, many small and inferior maps of the town have been compiled at different times none were ever sufficiently complete to comply with the requirements for registration purposes, whilst Mr. Innes, not content with complying with these requirements, goes further and also sets forth much other valuable information. A street and plan key accompanies the map, which will enable a total stranger to pick out any location at a glance. The map also includes all the railways running in and out of the town, and also the plan of the proposed Trent Valley Canal.

The delineations are plain and distinct, the streets are marked in bold block letters, and the figures are plant Egyptian. The compiler is entitled to great credit for the manner in which he has completed so laborious a work and should look forward with assurance to the council accepting it as the official map of the town.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the prices will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

Be up to Date.

The gentlemen of Peterborough and vicinity are, as a rule, right up to date. If they are not, it is because they lack opportunity. When they get the chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear coverments, should remember that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. The best men in the land wear these scientific coverments for no other reason than protection to the head. These goods are known throughout the land, and need no recommendation. Read the announcement on another page, and bear the date in mind.—Huffman House Wednesday, Feb. 5th.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—comfortless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

Although many land surveyors have practiced in Peterborough, not one was endowed with courage sufficient to undertake a task of such magnitude and involving the expenditure of so much time and money in preparing the details of a map for registration.

Mr. W. L. Innes, of the firm of Ranney & Innes, land surveyors, etc., with commendable zeal, began almost a year ago to gather together the necessary copies of town plans and as the result of months of hard work, is on the eve of bringing before the public a most complete map, such as is required for registration.

A look at the huge canvas will explain how it was that other surveyors forbore attempting such a task, and Mr. Innes admits that when he began he greatly underestimated the amount of work which would be required before the map was finished.

Some idea of the work entailed may be gathered when it is stated that the size of the paper upon which the original is drawn is six feet by eight. As the scale is four chains, or 264 feet to the inch it will be seen that the town covers an area of over 11,000 acres or over 17 square miles. From east to west it measures about three and a half miles and from north to south nearly five miles. The map includes all of the town proper, all of Ashburnham and the adjoining portions of the township of Monaghan, Smith, Douro and Otonabee. The breadth and length of every lot and the bearing of every line is actually shown. In fact the map includes practically all the information contained in 108 registered plans of the town, 26 of Ashburnham, 10 of the township of Smith, three of Douro, four of Otonabee and 15 of Monaghan. Although, of course, many small and inferior maps of the town have been compiled at different times none were ever sufficiently complete to comply with the requirements for registration purposes, whilst Mr. Innes, not content with complying with these requirements, goes further and also sets forth much other valuable information. A street and plan key accompanies the map, which will enable a total stranger to pick out any location at a glance. The map also includes all the railways running in and out of the town, and also the plan of the proposed Trent Valley Canal.

The delineations are plain and distinct, the streets are marked in bold block letters, and the figures are slant Egyptian. The compiler is entitled to great credit for the manner in which he has completed so laborious a work and should look forward with assurance to the council accepting it as the official map of the town.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

Be up to Date.

The gentlemen of Peterborough and vicinity are, as a rule, right up to date. If they are not, it is because they lack opportunity. When they get the chance they take it, and catch right up with the procession. For that reason, when Prof. Dorenwend arrives in the city, they will visit him, and provide themselves with his first-class Wigs and Toupees. The gentlemen who are bald, and from prejudice won't wear covermenta, should rememebr that they are running great risks. Any candid physician will tell them so. The best men in the land wear these scientific covermenta for no other reason than protection to the head. These goods are known throughout the land, and need no recommendation. Read the announcement on another page, and bear the date in mind.—Huffman House Wednesday, Feb. 5th.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE OF PETERBOROUGH COMING OUR WAY ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

GROWING IMPATIENT

The Opposition Members Tired of Dilly-Dallying.

THE REMEDIAL BILL IS WANTED

A Big Kick in the House Because the Government Wanted to Take Thursdays—Much Joy in the Tupper Household—Proceedings in the House.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—In proposing in the House to-day what the leader of the Opposition afterwards described as a most unprecedented, uncalled-for, unjustifiable and unfair procedure, the minister of Finance announced that the Remedial Bill would be introduced in a few days. That Mr. Foster's proposition was all that Mr. Laurier had said it was cannot be denied, for it involved the granting of a monopoly of the time of the House from the moment of its adoption to the end of the session, and the sacrifice of all the important legislation proposed by private members. Despite the fact that only eighteen days, devoted to public business, have elapsed since the opening of the session, the Government leader asked the House to adopt a motion that Government orders have precedence on Thursdays after questions during the remainder of the session. The Liberals stoutly resisted this attempt to ride rough-shod over the rights and privileges of the members of the House, and supported their opposition to it by logical and forceful arguments.

Messrs. Northrup, M.P., and Uriah Wilson, M.P., have been informed by the Fisheries Department that the time for hoop net fishing in the Bay of Quinte has been extended until the 1st of May this year. This is a concession of two weeks. The concession has been granted on account of the late commencement of the fishing season and the fact that many fishermen suffered serious loss. Both members have been urging the matter upon the department in the interests of their respective constituents.

Hon. Clarke Wallace was asked to-day if he had anything to say with regard to the resolution of Exeter Orange Lodge disapproving of his resigning from the Government on the school question. Mr. Wallace stated that of 2000 Orange lodges in Canada, this was the only lodge that had not upheld his action. He had already received between four and five hundred resolutions from different Orangebodies approving of the stand he had taken.

Letters were received to-day from Mr. Corby, M.P., in which he stated that he purposed shortly leaving to spend three weeks or so in the land of the Pharaohs. He expects to return to Canada about the middle of April, and the Conservative members of the House are in hopes that the popular "Harry" will be with them for a few days before the seventh Parliament of Canada has run its course. Mr. Corby, however, states most positively that he will not be a candidate again for Parliamentary honors.

Five years ago to-day the writs were issued for the present Parliament. They were made returnable on the 25th of April, when the life of the present Parliament expires.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Humane Society this morning, Mr. Stubbs, M.P. for Cardwell, delivered an address on the subject of pigeon shooting, docking of horses and other cruel practices, and gave a number of very useful hints toward the abolition of overdraw check reins.

Hon. Dr. Montague left to-day for the south.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. Martin Brings in the Insolvency Bill Again—Whiling Away Time.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—At the opening of the House proceedings this afternoon Mr. Martin introduced a bill respecting insolvency. He explained that it followed the suggestions of boards of trade and was similar to the bill introduced last session and the session before by the Government. He dilated on the need of such a law and, doubting that the Government was acting in good faith in the matter, and in view of the fact that there was no indication that the Government intended introducing such legislation this session, he took it upon himself to introduce the bill.

Mr. Edgar supported the measure, holding that there was great need of it in order that honest debtors might get the relief they deserved, and that dishonest debtors might be prevented from failing dishonestly.

Mr. Davies held that there was no necessity for the bill, and that the provincial laws respecting insolvency fulfilled requirements.

Mr. Mulock thought there was need of an insolvency act, and considered it the bounden duty of the Government to introduce such legislation.

Mr. Mackan (East York) said the commercial opinion of Toronto and other cities was in favor of an insolvency law, a uniform law, which would secure an equitable distribution of the estate of a bankrupt debtor and also provide for the granting of a discharge to the debtor. "Some of us know," he said, "why such questions as this are neglected. Questions of constitution are taking up too much time in the House, and commercial opinion is in favor of more attention being paid to commercial questions than to constitutional ones." (Hear, hear.) Proceeding, he expressed the hope that if the Government were not ready to carry through such a measure this year, they would be so next year.

Dr. Sproule thought farmers should be given the benefit of an insolvency law.

Mr. Coatsworth said that as far as Toronto was concerned, commercial opinion was in favor of a uniform measure, which would prevent preference by insolvent traders, secure the equitable distribution of an estate, and secure a discharge for the debtor.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) doubted the wisdom of a Dominion insolvency act, and was disposed to leave the question to the provinces.

Messrs. Macdowall (Saskatchewan), Davin, McNeill, and Flint continued the debate, after which the bill was read a first time.

Mr. Foster moved the Government's notice of motion that Government business should have precedence on Thursdays, for the remainder of the session. He said the House had been in session for a month and that the estimates and some important legislation had to be considered, which would probably take all the time that the present Parliament had to live. The Liberals had been blaming the Government for not having already brought down the legislation which the House had been called especially to consider, and this would help to hurry matters. The private legislation was not large, and he said he was sure there was no idea on either side of the House that Mr. Martin's insolvency bill should be put through this session. Its introduction served the purpose in view. He then intimated that Remedial Legislation would be brought down in a few days.

Mr. Laurier said the Government had better defer the motion to take Thursday until the legislation was brought down.

The Speaker retired at 6 o'clock.

After recess the debate on the motion to take Thursday was continued by Mr. Laurier, who quoted figures to show that the Government had never taken a day from private members until the House had been in session on an average for 40 days. The proposed action of the Government was unprecedented, and it was also uncalled for, because the order paper, so far as Government business was concerned, was practically blank. On the other hand, the paper contained a large amount of private business. The day was never taken from private members unless the order paper showed it was necessary on account of the amount of Government business it contained. The Government, he held, were not in a position to press the motion when they were responsible for the fact that two weeks of the session had been consumed through a Cabinet crisis.

Mr. Foster's only object was to see that the business of the session was got through with before the expiry of the life of this Parliament. He contended that the estimates and such business should be got through with before the Remedial bill was introduced. The Opposition had avowed that they would not allow anything but remedial legislation to be dealt with this session, and that was an additional reason for the Government's action. During the previous session the budget debate was proceeded with from day to day. The Liberals had refused to agree to such an arrangement this session, but if they would now agree to it he would withdraw the motion to take Thursday.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) said the English practice was that a grievance was the first question that should be considered, and that the Government should follow it.

Sir Richard Cartwright also claimed that a grievance should be considered first, and pointed out that if the Government took Thursday it would mean that no private legislation before the House, much of it of great importance, could be proceeded with. He asserted that Manitoba would be justified in ignoring any action of the Government, because since 1891 the House had ceased to constitutionally represent Manitoba, New Brunswick or Nova Scotia.

Sir C. H. Tupper held that the Government by its action threw down the challenge to the Opposition to hasten the bringing down of the Remedial bill, and the Opposition were now obstructing. The Liberals did not want the Government to get on with any business. They were constantly changing front. Now, they were saying that the House was a moribund Parliament and then they were complaining that the Government was taking the course which would kill important legislation that should be passed by the House.

Mr. Davies made a long speech, chiefly pointing out the amount of important private legislation that is on the order paper and would be killed by the Government's proposed action.

The discussion continued until nearly midnight, when Mr. Foster amended his motion for the Government to take Thursdays until the Budget debate was finished. In this shape it passed unanimously.

Mr. Foster announced that the understanding had been reached with the Opposition leader whereby private members would be given two Thursdays before the day was taken entirely for Government business.

The House adjourned at midnight.

AFTER A HARD FIGHT

Sir Charles Tupper Got the Seat in Cape Breton

BY A MAJORITY OF 724 VOTES

Clerical Influence Did Great Work for the Secretary of State—Bishop Cameron's Grave Error Commented Upon—The Government Influences That Carried the Day.

Halifax, Feb. 4.—Never in the history of Nova Scotia has there been such interest in a bye-election as was manifested in the contest in Cape Breton to-day. A great deal of money changed hands in this city, but the Liberals made their wagers before it became known that Bishop Cameron had issued his offensive pastoral to the Roman Catholic voters. The most intense indignation prevails against the Bishop, even among leading churchmen, for the fact that, notwithstanding all the influences at work, the Conservative majority, with the immensely increased vote, is four votes behind the last election, shows that without clerical interference Sir Charles Tupper would have had a very small, if any, majority. Many Conservatives express regret that Bishop Cameron should make such a blunder. They argue that Sir Charles Tupper would have carried the county anyway, and, although the pastoral no doubt increased his majority largely, such a tactical mistake will have a disastrous effect in the Protestant constituencies. The Liberals think under such adverse circumstances the result amply justified their decision to have a contest. It is a remarkable fact, notwithstanding the tremendious efforts put forth that Sir Charles Tupper received a smaller proportion of the votes than Mr. McKeen received five years ago. In 1891 the vote stood: McKeen 2889, Murray 2161; total vote 5050; McKeen's majority 728. To-day the vote was: Tupper 3705, Murray 2981; total vote 6696; Tupper's majority 724. It will be seen that the vote to-day was 1646 larger than in 1891, but while there was this large increase, Sir Charles' majority was four smaller than Mr. McKeen's. Mr. Murray, therefore, received a considerable larger proportion of the votes to-day than in 1891. Conservatives for the moment are very jubilant, and a big banquet will be tendered Sir Charles Tupper on his arrival at Halifax.

The Chronicle, the Liberal organ, in its article on the election, says the following were some of the influences arrayed against the Liberals:

1. The whole power and prestige of the Dominion Government.
2. The strongly-exerted influence of His Lordship Bishop Cameron of Antigonish.
3. The Roman Catholic clergy of Cape Breton County.
4. The whole power of the Dominion Coal Company, in so far as it could be wielded by the officials on the ground.
5. The assistance of Senator McDonald, Senator-elect McKeen, Messrs. Joseph Gillies, M.P., H. F. McDougall, M.P., Dr. McKay, M.L.A., J. McCormack, M.L.A., C. E. Tanner, M.L.A., the late Sir John Thompson's brother-in-law, E. Gregory, J. A. McKinnon and other lesser lights of the Tory party.
6. The active aid of a gang of Dominion officials, local and imported.
7. The boodle contributed by the Government contractors and placemen, without the lavish use of which Sir Charles Tupper was never known to carry on a keenly contested election.

The Chronicle continues: "Against these combined and powerful influences Mr. Murray and his band of Liberal workers made a grand fight—a fight of argument and intelligence against Government boodle, lavish Tupper promises, clerical coercion wielded with a vindictiveness and intolerance never before known in this province. That Bishop Cameron could have deliberately applied so insulting and offensive an epithet as 'hell-inspired hypocrites' to the intelligent and respectable co-religionists who honestly differed from him, not on a question of morals or religion, but on a question of public policy, is something new in this province. It will not only be resented by the respectable and intelligent Roman Catholics, but will be duly remembered by the people of other denominations, and will undoubtedly give an impetus to the work of recruiting the ranks of Orangemen and the P.P.A. This episode was the most regrettable feature of the contest, and will prove a boomerang to Sir Charles Tupper and the Conservative party. No public man, no political party, can long afford to win victories by the employment of such influences."

THE RESULT IN CAPE BRETON.

One of the most exciting and hard-fought bye-elections that ever took place in Canada ended at 5 o'clock yesterday in Cape Breton. As was to have been expected Sir Charles Tupper was elected by a substantial majority, the exact figures of which are said to be 724. Although the Liberals went into the fight on principle there was not much hope to win against the tremendous odds of a hostile majority of 728 and the solid influence of the Government and the profligate promises made by Sir Charles Tupper, as well as other potent influences, including a lavish expenditure of corruption funds. But the endorsation of Sir Charles Tupper by the employees of a Yankee Coal Company in Cape Breton forms no indication of the feeling of the rest of the Dominion as to Sir Charles Tupper's desirability as a factor in Canadian politics. Even in his own party it is not by any means the best or representative element that rejoices at his return to Parliament. The respectable element think now that the present heads of the party are bad enough, and should be taught a lesson, and they also feel that with the addition to the "nest of traitors" of the "high priest of corruption," with his wind-blown schemes that call for the flow of mo like water, the assaults on the treasury will advance the country far on the road to national bankruptcy. Sir Charles Tupper's election may add a dangerous element of strength to the baser elements of his party, but his return to political life means only evil to his party at large, and if he continues to have the opportunity of plying his extravagant methods of wholesale corruption, an unspeakable evil to the country.

LAKEFIELD.

From our own Correspondent.

Mr. and Miss Francis, of Mount Forest, have been visiting Mr. Wm. Cox, sr.

Miss Maud Cox left on Monday on a visit to Grand Forks, Dakota.

Mr. John Myres, who has been visiting here for some time, returned to his home at Inkster, Dakota.

Mr. Geo. Edmison and the Misses Edmison of Peterborough were in the village on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. D'Eyncourt Strickland, of Montreal is visiting friends in the village.

Mr. Clarence Bell, of Toronto, spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. and Miss Barr, of Dummer, were in the village on Sunday.

Mr. Charles Mellor spent a few days in Peterborough last week.

Master Norman Bell, youngest son of Dr. Bell, while out at Garbutt's school, Douro, had the misfortune, while playing, to get his leg broken. He was brought into the village by Mr. Giles, when the fracture was reduced. It will be some time before he is around again.

Two rinks of curlers for the Lakefield club went to Peterborough on Monday to take part in the bonspell which is being held there. The following are the rinks:

Levi Payne,	W Baptie,
J W Ridpath,	C Grylls,
J P Strickland,	George Postlethwaite,
R C Strickland, sk	G A Strickland, sk

Police court was held here on Monday by Police Magistrate Edmison when two Indians were charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing a religious meeting. They were each fined $10 and costs. County Crown Attorney R.E. Wood appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. E. B. Stone for the defence.

Another case against —— Laplante, of Peterborough, for selling meat contrary to the village bylaw was next taken up.

On Monday night last, shortly after twelve o'clock, the dwelling occupied by Mr. Fred Waldon was completely burned to the ground.

It appears that Mr. Waldon had retired about twelve o'clock for the night and had only been in bed about twenty minutes, when he noticed a bright reflection in the room and thinking something was amiss he got up and on going outside he discovered the shed adjoining the house to be on fire. The inmates of the house were hastily aroused and dressed themselves, and a determined effort was made to quench the flames, but the fire had gained such headway and as no water was to be had within over a hundred yards of the house, the fire could not be checked, and it soon communicated itself to the house. Seeing that their efforts were of no avail, the furniture, etc., in the house was then taken out, and the fire burned itself out. The house was owned by Mrs. R. Ray and was insured for $400. Mr. Waldon lost a self-binder which was nearly new, a cart, buggy and several other vehicles which were in the shed at the time, and a number of household articles which in the hurry could not be taken out. There were about 800 bushels of turnips and mangolds and 200 bushels of potatoes in the cellar and nearly all these were destroyed. It will be a total loss, as there was no insurance on the effects.

How the fire originated is a mystery, as there had been no fire in the summer kitchen for two or three days, and the building seemed to be on fire all over at one time.

The first grand masquerade carnival of the season was held in Lakefield skating rink on Monday evening last, and was a decided success in every way. The carnival was to have been held on Friday evening, but on account of the stormy weather it had been very fortunately postponed.

A large crowd of masqueraders and spectators were present, and the rink decorated with evergreens and flags, presented an enlivening appearance as the skaters glided around. The Lakefield band was present and played a number of selections in good style. The Bugle Band of the 57th Battalion, Peterborough, were present and although their music was not of a high order they made lots of noise. The races were the principal events of the evening and a great deal of interest was taken in them. The races were run off as follows:

Gent's mile race—1st, J. Jackson. Prize, silver cup.

Girl's half mile race—Etta Cox, prize, album.

Boy's half mile race—L. A. McWilliams (town) and Mell Strickland, the race being disputed, prize silver cup.

Barrel race—L. A. McWilliams (town), prize stamp album.

3 legged race—1st T. Ridpath, 2nd B. Ridpath.

Wheelbarrow race—1st T. Ridpath, 2nd B. Ridpath.

Tug of war between the Bugle Band and the Lakefield Band. Lakefield pulled Peterborough all over the ice and got a box of cigars.

Spectator's prize—Mrs. Northey.

As a large number of masqueraders did not leave a card with character represented we are only able to give a portion of those present.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

WRENCHED HER BACK.

THE PAINFUL RESULTS WHICH FOLLOWED.

Limbs and Body Swollen to Twice Their Natural Size—The Sufferer Became Helpless and had to be Turned in Bed.

In a cosy little cottage on the outskirts of the village of Merrickville, live Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams. Mrs. Williams is one of the thousands of people who admit that they owe their health, if not their lives, to that of life-saving medicines—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. And with a woman's gratitude she is never tired of sounding the praises of the medicine that has done so much for her. To a reporter who called upon her Mrs. Williams gave the following account of her illness and cure:—Up to two years ago I was always a strong and healthy woman, and always able to do my share of hard work. Two years ago I began to feel a sort of wearied depression and my head began to bother me considerably, but I still continued to do my work. In July, 1894, while helping to lift a load I gave my back a heavy wrench which affected the spine. My back and right side became very painful; my body and legs began to swell and I made up my mind that along with other complications I had dropsy. I began to grow weaker and weaker until at last I had to be turned in my bed. My body and legs had now swollen to twice their natural size and the pain in my back and side was almost unendurable. I continued in this terrible condition until about the middle of last March, unable scarcely to move. I had tried different kinds of medicines, but they did me no good. I now fully made up my mind that I could not live, and this was the opinion of all who saw me. One day as I lay thinking of my terrible condition, a paper was handed me to look over, when my eyes rested on a testimonial of a minister of the gospel who had been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had, like many others, doubts concerning medical testimonials, but I said to myself, surely that good man would not tell a lie. I decided to give them a fair trial and by the time I had used two boxes the swelling began to leave my body and legs, and at the end of my third box the pain in my side, hip, knee and back had entirely disappeared. I still continued to use the Pink Pills and daily grew stronger, until you see I am as healthy to-day at ever I was. I still continue to use the pills occasionally, and always feel better for them. I feel confident that if it had not been for Pink Pills I would have been in my grave to-day. Mr. Williams was present, and confirmed and endorsed all she said.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the medical marvel of the age. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines had failed. They are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition of the blood or a shattered nervous system. Sold by all dealers or by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50. There numerous imitations and substitutions against which the public are cautioned.

EXPORT MEAT TRADE

Prof. Robertson's Scheme Is Now Being Perfected,

WHICH WILL MEAN A BIG BUSINESS

Animals Will be Slaughtered at Montreal Only for the First Year, and the Chilled Beef Shipped From That Ocean Port Under Proper Government Inspection.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Prof. Robertson is rapidly perfecting his scheme for the opening up of trade in dressed meats from Canada to the United Kingdom. For the first year it is proposed that the cattle should be slaughtered at Montreal only, the port of shipment on the ocean steamers. Until a trade connection with purchasing consumers in the different cities of Great Britain has been well established it would not be prudent to slaughter cattle at different points in Canada. The risk of getting a name for inferior meats and the difficulty of efficient administration at more than one killing and chilling establishment make it highly desirable, if not imperative, to confine the slaughtering of animals and the preparation of dressed meats in Canada to one place for 1896.

The plan includes the opening up of retail depots in about ten of the larger cities of Great Britain for the purpose of placing within the reach of consumers Canadian chilled meats in their very best condition under their own name, "Canadian." It is intended that the commercial agencies for the distribution of the meats in Great Britain will be so constituted that the merchants there will be prepared to purchase a similar quality of Canadian chilled meats on their own account during the following year, if the same be prepared under the supervision of the Government and duly certified to by competent inspectors. The plan will provide for an extension and continuance of the business on both sides of the Atlantic by private enterprise after the Government has opened up the channels for one year. Inspectors of meats from animals to be slaughtered at Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Winnipeg, Calgary and probably some other points will likely be appointed for 1897. The beef merchants of Great Britain can then buy Canadian chilled beef of a certified standard of quality and continue a steady trade after the confidence of and connection with ultimate consumers have been secured by the action of the Government.

The establishment of minor industries, such as tanning, glue-making, and the disposal of by-products at the abattoirs, will be of undoubted benefit to the different places. Improvement in the manufacture and management of the by-products from the abattoirs will doubtless grow out of the experience of a few years and will enable cattle buyers to pay still higher prices to farmers for their cattle. Under the keen competition which now prevails, the working expenses of many businesses are altogether paid out of the revenue from what was formerly entirely wasted. Everything that helps to bring a higher value out of any part of an animal or product which leaves the farm will ultimately result in the farmer getting a relatively higher price for what he has to dispose of. The action of the Government in this matter is not in the direction of absorbing the management of trade, but is for the opening up of channels which the Government alone can open up, in order that the business of the country may be so developed that a large increase of production will result, with the largest possible share of the ultimate prices paid for these products coming back to the producers in this country. A few years ago Prof. Robertson ventured to point out the immense possibilities of this trade and the benefits likely to accrue to Canada from its establishment. He did not secure much support at that time, but since the imposition by the Imperial Government of an embargo on Canadian cattle, the House of Commons and the country will doubtless readily support the dairy commissioner.

DOWN AT MONTREAL.

The Banks Have Nothing to Complain of About Payments—American Money Circulating in Canada.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—Generally speaking this has been a pretty big day at the banks, and in order to see how paper had been met, The World paid a visit this afternoon to the leading managers, with the following result:

Bank of Montreal—"Payments fairly good; Quebec Province a little slow, with a feeling that payments will be better throughout Ontario to-day than for some time past. The want of snow has been the cause of the slowness in Quebec."

Bank of Commerce—"We have had a first-rate day, better than usual, in fact. There have been very few recalls and this is one indication of the satisfactory state of things. Ontario will be better than usual and the feeling amongst shipping men is that business will be lively when spring opens."

Molsons Bank—"All our notes have been taken up, although the wholesale men have probably found their customers a little slower than usual, owing to the amount of snow in the Province of Quebec. We have better news from Ontario."

Ville Marie Bank—"This has not been a heavy day with us. However, all our notes have been paid and only two renewals in the lot. People in this province are getting a good deal of money for their hay and are paying well."

The Jacques Cartier Bank—"We had a long list of notes due to-day, and they have been well provided for. I think, taking one thing with another, that the Montreal banker have little cause for complaint."

The Hochelaga Bank—"We are perfectly well satisfied at the way things have passed off. Our paper has been well met, and there were very few renewals."

Your correspondent learns that the banking section of the Board of Trade is about to take an important step in the way of ascertaining how to deal with the American silver currency and the silver certificate question in Canada. Not long since, when these gentlemen waited on the Finance Minister, they were requested to ascertain how much American currency there was in circulation in Canada. It appears that the bankers consider the amount of silver certificates to be from two to three millions of dollars, but they have little idea as to the amount of currency in the Dominion. In order to obtain such information, your correspondent learns that circulars are to be sent to the leading bankers of the country, and when the desired data is secured, a further conference will be held with the Canadian Minister of Finance.

U.S. POLITICIANS AT SEA.

The Senate Committee on Finance Reports a Provision for the Free and Unlimited Coinage of Silver.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The action of the Senate Committee on Finance this morning in substituting a provision for the free coinage of silver for the tariff bill was unexpected to the Republican members of that committee.

Shortly after the committee met Mr. Morrill, the chairman, announced that he and his Republican associates were determined that the tariff bill should be reported to the Senate to-day in some shape, either as it came from the House, with amendments, or adversely. Action, final and definite, so far as the committee was concerned, must be had, and he called upon the members to make their wishes known.

Mr. Vest of Missouri, said the matter had been discussed by the silver men of the committee, and they believed the proper disposition of the subjects was to be found in a motion which he would make. He then moved to strike out all after the enacting clause and substitute therefor a provision for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This motion prevailed.

The proposition to open the mints of the United States to the free and unlimited coinage of silver was presented to the Senate to-day for a second time by the Finance Committee. This time it comes forward as a substitute to the House tariff bill; just as on the former occasion it appeared as a substitute to the House bond bill.

The venerable chairman of the Finance Committee, Mr. Morrill (R., Vt.), in making the report said that he had voted against it in committee but would, nevertheless, ask the Senate to-morrow to proceed to its consideration. And, by way of comment on the report, he quoted the formula of the winding-up proclamation by the Governor of Massachussetts, "God save the Commonwealth."

A resolution was offered by Mr. Quay to recommit the report to the Finance Committee with instructions to report back the original bill and the substitute as separate propositions; but that resolution went over until to-morrow, owing to an objection on the part of Mr. Hill to its immediate consideration.

Mr. Bayard Defended.

London, Feb. 2.—In its issue to-morrow The Daily News will say it regrets the action of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the American House of Representatives, in adopting a resolution censuring Ambassador Bayard for the statements uttered by him in his recent speeches at Edinburgh and Boston. It will add that Mr. Bayard is exceedingly popular here, yet he is a persistent defender of American interests.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the tooth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentifrice. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

Yesterday afternoon the Peterborough Thistles were drawn to play against Lindsay and although they had been playing all morning against Oshawa the local men were again on the ice in the afternoon. Then Skip Ray and Skip Ferguson each scored a shot against their opponents, putting Peterborough two up all around. In the end Skip Ray ran a very narrow port and lay shot with his last stone, amidst cheers. Skip Flavelle failed to dislodge him, and the score showed Lindsay to be seven points up on Rink No. 1.

In the 10th end Lindsay won a shot from Skip Ferguson and got two more on the next, tieing the score. On the 21st and 22nd ends Lindsay laid one shot, thus winning the match and being entitled to play in the finals with Lakefield to-day.

A Worker's Class Will be Organized Immediately.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors was held on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Fairbairn in the chair. After devotional exercises and general routine of business it was decided to organize a workers' class, also that the committee take charge of a social evening on Thursdays of each week, also that Directors and Committees combined hold an entertainment in the near future. Also that the distribution of cards be abandoned on Saturday evenings, the committee having charge of this to give personal invitations instead, inviting young women to come and have a cup of coffee and biscuit, which will be prepared in the rooms every Saturday night before the service.

A special meeting of the Board will be held on Monday afternoon at 3.30. A full attendance is desired.

MASONRY IN LAKEFIELD.

Official Visit of the D. D. G. M.—Well-Skilled Craftsmen—Presentation to Bro. R. Q. Dench.

On Tuesday evening, R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood, D. D. G. M., for this district, paid his first official visit to Clementi Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Lakefield. He was accompanied by a deputation of Peterborough brethren, among whom were Very Wor. Bros. H. C. Winch and R. M. Dennistoun, Wor. Bros. Alex. Gibson, Dr. Carmichael and W. J. Martin.

The members of Clementi Lodge registered in unusually large numbers and gave the D.D.G.M. and visiting brethren a hearty and fraternal reception. During the evening the officers of the Lodge had an opportunity of displaying their skill in the E. A. work and acquitted themselves creditably and with honour to the craft.

The D.D.G.M. took occasion to commend the officers and brethren of Lakefield for their efficiency and seal and congratulated them on the condition of their Lodge and the marks of their progress. He also took occasion to refer specially to the model books kept by the efficient secretary, Bro. R. Q. Dench, who had occupied the position for ten consecutive years. On behalf of Clementi Lodge he had much pleasure in presenting Bro. Dench with a Master Mason's Jewel as a slight token of the appreciation of the brethren of his Lodge for his long and faithful services as their Secretary.

No man was ever more completely taken by surprise than was Bro. Dench, so much so that he was unable even to convey his thanks to the brethren until a later period of the meeting and just before the lodge was closed, when he feelingly expressed his pleasure for the gift.

Refreshments were afterwards provided by the brethren of Lakefield, and a few pleasant moments were spent in social and fraternal intercourse.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. A SUCCESSFUL FLAG SOCIAL.

A Delightful Evening at the Catholic Literary Association Rooms.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the Catholic Literary Association rooms last night on the occasion of the flag social. The room was profusely decorated with flags of all nations, the work of Mr. Alf. Kingscotte. There was a large attendance. Each of the guests wore a small flag, the counterpart of those that adorned the walls. Dancing to the music of Butcher's Orchestra, was the principal enjoyment, and during the evening excellent refreshments were served, the tables in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary being beautifully decorated with flowers and flags

The entire affair was a great success, all the guests being highly pleased with the splendid evening's enjoyment provided. The following committees appointed for the occasion are to be highly congratulated upon the successful manner in which they carried out the undertaking :—

SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

A Paper on the Structure and Habits of Insects by J. A. Fife, B.A.

The members of the Natural Science Association listened last evening with pleasure to a very interesting and instructive address on "The Structure and Habits of Insects," by President J. A. Fife, B.A. He illustrated the different points by specimens and the use of the microscope.

At the close of Mr. Fife's address, Mr. Elcome exhibited a fine Attacus Cecropia moth which he had recently mounted, giving in a pithy, practical way his observations regarding the Lepidoptera. Those present were very much pleased and profited by the evening's programme.

Rev. Mr. Symonds is arranging for the next meeting, Feb. 25.

There is still room to welcome new members, and we would intimate the desire for a greater interest by other scientific seekers.

The annual meeting of the County Orange Association was held yesterday, there being a much larger attendance than usual, and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. From the reports presented it would seem that the order is progressing both in membership and lodges. To-morrow evening in the Charlotte Street Church—one of the most pleasing entertainments of the season.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union and Epworth League.

Christian Endeavour passed its fifteenth birthday on Sunday, Feb. 2nd. The Local Union celebrated the event by a union meeting in St. Andrew's Sunday School Room, which was crowded by a large number of Endeavourers and their friends, notwithstanding the stormy evening. At 7.30 there was a prayer meeting held, and at 7.45 a song service, which was led by St. Andrew's choir leader, Mr. Mulligan. At 8 o'clock Mr. H. P. Kennedy, the president of the Local Union, took the chair. After the opening exercises, Rev. Dr. Torrance led in prayer. The president announced a missionary conference and reports of mission work done by the different societies. St. Paul's reported raising $88, George street pledged $50 for this year, St. Andrew's Juniors raised $27, St. Paul's Juniors $28, and the other societies reported an active interest in all missionary work.

Mr. Kennedy then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. W. McCann, of the Church of England in Omemee.

His topic was the Holy Spirit in Missions, or Power for Service. He said that Christians to day want above all things that the Spirit of Christ may be in and through them.

If our hearts are given to God we have access to all the resources of the Divine God-head. He does not withhold power or blessing from His people. If we wish to be filled with the Spirit we must be emptied of self. God wants more of us and we must be ready to receive Him. He empties us of self by the consuming fire of the Spirit burning up our self-righteousness. He leads us through conflict that we may lose confidence in self and find in Him our all-sufficiency. We should expect joy in God's service if we are led by the Spirit. If joy is not ours we may possibly be grieving the Spirit by some inconsistency or by the weakness of our faith. If we wished to be used of God we must be ready to brave anything for Him.

There should be joy in His service because of fruit-bearing. We can all have the joy of fruit-bearing if we cannot all be preachers. If we be disheartened in His service because [illegible]ure in soul winning let us look [illegible] from self to Jesus, who is our [illegible]ster and our guide, who is ever ready to encourage us. If in the midst of difficulties round about us here we are not able to overcome them, how can we be successful if we go to those in darkness? Let us be faithful here and thus be fitted for greater work. Do not be discouraged with the smallness of numbers. If each one has for his motto "Love for the Master," and is filled with the spirit of self-surrender, what a power we would be in the Master's service.

The thanks of the meeting were then tendered to Mr. McCann for his excellent address.

After the collection was taken up, Mr. John Moffatt led a prayer service by Endeavourers for God's blessing on the New Year of Christian Endeavour, asking for power for service in winning souls and also more consecrated giving for missionary purposes.

The meeting was closed with the benediction by Rev. W. McCann.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

WM. BURT'S DISAPPEARANCE.

No Trace of the Missing Man—A Full Description of His Personal Appearance.

Toronto Globe.

No word has yet been heard of the whereabouts of William Burt, the C. P. R. fireman, who disappeared so mysteriously on Tuesday last. He was last seen by his friends on Monday night, when he left the home of his brother, Aaron Burt, at 81 Pearson avenue, in Parkdale. He then seemed perfectly well, ate a hearty supper, and, after shaving, went away, looking unusually well. He was seen on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, around the C.P.R. shops, and since then no trace of him has been seen. Yesterday his wife came here from Havelock, where he resided. He was not a drinking man, but had not been altogether right in his head for some time. He fell awhile ago from his engine, striking his head on the rail, and is seemed to affect him.

On July 24th last Burt called on Rev. J. C. Brow, of Smith's Falls and consulted him as to his spiritual condition, seeming very much distressed over it. His relatives are exceedingly anxious to find him, and think it possible that he may have gone on a trip to some of the American cities.

Mr. Burt is a man of five feet six or seven inches in height, and is stoutly built, weighing about 170 pounds. He is dark complexioned, and has fairly thick dark hair, a heavy black moustache and dark brown eyes. He is 42 years. The first two fingers of his right hand were crushed some ago, and are stiff, it being impossible for him to close them. He was, when last seen, dressed in dark clothes, had no overcoat, wore a lambskin cap, and had laced boots and no overshoes. He had in his pocket a photograph of the the three children of his brother, Aaron Burt, three lads of ten, six and three years respectively, and had also in his possession a Westinghouse air brake instruction book and C. P. R. rule book. His friends do not know how much money he had with him.

LATER—A special received by the EXAMINER, this afternoon, states that Fireman Burt has simply been on a visit to relatives in Pickering, and until last night was unaware of the anxiety which his absence from work was causing.

COUNTY POLICE NEWS.

The Magistrate Disposes of a Big Budget at Lakefield.

County Magistrate Edmison went out to Lakefield yesterday morning at ten o'clock and was kept busy until three in the afternoon, disposing of a large number of cases which were brought up before him.

Constable Doidge laid a charge against one Davies, for conducting a livery without a license. He was ordered to pay the costs and deposit the amount of the licence fee. The constable also charged Frank LaPlante with selling fresh meat in the village without a licence, in violation of the bylaw affecting the same. Judgment was reserved in this case until Saturday.

Mr. A. E. Kennedy, Indian Agent at Chemong, charged J. Blaker, of Alderville, and M. Howard, of Hiawatha, with having liquor in their possession on January 16th. The evidence was taken and judgment deferred until Saturday.

Mr. Kennedy also charged these two Indians with creating a disturbance at a church social in Chemong on the same date. On this charge each was fined $10, to be paid on Saturday or 30 days in gaol.

County Constable Cochrane had cases against John David and Isaac Muskrat, both Indians, in which they were charged with being drunk at Chemong. As some valuable information concerning another case, was volunteered by the prisoners, the case was settled out of court.

Another Indian case, in which J. Blaker was charged with supplying Geo. Taylor with liquor, was held over until the result of the other charges preferred against Blaker was learned.

BENSFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. T. S. McKee is holding revival meetings here.

The farmers are taking advantage of the good sleighing to get their teaming done.

There is considerable stir here owing to the traffic over the new Bensfort bridge. A great many Otonabee farmers pass through here en route to Port Hope with their fancy peas.

The annual concert under the auspices of the I.O.F., Court Centreville, was held in the Agricultural Hall on Friday, the 31st ult. A very interesting and amusing programme was rendered. The officers of Court Centreville are to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which the programme was carried out by such good talent as Mr. Perrin, the comic vocalist of Toronto, and several others. The concert was a success in every particular.

CONCERNING THE MEETING OF THE GRAND LODGE OF THE S. O. E.

The Supreme Grand President and Supreme Grand Secretary Visited Lansdowne Lodge Monday Evening.

Wm. Clatworthy, Supreme Grand President, and John W. Carter, Supreme Grand Secretary of the Sons of England, paid an official visit to Lansdowne Lodge, Monday night. They had a two-fold purpose in visiting the town:—One, to make arrangements for the Grand Lodge meeting to be held here in the second week of March, and the other to visit Lansdowne Lodge while in session.

After the officers were introduced, the Supreme Grand President addressed the Lodge. He said the Grand Lodge looked upon Lansdowne Lodge as one of the best in the society and the Executive many times during the year heard a good report of how Lansdowne Lodge had transacted its business and also the cheerful way in which it treated visiting brethren, showing clearly that it had the true fraternal spirit. He claimed the society had many principles, but the fundamental principle was to have all business done in a business like manner; from the humblest to the head of society, all should perform their respective duties. The Grand Lodge always fulfil the conditions of the bargain, and surely they have a right to expect the individual member to fulfil his obligations by being prompt in payment of his dues and assisting in the work of the lodge. He spoke of the change in the Beneficiary department. At first the members rebelled, but he believed that not a half dozen members could be found who would go back to the old plan. The change entitling all who are sons of Englishmen to become members was a good one. It afforded ample scope for recruiting, and the ballot always proved a safeguard so that none need be admitted into membership unless in full accord with all. He felt that the Societies were too liberal in distributing sick funds, and advised the members to guard well the funds and pay no money out unless the individual members fulfilled the conditions of the constitution. In speaking of the Grand Lodge meeting he claimed that the majority of the executive were not in favour of having a banquet, but he did not wish to dictate. His address was warmly received.

The Supreme Grand Secretary, John W. Carter, one of the veterans of the society, and who always was a favourite with the members of Lansdowne Lodge, told of the object of their visit, saying it was not only for the purpose of arranging for Grand Lodge meetings, but also to renew and make acquaintances so that they might be able to know who to look to for assistance while the Grand Lodge is in session. He urged the members to be prompt in attending their lodge meetings, hold up the hands of the president. Nothing done in the lodge but tended to uplift them socially and spiritually. The ritualistic work tended to improve and uplift mankind. He claimed that none were better than they should be, human nature was weak but would be strengthened in the lodge room. The grandest feature of the work was the tending the sick, assisting the distressed and helping to uplift their fallen brethren. The society has already spent more than a quarter of a million dollars in benefits. The beneficiary department he compared with a banking house, the difference being they got interest a hundred-fold. They should be proud of their society; they should endeavour to perform their duty faithfully, punctually and impartially; make the initiation service solemn and impressive; have all work done in a manner tending to have a lasting impression upon the minds of the candidates. He claimed they had many things to contend with, a multiplicity of societies one of the greatest. But he held they should be prosperous, as all business was conducted on an economical basis. The entire cost of Grand Lodge support was less than two thousand dollars, and when they considered that over two hundred lodges came under the supervision of the Executive, the expense was light, and he declared that not a dollar of the society was wasted. He believed that the constitution as it stands was all right, and hoped Grand Lodge would let it rest for two or three years. By the change in the beneficiary department they created a surplus of $12,000 this year after paying out $18,000. He closed by wishing Lansdowne Lodge every prosperity.

Rev. Bro. Symonds moved a vote of thanks to the visiting brethren, Bro. Saxby seconding the motion.

The officers met with the entertainment committee after and discussed the programme of the Grand Lodge meeting, the full particulars of which will be published later on.

PRINCE HENRY'S BODY

Received by Her Majesty at Cowes, Isle of Wight.

Cowes, Feb. 4.—When the Royal yacht Albert arrived at Cowes with the body of Prince Henry on board, The Queen, who had come from Osborne House, was there to receive the remains. On board the Albert were Princess Beatrice, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and other members of the Royal family.

As the Albert arrived at Cowes, the warships of the new flying squadron, lying in the Solent, fired minute guns. The warships all carried flags at half-mast and in other positions, indicating mourning, and the entire scene was very impressive. The body will remain on board the Albert over night.

Political Pointers.

A general provincial convention of the Manitoba Liberal-Conservative Association will be held in Winnipeg on Tuesday, February 25.

The Reformers of North Norfolk met in convention at Simcoe yesterday, when the usual resolutions were adopted supporting Liberal principles. Mr. John Charlton, M.P., stood on crutches as he delivered a short speech on the political questions of the day. He said he did not believe in interfering with Manitoba on the school question.

CHRONIC HEADACHE.

The change in my Mother's condition marvellous.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a Boon.

MONTREAL, August 29th, 1895.

GENTLEMEN:—There is such a change in my mother's health that I cannot restrain myself from writing you. She suffered for years past with a chronic headache, accompanied with a disordered stomach. She was weak and irritable, and we thought she was going into a decline. For three weeks she has been taking a course of Scott's Sarsaparilla, which was recommended to her by Mr. McGale, Druggist, Montreal. Her headache is now but a memory, her appetite is good, and she has gained five pounds in weight in twelve days. She is a different woman, and I feel that you, in God's hands, have been the means of restoring her to health. I shall always recommend Scott's Sarsaparilla to sufferers from head or digestive troubles. Thanking you again, I close.

Yours sincerely,
Hortense Gaviliere.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is a concentrated extract, pleasant to the taste, and is taken in small doses. It is the finest remedy for disorders of the stomach and liver, palpitation, scrofulous sores, eczema and skin diseases arising from impurities of the blood. It builds up the weak, the strong it maintains in health. $1 of all druggists.

WHOSE TERRITORY?

Another Boundary Dispute Has Just Loomed Up

BETWEEN CANADA AND UNCLE SAM

A Question as to the Ownership of Hunter's and Coleman's Islands in the Rainy Lake River—Land Owners Who are Taxed by Both Countries.

Washington, Feb. 3.—There has never been a definite boundary line established between the State of Minnesota and the Dominion of Canada. In the general delineation of the frontier between the United States and British North America this particular spot has escaped attention until now, when valuable timber lands and prospective gold mines have lent importance to the question. Congressman Towne of Minnesota has introduced a resolution calling upon the President to enter into negotiations with the British Government to have the boundary adjusted.

Mr. Towne's attention was called to the subject last summer through the arrest by Canadian authorities of certain fishermen employed by the Arion Fishing Company, of which a Mr. Ams of New York is president. These men were thrown into prison and their nets and fishing apparatus were confiscated on the ground that they were violating the Canadian regulations.

Between Lake Superior and the Lake of the Woods is a network of islands in Rainy Lake River. Somewhere between these islands the boundary line runs. The largest of these are Hunter's and Colman's Islands, which together contain about 200,000 acres. They are covered with valuable timber, and signs of gold have been found there. The Treaty of Ghent declared that the boundary line between Canada and the United States should follow the main water courses. Capable surveyors have furnished Mr. Towne with affidavits that the main channel of Rainy Lake River runs to the north of these two islands, thereby placing them within the United States.

Mr Towne has found that while the English, German and some Canadian maps published in this country by the Government place the islands on the Canadian side, the map of Arrowsmith & Co., published in London in 1842, gives the islands to the United States, as does a map published by the Canadian Government in 1875, purporting to be based upon the most recent official surveys. Yet the United States Land Office maps all put the islands in Canada.

The owners of Coleman's Island, one of whom is Mr. George H. Fletcher, a lawyer, of New York, who has a half interest in it, hold their patents from the United States, and the authorities of St. Louis County, Minnesota, have levied taxes on the island. Recently the Ontario Government has also served notice of an intention to collect taxes on the island. Canada has been taxing Hunter's Island, and there has been a tacit understanding by the United States Government that that island really belongs to Canada.

All of Mr. Towne's investigations tend to dispute this theory and give both islands to Minnesota. His resolution proposing negotiations to decide the question is before a sub-committee of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House. It is expected that this sub-committee will make its report in about a week.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

THE TELEGRAPH HABIT.

Cranks Who Use the Wires for the Most Insignificant Messages.

"All sorts of cranks in the world," said the girl in the telegraph office of a Broadway hotel. "but I think the telegraph cranks are the queerest. Against the rules of the office to give away our business, you know, but a body can generalize. Do you know there are lots of men who have the telegraph habit? It is like the cigarette habit or the drink habit. When it once fastens on a man it is seldom he ever breaks himself of it till he's 'broke' himself. That's a poor pun, but it's true. If it wasn't for the telegraph crank we wouldn't begin to do the business we do. You'd be surprised to know the money some men dissipate in telegraphing on any and every excuse.

"All sorts of state secrets go over the wires, and important affairs are transacted by telegraph every day, besides the usual routine of deaths and weddings, and business orders, and women starting on journeys notifying their friends to meet them at the station. But the regular telegraph crank comes into the hotel and rushes into the office here and telegraphs half a dozen of his friends: 'Arrived safely.' Next time, half an hour later, he wires them to address mail to him here. Shortly after that he advises them that he forgot to notify them that he will leave New York on Monday. After a while he changes his mind and wires that he will stay till Tuesday. The next morning he worries because he has not heard from home, and wires them to ask if anything is the matter. He gets a letter by noon and wires again to say that the letter came safely by the next mail and he will answer by the afternoon post. Maybe you think I exaggerate, but I don't. Why, in a week a telegraph crank will often give me his entire pedigree and most of his family secrets.

"A lot of men do their love-making by telegraph, and a lot more do their joking with business friends in the same way. Any amount of chaff goes over the wire at regular tariff rates. Some men have a fad for sending wedding congratulations and death condolences by telegraph to great people who probably never heard of them. Egotism is usually at the bottom of most of this particular kind of insanity. The man thinks it makes him look important to rush into a telegraph office as soon as he strikes the town and dash off a message.

"Then some men are nervous, and it sometimes acts as a sedative to let off steam on a telegraph blank. I hate a 'Have you sent it?' 'How long will it take to get there?' 'How soon will I get an answer?' And men of business and common sense, who ought to know better, ask those same questions over and over again."

"The way people write telegrams makes me smile. I know a millionaire who will work for five minutes to get what he has to say in ten words for a quarter. But usually people write around Robin Hood's barn when they begin a telegram and use twice as many words as necessary. Women are the worst for that, but very few men or women seem to understand the art of brevity.

"Another funny thing is that telegrams, usually written in a hurry and sometimes under stress of great excitement, are literary curiosities in the line of spelling. 'Funeral!' is one of the words that is a stumbling-block to the mourner. 'Until' is another hoodoo word. You would be surprised at the orthography of the average American in a hurry. You learn lots of things in a telegraph office, but you have to keep your mouth shut. Oh! a body can generalize, of course!"

Parents Must Have Rest.

The Geographical Society of Florence will celebrate, in 1898, the 400th anniversary of Americus Vespucius's voyage of discovery, and will invite all the geographical societies in the world to take part in the festivities. In almost every country there is an idea that the salamander lives, or can live, in the fire. There is a strange peculiarity about this creature, which has given rise to the superstition. When placed in a very warm situation, the salamander throws out, from orifices in his side, small quantities of fluid to relieve the oppressive warmth.

A novel life-buoy and life-saving coat has been invented by a Swiss scientist. The buoy and dress contain an air cell, which is automatically inflated by means of the vapor of a small quantity of chloride of methyl when the buoy enters the water, while a capsule of phosphide of calcium, wetted by the water, yields a bright flame, or night-light lasting three-quarters of an hour.

A Camera's Lies.

Photographers, especially amateur photographers, will tell you that the camera cannot lie. This only proves that photographers, especially amateur photographers, can; for the dry plate can fib as badly as the canvas on occasion, and is actually more pernicious because of its undeserved reputation of veracity. Who would believe a ghost story on the uncorroborated evidence of a painter's picture? Yet a photograph of a house at Halesowen, taken a few day ago, included the likeness of the wealthy lady who vacated it six months back. As she vacated it for the churchyard, the plate appropriately enough exhibited her dressed in a shroud; and so convincing was this counterfeit presentment that a regular ghost scare broke out, and several women averred that they saw the dead lady at the window. On Saturday it was discovered that it was all due to some flaw in the photographic apparatus, just as in a very similar case at Ipswich some time ago. There the view represented a back water off the River Gipping, and in the water there was clearly outlined a drowned female figure—waist, bust, features, hair and all. They actually dragged the river to see what they could find, and found nothing. Curiously enough, a woman was really drowned at the very spot a few weeks later; so that Ipswich photography seems to be as previous as Halesowen is retrospective.—Pall Mall Gazette.

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century,

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

WOMEN are not the only ones who are sensitive about their ages. A man doesn't like to be told that he is getting old. A man doesn't like to get old at all. But worse than getting old, is the appearance of age. Health keeps a man young. It doesn't make any difference if he has lived eighty years. If they have been healthy years, he will be hale and hearty and won't look within twenty years as old as he is. Good digestion and rich, red blood make people look youthful. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich, red blood. It makes health in the right way. It works according to the right theory, and in 30 years of practice, it has proved that the theory is absolutely correct. It begins at the beginning—begins by putting the stomach, liver and bowels into perfect order, but it begins its good work on the blood before it finishes with the digestive system. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be and forces them out of the body. It promotes the copious secretion of the digestive fluids, and assists in throwing off refuse matter. It makes the appetite good and the digestion strong. It isn't a violent medicine. It isn't strong medicine. It does nothing but good to every portion of the body. It doesn't do harm in one place while it is helping another place. It is meant to help the whole body and it does help it. Whenever a man feels himself failing in health, when he feels that he is getting old too fast, that his vitality is low, and that he is losing flesh, he should waste no time in getting the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will build up quicker than anything else in the world. It will give him rich blood and solid flesh. It will make him feel half as old and twice as strong. Druggists sell it.

Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," in Plain Language, tells all about the "Golden Medical Discovery," and is a complete family doctor book, profusely illustrated. It will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"What do you consider the most promising portion of Europe at the present day?" asked the young man with a commercial turn of mind. And without a moment's hesitation the young woman answered "Turkey."—Washington Star.

Susie—And so you are an old maid, auntie—a real old maid? Aunt Ethel—Yes, Susie, dear—I'm a real old maid. Susie (wishing to be nice and comforting)—Well, never mind, poor, dear auntie; I am sure it isn't your fault.—Boston Courier.

Underhill (a crusty old bachelor)—There, that's Minerva, the goddess of wisdom. She never got married. Artful Widow—No; but this is King Solomon, the wisest man that ever lived. He married a thousand times.—Truth.

Willie—Pa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?" Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers, who make a touch and go so fast you seldom see them again.—Philadelphia Record.

"John," said the wife of the statesman who is not in Washington today. "It's all the fault of the newspapers." "Why?" "Ef they had done half as much talking about your speeches as they did about your whiskers, the country would have thought it couldn't get along without you."—Washington Star.

The Doctor's Uncertainty.

The physician looked troubled.

"Do you know anything about the Browns?" he asked at last.

"What do you want to know?" inquired his wife. "I have met Mrs. Brown a number of times and she seems to be a very pleasant, well-bred woman, who'——

"Oh, I don't care anything about that," interrupted the physician quickly. "I was thinking about Mr. Brown's financial condition."

"I think he pays his bills very promptly."

"I know he does," exclaimed the physician impatiently. "But is he really a wealthy man, or is he only moderately well off?"

"I don't see what business that is of yours," suggested his wife.

"I want to prescribe for his wife."

"What's the matter with her?"

"Nothing. That's just the trouble. She complains of a feeling of lassitude and all that, and I must humor her or lose all the business of the family."

"I don't just see'——

"Oh, of course you don't. You've been a doctor's wife for ten years, and you don't know anything about the business yet."

"But what effect can his wealth have upon your prescriptions?"

"Why, the whole thing depends upon that in a case like this. If I have no idea how much he is worth, how am I to know whether to advise a trip to Europe or a little exercise?"—Chicago Post.

Courtships.

"So, monsieur, you don't approve of long courtships?"

"No; women age rapidly."

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Are extremely frequent in this climate, and their danger lies in the opinion too often entertained that they will wear themselves out. That they do not and that hundreds are being hurried in consequence to untimely graves is one of the most patent facts of our existence. The only rational treatment is to employ Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, a preparation of inestimable value in all pulmonary complaints. In addition to supplying the oil in a form in which it may easily be assimilated and without disturbing the stomach, it represents the nutritive properties of wheat, oats and barley, and is therefore a reconstructive and tissue former of eminent value. Not less important is the action of maltine on starchy foods. These are rendered digestible and capable of replacing the waste of the body. This is Nature's own method. Try Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Doing His Best.

A Scotch school journal recently published the following pathetic anecdote, says The Wellspring: The crack batsman of a school cricket team was the only son of a gentleman who for many years had been blind. He had played and loved the game in his boyhood, and when his son was old enough to take a part in it he would be led to the field every time he played, and anxiously follow every stroke through the eyes of his companions. Upon returning home the game was eagerly discussed, and the son advised in every detail. Last summer the father died suddenly. The next week, to the surprise of the school, Tom, who mourned bitterly for his father, asked to take his place in the team. He played with unusual care and brilliancy, and when the game was over went to the umpire.

"How did I play?" he asked anxiously.

"Never better; you outdid yourself," was the reply.

"Because," the boy said as he turned away, "it was the first time my father ever saw me bat."

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

MILLBROOK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Word has been received here that Mr. Van. Raper, an old Millbrook boy, and who left here for South Africa about eighteen months ago, is now a prisoner on his way to London. It appears that Mr. Raper took part in the outbreak under Dr. Jameson against the Boers, and was taken prisoner. Mr. Raper, who is about twenty-eight years old, is a son of the late Mark Raper, of this place, and has three brothers and a sister living here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefroy, of Port Hope, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wood.

Mr. Ed. Kells, who has been a resident of Millbrook for about six years, left on Monday for Cleveland.

Miss Graham, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mrs. I. Needham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kells, of Peterborough, were in town over Sunday, the guests of Mr. John Kells, lumber merchant.

Miss Florence Southern, who has been visiting friends in Havelock, returned home on Monday.

Mr. James Bateson is visiting friends in Norwood.

Miss Alma Throop, of Port Hope, is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Argue.

Rev. Dr. Eby, of Toronto, will preach missionary sermons in the Methodist church on Sunday next. On the following Monday evening a social will be given in the basement of the church, at which the Dr. will deliver an address on "The Late War."

Rev. Mr. Phelps is confined to his room again through another attack of quinsy.

The second carnival of the season will be held in the rink next Friday evening.

Mr. Charles Thorndyke, of Toronto, spent a few days under the parental roof before leaving for Winnipeg, his future home.

Mr. R. Manning, of Peterborough, spent Sunday in town with friends.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS. Box 280. Detray, Mich.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

The Toronto Globe says: The Granites should be returned the junior champions this season at least. Dixon, their centre forward, whose services it was feared would be lost to them, has come back into the fold, and the team will be exactly the same as at the first part of the season, when they made such a brave showing against the Victorias. From all accounts Peterborough is not so strong as last year, when the Granites, with a much weaker team, nearly beat them; and as it is conceded that the Granites are not far short of being worthy of senior honours, there is no reason in the world why they should not carry the junior championship off in triumph.

The Junior Peterboroughs are down playing in Port Hope, this evening. They are accompanied by a few of the senior men who are anxious to play for the benefit of a good practice.

There is a probability that the Peterboroughs will go to Belleville for a game by the noon train to-morrow.

The Victoria Colts, of Toronto, have telegraphed their inability to come to Peterborough for a game on Friday night. An effort will be made to bring them down for Saturday.

The hockey team have had no practice since last Thursday evening, unless some out of town games are speedily arranged, the team will be in no shape to meet the Victorias next week. The executive of the Hockey Club is open to severe criticism for not making some provision to keep the boys in practice. If this game is lost to the Victorias, the blame will rest upon their shoulders.

The Victorias, of Kingston, defeated the Limestones of that city last night by the score of 3 to 2. The Victorias will come to Peterborough to play off the semi-finals on or before February 13th.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The two Societies of Christian Endeavour held a union meeting in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Andrews, after which Rev. Mr. Liddy gave a short address. He said that he was much pleased with the success that these societies had met with. He fully explained the meaning of the word success, and spoke very forcibly to the young men, in the light that a great deal depended on them, and that they were to make the best use of the faculties that God had given them. Bury the truth down deep in your heart and love it earnestly. Keep your eyes open and turn everything unto God, and be sure you have the love of God in your heart, and you are certain to succeed.

Miss Lumsden read a good paper on How to conduct our meetings. She advised that the meetings should be bright and interesting, and to have the mode of conducting them changed often.

Miss Kerby read a good paper on the duties of the Social Committees, saying that it was accountable for the sociability of the society, and that it required a good deal of work to do this well. The members must be made to feel at home, and to take an interest in each other.

Miss C. Campbell had a good paper on Lookout Committee work. The members of this committee were the eyes of the society, and were to look out and see that people came to our meetings, and also to see that they are made welcome after they do come; they were to notice who did not attend, and to find out the reason they do not come.

David Edwards gave a good paper on "Missionary Work at Home and Abroad."

Rev. F. Andrews spoke of the great success of the meeting. Everyone, whether young or old, had a work to do, and we should make haste to do the work that has been entrusted to us. We are just God's agents, and He works through us and we with Him, and if God be with us, who can be against us? If we are truly Christians, it will be a pleasure to us to work for God and do good to others. We must take God with us at all times if we wish to be successful. Be not weary in well-doing, for in due time you will reap if you faint not.

A paper on "Junior Endeavour Work" was well prepared by Miss Susie Campbell. She advised getting the very best person obtainable for superintending the training of the young people.

Mr. Porter gave a good paper on the aims and objects of the Endeavour Society explaining its rapid growth in a few years.

Mr. A. McGregor read a good paper on the work of the Flower and Visiting Committees. They supplied the church with flowers each Sunday when they could be obtained and also carried cut flowers with a verse of Scripture to those that were sick, which was God's evidence of love.

The meeting was closed by singing hymn 105.

Don't forget the carnival on Friday night.

The snowplough is doing good work now keeping the sidewalk clear.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and Love Feast was observed in the Methodist church here on Sunday last.

Mr. W. A. Eston, of Norwood, was in the village on Sunday and Monday.

Mr. C. Smith, of Toronto, was in the village on Tuesday.

Mr. D. Eason, of Keene, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Norwood.

Mr. Wm. Sharp and Miss Maggie Sharp, of Westwood, were in the village this week.

INTERFERED WITH HER MIND.

Margaret L. Shepherd Blamed Spiritualists, Hypnotists or Christian Scientists.

Pittsburg, Feb. 4.—"If there is any spiritualist, hypnotist or Christian Scientist in the house, I want him to stop his work at once," exclaimed Mrs. Margaret L. Shepherd at a meeting of the Pittsburg Patriotic Association Sunday afternoon. "Some of these people have been in attendance at every meeting I have held; they are sent by enemies. Some influence is being used to counteract my mental faculties," she concluded, and then she offered a prayer. The speaker has been lecturing in McKeesport, New Castle and the West End, Pittsburg, for several months on Christian patriotism, and incidentally reciting her alleged experiences as a nun.

A RICH MURDERER.

St. Louis Millionaire Who Shot His Wife and Little Boy.

Union, Mo., Feb. 4.—The celebrated case of Dr. Arthur Duestrow, the St. Louis millionaire, on trial for the cold-blooded murder of his wife and babe two years ago, has ended in a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

The terrible crime was committed in February, 1894. One day that month his wife and child were at home, awaiting his coming to take a drive. When he came into the house, Duestrow, who was drunk, began to abuse his wife, and finally shot her down in cold blood. He then picked up his 3-year-old boy, a beautiful child, and holding him at arm's length, killed him with a pistol shot through the head. His wife lingered for several days and finally died.

Duestrow received the verdict calmly. He sat smoking a cigarette as the judge read the paper handed in by the jury. As far as external appearances go, he was the coolest man in the court room.

OUR SEALERS' CLAIMS.

Switzerland Accepts the Responsibility of Appointing a Third Arbitrator to Settle the Amount Due Canadians.

Berne, Feb. 4.—The Swiss Federal Council has decided that the President of the Confederation may nominate an arbitrator in the Behring Sea dispute between Great Britain and America in accordance with the agreement between the governments of those countries.

Confirmed at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The cablegram to-day from Berne confirms the United Press despatches of several weeks ago, that the arbitration treaty negotiated in November last by Secretary Olney and Sir Julian Pauncefote provided that a third member of the Behring Sea sealers' claims court of arbitration should be appointed by the Swiss Government. The delay in transmitting the treaty to the United States Senate for ratification has been caused in part by the delay of Switzerland in formally accepting the responsibility.

The treaty provides for a court to examine and report upon the merits of claims of Canadian sealers for illegal seizure by the United States and the amount of damages that should be paid therefor. It has been accepted by Great Britain, with the concurrence of Canada, but needs the ratification of the United States Senate before it can take effect.

The Lost Was Never Lost.

Toronto, Feb. 5.

The discouraging result of Sunday's search for William Burt, the C.P.R. fireman who disappeared last week, deterred his friends at the Junction from continuing their efforts yesterday. Late last night, however, a report gained credence in the Junction that the missing man's body had been found near Carlton. This rumor was disposed of and the anxiety of Burt's relatives allayed by the following despatch, which was received from Pickering, Ont.:

The lost is found. William Burt, whose whereabouts for some days past had been a mystery, arrived to-night at his home in Pickering, well clothed and in his right mind. Some days ago he went to visit some old acquaintances near Uxbridge, and until he came here to-night was not aware of the excitement his absence was creating. Mr. Burt was formerly a resident of Pickering, and his many friends are pleased to know that no ill has befallen him.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE
OF PETERBOROUGH
COMING OUR WAY
ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past record

OUR PROGRAMME

FOR THIS MONTH WILL BE A VERY INTERESTING ONE FOR ALL LADY SHOPPERS. NOT A BUSINESS DAY WILL PASS BUT SOMETHING THAT'S NEW WILL BE ADDED TO EACH DEPARTMENT.

"ITS FAIR'S WAY."

EVENING WEAR.

HANDSOME FABRICS FOR EVENING WEAR ARE NOW RECEIVING MORE THAN PASSING ATTENTION. YOU WILL FIND MANY NEW AND HANDSOME MATERIALS PRODUCED THIS SEASON FOR THE FIRST TIME, AND NOT FOUND ELSEWHERE, AND AT PRICES MUCH LOWER THAN THE GOODS ARE HANDSOME.

WE HAVE HAD SEVERAL INQUIRIES LATELY IF WE WERE STILL SELLING HATS AND PLUMES AT THE SAME PRICES AS LISTED LAST WEEK. FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANY ONE INTERESTED WE MIGHT SAY, THAT IN EVERYTHING IN THESE LINES, INCLUDING A VERY LIMITED NUMBER OF JACKETS AND CAPES, THE PRICES ARE EVEN CUT LOWER, BEING DETERMINED THAT NOT A SINGLE ARTICLE OR GARMENT WILL BE CARRIED OVER TILL ANOTHER SEASON; BUT

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

KILLED WITH AN AXE

John Corrigan the Victim of a Companion's Fury.

STRUCK DOWN IN COLD BLOOD.

A Roughcast House in Old Cabbagetown the Scene of One of the Most Bastardly Crimes in Toronto's History—Four Persons Charged With Murder

Toronto, Feb. 6.

James Healey, a laborer, deliberately murdered John Corrigan last night, smashing his skull in with an axe.

The murder took place at a little rough-cast house at the northeast corner of Parliament and Front-streets, shortly after 10 o'clock. The house in which the murder was committed was occupied by John Corrigan and his wife and James Healey, his wife and two children were roomers therein.

Yesterday Mrs. Corrigan decided to move out and then the trouble which culminated so disastrously began. Healey, for some reason, objected to the removal, and to give force to his objections, endeavored to hold some of the property belonging to the Corrigans.

Cornelius Curtis, a young man well known to the police, who says he is a painter and has already been in trouble which nearly ended in murder, assisted the Corrigans in the removal of the property, as did also little Johnny Clayton, a newsboy and a son of Mrs. Corrigan by her first husband.

After the first load of furniture had been removed Healey, according to the story, took possession of a stove belonging to the Corrigans and carried it off to his bedroom. The Healey's and Corrigans, it might be mentioned, had used the stove jointly for cooking purposes, and Corrigan, demanding the stove, a free fight took place in which he, Healey, Curtis and Clayton took part. This was at about 9 o'clock. The appearance of Policeman Allison on the scene quelled the disturbance for the time being.

The cessation of hostilities, however, was not complete, and shortly after 10 o'clock Corrigan again demanded possession of the stove, whereupon another fight took place, in which Healey used an ax to batter in Corigan's skull. P. C.'s Allison and Osler and Detective Duncan were summoned. When they arrived Corrigan was breathing his last. Drs. Noble, 314 Queen-street east, and Hastings, Bloor-street, were summoned, but when they arrived Corrigan was already dead. Owing to the telephone system being out of order, it was some considerable time before medical assistance could be secured. Coroner Pickering appeared on the scene somewhat later, and a warrant has been issued by him for an inquest.

The remains of the murdered man were conveyed to the city Morgue in No. 4 police patrol wagon.

Mrs. Corrigan, wife of the murdered man, was seen by a World reporter walking up and down in front of the house where her husband had been killed. To him she said: "Oh, it was a most cold-blooded murder, and I saw it all. He hit him twice with the wood ax."

Being further questioned, Mrs. Corrigan said that she saw the first blow fall. She saw the ax raised for the second, and in her desperation she threw herself against the door to endeavor to force it in. The door was fastened solid, however, and she then made for an adjoining window and broke the glass, in the meantime shouting vociferously for assistance. At the same time her son, Johnny, endeavored to effect an exit by breaking another window.

Mrs. Corrigan was loud in her lamentations. "To think," she said, "of his being cut off and him not prepared to die. If he had been living a good life it would not have mattered so much, but he hadnt been.

When the police arrived at the scene Healey was found armed with an ax and a revolver. The latter, a 22-calibre seven shooter, which had one empty chamber. The police succeeded in disarming him and placed him under arrest, along with his wife, Ann Jane Healey, Cornelius Curtis and John Clayton. They were taken to No. 4 Station, where a charge of murder was registered against all four.

Healey is a married man, 46 years of age, and has a family of two children, aged 4 and 2 years respectively. He had been until recently employed with the Gendron Manufacturing Co. as a general laborer. He is of Irish birth and has been in the city for a number of years. Mrs. Corrigan says that the family were in a destitute state. Healey, she remarked, was very brutal towards his wife, and only a few weeks ago threatened to kill her with a knife, and was apparently carrying out his threat when Mrs. Corrigan interfered.

Corrigan, the murdered man, was about 35 years of age, but looked somewhat older. His father for many years was employed as an assistant janitor at the City Hall. Corrigan was married to his present wife, then the widow of the late John Clayton about 14 years ago. Their married life was not happy and for the last seven years, up till three weeks ago, they had not lived together. Corrigan had spent a portion of that time as the companion of the notorious Kate Papineau.

Three weeks ago the husband and wife reunited and took up housekeeping at the corner of Parliament and Front. Yesterday they decided to remove to other apartments at the rear of Rosar's undertaking establishment in King east. Corrigan had been out of employment for some time and only yesterday succeeded in securing work.

Ann Jane Healey, wife of the murderer, and who is a prisoner, is in a very delicate condition. She is only 27 years of age and is rather a fine looking woman.

Corrigan's head shows two brutal wounds. One is directly on the crown and appears to have been inflicted by the blunt end of an axe. The scalp has been forced from the skull, leaving a bare spot an inch or two in diameter. From this a cut extends forward about half an inch. On the left side of the face, directly under the eye, is another wound, also apparently inflicted by an axe. The bone is crushed in, as is also the side of the face. Dr. Noble said that this wound alone was quite sufficient to cause death. The left hand is also crushed and bruised and there is an abrasion of the skin as if the hand had been caught in some fierce grasp, which had remained firm until the skin gave way.

CANADA OWNS HUNTER'S ISLAND.

It is Wonderful That Uncle Sam Gives in on Anything.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The boundary treaty of 1842, negotiated by Daniel Webster and Lord Ashburton, and proclaimed by President Tyler, after ratification, made a specific provision for the northern boundary of Minnesota, and left no doubt whatever upon the Canadian ownership of Hunter's Island. This treaty fixed the northern limit of the United States from the Atlantic ocean to the Rocky Mountains. The contention of the Minnesota lumbermen that the language of the treaty is of doubtful interpretation is not regarded here as substantiated by any portion of the treaty.

Proposed Pan American Congress.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Senor Carbo, the new Minister from Ecuador to the United States, has made public the circular addressed by Ignacio Robles, Ecuadorian Minister of Foreign Affairs, to the diplomatic representatives of the South American and Central American States, suggesting the holding of a pan-American Congress during the coming summer.

Mr. Gourlay adds that Hugh John Macdonald is the most popular man in Manitoba.

The next retirement in the G.T.R. will be Mr. Wallace, mechanical superintendent, the work to be done by Mr McQuigan, the new general superintendent.

BRITAIN FOREVER!

A Stirring Resolution by Mr. Alexander McNeill

UNANIMOUSLY PASSES THE HOUSE

Kindly Expressions for the Better Section of the People of the United States—The Opposition and the Government go Hand in Hand.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—In the House today, pursuant to notice, Mr. McNeill rose to move:

"That in view of the threatening aspect of foreign affairs this House desires to assure Her Majesty's Government and the people of the United Kingdom of its unalterable loyalty and devotion to the British Throne and Constitution and of its conviction that should occasion unhappily arise, in no other part of the Empire than the Dominion of Canada would more substantial sacrifices attest the determination of Her Majesty's subjects to maintain unimpaired the integrity and inviolate the honor of Her Majesty's Empire and reiterates the oft-expressed desire of the people of Canada to maintain the most friendly relations with their kinsmen of the United States."

He said—It may be said that the resolution is superfluous, that it is unnecessary to assure the Government and the people of the United Kingdom of what they are already very well aware. I do not doubt for my own part that it is well understood in the United Kingdom that the people are devotedly attached to the Throne and devotedly attached to the constitution under which they live and under which they enjoy such an ample measure of freedom and so many inestimable benefits. But we have not to regard only the view that may be held of this resolution in the Mother Country. We have also to regard how it may be viewed in foreign countries, and it would seem that in some foreign countries very curious ideas prevail concerning the political aspirations of the people of Canada. If we may judge from statements made by public men on public occasions, and by articles which have appeared in the newspaper press, the idea seems to prevail in the United States among a certain section of the people that the people of Canada are only desirous of seizing the first favorable opportunity to change their political connection and alter their allegiance from the Crown of England to the Republic of the United States, and that the hauling down of the Union Jack and the substitution in its place of the Stars and Stripes from every flag-staff in Canada, and from every Canadian masthead and peak that sails to sea, would be hailed with paeans of joy by the people of Canada. Now, sir, to the members of this House, as the representatives of the people of Canada, that view seems to be simply amazing.

It is surprising to the representatives of the people of Canada that the sentiments of Canada should be so entirely misapprehended by a section of the people who live in such close proximity to her. Why, sir, as you know well, from Halifax to Vancouver, there is not one single constituency in which, if the policy of annexation were advocated upon the hustings, the result would be other than a hopeless, overwhelming defeat of the candidate who ventured to make that policy a plank of his platform. If there be one question more than another upon which the rank and file of the people are solid, it is this question of annexation to the United States. Sir, it is the earnest wish of every Canadian to maintain the most friendly relations with the great people who divide this continent with us whom we regard as our kindred; and in whose magnificent achievements on behalf of civilization it is not too much to say that every Canadian has almost personal pride. But, while we admire the great qualities of our kinsmen of the neighboring Republic, we have no desire, whatsoever, to enter into political partnership with them. We prefer our constitution to theirs; we prefer British connection to connection with the United States; we claim the right of a free people to choose between our own mother country and the American Republic.

We only ask our good friends to the south to leave us alone and to allow us to work out our own destiny in the way which seems to us best. (Cheers.) We have made our choice and our choice is with our own Mother Country, and if the necessity should unfortunately arise, the people of Canada will do what men may do to preserve for themselves and for those who come after them what they hold to be their most precious political inheritance, namely their birthright as British subjects. (Cheers.) I think, sir, that it is very much better that there should be no misunderstanding with regard to this matter and, therefore I have endeavored, in very simple and plain language to state what the simple truth in regard to it really is, for misapprehensions in regard to matters of this kind have, before now, given rise to very grave consequences. The people of Canada are determined to maintain the position which this Dominion holds as an integral part of the British Empire, and they are perfectly well satisfied that a united British Empire is well able to take care of itself. (Cheers.)

Sir, we are for peace, first of all, for honorable peace; but, if we are assailed we believe that we shall act not altogether unworthily of the stock from which we come, and we know that at our back will be an Empire whose resources are practically inexhaustible, more especially in so far as the number of fighting men that can be, in case of emergency, placed in line is concerned. (Cheers.) Least of all, he remarked, do we want war, and least of all do we expect to have war with out own kith and kin. There has been an extraordinary development of the sentiment of kinship—if I may so express it—among British people during the last ten or fifteen years. So that, in the Empire to-day, even more than ever before, a war with

THE ESTIMATES AND DEFICITS.

In the matter of public expenditure Finance Minister Foster seems to have adopted the erstwhile advice of Sir Leonard Tilley, to "clap on all sail." With the most reckless effrontery Mr. Foster proposes an expenditure of $38,308,549, an increase of $1,316,586 over last year; and, when the supplementary estimates yet to be brought down are submitted, it will be found that the total expenditure for a country of five millions will amount to forty millions for the year, an expenditure of $8 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. At Confederation 29 years ago the expenditure was thirteen millions and a half yearly. When the present government took power in 1878 the expenditure was twenty-three and a half millions. Since that time it has advanced to the tremendous figures of nearly forty millions, an annual increase of nearly $300,000 per year. It seems as if the monumental extravagance of Sir Charles Tupper had exercised a hypnotic influence on Mr. Foster, who seems to have been influenced by the "suggestions" of the "high priest of corruption." The people do not seem to realize how rapidly our annual expenditure is growing. Look at this little table of the receipts and expenditures, which shows how our extravagant rulers have increased the cost of the Dominion house keeping since we became a Dominion:

1867-68	$ 13,486,092
1868-69	14,088,084
1869-70	14,345,509
1870-71	15,633,081
1871-72	17,589,468
1872-73	19,174,647
1873-74	20,416,316
1874-75	23,713,071
1875-76	24,458,372
1876-77	23,519,301
1877-78	23,503,158
1878-79	21,455,381
1879-80	24,850,634
1880-81	25,502,554
1881-82	27,087,103
1882-83	28,730,157
1883-84	31,107,706
1884-85	35,087,089
1885-86	39,011,612
1886-87	35,037,690
1887-88	36,718,494
1888-89	36,917,384
1889-90	35,991,031
1890-91	36,343,667
1891-92	36,675,894
1892-93	36,814,032
1893-94	37,585,025
1894-95 (estimated)	38,517,152
1895-96 (estimated)	36,991,963
1896-97 (estimated)	38,308,549

When we entered Confederation our annual expenditure was only thirteen and a half millions, now it is perilously close to forty millions. If our expenditure has trebled itself in less than thirty years, and if the same extravagant rate of increase that has prevailed since the present government came into power, continues in less than twenty years, our annual expenditure will increase to over a hundred millions.

Is it any wonder then that we are fast running behind and that deficits are piling up.

WHERE IS THE GREAT TORY PARTY AT?

SOME of our political heelers who have no more loyalty than a shark—faithful only to what will fill pocket or maw—are fond of denouncing Liberals as disloyal and arrogating all the loyalty extant in Canadians as the private property of the Conservative party. But horror of horrors! In North Essex the Conservatives have selected as the Government candidate the president of an annexation club, Mr. D. B. Odette, and another horrible fact is that his chief competitor for the party nomination was another annexationist, Mr. Sol White. We should apologise for not spelling "annexationist" with a capital letter, for it cannot be called a "common" noun (and is by no means a "proper" one,) for the only two annexationists in Canada that we could lay our hands on conveniently, on the spur of the moment, are the accepted and the unsuccessful, though highly favoured candidate of the Conservative party in North Essex.

IT MUST BE SO NOW.

The Hamilton Herald has the following playful reference to the Great Stretcher. One would have thought the tribute extravagant and overdrawn, but when the great man was elected on Tuesday, in Cape Breton, by a smaller majority than a mere political pigmy like Mr. McKean was a few days ago, we must take it at par. This is the Herald's modest estimate of Sir Charles Tupper as "the great I am."—

Sir Charles Tupper has been giving the people of Cape Breton some interesting information about himself since he began to make a sound greater than the sound of the sounding seas. It appears that he discovered America, built Niagara Falls, invented the steam engine, cooked the first Welsh rabbit and taught the ice to grow on the face of chilled and chilling waters.

It was Tupper who gave to the world the discovery of printing, built the Eeffel tower and the Ferris wheel, managed the World's Fair, noticed the attraction of gravitation, planned all Napoleon's campaigns, discovered electricity, fashioned the first plowshare' invented the domestic cat, taught bees how to lay eggs, and grandmothers how to suck them. It was Tupper who lead the charge of the Light Brigade and personally supervised every victory that Great Britain has ever won on land or sea.

And Tupper is only beginning. He has done much, but, by ginger, he means to do more. Single-handed he will conquer the world and lay it all at Canada's feet if he has to use up all the capital I's in every type-casting machine in the country. There is no doubt that when Tupper was born the old earth staggered in its course, while sun, moon and stars rubbed their eyes and wondered what the deuce was up.

KINMOUNT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The proprietors of the chemical factory were here last week, but failed to find a suitable site.

The tea and concert in connection with the Baptist church last Thursday was a grand success. The choir performed to the entire satisfaction of the audience. Miss Letta Caldwell sang a solo which was heartily applauded. Miss Gracie Munt also sang a solo which was well received. Both these young ladies are only about ten years old. Speeches of the evening were given by Rev. Mr. McIntyre and Rev. Mr. McLeod. The resident ministers assisted in entertaining the audience in various ways, while Miss M. Wilson, daughter of our ex-postmaster, recited "The Lifeboat." Miss Wilson promises to take a prominent place amongst elocutionists. Mr. McNeil sang "The Wandering Refugee with good effect.

Rev. Mr. Munt closed the entertainment with a few very appropriate remarks.

A number of our young people drove to Irondale to take part in a tea and concert (more particularly the tea) in connection with the Methodist church.

Mr. Knight, of Irondale, preached here on Sunday, and Rev. Mr. Mearing, of Kinmount, preached at Mr. Knight's appointments.

The annual meeting of the Kinmount cheese factory, and the annual meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held next Saturday, the 8th inst.

At last we are going to have a lockup. Mr. Morrison, our new reeve, has succeeded in getting a grant from the county council for that purpose.

Police court was held on Saturday before Magistrate F. Train. Three young men were brought before him for damaging the Union Creek School house. They paid costs and damages to the tune of about $10.

A few weeks ago some of our boys were brought before the magistrate for disturbing the Salvation Army. They were allowed to go by paying the costs, and promising to behave themselves in future. We have just learned that some of the same parties are to be brought before the Magistrate this week on a second offence. It is to be hoped that they will be taught a good lesson this time.

Miss Urquhart of Stouffville is visiting her cousin, Mrs. W. J. Harpe.

Mr. W. A. Helme of Kingston, is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Kingsboro.

Mr. Kingsboro is having his hardware store painted inside.

Mr. H. T. Graham is preparing to build a storehouse.

Mr. Alex Watson was in Toronto all last week looking for a market for wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Scott of Gooderham paid a flying visit to friends here last week.

PARALYSIS CURABLE.

Stricken Ones to be Seen Everywhere —This Form of Living Death Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The most startling example of human helplessness is the paralytic.

The victim excites your commiseration, but resents your pity.

He of the palsied hand stiffly pressing the benumbed side is to be seen everywhere we go.

The most convincing proof that this pitiable condition is the outcome of kidney disease is the fact that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure it.

Not generally recognized as a kidney disease, it succumbs to kidney treatment.

Did you ever know of a cure? Just think a moment!

If you do it must have been the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for no other medicine ever yet cured.

From Hand to Shoulder.

Thirty years ago J. B. Garrison, of Plant City, Fla., a machinist, ran a small sliver of steel into his right hand at the base of the thumb. The wound was treated and finally healed, the doctor saying that the steel had been expelled. But ever since that time Garrison has suffered with severe pains in his right arm, which he attributed to rheumatism. Last week the pains became very acute in his right shoulder. He went to the doctor and the doctor drew from just under the skin of his shoulder the steel sliver that entered his hand in 1865.

The Length of Life.

The Dublin Journal of Medical Science quotes an interesting statement made by Sir Benjamin W. Richardson concerning the duration of life. He thinks that if the ages of the two parents and of the four grandparents be added together and divided by six, the age of the case in point will be told with an average variation of not more than two. If the ages of the parents are high, the off-spring tends to improve on them; if low (say an average of 40 or lower), the life of the off-spring will probably be shorter.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the tooth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentifirce. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

Constipation Cured.

GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years, and the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash, I got three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B. B. B.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

BRITAIN FOREVER!

the United States would be regarded as a horrible and unnatural fratricidal strife. (Hear, hear.) We have been surprised and pained by recent explosions of ill-feeling in the United States of America towards this country, and towards the Mother country. But we refuse to believe that that explosion of ill-feeling adequately expresses the sentiments of those who are most competent to speak for the people of the United States. (Hear, hear.) And, furthermore, we believe, and hope as we believe, that it does not even express the sentiments of so large a section of that people as at one time was supposed.

But, sir, it would be an act of simple folly, it would be an act of culpable negligence on the part of any reasonable people, not to recognize the fact that there is a disreputable and rowdy section of American people who may some day cause us trouble; and it is absolutely necessary that any sober-minded people should take means to meet that trouble, if unfortunately that trouble should arise in future. Therefore, I have been much gratified, as I am sure the country has been much gratified, to find that we have been called upon to make provision for the better defence of Canada, not that I wish to assume or to suggest that this provision for better defences arises altogether because of anything that may have happened on our southern border. For, Mr. Speaker, unhappily, we know these symptoms, these proofs of hostility have not been confined to the section of people of the United States to which I have referred. Unfortunately these proofs of unfriendliness seem to come from the four corners of the world; and, as Mr. Weldon said in that magnificent speech with which he delighted this chamber the other day, it would seem that the very magnitude, wealth and prosperity and happiness of our empire had engendered envy and cupidity where least we expected to find them. —so it would seem to-day, as the trougle and trial and even dangers were closing down over those famous islands, "set in the silver sea," that we all hold so dear. (Cheers.) For, sir, while there have suddenly loomed up the most threatening thunder clouds of war that have darkened the political horizon of late, the great British heart beats fuller and prouder in the hour of danger. (Cheers.) And, sir, the spectacle of England's composure and unflinching self-reliance in the presence of the undisguised and the altogether unexpected hostility, of so many of the great powers of the world, has sent a thrill of admiration and of pride through the veins of every loyal subject of the Queen. (Cheers.) I venture to say, that England's conduct of to-day will not be found wanting even when, in far-off summers that we shall not see, it is weighed in the balance against some of these splendid incidents that are set like precious jewels in the history of mankind. (Cheers.)

Mr. Speaker, we wish the people of England and of Ireland and of Scotland to know that the people of Canada are not mere fairweather friends. (Hear, hear.) We want our kinsmen in Australasia, some of whom we welcomed here so recently, to know that we are with them in this, heart and hand. (Cheers.) We want people of the wide world to know that come what may, in whatever part of the Empire they may happen to reside, the British people are one people, animated by one spirit and determined to stand as one man in the defence of their common rights and in the maintenance of their common interests. Sir, we desire peace before all. We regard war with horror, but we are prepared to accept it with all its consequences, come from what quarter it may, if it be necessary to do so in order to maintain and defend the honor and integrity of our own Empire. (Prolonged cheers.)

MR DAVIES SECONDS.

Canada Ought to Make Sacrifices if the Occasion Arises.

Mr. Davies said he seconded the resolution with much pleasure. He believed that Parliament was doing but its simple duty to pledge the country, if occasion arose, to make some sacrifices for the maintenance of the Empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed, it might be said that the nations by the million faced each other there. When the American interests of Great Britain were threatened by President Cleveland recently a cry of astonishment, almost of horror, went up from the British people at the idea of bloodshed with their kin. But when the German autocrat sent his petulant message to South Africa, there went up a shout of defiance from the people of the Motherland. The fitting out of the flying squadron was the best answer Great Britain could give to the world, and, if she was only a second or third-rate power, so far as the size of her army was concerned, she had at least shown that, as in days of yore, she was still mistress of the seas. (Loud cheers.) He was glad to see in the resolution the expression of our friendly relations with the United States. He believed this feeling was enjoyed by all Canadians.

He proceeded to speak of the great problems that the people of the United States had to solve—the assimilating of the many nationalities under the Stars and Stripes and the settlement of the great negro question. While Canadians sympathized with their neighbors, yet this country did not desire to take any part in the solution of their problems. Canada was prepared to unite with the United States to promote civilization and Christianity, and while blood was thicker than water, yet, at the same time, this country would work its own destiny as part of the nation and under the Empire's flag. Canada could assist Great Britain in two ways: first with means, however small or inadequate they might be, as compared with what the Motherland alone could furnish, and second, Canada could also assist Great Britain by the cultivation of friendly relations with our neighbors to the south. No nation could withstand a combination between the greatest empire of the world and the greatest republic of the world. He quoted Mr. Balfour's recent speech at Bristol in favor of an amicable arrangement between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon family and commended as a patriotic step an effort to bring about such a desirable consummation. (Cheers.)

Mr. Cockburn said he was gratified to find that a topic had been discovered on which both parties could unite and sink for once the bitterness of party conflict. Recent events had served to knit together the different parts of the Empire. Canadians had never faltered for a moment in their allegiance to the Motherland. While the people of this country had a friendly feeling towards our neighbors, he was sorry to say the same kind of feeling had not been manifested by the people of the United States toward us. Recently there had been too much prominence given to the utterances of pinchbeck patriots and the braying of asinine orators in the United States. But it was gratifying to note the moderate tone of the Canadian press on the recent provocation. He trusted that the public men of this country would refrain from saying anything which would lead to the impression getting abroad that Canadians were not united. (Hear, hear.) He welcomed Mr. McNeill's resolution as calculated to show in a most striking manner that Canadians intended to live and die British subjects. (Loud cheers.)

Sir Richard Cartwright said he was not in the habit of advocating loud pretensions to loyalty, nor did he believe in them. But there was a time for all things, and he believed that this was a very proper occasion for such expression of opinion as contained in Mr. McNeill's resolution. He did not mean to say there was danger of war with the United States at the present moment, but under slightly different conditions there might have been real danger had Mr. Cleveland's message been received in England with the same temper as it was delivered. He re-echoed Mr. Cockburn's commendation of the tone and temper with which the Canadian newspapers had received Mr. Cleveland's message, and he hoped the House had heard the last of those idle and foolish assertions of disloyalty which were sometimes thrown by one side against the other. In what he had to say to-day he was speaking for himself; also, he did not hesitate to affirm to a very great extent the statement that the choice for Canada lay between two alternatives. Canada would either have to be a hostage for the good behavior of England towards the United States, or she would have to be the bond of union. Which was the more honorable course and the one more likely to promote the welfare of Canada, he would leave this country to judge.

Adverting to a remark made recently by Mr. Foster, he would compromise with him and say that England stands to-day in "splendid, but dangerous isolation." The spirit and pluck with which the President's message was received in Britain had extorted admiration, even from those who were accustomed to disparage England. As regards the message itself, he was bound to say that its tone was most unfortunate and should be regretted by all. He believed that the results following from the message had done a great deal to pave the way for a better understanding and more permanent peace between the two countries. It had been brought powerfully home to Cleveland that he had wrought more ruin in American homes than he had in England. He (Sir Richard) had reason to believe that Mr. Chauncey Depew did not exaggerate when he said Cleveland's message had cost the United States one thousand million of dollars in one week by the depreciation of stocks and securities. The result had been to show to the better classes of the United States the tremendous consequences which would result from a collision between the two great Anglo-Saxon communities. Everybody must admit that it would have been an unfortunate thing if Canada had been dragged into war for a few acres of bog in Venezuela.

But, yet, Canada would not shirk her responsibilities as a part of the Empire. He thought this country had a right to claim a co-equal voice in the administration of affairs in North America. She recognized her position and her duty, and, along with that, she ought to claim the right to a free hand in this hemisphere at least. There was one reason which would operate or might induce us to hesitate to enter into a conflict with our neighbors, and that was the fact that scarcely one Canadian family in ten but had not a brother or son or other near relative in the United States. Personally he hoped and believed that means could be found to prevent any hostility between Canada and the United States again. He commended Chauncey Depew's proposal for the creation of an independent tribunal to settle international differences between Anglo-Saxon people. Before Imperial Federation could become a practical issue, an arrangement of this kind would be necessary with a union of 140 millions, as would be constituted by Great Britain and the United States uniting, even in some such simple manner as this. It would be an effective guarantee for the peace and harmony and future progress of the world at large. The statesmen and journalists who would help in promoting that object would be rendering the greatest service to Canada and the Empire. (Loud cheers.)

Sir Hector Langevin said that he could not let the occasion pass without expressing his sentiments, although the loyalty of the French-Canadians had been severely tried on occasions, but they had never refused to do their duty to The Queen, but answered the call cheerfully and cordially. (Hear, hear.) He instanced the case of the American revolution and the war of 1812, when efforts were made to get the French to refuse further allegiance to England, this taking place but a short time after Canada had ceased to become part of France and had been made a colony of England. In conclusion he said: "Though those of my nationality are of different blood from that of the majority in Canada, though we worship at different altars, though our ancestors were different, we join with other races to say Britain cannot and has not more loyal and devoted subjects than those of my race." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Foster said he rose as a member of the Government to speak on the subject lest it might be said they were not in sympathy with the resolution. He congratulated Mr. McNeill on the matter of his speech, the excellence of which was only exceeded by the good taste displayed in it. It contained nothing that could be found fault with by any foreign nation. The resolution, he said, was opportune. It would serve as a guide to the people of the Dominion, and it would help to inform the people of the United States, as well as Great Britain, of the feeling of Canadians. It was an evidence of the strong growth of the feeling that tends to complete the union of the Empire. He expressed the Government's accord with the resolution, which he thought would be as agreeable to the people of our own country as to those of Great Britain. (Cheers.)

Mr. Laurier said he was glad that there was less reason for the resolution now than there was for it when it was placed on the order paper nearly a month ago. Then it looked as though the whole world was determined to fight the Motherland. He said it was true that England was isolated, but her isolation came largely from her superiority, for, aside from art and letters, in which he considered France equalled or excelled her, England excelled all other nations. She excelled in colonizing power, in commerce, and higher arts of the world. She not only excelled all modern nations, but all ancient ones as well. (Applause.) All her greatness dated, he said, from the time when matters had looked worst for her at the close of the American war. Since then her career had simply been marvelous. She had conquered India, doubled her population, trebled her trade, planted colonies in Australasia, Africa, Asia, and almost every corner of the world. While other nations were devoting attention to arming themselves, she had bent all here energies to the arts of peace, and so rich had she become that she was now the banker of the world. She held bonds of kings and princes. When nations were arrayed against her and she found unfriendliness where she should have found sympathy, she inflicted on that nation by refusing its bonds almost as much damage as could have been done by war itself. When the day should come that it was necessary, he was sure all British subjects all over the world would give their best aid to the Motherland. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Davin, speaking for the Northwest, expressed the loyalty of the people of that portion of the Dominion and said that since President Cleveland's manifesto he had received letters from the west with a view to organization of volunteer corps there.

The resolution was unanimously carried amid rousing cheers.

CARD OF THANKS.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN: I wish to thank you for your promptness in settling the loss on my furniture, which occurred through the upsetting of my coal stove, on Friday night last at 10 o'clock. On being notified next day you were good enough to send over a man to settle the loss in order that I might be able to get the house cleaned up and thereby saved me much inconvenience. From my experience with your office now, it is a source of pleasure for me to feel that my insurance is with you, and I shall not forget to tell my friends.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

A PECULIAR CASE.

The Trial of Thomas Graystock for Burglary.

Thomas Graystock was brought before the police magistrate this morning on a charge of larceny, preferred against him through information laid by George Foy.

The case is a very peculiar one, and on this account the court room has been crowded all day. The trial was still in progress late in the afternoon.

The circumstances of the robbery have been published before and in short are as follows: Foy woke up one morning recently and found his premises on fire, the blaze, according to his statement, being of incendiary origin. After the fire was put out he missed a number of articles, amongst them being his trousers, containing $51.00 in cash.

As he was slightly mixed in his statement to the police concerning where he obtained the money in the first place, they treated his story with incredulity and paid no more attention to it. A day or so ago, however, Mrs. Scully, a neighbour, insisted on one of her boarders paying his bill, and on seeing him produce just $51 from his pocket when she had understood him to be hard-up and not having worked for a couple of years, she suspected that he had come by the money unlawfully, and as the amount corresponded to the sum lost by Foy, she told him of her suspicions. No action was taken by Foy at the time, but when his missing trousers turned up in Mrs. Scully's back yard, he made a complaint concerning the matter to the police.

The case began at ten o'clock this morning and Foy himself was in the witness box until three o'clock. He was very closely cross-examined by Mr. Denniston for the defence. Mr. R. E. Wood is taking the case for the Crown.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Charles Butler.

On Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6th, 1896, Hannah Collins, wife of Mr. Charles Butler, passed away at the family residence, No. 12 Queen street, at the age of 45 years. Mrs. Butler has been ill for some six or eight months but has not been confined to her bed till within the past three weeks. She was a native of Emily township and was the youngest daughter of the late James Collins of that place. She was united in marriage with Mr. Butler in 1873. After living four years in Cambellford she removed to Peterborough, where she has since resided. She leaves behind her, to deplore the loss of a faithful wife and a fond mother, a husband and eight children, five boys and three girls. The funeral takes place from the family residence, No. 12 Queen street to St. Peter's Cathedral on Friday morning, at 9 o'clock.

Demonstrated.

Sometimes it costs hundreds of dollars to convince a man; very often less is required, but in the case of Polson's Nerviline, that sovereign remedy for pain, 10 cents foots the bill, and supplies enough Nerviline to convince every purchaser that it is the best, most prompt and certain pain remedy in the world. Nerviline is good for all kinds of pain, pleasant to take, and sure to cure cramps and all internal pains. It is also nice to rub outside, for it has an agreeable smell, quite unlike so many other preparations, which are positively disagreeable to use. Try it now. Polson's Nerviline.

GROCERS AND CALENDARS.

The Giving of the Latter to Customers Proving a Serious tax.

The Retail Grocers' Association of this city usually has some interesting questions on for consideration, and at present the question of giving calendars to customers is receiving very earnest attention from the members of the association. It has come to be almost as serious a matter with the grocers as the former evil of Christmas gifts, and the grocers, having freed themselves from the annual making of presents, are anxious now to go out of the costly calendar business.

At last night's meeting of the association, Secretary W. R. Harvey was instructed to circulate a petition among the city grocers with a view to finding out their opinions as to the presenting of calendars to customers.—Hamilton Herald.

LINDSAY HAS WON THE LOCAL TANKARD.

LAKEFIELD WAS THE LAST OPPONENT YESTERDAY.

Peterborough still Stands a Good Chance of Winning the Single Rink Competition—The Finals being Played this Afternoon.

Inspired with a confidence born of their succession of victories at the bonspell, Lindsay went into the finals yesterday against Lakefield with a vim that manifested itself from the start in the number of "nervy" shots which were played. Lakefield held its own until about the tenth end, after which both the Lindsay rinks gradually drew away from their opponents, until they won by seven points on one rink and five on the other. The rinks were composed as follows:

Lindsay.	Lakefield.
RINK NO. 1.
L McIntosh,	W Baptie,
J G Edwards,	G Postlethwaite,
J A McMillan,	J C Grylls,
J D Flavelle, skip ..21	A Strickland, skip....13
RINK NO. 2.
T McConnel,	Levi Payne,
M W Kennedy,	J Ridpath,
G A Little,	J P Strickland,
W McLellan, skip..26	R C Strickland, skip..14
Total.....47	Total.....27

Majority for Lindsay, 20 shots.

In the single rink competition draws in the afternoon Skip Ray won from Whitby by six shots, thus entitling him to place in the finals. The rinks were composed as appended:

Peterboro Thistles.	Whitby.
C Brown,	Lawrie,
J Stanger,	J Mitchell,
F Rutherford,	H Ross,
S Ray, skip.....16	J E Willis, skip 10

Skip Reid, of Bobcaygeon, much to the delight of his many friends won a place for himself in the semi-finals by defeating Skip Needler, of Lindsay, by the following close score:

Bobcaygeon.	Lindsay.
W J Reid, skip	M Sisson,
W H Bottum,	J Crandell,
W Boyd,	J McAdams,
J T Robinson 17	W Needler, sk.....16

In the evening Skip Davidson played against Skip Flavelle, making the 12and end which the former has played in succession during the bonspell, being kept busy playing off draws from the first. He was defeated at the hands of the veteran Flavelle, by the following score:

Lindsay.	Thistles.
L McIntosh,	C LeBrun,
J G Edwards,	H LeBrun,
J A McMillan,	W G Ferguson,
J D Flavelle, skip...25	R S Davidson, skip... 5

Mr. Flavelle this year has the best balanced rink which he ever took out of Lindsay and if he had played the same game in Toronto as he has done in Peterborough, Lindsay would have held the Ontario Tankard this year without a doubt.

The visiting curlers during their stay in town have been most outspoken concerning the grand success which has been attained by the bonspell. The ice has been in grand condition from the start and the committee in charge are indeed worthy of praise for the way in which they have looked after the details. In this connection Messrs. J. S. Knapman, T. E. Bradburn and R. H. Kells are especially worthy of mention. They were indefatigable in their efforts to give the visitors a good time.

Skip Flavelle and his rink defeated Skip Read of Bobcaygeon and his men in the semi-finals this morning in the single rink competition. The contest was a battle royal from start to finish. On the 15th end Lindsay had a lead of five points, but in the sixteenth Bobcaygeon made a four end, thus pulling up to within one of their opponents' score. In the remaining two ends Lindsay, however made four more points, and won the contest by five shots.

Skip Flavelle and Skip Ray play off the finals this afternoon, when doubtless a big crowd will be down to the rink to witness the match.

The spectators would have been well pleased to have seen Bobcaygeon down Mr. Flavelle's rink in the singles, as Lindsay has already won the Tankard, and Bobcaygeon has fought such a uphill game all along that the efforts of its rink were well deserving of some of the prizes.

EIGHT CLEAN CUT SUGGESTIONS.

In making contracts for 1896 the advertiser should let the space be as big as his business.

Daily advertising pays the best. One hundred lines every day will pay better than three hundred lines twice a week, or six hundred once a week.

Advertisements should be worded to suit the constituency in which the paper circulates.

A good ad. will stand repetition. There is no more need to change a good ad. every day than to change clerks.

It pays best to use the daily newspapers to advertise such articles as teas, coffees, cigars, baking powder, corsets, pianos, clothing, boots and shoes, dry goods, prints, hardware, jewelry, hats, furs, stoves, crockery, fancy goods, etc.

The circulation of a newspaper does not always pay best; quality is oftentimes better than quantity. A paper with a home circulation, is better than a sensational paper printing double the number.

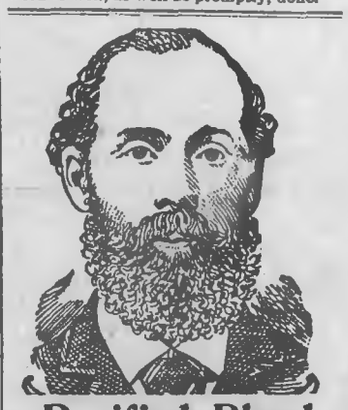
CHAIRMAN DR. BURNHAM.

Last night the Board of Education paid a high practical compliment to the efficiency of Dr. Burnham's services by re-electing him chairman, for the fourth consecutive term, of that important body, and the genial doctor is to be heartily congratulated upon such a flattering demonstration of confidence.

DR. BURNHAM, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD EDUCATION FOR 1896.

Dr. Burnham is a native of the now city of St. Thomas, and in the fifties came to Peterborough with the family of his father, the late Rev. Mark Burnham, at one time rector of Peterborough and incumbent of St. John's. Dr. Burnham was educated at the Peterborough Grammar (Union) School and at the Galt Grammar School—in its palmy days, when the late Dr, Tassie, as principal, gave it a provincial reputation. He graduated in medicine at Bellevue Hospital Medical School, New York, in 1866, and in the following year graduated in medicine from the University of Victoria College. Since that time he has carried on here with success the practice of his profession. At the same time Dr. Burnham has shown the highest qualities of citizenship by taking an active and prominent part in the promotion of movements in aid of the moral, social and educational interests of the community. This is shown by the numerous offices of trust and responsibility he has held. He has been a member of the Board of Education, representing No. 3 ward, (being elected several times by acclamation) for eighteen years and this is his fourth term as chairman of the Board, besides being during several terms chairman of the Finance and Supervision Committees. He is also a Justice of the Peace, President of the Public Library, and in this capacity is a most zealous and painstaking official. He has filled the position of President of the Horticultural Society and was for six years church warden of St. John's. He was president of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, and President of the Cricket Club, having been honorary president of the latter last year, and rendered both organizations substantial service. At present he is a member of the Board of Health. It will be seen that Dr. Burnham's activity covers a wide range, and his qualifications amply justify the wisdom of the Board of Education in selecting him as their chairman. Dr. Burnham makes a most excellent presiding officer. He keeps the members to their work without apparent effort, and thus secures prompt attention to the dispatch of business, unimpeded by irrelevant and verbose discussion which if encouraged, might, as it does in other bodies, distract attention from the issue of the moment. As a consequence, and with the co-operation of the members, the Peterborough Board of Education is noted for brisk, brief sessions, in which the work is well, as well as promptly, done.



Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he conld eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Their trouble was that sometimes they used a little too much Cream Tartar and sometimes a little too much Soda, and, besides, Cream Tartar can scarcely ever be bought twice of exactly the same strength, so that they rarely get the proportions correct, and that is the secret of success or failure.

Our chemist analyzes a sample of every pound of Cream Tartar we use and the ingredients are used strictly in accordance with his report, so that there can be no possible chance of failure if you BAKE with

DAILY MOTTO.

Thursday, Feb. 6th.

We have one thing and only one to do here on earth—to win the character of heaven before we die.
The openings of the streets of Heaven are on earth.

All things of use are bridges that conduct
To things of faith, which give them truest worth;
And Christ's own parables do us instruct
That Heaven is but the counterpart of earth.

DR. BURNHAM WAS RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN

At the Inaugural Meeting of the Board of Education Last Night.

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education for 1896 was held last evening, with Messrs. Hamilton, Denne, Edgecombe, Bamford, Burnham, McBain, Wrighton, Hill, Hartley, Fair and Caldwell in attendance.

The Secretary called the meeting to order and stated that Messrs. W. B. Bamford, W. H. Hill, Jas. Stevenson and J. J. Hartley had been elected Public School Trustees; that Messrs. McKee and Fair had been appointed High School Trustees by the Town Council and that Mr. L. M. Hayes had been appointed High School representative of the Separate School Board.

All the newly-elected members signed the necessary declaration, after which a ballot being taken Dr. Burnham was elected chairman of the Board for the ensuing year. He thanked the Board for re-electing him, a sign of their approval of his previous rulings from the chair and expressed the hope that the same harmony would prevail this year as last.

The Board then went into committee of the whole and struck the following standing committees for the year:

Finance Committee—Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Hill, Robt. Fair, Peter Hamilton and Dr. Caldwell.

Property Committee—Messrs. Peter Hamilton, J. J. McBain, J. J. Hartley, Henry Denne and Jas. Stevenson.

Supervision Committee—Messrs. John McKee, W. H. Wrighton, W. B. Bamford, James Edgecumbe and Dr. Caldwell.

Visiting Committee—First term, January to Easter, Messrs. Caldwell, Stevenson, Edgecumbe, Wrighton and Bamford; second term, from Easter to the summer holidays, Messrs. McBain, Fair, Ferguson, and Hartley; third term, Messrs. Denne, Hill, Hamilton, McKee and Hayes.

The report of the Selection Committee was adopted and the first named in each division of the Visiting Committee was appointed as its convenor.

The standing committees then elected their chairmen as follows:

Appointments—W. H. Hill.
Property—Peter Hamilton.
Supervision—Dr. Caldwell.
Finance—W. G. Ferguson.

Our rink is again in full swing. Mr. Buck put a gang of men on last Monday week, and work was commenced rebuilding. By the end of the week only a small space of sheeting had to be done, and this could have been finished had not the supply of lumber failed. The building is on the same plan as the old one, only very much stronger. There are 1,200 ft. of inch lumber and 1½ kegs of nails in each bent, and where there was only one brace before there are two now. Mr. Buck is to be praised for his enterprise. A grand re-opening carnival will be held on Friday evening.

The schedule match between Norwood and Lindsay will be played on Friday week. Peterborough is expected Monday evening. A junior team may go to Keene about the middle of next week.

Inspector Hodson payed our High School a visit this week.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

A strong team of hockeyists went down to Port Hope yesterday at noon, to play a match, but on their arrival there were not allowed to go upon the ice by the caretaker of the rink, who assigned no reason for his action. The boys are justly incensed at their treatment, and it will be a long time before Peterborough will again go to Port Hope to engage in any athletic contest.

WHEELING.

The appended items of wheel talk are taken from the February issue of the "Wheelman," and is brimful of lively gossip, concerning the big C. W. A. meet:

Mr. Horkins, of Peterborough, writes us to say that while sensible of the honour someone has done him of mentioning his name in connection with the Presidency, he wishes it understood now from the very start of the campaign that he is not and will not be a candidate for any office in the gift of the Association.

Are the readers of the Wheelman conscious of the fact that it is to-day just two months until Good Friday? Why all this quiet? Where goes the meet? Who is to be President? Who Vice-President? Who Chairman of the Racing Board? Is it to be classes A and B again? or amateurs and professionals? or something entirely new? Don't all the prophets speak at once.

The Globe quotes Horkins as saying that he will cast Peterborough's 250 votes for Balfour for President and support Robertson for Vice-President. We really wonder if Horkins ever said such a foolish thing? We cannot believe it. Mr. Robertson has served as Vice-President already and is not eligible for another term. Mr. Horkins cannot be unaware of this fact. And again Horkins is too clever not to know that such an avowal of barrain and sale between Peterborough and London would defeat the project and lose everything that both towns are after for a long time to come. It is bad enough to know that such deals are sometimes made; it is too much to have them openly paraded. In our opinion London and Peterborough should both disavow the Globe's article promptly.

As a good Grit, the editor of the Wheelman has been brought up to put a certain amount of confidence in the Globe. If the entire paper, however, is put together with the same disregard for accuracy that is every day to be found in its cycling column, it is about time we changed our politics. The issue of the 22nd ult. contains a number of sparkling examples of what the Oracle doesn't know. According to that young man, Horkins and Balfour have settled the whole thing. The rest of us might just as well go off and play horse. We doubt if either Mr. Balfour or Mr. Horkins have reason to be grateful to the Globe youth. We do not believe his efforts on their behalf will be of much assistance to them. The great preponderance of votes that the Midland District is said to possess, exists only in the fevered imagination of our young friend. Far from having twice as many votes as any other one district, the Midland as a matter of fact is not better than in fourth place as membership. Roughly speaking the four largest districts contain members as follows:

Huron District, about 1,175.
Niagara District, about 1,150.
Toronto District, about 950.
Midland District, about 625.

We fancy Robertson and Van Felson can still take heart.

A PRINCE'S BURIAL.

Henry of Battenburg Laid Away in the Tomb.

IT WAS A MILITARY FUNERAL.

The Royal Family and Many Members of the Cabinet Followed the Remains to Whippingham Church—Concurrent Services Held in Westminster Abbey

Cowes, Feb. 5.—The funeral of Prince Henry of Battenberg took place in Whippingham Church, Osborne, to-day. There was a thick fog prevailing at sunrise, but by 9 o'clock it had cleared away, showing every ship in the harbor and nearly every house in the town flying flags at half mast and displaying other marks of respect for the dead.

The royal yacht Alberta, which brought the body from Portsmouth yesterday, and upon which the coffin remained overnight, was covered with an awning. A military guard watched the remains throughout the night. The coffin was not opened, as the body had not been embalmed, owing to the time which elapsed between Prince Henry's death and the arrival of the corpse at a place where embalming facilities were available.

Princess Beatrice and her children arrived at the wharf at 10 o'clock and immediately went aboard the Alberta. They were followed soon afterwad by the Duke of Connaught and the Marchioness of Lorne (Princess Louise), and at noon the Queen arrived from Osborne House.

A special train arrived from Waterloo Station, London, having on board Viscount Cross, Lord Privy Seal; Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury; Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies; George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty; and the foreign diplomats, or in their stead the naval and militaary attachees of their respective embassies and legations.

At noon, the coffin, covered with wreaths, was taken from the Alberta and placed upon a gun carriage draped with the Union Jack. The Prince of Wales and the royal family in carriages took places ahead of the coffin, and the procession started. The various military detachments followed the body, and the cortege slowly and solemnly took its way to Whippingham Church, which edifice was designed by the Prince Consort, father of Princess Beatrice, and in which the Princess and Prince Henry were married in 1885.

The Royal Princesses left the procession midway between the starting point and the church and proceeded in their carriages by a shorter route to the church, where they were seated in their pews when the coffin arrived.

The services were conducted by the Right Rev. Randall Thomas Davidson, D.D., Bishop of Winchester, and the music was selected by Princess Beatrice herself.

London, Feb. 5.—Concurrent with the burial services over the body of Prince Henry of Battenburg in Whippingham Church, Isle if Wight, to-day, a memorial service was held in Westminster Abbey. A large number of distinguished presons were present, including United States Ambassador Bayard and many other foreign diplomats and a large attendance of prominent aristocratic and political personages.

Racked with Rheumatism

Unable to Walk, owing to excruciating pain.

After ten years' terrible torture, Cured by Scott's Sarsaparilla.

A. H. Christiansen, writing from the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, says: "I owe you more than I can ever pay. For ten years I suffered the tortures of the damned with rheumatism. Father had it before me, and I believe it is an hereditary disease. My knee joints would get inflamed and if I was out in any "weather" I was sure to be laid up, which to a travelling man is a calamity. In a score of Canadian towns local doctors treated me, some giving relief, others none. I read that Sarsaparilla was a rheumatic cure, and I asked a druggist for "a bottle of the best Sarsaparilla on the market." He gave me Scott's, remarking that it was an improvement on all others, and that he could honestly recommend it. I have taken four bottles, and am as free from pain as a man can hope to be. I was out in a rainstorm two days ago and never felt a twinge. As I said before, to Scott's Sarsaparilla I owe more than I can ever repay."

The best remedy for rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgic pains—all arising from the presence of poison in the blood—is Scott's Sarsaparilla, a modern concentrated medicine, prompt in its curative effects. Doses from one half to one teaspoonful. At $1 per bottle of your druggist.

DOES YOUR CHILD EAT DIRT?

A Curious Habit Which Prevails Among the Very Young.

Dirt-eating is a more common habit among children than most people would imagine. A very interesting paper on this curious habit is contributed by Dr. John Thomson to a recent number of the Edinburgh Hospital Reports. After giving some account of the habit as observed by travellers in different parts of the world and by agriculturists among unhealthy young animals, he states that the dirt has a well defined hygienic value, and is eaten by children for medical purposes. The physical ailing which brings on the appetite for dirt is in most cases anæmia, or "bloodlessness," which simply means a running down of the sytem. In these cases, Dr. Thomson thinks, the habit might be formed from an instinctive craving for earthy salts, such as iron and lime, just as a cat or dog, when needing a little "physic," will eat a blade or so of grass.

In some tests made by the doctor to prove the soundness of his theory, he placed a number of children in a room containing loose wall plaster and cinders. These substances contain lime and iron salts. The children, who were about three years of age, were observed from time to time munching o a lump of the stuff picked up from the floor. One child varied the pastime by pushing the hearth brush into the ashes and then licking the dust off it as a great delicacy. This habit is common enough among idiots and imbeciles, but none of Dr. Thomson's cases was suffering from mental disorder.

As a cure the children were placed for a time in the hospital, where they underwent no treatment beyond a forced abstention from their peculiar diet. After a few days they had apparently lost all appetite for dirt. Dr. Thomson does not think that small amounts of "dirt" eaten by children will do any harm of itself, but the great danger is that they will get hold of something poisonous or of some parasite which, once entering the stomach, will reverse the operation by feeding off his host.

A Drop of Water.

Water that is now in the ocean and in the river has been many times in the sky. The history of a single drop taken out of a glass of water is really a romantic one, says a writer in the "Museum." No traveler has ever accomplished such distances in his life. That particle may have reflected the palm trees of coral islands and have caught the sun's ray in the arch that spans a cloud clearing away from the valleys of Cumberland or California. It may have been carried by the Gulf Stream from the shores of Florida, or of Cuba, to be turned into a crystal of ice beside the precipices of Spitzbergen. It may have hovered over the streets of London and have formed a part of murky fog and have glistened on the young grass blade of April in Irish fields. It has been lifted up to heaven and sailed in great wool-packed clouds across the sky, forming part of a cloud mountain echoing with thunder. It was hung in a fleecy veil many miles above the earth at the close of long seasons of still weather. It has descended many times over in showers to refresh the earth and has sparkled and bubbled in mossy fountains in every country in Europe. And it has returned to its native skies, having accomplished its purpose, to be stored once again with electricity to give it new life-producing qualities and equip it as heaven's messenger to earth once more.

Glorifying God.

When we speak of glorifying God it must be understood that the expression does not imply that any creature can add to the essential excellence and glory of the Divine character. It only denotes that we perceive somewhat of this excellence, that we recognize the relations in which we stand to Him, and that we are drawn to love, admiration, gratitude and obedience which the perception of this excellence ought ever to inspire. All this includes an assimilation to that which we thus admire and love, and a reflection of the glory which we adore in character and life, as the moon shines in the borrowed light of the sun. In this way, the expression, glorifying God, seems to be used in Scripture. Thus, when Jesus calls on His disciples to let their light so shine before men that they may see their good works and glorfy their Father who is in heaven, He plainly means that they should so live that others may be led by what they see in them to the exercise of love to God, to admire His perfections, and submit to His will.

Exposure to cold, damp winds, may result in pneumonia unless the system is kept invigorated with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DR. FRANKLIN'S INVENTIONS.

Many of His Ideas Have Been Patented Many Times.

There is not in existence a biography of Benjamin Franklin which gives a complete account of the inventions and scientific discoveries made by the versatile genius who is rightly called "the brains of the American Revolution." Great as was Franklin as a diplomat and statesman, says the Boston Pilot, he was greater as a scientist in the domain of physics, wherein he planted seeds which bore fruit in his own time, and again in our own generation.

His pet study, electricity, which in the eighteenth century was a diversion of schoolmen, has become a gigantic industry, affording employment for nearly 2,000,000 persons in the civilized parts of the earth. To Franklin are we indebted for many things which remained fallow in the science of electricity, until Davy, Faraday, Edison, Brush, Thomas and Tesla began to pick up the threads which Franklin left in the bloom of life, when he was summoned from earth. Within two years an expensive litigation between two joint stock companies concerning the right to use a certain submarine electric machine for blowing up ledges and sunken wrecks was brought to an end when evidence was introduced showing that Franklin used similar apparatus in the Delaware River in 1787. Many of his inventions have been patented over and over again in our patent office, where articles in daily use by the cave dwellers may be patented by any person foolish enough to consider a United States patent of any value, and who does not know that the 400 patents taken out by Edison have been "pirated" under the protection of United States laws, which are apparently made for the profit of infringers of patents and for the bankrupting of inventors. Franklin's electric inventions number 18, all made when his intellectual faculties were brightest.

Farmers who grow turnips, beets, carrots and other roots, generally wait until the whole crop is harvested before beginning to market it. In this way they lose, for the price is then always lowest. There is a better market for these roots early in the season, and the roots are then much sweeter and tenderer than later. Of course there will be some loss of growth in the portion marketed early, but if the roots are thinned as gathered, and only the thinnings sold, there will be a larger growth of what is left.

There is always considerable difference between the best and the poorest pigs of a litter. This shows itself at birth, and almost invariably the pig that is largest and best then, will, other things being equal, make the best hog. It is sometimes said that the runt pigs can be made better by better feeding. This is true to a certain extent. But the reason the pig is a runt is usually because digestion is poor. Feeding a runt pig too much injures its digestion still more, or if the food is digested it goes to make fat rather than growth. For this reason the poorest pigs in a lot should be put up for early fattening, giving longer feeding to those that will best pay for it.

THE PRINCE WANTS PEACE

He Counsels Dunraven to Keep Up Friendship With the U.S.

London, Feb. 4.—The Chronicle will tomorrow say that the Prince of Wales, who is commodore of the Royal Yacht Squadron, has earnestly counselled Lord Dunraven to keep well in mind the desirability of promoting friendship between the representatives of sports and peoples. The Prince considers that the terms of the finding of the Committee of Inquiry of the New York Yacht Club offer great encouragement in this direction. There is reason to believe that action leading to a very happy ending of the trouble will shortly be taken. Lord Dunraven, it is said, visited the Prince of Wales at Sandringham for the purpose of asking his advice as to the course he should pursue in view of the verdict of the committee which investigated the charges he made against the Defender syndicate.

The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century,

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

One reason why women are so generally troubled with some derangement of the distinctly feminine organism is that as girls they learn nothing about their own physical make up. Parents are waking up to the importance of education of this kind, and young women are becoming more and more able to take care of their health.

Carelessness in girlhood causes the greatest suffering and unhappiness in after life. Little irregularities and weaknesses in girls should be looked after promptly and treatment given at once. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription promotes regularity of all feminine functions, makes strength and builds up a sturdy health with which to meet the trials to come. The "Favorite Prescription" is not a universal panacea. It is good for but one thing. It is directed solely at one set of organs.

"I have been a sufferer from 'female weakness' for six years. I grew worse; had severe cutting pains in left ovary, also in left side and stomach. The pain in left side was constant. I would have light spasms previous to monthly period and when the spasm would cease I would suffer from severe soreness all over and could bear nothing to touch me. I also suffered from severe headaches; burning pressure on brain which almost caused me to be insane. I could not lay my head down without smothering. My face was poor; eyes looked dead; wasted in flesh. I was constipated and suffered severe pain when bowels would act. I could not eat for the fullness in region of stomach. I had tried three of the best doctors here but they only gave me temporary relief. I had given up all hope of ever getting well again. At last I concluded to give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial. I have taken two bottles, one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one of 'Pellets.' I have not felt any signs of my old disease; headache all gone; menses regular without ache or pain. Indeed I feel like a new person." Yours truly,

Lillie M. Parris

Rogers, Benton Co., Ark.

THE BEST DIPLOMATISTS.

They Are Usually Men of Whom the Public Hears Nothing.

Sir Edward Malet, in his recent speech at the dinner given in his honor by the British colony in Berlin, dwelt as follows upon the qualities which go to make up a good diplomatist:

When it became known that I was about to retire from the service, much speculation arose as to who was likely to be my successor, and the names of men who are great in other branches of the service of the Queen were suggested. For a reason which I will attempt to explain it was advanced that it would be better to fill the place with an outsider of distinction than with one belonging to the permanent diplomatic service. It is a very peculiar thing about that service that the greatest ability may be concealed beneath a bushel. It is our duty to proceed noiselessly in our course. The surest proof of the merit of a diplomatist is that he is not heard of. The moment a fuss is made about him you may be pretty sure that something is wrong, for so long as he can keep everything smooth, which is the object and essence of his calling, he can attract no attention. It is a question whether a very brilliant man can ever be fitted for diplomacy. The very keenness of his intellect will impel him to dazzle the public by successes great and small.

But the victories of diplomacy must be achieved in silence, or their spoils are often lost. I remember many years ago a distinguished outsider being sent to represent us at a distant post. He was resolved upon success, but he was also resolved that his successes should be known. So he telegraphed them to one of the most influential of the daily papers—I will not say which—and I can assure you that we were all duly impressed with the records of them, and dwelt, not perhaps without envy, on the picture which was presented to us of the potentate to whom he was accredited writhing in the iron grasp of our representative. But when these reports came to be translated into the foreign press the vigilance and the jealousies of foreign nations were aroused. Reprisals were threatened in other quarters of the globe, and in the end our Minister was requested to come home. The diplomatic service heard of him no more. Yet this man would have been a useful agent if he had acquired the habits of self-negation and reticence which training alone can give. In another case a brilliant lawyer was appointed. He went to his post determined to uphold the flag as it had never been upheld before, and succeeded. Within a short space he had quarrelled with a majority of his colleagues to that extent that when he gave an official dinner on the occasion of the Queen's birthday, they neither came nor sent an excuse. He afterward contributed in a slashing style to a rupture of relations, and this really showed much talent, for the nation was both a peaceful and a friendly one. He came away in a whirl of fireworks which left him in the dark, and the diplomatic service saw him no more. No, we do not want coruscating diamonds; the homely button is much more useful.

I will push this simile further. The world is a huge body clad in a garment of state. The diplomatists, studded all over the earth, are the unobtrusive buttons which hold the garments together. As long as we perform this function satisfactorily we pass unnoticed because the garments continue to fit properly. It is only when we break loose or come off that we become an object of attention and discussion. For instance, I am going to come off, and on that account alone I have recently been more written about in the papers—I say it with pride than during all the eleven years that I have been Ambassador. I have thus fairly outlined the causes which might lead it to be supposed that when a high post falls vacant it can be filled from outside the pale of service. Believe me that within its ranks there are men who can fill all the diplomatic posts we possess with ability and distinction, and that these posts can not be so filled except by persons who have behind them a long diplomatic training. You will not, therefore, be surprised that I should have hailed the selection of Sir Frank Lascelles as my successor with great satisfaction, a sentiment which was increased by a long-standing friendship between us. We were together at the Paris Embassy during the trying time of the Commune, and it is under such a strain that one learns best the metal that a man is made of. He has mounted step by step, the rungs of the diplomatic ladder. He is versed in all the traditions and possesses all the qualities which combine to produce distinction in a diplomatist. He will, I am sure, within a short time gain your suffrages to such an extent as to make me pleasurably jealous in my retirement.

AN ITCHING HEAD

Is a source of great discomfort. It's annoying to yourself and disgusting to your friends.

Most times dandruff, scurf, or scales cause it, and these, if neglected, produce baldness. By using Hairene you can clean the scalp, relieve the itching, nourish the hair roots, and produce a vigorous growth of hair.

Queer Wills.

Those who never cease to regret what they call the good old times may usefully reflect on the condition of society in days when a portion of a subject's goods was obliged to be given to the Crown or to some royal favorite, in order to preserve to the testator's family the secure possession of the remainder. Thus, Sir Edward Haward, 1512, bequeathed to the King his great whistle, the insignia of office as Admiral in the King's fleet, "for the strengthening of this my last will."

A Presbyterian divine left a legacy to a church at St. Ives to provide six Bibles yearly, for which six men and six women were to throw with dice every Whit Tuesday in the church, while the minister prayed that the toss might be directed to the glory of God.

Lady Frances Wilson, daughter of Lord Aylesbury, was one day informed that a man who had recently died in a Pimlico lodging, had left her a valuable estate in Hants. Incredulous, she went up to town and recognized the remains of a man who had frequently annoyed her by staring at her at the opera. The same man had also bequeathed £4,000 to the Speaker of the House of Commons, and £1,000 to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, neither of whom had been aware of his existence.

John of Gaunt directed that his body should be kept above ground for forty days, and that on the day of burial ten great tapers should be burnt around his body in the name of the Ten Commandments which he had so wickedly transgressed, and, "besides these ten, seven in memory of the seven works of charity which I have neglected, and besides the seven, five others for the five senses which I have negligently wasted, and over and above all the aforesaid tapers I will that there be three in honor of the Blessed Trinity."

The Earl of Stafford married at St. Germain, 1694, the eldest daughter of the Count de Grammont; in his will he thus expresses himself: "I leave to the very worst of women, who is guilty of everything that is bad, the daughter of M. Grammont, a Frenchman, whom I have unfortunately married, forty-five brass half-pence with which to buy a pullet for supper, a greater sum than her father can often give her, he being the worst of men and his wife the worst of women. Had I only known their characters I had never married their daughter nor made myself so unhappy."

An old proverb says that every man is either a fool or a physician at forty. Sir H. Halford happening one day to quote the saying to a circle of friends, Canning humorously inquired: "Sir Henry, mayn't he be both?" At any rate, experience teaches that lawyers who draw their own wills sometimes make great mistakes. Sir Samuel Romilly's will was improperly worded, Chief Baron Thompson's will became the subject of chancery proceedings, while the will of Bradley, the eminent conveyancer, was actually set aside by Lord Thurlow.

Many wills have been written in verse, and a will chalked upon a cornbin, and another inscribed by a sick man upon his pillow, have, it is said, been filed in the days of doctors' Commons. One of the briefest wills—that of Kenneth Macauley 1805—is thus worded: "One thousand pounds to my brother Tom; all the rest to my dearest wife absolutely.—Temple Bar.

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Are extremely frequent in this climate, and their danger lies in the opinion too often entertained that they will wear themselves out. That they do not and that hundreds are being hurried in consequence to untimely graves is one of the most patent facts of our existence. The only rational treatment is to employ Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, a preparation of inestimable value in all pulmonary complaints. In addition to supplying the oil in a form in which it may easily be assimilated and without disturbing the stomach, it represents the nutritive properties of wheat, oats and barley, and is therefore a reconstructive and tissue former of eminent value. Not less important is the action of maltine on starchy foods. These are rendered digestible and capable of replacing the wastes of the body. This is Nature's own method. Try Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

WISDOM

Does'nt always come from brains. A man who has kept his eyes on Fairweather & Co's show windows for the last three weeks—not all the time, we don't mean—part of the time you are, of course, expected to work—could not have failed to see that they are selling Furs at greatly reduced prices.

LONDON FOOD ADULTERATIONS.

All Sorts of Tricks to Manufacture Saleable Comestibles.

"I don't know why it is," says Professor Alfred W. Stokes, the well-known London analyst, "but the average London householder will insist on having milk of a nice yellow cream color. Now, only the Channel Island cows yield yellow milk, but what of that? There is a demand; the supply shall not fail while there is a comparatively harmless coloring matter called anotto which looks like red ink, and a few drops of which will make a gallon of fresh milk the color beloved of the Londoner."

It is both instructive and amusing to follow the evolution of the milk described by Professor Stokes—who, by the way, has been protecting Londoners against adulterated food for the last twenty-eight years. First of all, the farmer adds his quota of water. Then the farmer's man, who takes the pails and churns to the station for conveyance to London, may plunge the vessels into a brook in order to cool the milk quickly, and in this way more water gets in, not to mention small fishes, which Professor Stokes has found alive and well in milk churns. Then come the railway servants who occasionally take a long pull at the contents of the churns when they are unlocked for official inspection during the journey to London. Of course, the most obvious way to conceal such pilfering is to add more water; and this is done with fine generosity. A prosecution for this very offense was recorded recently. Then come the wholesale dealer, the retailer, and perhaps the servants. The retailer occasionally extracts the cream and adds such preservatives as borax and boracic acid. Under these circumstances it is interesting to note that the lactometer wherewith the astute householder provides himself registers "good milk."

The excuses given by farmers and others for adulterated milk are ingenious. The churns have been left out in the rain, or the cooler may have leaked, or the lump of ice was too large. One dealer swore positively in court that he did not put a single drop of water into the milk. He did not. He poured the milk into a certain quant water specially prepared for it.

Professor Stokes says that even fruit is tampered with. Strawberries are dipped into a solution of analine dye, melons are flavored with essence injected with a syringe, and coarse oranges turned into "Malta blood" by a somewhat similar process.

Alum and potatoes still find their way into bread, and roasted bread and ground beans frequently supplement chicory as ingredients in tinned coffee. The smart Londoner who purchases freshly roasted coffee beans, and waits to see them ground, probably never dreams that the requisite quantity of chicory is already placed in the mill.

The Waist Line.

In the matter of dress it must be a great satisfaction to be a man. There is so much comfort in the thought that one can go to one's tailor with a cheque, or the promise of one—which is just as good if it hasn't been given too often—and there confide in a man of unbiassed judgment who knows the correct thing to wear and gives it to you. Then, after you have got it, you can possess your soul in peace for several months, knowing that if you were correctly dressed at the commencement of the season you will remain so until your suit begins to look shabby.

What a contrast is this calm serenity of mind to the turmoil and doubt which racks a woman's brain from the hour she begins to "shop" for her new gown until it is worn out! She wants to be the first to bring "out" a new fashion; then if nobody follows her lead, she is harrassed with doubts for fear she has introduced a style that nobody admires and has made herself appear eccentric. On the other hand, if too many adopt it, she grows tired of it because it has become common.

Here we are, for instance, with a collection of round waists, made of various materials, and for various occasions. At the beginning of the season this was entirely correct. There were threats of something different, but there wasn't anything definite about them, and most of us had our waists made round, because they are comfortable and convenient, and we liked them.

French women, however, for some unaccountable reason, seem to have a prejudice against the dividing line between bodice and skirt, and they take every opportunity to dispense with the "string around the waist," and make an unbroken line from bust to hip—the line which is considered by artists to be one of the most beautiful in the human figure. French dressmakers, therefore, exert all their influence to bring in the close-fitting jacket, to take the place of the full round waist. They have succeeded in establishing the princess dress, which is a step in the same direction, and by the time spring rolls around we shall be making our dresses with basques and jackets which will prepare us nicely for the inevitable jacketed duck suit of the summer girl.

But that is a long way off, and though the big shops are beginning to exhibit their spring and summer goods, we have no idea of starting our summer outfit just yet. At present we are about to plunge into the sea of amusements, and new gown swhich we abandoned when we began to get ready for the holidays. There are numerous theater waists and ball dresses to be made for the places to which they are worn. Nearly all the new waists have some sort of jacket front, of either the military cut with sharp points at the waist or the now popular Louis XVI. style.

A jacket of silk brocade, with stiff fronts that stand straight out like doors when not buttoned, is the newest thing for a theater waist. There are two or three large fancy buttons of the miniature type on one side with buttonholes to correspond on the other. Underneath is a lace or mull front which does not stop at the waist but hangs several inches below. This lace front does not bag, blouse-fashion, as was formerly the correct thing, but fits the figure and is not very full. The back is slightly rippled over the faintest suggestion of a bustle.

The bustle is biding its time, but is getting ready for the summer jacket. It consists now of three plaits of crinoline starting at the back of the belt and flaring to the bottom of the skirt. It is more like a hoop skirt than a bustle and gives a very desirable flare to the skirt. It is very useful as it can be used in any skirt and removes the need of using more than a few inches of line or hair cloth.

Great River, Great Country.

The River Danube is 2,000 miles in length, and it flows through countries in which 52 different languages and dialects are spoken. The Missouri river beats that by 1,500 miles, and though a good many languages are spoken in this country, if a man were to start in a canoe near the source of the Missouri river, and to float to where its waters empty into the Gulf, and speak to a man on every mile of the way, the chances are ten to one that in every case he would be answered in the English tongue.

What it Costs to Clean a City.

Col. Waring's estimates for keeping New York's streets free from dirt during 1896 were considered the other day, and the sum of $3,020,715 was allowed and put in the budget. Col. Waring asked for $3,187,053, divided as follows: Sweeping, $1,402,310; carting, $903,473; final disposition, $503,890; administration $220,440; rentals and contingencies, $106,440; snow and ice, $40,000; new stock, $10,000; total, $3 187,053.

Sauerkraut.

While it is generally understood that this appetizing dish is a strong favorite among the Teutonic race, its appreciation is not by any means confined to Germans, any more than porridge is to the Scotch. It will be of interest to all who relish a dish of sauerkraut to know that we keep a supply on hand by the quart or gallon. M. L. Henry & Co., grocers, No. 341 George street.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure permanently. self=help

You are weak, "run-down," health is frail, strength gone. Doctors call your case anæmia—there is a fat-famine in your blood. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites, is the best food-means of getting your strength back—your doctor will tell you that.

He knows also that when the digestion is weak it is better to break up cod-liver oil out of the body than to burden your tired digestion with it. Scott's Emulsion does that.

THE BOOT and SHOE TRADE

OF PETERBOROUGH

COMING OUR WAY

ON THE JUMP!

We feel it in our mit—we see it in our crowds—we read it in our sales.

Selling Boots and Shoes alongside of Clothing, &c, and under the same roof, lessens running expenses and reduces prices all along the line—that's part of the secret of our big sales, and shoppers have had it proved to their entire satisfaction times without number.

Time was when we paid the wholesaler a stiff profit and took what we could get. Now the Situation is changed, and if we want anything we go for it and buy in big enough quantities to discount the trade generally. In other words the wholesaler is no longer supreme.

Besides our own efforts to get the nobbiest of stylish Boots and Shoes, manufacturers are on the alert for the largest distributing points, and without a lantern come straight here when they think of Peterborough.

We Are Selling To "Beat the Band."

Doing a rattling business and whittling prices down in spite of the increased price of leather. Sooner or later we'll have to charge more, but not yet awhile.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, BOYS AND GIRLS, are all remembered. Their wants have all been anticipated. Fine Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers, Overshoes, Cork Sole Boots, Leggings, Artic Snow Excluders, and every possible need of man, woman or child.

Keep your feet dry—healthy—warm—cornless—painless—these stormy wintry days. Don't wait for another snow storm but buy your Boots, Rubbers and Overshoes now! Bad weather soon finds the weak spots in Footwear.

It isn't a question of how much we can get but how little we can afford to sell for, and if you don't find values here the best within your reach, make us pay well for our imprudence. This year we begin with fresh resolves to outdo and excel all our past records.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

OUR PROGRAMME

FOR THIS MONTH WILL BE A VERY INTERESTING ONE FOR ALL LADY SHOPPERS. NOT A BUSINESS DAY WILL PASS BUT SOMETHING THAT'S NEW WILL BE ADDED TO EACH DEPARTMENT.

"ITS FAIR'S WAY.'

EVENING WEAR.

HANDSOME FABRICS FOR EVENING WEAR ARE NOW RECEIVING MORE THAN PASSING ATTENTION. YOU WILL FIND MANY NEW AND HANDSOME MATERIALS PRODUCED THIS SEASON FOR THE FIRST TIME, AND NOT FOUND ELSEWHERE, AND AT PRICES MUCH LOWER THAN THE GOODS ARE HANDSOME.

WE HAVE HAD SEVERAL INQUIRIES LATELY IF WE WERE STILL SELLING HATS AND PLUMES AT THE SAME PRICES AS LISTED LAST WEEK. FOR THE BENEFIT OF ANY ONE INTERESTED WE MIGHT SAY, THAT IN EVERYTHING IN THESE LINES, INCLUDING A VERY LIMITED NUMBER OF JACKETS AND CAPES, THE PRICES ARE EVEN CUT LOWER, BEING DETERMINED THAT NOT A SINGLE ARTICLE OR GARMENT WILL BE CARRIED OVER TILL ANOTHER SEASON; BUT

"ITS FAIR'S WAY.'

SECOND CROP OF BARGAINS.

We start the Bargain Ball rolling for February in dead earnest. As there is a good deal of winter yet before us, it is unnecessary to point out the wisdom of buying now.

Our Stock-Taking is over—now for a month of lucky chances and snaps in mid-winter goods. An aftermath of Bargains for shrewd buyers—lines which we laid out during stock taking such as Serges, Cheviots, Heavy Tweeds and other Remnants, to be sold even at HALF REGULAR PRICES.

We don't want to carry winter lines past their regular selling season, so you may figure on getting pretty nearly your own way in prices.

You need the goods—we need the room they occupy—so there is mutual benefit all round in the selling of them.

Our New Spring Stock is wheeling into line, and we are glad to tell our lady friends that part of our programme for Spring is a NEW MILLINERY DEPARTMENT, of which we will tell you more in good time.

We don't "rest-up" during the winter months and take things easy until Spring. Business is full of worn-out, tired-out men who live almost wholly in the past and struggle for the success that never comes. And because of that they find fault with the times. While others are resting we're simply HUSTLING.

CORRIGAN'S DEATH.

Opening of the Inquest in the Toronto Morgue.

THE CHARGE AGAINST JAS. HEALEY

Is That of Murder—The Victim's Wife Tells Her Terrible Story of Frequent Quarrels Which Ended in Blood Letting and Death—The Enquiry Adjourned

Toronto, Feb. 7.

The inquest concerning the death of John Corrigan was commenced at the Morgue last night.

Coroner Pickering swore in the following jury: Joseph Stinson, foreman; James Adamson, William Gautrey, Walter Hurst, John Lorriman, James Milne, Samuel Oakley, James B. Gillonna, Harry Littleton, Sol Boice, J.F. Galster, D. Matthewson, Albert Farmery.

The prisoner, James Healey, who is charged with having murdered Corrigan in the Parliament-street house on Wednesday night, was present and occupied a seat behing the witness' box. He was represented by E. J. Hearn, and Mr. Raney looked after the interest of the Crown.

In the corridor were a motely crowd of the residents of the locality in which the tragedy occurred, and also many of the principal witnesses, including Mrs. Healey, who had her two small children with her. The youngsters were dirty and unkempt, but played contentedly.

Maria Corrigan, wife of the victim, was the first witness called. Being duly sworn, she deposed that she married deceased 14 years ago. The premises on Parliament-street were rented by her at the commencement of the year, and a portion sub-let to Healey on Jan. 9. Since the Healey family moved in, quarrels were frequent, so witness decided to move. She told the Healeys of her intention, and commenced to remove her furniture on Wednesday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. Healey came in shortly afterwards and commenced swearing at witness for leaving him and his family in the lurch. She replied that she could keep them no longer for nothing, whereupon Healey took a stove belonging to witness, and put it in his bedroom, telling Mrs. Corrigan that she could not have it until witness paid him $2. Witness said she owed him no money, on the contrary, he was much in her debt.

Cornelius Curtis took part in the conversation and told Healey that he should give up the stove. Witness stated that Healey then struck Curtis with a hatchet, cutting his head, after which she accompanied the young man to Dr. Coatsworth's, where his injuries were dressed.

Deceased was not at home when Healey and Curtis quarreled, but came in at about 6.45, and went in the express sleigh to the rooms witness had hired on King-street east. Witness told him of Healey's taking possession of the stove and Corrigan said he would see about it; Corrigan then went back to the old house, and she remained behind putting up bedsteads, but thinking Corrigan and Healey might quarrel, became uneasy, and followed him to the house, arriving there before he did. Healey had nailed up the doors and she could not get in. She borrowed a small hatchet from a neighbor, and Corrigan came along and tried to get into the window. As he entered the room, Healey opened the door and struck him three or four times with a piece of iron. Healey had an ax in the other hand. Corrigan then went towards the steps to go up when Healey struck him down with the ax.

To Mr. Hearn witness said she did not know who owned the revolver found on the prisoner. She did not remember ever having seen it before Wednesday night.

The next witness was Cornelius Curtis. He told of his movements during the day and of Healey's assault upon him with a bar of iron when he had remonstrated with him regarding the detention of the stove. Witness said that it was only about 5 o'clock, when Corrigan came to the house and then Mrs. Corrigan told him about Healey trying to keep the stove.

Corrigan spoke to Healey about it, and the latter replied, "As soon as you bring back the sheet you have of mine, I will give up the stove." Witness then went to the kitchen door and said, "Jim, you better give up the stove; it ain't worth having any trouble over." It was then Healey struck him on the head with an iron poker. "He was then going to strike me with a small hatchet," continued witness, "when Corrigan stopped him."

Shown the three hatchets by Detective Duncan, he thought it was the smallest one that Healey threatened to strike him with.

Witness said that he had never seen the revolver found on Healey till last night, and then it was in the hands of Detective Duncan. He did not know who owned the revolver. He had heard Mrs. Corrigan say she had one, but he never saw it.

To Mr. Raney Curtis said he was not at the house when Corrigan met his death, and admitted having been drinking during the day, although none of the parties concerned were the worse for liquor when he last saw them.

To Mr. Hearn witness said that he was present when Corrigan asked Healey, in the presence of a policeman, to return the stove.

To Coroner Pickering Curtis denied that he was drunk on Wednesday. Witness said that when he last saw deceased and the prisoner in conversation Corrigan said, "Now, Jim, you ain't doing right. I don't want to sleep in a cold house." Witness heard nothing further. The two men walked toward Healey's door. Corrigan did not appear to be angry but Healey did.

After Curtis' examination was over he said to the coroner, "Healey told me at the jail that he saw a gun in Corrigan's hand and knocked it away from him."

Young John Clayton, stepson of the deceased, made a good, but rather cheeky witness. He seemed to like the position he was in and gave his evidence very clearly.

He deposed that he went home at about 7 o'clock and heard there had been a row and that Curtis had had his head cut open and that the house was deserted. He then went up to the new place in King-street, and when his mother arrived there helped her to put up bedsteads while deceased went down to see about the stove. When his mother left he went too. Before his mother went, Curtis, deceased and the expressman had gone down for the stove.

When he got to the Parliament-street house, door was nailed up, so he climbed through a fanlight, but came right out again. He and his mother had waited 20 minutes when the sleigh with the men arrived. He was positive Curtis was on the sleigh. Corrigan got out and the sleigh moved up the street. He climbed through a window into the house and witness followed. Corrigan went to Healey's apartments and rapped at the door. The door opened and Corrigan was felled with an axe in the hands of Healey. Not a word was said until after the first blow, when Corrigan said, "Hold on, Healey." Witness was carrying the small hatchet his mother had borrowed and when he saw Healey strike his stepfather a second time, he flung the hatchet at him and jumped through the window. While he was out on the street looking for a policeman he heard a dull pounding thud in the house.

Corrigan and Healey had no words when the act was committed. He didn't see a gun in Corrigan's hands, but recognized the one found in Healey's hand as being the same that he had often seen in a trunk belonging to his mother.

The enquiry was adjourned till this evening in the Police Court, at 8 o'clock.

MANY WORKMEN DROWNED.

A Fearful Disaster at a New England Railway Bridge.

Hartford, Feb. 6.—This evening a passenger train on the New England road had a narrow escape from wreck on the bridge between Bristol and Forestville, 20 miles west of here. The bridge began to sink, but the train pulled across. A wrecking party was then sent out and began to build a new bridge. About 9 o'clock to-night, when the men were at work, the bridge was carried away. Between 30 and 40 workmen went down into the Pequatuck River and were drowned. A wrecking train left here at 10.30 for the scene of the disaster.

"BAT" SHEA MUST DIE.

He Killed Ross and Will Pay the Penalty on Tuesday Next

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 6.—One of the most celebrated criminal cases in recent years was finally decided to-day and Bartholmey Shea of Troy, who was convicted of murdering Robert Ross on election day in the spring of 1894, must die next Tuesday. Shea's application for a new trial, which was based on the confession of John McGough, one of Shea's accomplices, that he and not Shea had killed Ross, was denied by the Supreme Court by Justice Mayham. McGough is serving 20 years for shooting William Ross, Robert Ross' brother.

MARLBOROUGH COMING BACK.

He and the Duchess Will Spend Two Months in Newport.

Newport, R.I., Feb. 6.—Word reached Newport to-day from a near relative of Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont that the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough would return to this country about Aug. 1 to remain two months.

Most of the time will be spent at Newport, Marble House being opened and occupied by them. This was rumored about the time the Duke and Duchess were married, the confirmation to-day comes from a source regarding which there can be no doubt.

Willis Chipman, the Toronto sanitary engineer, who lately examined the location at Fredericton with a view of introducing sewerage, has forwarded his report to the city. He estimates the cost at $80,000 for eight miles of pipe, and serving a population of 15,000.

John Nankinville and William Smith started out in Winnipeg on Tuesday night to do a little job in the suburbs. A quarrel arose, when Nankinville shot his pal, who died last night, after giving testimony against the murderer. It transpires that the murderer is the same man who fired at the superintendent of the Winnipeg Street Railway a few weeks ago while the superintendent was sitting in his office.

IT IS SIGNIFICANT!

A Strange Notice Posted Up in the G.T.R. Offices.

CHANGES AND RUMORS OF CHANGES

In Canada's Veteran Railway Service—Mr. Wallis, Mechanical Superintendent, Denies That He Has Resigned—Mr. McGuigan Follows Suite and says Nothing.

Montreal, Feb. 6.—The following short but significant notice has been posted up in the Grand Trunk offices in this city:

Don't talk; pride goeth before a fall, and he who thinketh himself indispensable often getteth fired bodily; don't talk; saw wood."

Mr. Herbert Wallis, the head of the mechanical department, denies most emphatically that he has been requested to retire from that position. When asked whether it was at all likely that he would resign in the near future, he said: "No, I have not resigned, nor have I been requested by anyone to do so. In fact, nothing has passed between Mr. Hays and myself which would in the slightest degree hint at my retirement, or suggest anything of the kind. With regard to the rumors concerning myself, I may say that they are absolutely without foundation."

Another gentleman whose resignation was said to have been given in was Mr. Harry White, the mechanical accountant. Mr. White was in his office as usual this morning, and stated that so far as he knew, there was no truth in the report. Certainly he had not himself thought of resigning.

Mr. McGuigan, the gentleman who is expected to succeed Mr. Stephenson as general superintendent of the road, when asked if he had anything to say, replied: "I have absolutely nothing to say concerning myself or my future prospects. I am not in a position to say whether I shall be Mr. Stephenson's successor, but I know that in two or three days Mr. Hays himself will make an official announcement."

"What is your opinion of the Grand Trunk system, after inspecting it?"

"I consider that Mr. Hays is the person who should speak for the company, although later on, perhaps, I may be able to say something."

Mr. W. J. Spicer, after another short conference with the general manager, left for Detroit.

LEPROSY IN BOSTON.

An Englishwoman Discovered to be Suffering From the Disease.

Boston, Feb. 6.—A woman suffering from leprosy was discovered in South Boston a few days ago and was removed this morning to Phillips' Island in the harbor. That it is a case of leprosy is not denied. The fact that she has lived in South Boston five years is given out. She is 35 years old, of English birth, and her husband is a hard working man. They have five bright children. The doctors are satisfied that neither the husband nor any of the family has the disease. The family have not mingled with neighbors, and as the house has been thoroughly fumigated and other members of the family properly cared for, there is no fear of further danger.

BIG STRIKE IN GERMANY

The Clothing and Linen Trades in Trouble With Their Employes.

Berlin, Feb. 6.—The wages agitation among the persons employed by the clothing and linen manufacturers of Germany is growing and already exceeds any previous trade movement in the history of the country. The movement is supported by the workers in all the large cities, and a strike has been begun in Breslau and Hamburg.

The demands of the employes are everywhere recognized as having ample justification. The Government has appealed to the B[illegible] firms affected by the agitation to submit the differences between themselves and their employes to arbitration.

THE MANITOBA LEGISLATURE.

What the Speech From the Throne Contained—The School Question.

Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—The first session of the ninth Legislature of Manitoba was formally opened by Lieut.-Governor Patterson this afternoon. Only two items of importance were contained in the Speech from the Throne, and here they are:

'It is greatly to be deplored that the abundance of the products of the soil has been to some extent offset by the unusually low prices obtainable therefor. The value of such products at the point of production, as compared with the cost of conveying them to the markets of the world, emphasizes the well-known fact that freight rates upon outgoing grain are most exorbitant, and any relief which can be obtained from such rates will be eagerly welcomed.

"As you are aware, it was deemed wise to anticipate the time when the Legislative Assembly would have been dissolved in the ordinary course, in order to afford the people of the province an opportunity of expressing themselves upon the attitude assumed by the Government in relation to the pending application of the minority for the restoration of their former privileges in regard to education. The result of the elections leaves no room for doubt that the attitude of my Government is in accord with the wishes of the very large majority of the people of the province.

"A copy of the order in council embodying the views and the policy of my Government upon the question, will shortly be laid before you."

The speech also expresses unswerving loyalty to the Empire, and sympathy with Her Majesty and Princess Beatrice on the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg.

WHERE CANADA STANDS.

The loyalty of Canada to the Motherland needs no protestation. But, as was remarked in the House of Commons yesterday in the course of a most notable discussion, there is a time for everything, and now is the time for some such declaration as Mr. McNeill submitted. Mr. McNeill's resolution sets forth the unalterable loyalty and devotion of the Canadian Parliament to the British throne and constitution; the willingness of the Canadian people to make substantial sacrifices "to maintain unimpaired the integrity and inviolate the honour of Her Majesty's Empire," and the desire of Canada to maintain the most friendly relations with the United States. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to comment largely upon the enthusiasm characterising the discussion of this motion in the House and its unanimous adoption. A friendly rivalry marked the efforts of the two parties to speak with no uncertain sound as to the loyalty of the Canadians to the nation under whose broad shield they have become a great people, and as to their hearty good will to their cousins of the neighbouring republic. It was a pleasant and becoming thing that for once in a long and weary while the parties have found a theme upon which, in respect of its general principles, they can agree. It goes without saying that all spirit of boasting and vain glory was happily absent from the speeches. The Canadian House of Commons in a full sense of its responsibility was solemnly pledging itself to the maintenance of principles which the Canadian people hold dear. It was pledging itself to a course of action which is to impose upon Canadians the necessity for substantial sacrifices. It was not an occasion for boasting, and there was no boasting, but the world to-day knows where Canada stands, and that, according to the chosen mouthpieces of the great political parties of the Dominion, is at her mother's side, through good or evil report, in isolation splendid or dangerous, through thick and thin. God Save the Queen.—Montreal Herald.

As expected by all well-informed financiers, the United States bond issue proved a distinct success. The subscription amounted to nearly $475,000,000 over the amount called forth—a notable thing in itself. The effect of such a unanimous appreciation of the bonds must necessarily prove beneficial.

In the Ottawa correspondence of the Star, which appears to be in capable hands this session, there appears the following reference to the manner in which the news from Cape Breton was received on Tuesday night: "On neither side was there any extravagant exhibition of political feeling, for the one felt that they had lost nothing, and the other that the gain was not as great as had been expected."

BAYARD'S BURNING WORDS.

The U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain is of the Right Sort

London, Feb. 6.—Ambassador Bayard attended a charity dinner given here to-night. He made a speech in which he expressed pleasure in being admitted into the personalsympathy of English-people. He said when he recognized the community of sentiment existing between his country and theirs, he felt that crossing the Atlantic was merely a change of faces, not a change of hearts. (Cheers.) Their language and feeling did not need to be translated. They meant one and the same thing. What ought to be easier than to maintain in such a transparent truth? Yet some persons might possibly contend that aspirations of honest men here and there were different. He did not believe it. (Cheers.) If there was a difference it was artificial. No form of words or exchange of sentiments was necessary. Only let human hearts speak to human hearts and it would be found that all differences could be arranged.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the tooth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentifrice. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

AWARD FAVORS ONTARIO.

Disputed Accounts Arbitration Renders an Important Judgment at Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 6.—The disputed accounts arbitration board rendered an important judgment here to-day in connection with accounts outstanding and unsettled since confederation. The subject of the present award is the Upper Canada Common School fund. The judgment is a very elaborate one, and details intricate, but in substance the award deals with sums aggregating between two and three million dollars. The award favors Ontario as to two large items, and in respect to these Quebec will appeal. Quebec succeeds in respect to an item of some $900,000. The award, however, on the whole, is in favor of Ontario.

Seems as if consumption always picks out the brightest and best. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths that occur in the world are caused by consumption. Many things were once considered impossible. It would be strange if medical science did not make some progress. The telegraph and telephone, the phonograph, the electric light—all were once impossible, and once it was impossible to cure consumption. That was before the time of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Taken according to directions, this standard remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Consumption is caused and fostered by impurity in the blood. It is cured by purity and richness in the blood—surely, certainly cured by the "Medical Discovery." It builds up solid healthy flesh and vigorous strength.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page medical work, profusely illustrated will be sent free on receipt of 31 one cent stamps to cover postage ONLY. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

NEARING A SETTLEMENT.

Great Britain and Venezuela Said to be Reaching Friendly Terms.

London, Feb. 5—The Chronicle will say to-morrow that it learns from good authority that a partial settlement between Great Britain and Venezuela has been effected, or is on the verge of being effected. It adds that it believes the settlement refers to the Yuruan affair, which consisted of the arrest of British officials by the Venezuelans, for which Great Britain demanded the payment of an indemnity. The latter has held that this affair is entirely separate from the boundary dispute.

Senator Morgan Gives Notice of a Rather Unique Amendment.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In the Senate to-day Senator Quay's resolution to recommit the House Tariff Bill with the Free Coinage substitute to the Finance Committee, with instructions to report them back as separate propositions, went over till Monday. Senator Morgan gave notice of an amendment to the resolution, the point of which is that countries which will, by law, make United States silver full legal tender money, in payment of customs and of goods imported to this country, shall have a deduction of 10 per cent. allowed in United States customs duty on such goods if imported in United States vessels or in vessels belonging to that country.

POPE LEO HARD AT WORK

On the New Encyclical to Bring About a Union of the Churches.

New York, Feb. 6.—A special from Rome, says: Leo XIII. is still hard at work on the new encyclical concerning the Primacy of the Christian churches. As he attaches great importance to this encyclical and is anxious to verify certain historic details to which he will refer, the publication of the document may be deferred. Another reason makes this doubly probable The situation in the East is still so serious that the Holy Father, not unnaturally, thinks the Oriental clergy may be too much agitated by the tragedies occurring in Armenia to give proper attention to his appeal, which concerns them very largely. In the mind of the Pope the new encyclical will be the crowning effort of his long career to bring about the union of the churches.

IT CAUSED TROUBLE.

The Letter to Jameson Found on the Battlefield

AFTER HE WAS MADE A PRISONER

John Hayes Hammond and Others of the "Reform" Signed it and the Doctor Invaded the Transvaal—A Guarantee of His Expenses—Excitement at Johannesburg.

The Johannesburg Times of Jan. 4 prints the full text of the letter sent by the Uitlanders to Dr. Jameson, which induced him to invade the Transvaal. Among the signers of this letter is John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, who is now a prisoner at Pretoria. The letter, which was picked up on the battlefield where Jameson's party were defeated and captured, is as follows:

"Johannesburg, Dec. 20.

"Dr. Jameson:

"Dear Sir,—The position of matters in this State has become so critical that at no distant period there will be a conflict between the Government and the Uitlander population. It is scarcely necessary for us to recapitulate what is now a matter of history. Suffice it that the position of thousands of Englishmen and others is rapidly becoming intolerable. Not satisfied with making the Uitlanders pay virtually the whole of the revenue of the country, while denying them representation, the policy has been steadily to encroach upon the liberty of the subject and to undermine the security of property to such an extent as to leave a very deep-seated cause of discontent and danger.

"A foreign corporation of Hollanders is to a considerable extent controlling our destinies, and in conjunction with the Boer leaders is endeavoring to cast them in a mould which is wholly foreign to the genius of the people. Every public act betrays the most positive hostility not only to everything English, but to the neighboring States as well. In short, the internal policy of the Government is such as to have roused into antagonism not only practically the whole body of Uitlanders, but a large number of the Boers, while its external policy has exasperated the neighboring States, causing the possibility of great danger to the peace and independence of the republic.

"Public feeling is in a condition of smouldering discontent. All the petitions of the people have been refused with a greater or less degree of contempt, and in the debate on the franchise petition, signed by nearly 40,000 people, one member challenged the Uitlanders to fight for the right they asked for, and not a single member spoke against him. Not to go into details, we may say that the Government have called into existence all the elements necessary for armed conflict.

"The one desire of the people here is for fair play and the maintenance of their independence, and the preservation of their public liberties, without which life is not worth having. The Government denies these things, and violates the national sense of Englishmen at every turn. What we have to consider is what will be the condition of things here, in the event of conflict, with thousands of unarmed men, women and children of our race. They will be at the mercy of well-armed Boers, while property of enormous value would be in the greatest peril. We cannot contemplate the future without the gravest apprehension, and feel that we are justified in taking steps to prevent the shedding of blood, to ensure the protection of our rights.

"It is under these circumstances that we feel constrained to call upon you to come to our aid should a disturbance arise here. The circumstances are so extreme that we cannot avoid this step, and we cannot but believe that you will not fail to come to the rescue of the people who would be so situated. We guarantee any expense that may be incurred by you in helping us, and ask you to believe that nothing but the sternest necessity has prompted this appeal. We are, yours infidelity,

"Charles Leonard, Francis Rhodes, Lionel Phillips, John Hayes Hammond, George Farrar."

IN THE TRANSVAAL.

The Greatest Excitement Now Prevails at Johannesburg—The Trials on.

New York, Feb. 6.—A despatch to The Journal from Johannesburg, South Africa, says the greatest excitement prevails in Johannesburg. The next three days will be anxious ones for all of us here. They will be anxious days for John Hays Hammond as well. However, he and the other prisoners continue well, although the jail in which they are confined is very unhealthy.

The Pretorian Government has ordered the Boer troops to occupy the heights above the city. The Germans, incited by Emperor William's message to Kruger, have formed a volunteer force to police the city, and the feeling against them among the rest of the Uitlanders is very strong.

At the election of the Chamber of Mines yesterday Solly R. Joel was elected president and J. S. Curtis vice-president.

The remaining members of the Executive Council of the Chamber are still under arrest at Pretoria.

Consul Knight wired to the State Department at Washington a week ago, but he can get no answer through. He has left for Cape Town. We are absolutely without any news from the outside world.

Prisoners on Trial.

Pretoria, Feb. 6.—The examination of the prisoners arrested at Johannesburg and brought here for trial was formally opened yesterday. They were formally accused of having held possession of the City of Johannesburg by force for some time, and of having openly avowed their opposition to the Government of the South African Republic. The examination was adjourned.

Rhodes Meets Chamberlain

London, Feb. 6.—Right Hon. Cecil Rhodes, ex-Premier of the Cape Colony, had an interview with Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, at the Colonial Office this afternoon. The Earl of Shelburne, Under Secretary of State for the Colonies, was present.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. Perfect secrecy assured. Address with stamp:—L. A. Edwards, Jarvis Ont.

HAS INGERSOLL WEAKENED?

He Says the People's Church is the Grandest Thing in the United States.

It certainly seems as if Bob Ingersoll had weakened on his agnosticism and was ready to be gathered into the fold of some Christian church. He gave a lecture a few days ago and before the lecture friends took him to visit the People's church, which has been established some years, and was endowed with the building, through the generosity of the late Silas Hubbard, a philanthropist. This church has as its pastor Miss Caroline J. Bartlett. It is on the institutional plan, and seeks to provide for the temporal as well as the spiritual well-being of its members.

It has parlors and reception rooms devoted to social gatherings and discussions. It has rooms for students, libraries for those who desire to read, a kitchen and dining-room to feed the Christian seeker, and is generally built like a home. It is utterly undenominational and requires no creed at all on the part of its members.

The Colonel was very enthusiastic while at the church, and said it came nearer his idea of what a church should be than anything he had ever seen. The subject of his lecture was "Lincoln," and right in the middle of it the Colonel stopped a moment, and then told of his visit to the People's church. He wound up his talk about the church by saying: "It is the grandest thing in the state, if not in the United States. If there was such a church as that near my home I would certainly join it, if permitted."

The Colonel threw a vast amount of feeling into this portion of his discourse, and it created a sensation. After the lecture was over some of his friends gathered around him and wanted to know if he was in earnest when he said he would join the church, and he is quoted as replying to them that he never was more in earnest in his life.

The members of the People's church in Kalamazoo are in ecstasies over what Ingersoll said, and say they believe the prayers of the Christian Endeavorers will be answered through the medium of the People's church.

HARD TIMES!

Fortunately we have no reason for complaint, for which we are thankful to the public. There are weighty reasons for such a record. The public are well aware that orders entrusted to us give such satisfaction, that in a record of 35 years we never met with a refusal by the public in accepting such ordered goods.

The reason of this is, that we buy only such material as must give satisfaction, and we are the practical Cutters and do not employ female cutters of no experience who may well do for sewing and suit others on account of cheapness in wages, but would not suit our taste, nor trade.

We offer for the remainder of the season our goods at the lowest possible prices.

Last Thursday evening, says the Norwood Register, the members of St. Paul's church choir, Peterborough, about 25 in number, drove down to Norwood and rendered a very pleasant programme of sacred music in the Presbyterian church. They were assisted by Miss Sophie Cameron and Miss Roxburgh. Miss Cameron rendered two very pretty solos in a voice as clear as a bell, and Miss Roxburgh contributed a Scotch song in her usual happy style. "The Holy City" was pleasingly rendered by Mr. Crane, and the choruses by the choir were listened to with pleasure by the large audience. The visitors were pleasantly entertained by the ladies of the church here.

A WELCOME ROME FROM SACRED ROME.

PRIESTS AND PEOPLE IN PIOUS RIVALRY.

Immense Gathering at the Station—Procession to the Cathedral—Presentation of Addresses—His Lordship's Reply—A Te Deum Sung—The Pontifical Blessing Bestowed.

On May 1st, 1889, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor arrived in Peterborough and was consecrated Bishop of Peterborough. Though at that time he came as a comparative stranger, his name had preceded him and he had on that occasion great reason to be gratified with the warmth of his reception by his clergy and his new flock. But after six years experience of his wise and benign rule, his people have learned to love him for his piety, devotion to his church and fatherly kindness to his flock, and yesterday his reception and warm welcome home was characterized by a respectful enthusiasm which must be exceedingly gratifying to the venerated prelate on his return from his first visit to Rome. It is required that a representative of every diocese, in the person of its bishop, should visit the Holy Father to render an account of his stewardship every ten years. It is ten years ago that the late lamented Bishop Jamot made the decennial pilgrimage to the Holy City and the present is Bishop O'Connor's first visit, which was successful and pleasing in every way. He returns to his people in good health and, of course, after such a reception as yesterday, in high good spirits.

His Lordship left Toronto yesterday at 1.40 p.m., accompanied by Rev. Father Teefy, principal of St. Michael's College, Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. C. J. Phelan, son of Mr. Ed. Phelan. Through the much appreciated courtesy of Mr. D. O. Pease, district passenger agent of the G. T. R., the private Pullman car, "Muskoka," was placed at the service of the episcopal party, which was joined at Port Hope by Rev. Father Lynch and Rev. Father Larkin, of Grafton, and arrived on time at Peterborough.

THE WELCOME

which was accorded His Lordship Bishop O'Connor on his return home from his trip abroad was a royal one. Almost the entire congregation of St. Peter's were at the G.T.R. station to meet him, as were hundreds of other citizens as well. As the five o'clock train swept into the station, bearing him upon it, the band struck up a brisk air, and the parishioners in whose hearts he holds such a warm place, crowded around to obtain the first glance from his benignant eye as he alighted upon the platform. Mr. Gus White held the reins over four white horses attached to one of Mr. Grady's sleighs in which His Lordship took a seat, when a procession was formed as follows:

Fire Brigade Band.
C. M. B. A., marshalled by Mr. M. Lynch.
E. B. A., marshalled by Messrs. Robert Begley and J. Carroll.
Court St. Peter, C.O.F., marshalled by Mr. John O'Brien.
Members of Congregation.
Bishop and Clergy in carriages.

The procession proceeded by Charlotte street to Aylmer, to Hunter, to the Cathedral.

Material evidences of welcome met Bishop O'Connor's eye in the shape of an immense streamer bearing the word "Welcome" flanked by a cordon of flags stretched across the street at the Convent gate, over which was thrown a gothic arch of evergreens barred with a "Welcome" in gold letters. At the main gate of the Cathedral close stood a beautiful arch of evergreens, upon whose top rested a scroll of evergreens, surmounted by a cross and enclosing a medallion bearing the legend—"Ecce Sacerdos Magnus"—behold the great priest.

At the church door his Lordship was met by Vicar-General Laurent, Lindsay, administrator of the diocese during his absence, and Ven. Archdeacon Casey, rector of the Cathedral. At the entrance of the church the Bishop knelt a moment in prayer and then advanced to his throne, sprinkling the people as he passed with holy water, and preceded by the clergy, chanting the antiphon, "Sacerdos Magnus." The following clergy occupied seats in the sanctuary: V. Rev. Father Laurent, V. G., Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Father Browne V. G., Rev. Father Kelly, Douro, Rev. Father Lynch, Port Hope, Rev. Father Conway, Norwood, Rev. Father Connolly, Hastings, Rev. Father Collins, Brighton, Rev. Father Nolan, Fenlon Falls, Rev. Father Sweeney, Victoria Road, C. J. Phelan and the Cathedral clergy.

The address of welcome from the Clergy was then presented as follows, by Vicar General Laurent, of Lindsay:

ADDRESS FROM THE CLERGY.

To the Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIP:—

It is with feelings of unfeigned joy that we, the priests of the diocese, are here to-day to greet you on your return from the Apostolic See and welcome you home to your Cathedral City. We hope that your visit to Rome, the home of the Popes, the seat of Christian authority, the centre of Catholic unity, has been for your Lordship happy, pleasant and fruitful of much good.

Three months ago your Lordship went forth accompanied by our prayers and best wishes, to pay your first official visit to the Holy See. Your have laid before the Sovereign Pontiff the religious state of the diocese. You have made known to him the spiritual needs of your flock. You have also borne to him the sincere expression of our sympathy with him in his trials and afflictions, and of our devoted loyalty to his sacred person at all times. Your return to-day is hailed by the joyous acclamations of your faithful people.

In your journey your Lordship has had the pleasure of visiting many countries of renown. First among them is your native Ireland, the Isle of saints, which has ever been true to the faith planted by St. Patrick fifteen centuries ago. Your Lordship's patriotism must have quickened at the sight of the home of your infancy, the beautiful lakes of Killarney, the treaty stone of Limerick, the Round Towers, the holy places made sacred by the heavenly lives of the saints of old.

In other countries your Lordship has seen much that tells of the civilising influence of the Church in past ages, the monuments of which in the stately cathedrals and halls of learning are still the glory and the pride of these nations. In Italy and more especially in Rome, where Pagan power and civilization rose to their highest eminence, and where the religion of Jesus Christ met her fiercest foes and gained her greatest victories, many monuments of struggle still stand, though in ruins. The Colosseum where the brutal voices of the Roman populace so often resounded with the cry "The Christians to the lions," the catacombs, where the piety of the faithful guarded for three centuries, the ashes of the dead, who died in the Lord, and received the bread of life that gave them the courage to go forth to battle for Christ's sake and claim the martyr's crown; the Tomb of the Blessed Apostles, that hallowed sanctuary, that tells how Peter loved our Lord and how our Lord made him the foundation of His Church, for above the Crypt in the glorious dome of St. Peter's are written the words of the Saviour. "Thou art Peter and upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." These bear testimony to the indefectible faith of the Roman Church planted in the blood of the glorious Apostles, Saints Peter and Paul.

In this age when religious divergencies appal honest minds outside the church, and devout hearts are sighing and seeking for union, the Catholic Church, like the city on the mountain that cannot be hid, shines gloriously forth in the wonderful unity of her faith and authority, "the one fold and one Shepherd." She is spread throughout all nations, and her bishops, natives of every clime under the sun, are united to the chair of Peter, and acknowledge Leo XIII to be their head, and the Vicar of Christ on earth. The visits of the bishops at stated times to the shrine of the Apostles are open proclamation of that Unity, which is only to be found in the Church for which Jesus Christ prayed, "that they may be one as we also are one." To this Unity our Holy Father has, in his latest Encyclicals, called the attention of the world, "that seeing they may believe." In his charity he is desirous that all may be united "in the unity of the Spirit and in the bond of peace, one Lord, one Faith and one Baptism."

We feel deeply flattered at the marked attention shown by their Eminences the Cardinals and the paternal kindness manifested by His Holiness, the Sovereign Pontiff, to your Lordship during your sojourn in the Eternal City.

We wish in conclusion to express to your Lordship our appreciation of the Very Reverend Father Laurent, V. G. who has shown justice and charity in the administration of the diocese during your Lordship's absence.

We pray God that your Lordship's benignant rule over the diocese be long, happy and prosperous.

We humbly ask your Lordship's blessing, and shall ever remain your Lordship's faithful and devoted priests.

St. Peters Cathedral, Feb. 6th 1896.

His Lordship was then approached by Messrs L. M. Hayes, Thos. Cahill, B. Morrow, H. Phelan, H. LeBrun and M. O'Brien, and the first mentioned read the following address of welcome from the congregation:

ADDRESS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To the Right Rev. R. A. O'Connor, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIP:

Three months ago, we the members of St. Peter's Cathedral Parish, assembled here to express in words, however feeble, our warm appreciation of Your Lordship's manly, honest and untiring efforts to guide the destinies of this young diocese, and also to wish you God-speed on your first official visit to the Eternal City, and the tomb of the Apostles. Animated by that same spirit of loyalty and devotion to Mother Church, and her honoured representative a loyalty and devotion, which has ever characterized the members of our Holy Religion, we are again gathered round your Lordship, to welcome you back to our midst and the scene of your many labours.

Yours have been the privilege and the honour to kneel at the feet of Christ's Vicar, to receive in person the papal benediction, to hold sweet converse with him, whose wise and benign rule, of the oldest and grandest institution upon earth, has called forth the praise and admiration of the civilized world.

Beneath the glare of a hundred lamps, which encircle the tomb of the Prince of the Apostles, you have knelt in silent adoration, invoking the blessings of heaven, upon the church and your own little flock in far-off Canada. Standing upon the Capitoline Hill your eyes have wandered o'er the mightiest ruin of all ages—the Forum, without the eloquence of a Cicero or a Tully, the Palace of the Cæsars, without its Augustus, the Mamertine prison without St. Peter or St. Paul, the Coliseum where no longer the blood of martyred Christians is shed in proof of the truth and divinity of Christ's mission. Encompassing this mass of ruin, and on the very streets, which once re-sounded with frantic shouts of victory, as Roman armies returned from distant lands, laden with the spoils of ruthless conquest, your Lordship has seen these great and sublime temples, erected in honour of the true God. Here is pagan, wicked, heartless Rome crumbling into dust while on her very ashes rise proudly and majestically the Rome of Christian days.

Or it may be that a desire to penetrate deeper into those numerous evidences of primitive Christian suffering has led your Lordship to visit the desolate Campagna where, deep in the bowels of the earth, once existed a living invisible Rome with a population unheeded and unreckoned. Here in these dens and caves of the earth lived a strong-hearted, God-fearing people, here too they died, a spectacle in lifetime to men and angels and in death a triumph to mankind.

Nor has the interest of your Lordship's visit to the City of the Popes been limited to these grand, heaven-inspiring sights, for Rome's innumerable palaces and temples of worship, her public gardens and sparkling fountains, her galleries, museums and convents, adorned by the highest skill of the painter, the sculptor and the architect have elicited the greatest encomiums of friend and foe.

But beside Rome, great in her antiquity, great in her unparalleled line of saintly Pontiffs, great in all the achievements of religion, art and science, your Lordship has seen at Pompeii the resurrected proof of the manners and customs of bygone ages. You have seen the splendid mosques of Africa, the impregnable fortresses of Gibraltar, the grandeur and magnificence of Paris and London, the rural beauty of England, the evergreen hills of dear old Ireland, the enchanting lakes of Killarney, and last, but not least—

That dear spot in Kerry, the home of your youth,
The guardian of innocence, honour and truth.

We enumerate here, my Lord, the long list of renowned sights which it has been your privilege to see and study, not alone to recall to your mind pleasant recollections of your voyage, but also with the earnest hope that in the near future we may hear from your own lips and in your own simple, yet inimitable, style, a more detailed account of the grandeur, beauty and interest of these historic places. Though absent from us in body, we know that as you knelt at the throne of Christ's representative upon earth, or before the tomb of the martyred brave, we were not forgotten in your pious prayers and supplications.

And now, in welcoming you back from your perils o'er the sea, we thank God for the safe and prosperous voyage He has granted you, the success of your missions to the Eternal City, and humbly ask a share in that blessing which the Supreme Pontiff has been pleased to grant you and the flock entrusted to your care.

St. Peter's Cathedral, Feb. 6th, 1896.

In replying to the two addresses, his Lordship stated that, while he had always loved his priests and people and regarded them as the apple of his eye, his appreciation for them would, if possible, be increased by the wonderful demonstration of the day on their part, which would stimulate him to work even more earnestly in their behalf than before.

When he was speaking to the Holy Father of the Church in Rome, the latter was delighted to hear that the young diocese of Peterborough was giving so much satisfaction. The Holy Father surprised him with the minuteness of his enquiry into details. He showed the same solicitude concerning the welfare of his people in the far away diocese of Peterborough as in those directly under his eye at Rome.

When His Lordship expressed to the Pontiff the loyalty in the hearts of the people for him and spoke of the condolences for him in his afflictions and trials, the heart of the Holy Father was moved and he desired him to express his gratitude to the people of Peterborough for their

in his solitude and to assure them that he would always entertain for them the same feelings of affection and love as he did for the diocese of Rome. He inquired into the catholicity of the diocese, the piety, devotion, attendance at mass, attendance at religious duties and penances, respectful submissiveness and obedience of the people and as to whether harmony prevailed amongst them and as to what steps were being taken regarding the education of the young for the church.

When Bishop O'Connor, in reply to these inquiries, stated the satisfaction which the priests experienced in ministering in the he different parishes, the Holy Father expressed his extreme happiness and bestowed his apostolic benediction upon all the families in the diocese.

"If I was able," continued His Lordship, "to submit a REPORT SO SATISFACTORY,

it was owing to you, my beloved priests, and to the piety of my people in general."

In his travels Bishop O'Connor stated that he had seen much that was new to him and he hoped that he had also profited by his trip to Rome and learned much. Europe has been a new world to him, and he also had had an opportunity of visiting his native land, which he had left just fifty four years ago. He had seen many signs of the extension of the true faith in his travels, particularly in the city of London. In France the grand temples and monuments of religion reared by the people in the past showed what the Catholic Church had done for civilization in bygone years. In Italy, the country of reminiscences, evidences of the struggle between the Christians and pagans in olden times were still apparent in the ruined temples and over the Coliseum where the Christians were tortured by lions. On the site where the pagan gods had formerly been worshipped the great Church of St. Peter now

REARED ITS SPIRES.

When the Holy Father learned from Bishop O'Connor's lips that the Church in Ontario was living at peace with the brethren who had separted themselves, he was greatly delighted to know that all lived in harmony, and that the priests preached the gospel of peace, the gospel of love, the gospel of Jesus Christ.

In closing, his Lordship assured the congregation that, although he had experienced great pleasure in passing through the different countries in his travels, his heart was always in Peterborough. When at the shrine of St. Peter's in Rome he had not forgotten his people but had prayed for a blessing on them. Although the climate of Italy was most mild and although only a week ago Sunday, when he attended mass in Gibralter, the streets were being sprinkled, still it was with unalloyed pleasure that he welcomed the snows and storms of Canada again.

Before dismissing the congregation His Lordship promised at some future date to give his people an address of more length concerning the pleasures of his trip.

The Bishop officiated in the Benediction of the Holy Sacrament, after which the assembled clergy chanted the "Te Deum" in their thankfulness for the safe arrival home of his Lordship, dismissed with the Apostolic Benediction.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

CAUGHT BY AN AVALANCHE.

The Side of the Stothart Sand Pit Gives Away.

Mr. John McClelland, teamster, who lives in the north-west portion of the town, was this morning the victim of an accident which well nigh proved fatal.

He, with a number of other teamsters, have been employed for the last several weeks in teaming sand from the pit on Mr. Stothart's place on the Smith boundary, to the scene of the Trent Valley Canal operations.

It seems that during the winter the men have undermined considerably in their work trusting to the cold weather to keep the frost in the ground and prevent the upper portion of the pit giving away. The thaw of yesterday and to-day however sufficiently removed the frost as to occasion a landslide on rather a large scale at the pit this morning, and Mr. McClelland happened to be standing too near the scene of the avalanche to escape and was almost smothered by the rush of loose sand, snow and slush which descended upon him. When released from his precarious position by some labourers it was found that he had sustained a severe fracture of the thigh bone. He was placed in a sleigh and taken to his home where the fracture has been reduced.

Mr. John Adlum, No. 400 Sherbrooke street, inadvertently took a cold bath this morning down at the new George street bridge at the mouth of Spaulding's Bay.

Mr. Adlum, it seems, was walking on the ice around one of the piers examining the masonry when the honeycombed ice gave way under him, precipitating him into the icy waters of the Little Lake. It was just deep enough to let the unfortunate victim of the accident in up to his neck and before any one could reach him to give aid he had scrambled out.

PERSONAL.

Miss Eva Carey, College street, is quite ill from the effects of a severe cold.

Mr. Thos. Kelly is up from Port Hope, spending the day with his family. He reports the business of Gough Bros. as booming in that town.

Mrs. Kernegan, of the George street choir, was too ill to attend and take part in the Charlotte street church concert, last night.

Yesterday a paragraph appeared in the EXAMINER stating that Mr. R. B. Rogers, C. E., accompanied by Mr. Mossom M. Boyd had left for the Old Country. But they only got as far as Toronto. On arrival there Mr. Boyd was taken ill, and his physician thought it was not best for him to resume his journey for a few days. Pending his recovery Mr. Rogers has returned to town.

The many friends of Miss Jessie Fairweather, who was prostrated by hemorrhage of the stomach at Georgetown about six weeks ago and has since been in a critical condition, will be pleased to learn that she has sufficiently recovered to be brought home. She arrived at noon today, accompanied by her brother, James, who met her and Mrs. Fairweather in Toronto. Miss Fairweather, though still very weak, suffered only the natural fatigue from the journey and is resting nicely to-day. The family wish to acknowledge most gratefully the great kindness of the railway officials, especially C. P. R. depot-master at Toronto, Mr. Bamford, and, in fact, all the officials of the trains by which the party travelled.

THE BIG BONSPEIL IS NOW FINISHED.

LINDSAY WON THE CLUB AND PETERBOROUGH THE SINGLE RINK COMPETITION.

The Last Game in the Single Rink Competition was a Battle Royal from Start to Finish Between Skips Ray and Flavelle.

The last stone in connection with the Peterborough bonspiel has been thrown, and those who were mainly instrumental in working up the affair to so successful a climax, are deserving of the heartiest congratulations on the manner in which every detail in connection with the bonspiel has been conducted. Nothing was left undone which would tend to increase the pleasure of the visiting curlers, and that those who came here to compete in the club and single rink contests were afforded a good time goes without saying, and ample proof of it was had in the openly expressed opinions of the visitors as to the way in which they were looked after during their stay in town. The ice remained in excellent condition until Thursday afternoon, by which time the chilliness had been considerably taken off the air in the rink by the hundreds who remained in it all day watching the different matches which were in progress every hour.

In the morning Mr. Flavelle's Lindsay rink and Mr. W. J. Reid's Bobcaygeon players met in the semi-finals and as stated in yesterday's paper Lindsay was victorious by five shots. In the afternoon Skip Ray, of the Peterborough Thistles, played in the finals against Skip Flavelle and was victorious by two shots.

As was expected the contest was a battle royal between the two veteran skips, who for the last fifteen years have fought each other on the ice every season. The shots were scored in the following order:

Peterborough Thistles—1 x 2 x x 1 2 1 2 x 2 x 2 x 1 x x 1—15.

Lindsay—x 1 x 1 1 x x x x 3 x 1 x 1 x 3 1 x —13.

The opposing rinks were composed as follows:

Peterborough.	Lindsay.
J Stanger,	L McIntosh
C Brown,	J G Edwards,
E Rutherford,	J A McMillan,
S Ray, skip.....15	J D Flavelle, skip....13

Skip Ray won the first end but Skip Flavelle tied the score in the next. Then Skip Ray made a two end amidst much applause, but Skip Flavelle lay one shot in each of the following ends, thus tieing the score again. The game see-sawed in this manner all the way through. When the fifteenth end was played Peterborough was leading by six shots and it began to look like a walk over. A three end for Lindsay, however, changed the aspect of things somewhat, reducing Peterborough's lead to three, with two ends yet to play. In the seventeenth end both skips would allow nothing to stay in the rings, and by the time the vice-skips had delivered their stones there was not a counter on the ice, although there were two stones, one behind the other just over the hog line. Having won the last end Mr. Flavelle had first shot. He drew beautifully with the out turn in behind the two guards. Skip Ray drew to dislodge him but just grazed the stone and passed on out of the ring. Mr. Flavelle laid another stone down with just the same weight and it slowly curled in, as had its predecessor, behind the guards. Skip Ray failed to remove them and Lindsay's score was now only one behind Peterborough, with one end to play. In the last end the bullseting game was again adopted, the skips trusting to their own individual skill to win the end. When Skip Flavelle played his first stone he had three shots all on the outer rings, whilst Peterborough had not as yet one counter. Mr. Flavelle's shot was a failure, falling short. Skip Ray then raised one of Rutherford'sstones in on the button in a manner to evoke great applause. Mr. Flavelle drew to the stone and sent it whirling out of the ring, lying in its place. As Skip Ray walked slowly down to the other end of the rink to deliver the last stone, those assembled fairly held their breath. Lindsay now lay four shots in the ring, and as they were only one behind, they would win the game, provided Skip Ray did not cut out the last stone of Mr. Flavelle's and lay exactly in its place. As his stone came sweeping up the rink it was watched with the closest attention, and cheer after cheer was given when it effectually dislodged the other and lay "shot." Thus winning the match and series for the Peterborough Thistles.

The presentation of prizes took place immediately subsequent to the last match, when the curlers all assembled in the rink parlours. Dr. Boucher made the presentations of the tankard, to the Lindsay rinks, with a few appropriate remarks. Mr. Flavelle replied for the Lindsay curlers, after which Mr. E. B. Edwards presented the four pair of stones to Skip Ray and his rink, for which suitable acknowledgement was made by Mr. Ray. Mr. Edwards also presented Mr. Flavelle's own rink with four beautiful agate fobs, as second prizes in the single rink competition. Mr. J. G. Edwards replied for the rink.

Hearty cheers were then given for the Lindsay club and for the Peterborough clubs, after which the visitors hurried off to catch their train.

The local club wishes to acknowledge the efficient services of Mr. J. S. Russell, of Toronto, Secretary of the O. C. A. and of Judge Dartwell, of Whitby, as umpires during the bonspiel.

GREAT SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

Mr. John McNaughton's Sacrifice Clearing Sale.

Having decided to remove from Peterborough about the first of March, I have, therefore, the great pleasure of offering the purchasing public unprecedented bargains in all classes of footwear, including ladies and gentlemen's, misses and children's boots and shoes, rubbers and overshoes. These goods must be sold, the stock must be cleared out, and the prices will be placed at such figures as will make a lively clearance sale. The goods I have to offer are all first-class, bought for the present season's trade before I decided to remove. At usual prices any of these would be a bargain, but at the sacrifice prices I offer they will be a genuine bonanza. What I wish to impress upon the public mind is that the goods must be sold, and the price will be made to bring this about. Please give me a call and I guarantee that quality of goods and price shall not stand in the way of making a bargain, of which you will be sure to get the big end. This is a genuine sacrifice clearing sale of first class boots and shoes, etc. JOHN MCNAUGHTON, corner Bethune and Sherbrooke streets.

LAST EVENING'S CONCERT

Under the Auspices of the Charlotte Street Choir.

The concert which was given in the Charlotte street church last evening under the auspices of the choir in connection with that congregation, did much to convince the large audience present of the fact that Peterborough possesses local talent capable of handling music of the very highest standard in a most capable manner.

The programme was opened by St. Paul's choir with Shelly's beautiful anthem, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee," in which the solo parts were taken by Mrs. Mein and Mr. D. H. Moore. The selection was given in a most pleasing manner, the harmony and phrasing being particularly deserving of favourable comment. Miss Hendren and Mr. A. L. Davis followed "Glory, to Thee, My God, this Night" in good, the rendition of which was most pleasing, as the blending of the two voices in the duet was so perfect as to call for most hearty applause.

"The Wayside Cross" was the title of the number rendered most effectively by Messrs. Squires, Parsons, John and Alf Miller—a quartette capable of doing full justice to the selection. Miss Florence Hall's sweet soprano voice was then heard in "The Children's Home." This solo was taken in a full expression being given to the pathos needed to secure the effect intended by the composer.

"The Soldier's Tear" was a solo which appeared exactly suited to Miss Hendren's rich contralto notes. She was never heard with keener appreciation than in this number.

That excellent quartette, Messrs. Turner, Daly, Brown and Skitch, representing the George street choir, were heard to good advantage in "Still, Still with Thee" which met with a warm reception at the hands of the audience. Mr. A. L. Davis had an opportunity of showing the range of his well cultured voice in the solo "The Song that Reached My Heart." His well rounded notes were never heard with greater appreciation.

Dudley Buck's exquisite compositions "Blessed are the Dead" and "God that movest Earth and Heaven," were then given, unaccompanied, by St. Paul's choir, under the skilled leadership of Mr. John Crane. The merit and beauty of the selections were fully brought out by the excellent handling which the numbers received.

A PLEASANT VARIATION

in the programme was occasioned by the introduction of a cornet solo by Mr. John Miller, who in his selection upheld his reputation as a musician of the highest standing. He was followed by a quintette from Charlotte street choir, who gave Emerson's "The Twilight Falls." The composition contains intrinsic beauties which the quintette showed themselves fully capable of appreciating and bringing out with exquisite effect.

Mr. G. M. Mulligan represented St. Andrew's choir and rendered a pathetic little selection entitled, "Where is Heaven." His well modulated voice appeared to be peculiarly adapted to the piece, and the audience showed their appreciation of his effort by the hearty manner in which it was received. Mr. Mulligan could not be persuaded to respond to the enthusiastic encore which was accorded him. The excellent programme was closed by the rendition of "The Radiant Morn" (Woods) by St. Paul's choir. The anthem was given with the same taste and evidence of careful training as the previous numbers.

Rev. J. J. Rae, who occupied the chair, took occasion before dismissing the audience, to express the cordial appreciation of the Charlotte street choir of the kindly manner in which the other town choirs had co-operated in making the programme such a success.

"Should I die while I am in a position to pay my insurance premiums, my family will owe their support to Scott's Sarsaparilla. Two years ago I applied to two companies for insurance, $1000 in each. My face was a mass of pimply blotches and my urine did not stand the test. One doctor in examining me said I could not pass, but that my trouble was curable. He advised an alterative medicine, and I commenced taking Scott's Sarsaparilla. Both companies rejected me, but four months later, after I had taken five bottles of your remedy I am thankful to say both accepted me as a risk—one being a stock company, the other a mutual. The examiner who previously examined me, remarked "I never saw such a change in any man." This is indorsed by Mr. J. Todd, the popular druggist, corner Queen and Crawford Streets, Toronto.

Scott's Sarsaparilla builds up debilitated constitutions, imparts strength, vigor and vitality, clears and purifies the blood. It cures skin diseases, rheumatism, gout, indigestion and all complaints arising from poor or poisoned blood. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle.

Which Kind of a Husband Are You?

There is scarcely a husband who, during the past four months, has not urged his wife to learn to ride a wheel. There is scarcely a husband of the lot who does not now regret that he so urged her. He has found that it has added to his nervous impairment in the ratio of about fifty per cent, and in addition thereto he has caught the "husband neck." This strange malady is caused by the constant craning of the neck, generally to the left to see if the wife of one's bosom is safe. Even after the husband has found that his wife has really become a skilled rider the habit remains. He can no more help turning his head at short intervals than he can help imagining that all sorts of dire disasters are befalling her. And there seems to be no cure for this. The natural one to suggest would be that a man's wife should ride ahead of him. But no man, as yet, could possibly consent to this, both because it is his nature to lead, and also because he would thus expose his wife to the dangers of the road and side path, which he might avert by being in the lead. As yet the disease has only attacked those who are really fond of their wives. To what extent it will spread is, of course, dependent upon the number of such husbands.—Brooklyn Life

Looking for Comets.

The appearance of a new comet in the skies last month attracted a good deal of attention from astronomers. The fact is that just at present we are very badly in want of a great comet. Since the magnificent apparition which bears the name of Donati in 1858, astronomers have revolutionized the practical methods of their science. Photographic processes then undreamt of are now the familiar auxiliaries to the observatory. The development of the spectroscope also, in its application to the discovery of the material constituents of the heavenly bodies is of a growth subsequent to the autumn of 1858.

There can be no doubt that the next great comet which does vouchsafe its presence in our skies will be received with a welcome which has never before been accorded to any celestial object whatever.—Sir Robert S. Ball, in London Graphic.

More is Necessary.

It has been said that men have got to be loved into the kingdom, not thought into it; but this does not state the whole truth. They must be both "loved" and "thought into it"; yea, more, must be brought into it. Andrew was not content with either loving or thinking about his brother, but conducted Peter to Jesus. The apostles had love and thought for sinners, but rested not until they had done their utmost to bring them into saving connection with Him who alone can save. Mind, heart and effort must be unitedly enlisted in human redemption.

The Spider Tree.

Dr. Welwitsch, who has recently explored the country about Cape Negro, in Africa, tells of a curious plant called the spider tree. It grows on windy plains, its stem attaining a diameter of four feet, although it does not exceed one foot in height. It puts out two leaves, each six or eight feet in length, and these are split by the whiffing of the wind into a number of stiff, narrow ribbons, bearing no little resemblance to the legs of a gigantic spider. This resemblance becomes startling when a strong breeze puts the leg-like leaves into rapid motion, and the negroes shiveringly exclaim that the great spider is struggling to get loose.

Preventing the Flattening of Wheels.

A sight which has become very familiar to the public is the brilliant sparking which often occurs between the wheels of trolley cars and the rail. It makes a pretty display, but it is somewhat expensive for the railway company. This sparking between the wheel and the rail is among the causes which lead to the shortening of the life of the wheel. The resultant heating tends to anneal the chilled rim, with the consequence that flat surfaces are produced when the wheel skids. Many large electric traction companies find that the renewal of flat wheels constitutes a very serious item of expense, and there is now an excellent opening for the cure of the evil. One of the remedies lately suggested is a steel brush pressing on the head of the rail, to be used for re-enforcing the wheel contact. If such a device could be made practicable it would serve a double purpose; it would keep the contact surface clean, and reduce the sparking at the wheels by taking a considerable proportion of the current and, at the same time, a saving in power would be effected.

KIN TO IT.

A Novel Phrase of the New Woman Question on a Train.

"I was amused at a woman on a train coming into Washington from the south," said a gentleman. "It showed a novel phase of the new woman question.

"At Goldsboro a man got on the train with a baby in his arms. A woman followed him, but paid no attention to the man. The baby was evidently sick, and the father, a North Carolina mountaineer, paced up and down the car trying to quiet the child. Every lady on the car except the woman who got on the train at Goldsboro was interested. Considerable speculation was indulged in as to the father and child, the consensus of opinion being that he had just lost his wife and was taking the baby to its grandparents. After two or three hours the woman who boarded the train at the same time the man did spoke to him, and he then passed on, fondling the baby.

"A benevolent-looking old lady seated near the woman, curious to know something about the matter said:

"'The child seems to be sick.'

"'Yes'm.'

"'I saw you speak to the father—do you know him?'

"'Orter—he's my husban'.'

"'Do you mean to say that you are that child's mother and let the baby suffer that way?'

"'He's jess as able to tote it as I be. Hes' jess as much kin to it as I be,'' and the woman turned unconcernedly to the window, while the man continued to walk and dandle the child."—Washington Star.

No Need for Seasickness.

A great number of people who can never cross the ocean without being prostrated by seasickness have come to look upon every reported cure for that distressing malady as a delusion and a snare. Whether the latest remedy, or rather preventive, is more efficacious than the rest, remains to be proved. Dr. A. D. Rockwell says it is. He asserts that the reason so little attention has been paid to seasickness, especially by those not subject to it, is that there was a fallacious idea that to be seasick did a person good; that it cleared out the system, and therefore, nature should be allowed to take its course. Dr. Rockwell holds that there is neither advantage in nor need for the ailment. It must be prevented and the battle of prevention must be fought on land before sailing. For three days before the voyage doses of bromide of sodium must be taken—in preference to bromide of potassium, and this course must be continued for three or four days after sailing. One pleasant effect of this bromization is the sound and refreshing nature of the sleep it induces. The dose recommended by Dr. Rockwell is thirty grains of bromide of sodium three times a day for three days before the voyage, and for three or four days after starting. He has invariably found this treatment an absolute preventive, and has crossed the English Channel on a very rough voyage without the slightest discomfort from the motion of the ship. In a paper on this subject before a medical society Dr. Rockwell tells of a man who was in the habit of crossing the ocean two or three times a year on business, and who dreaded the recurring trips on account of seasickness. After he had tried the bromide treatment, he wrote to say that for the first time in his experience he had crossed without discomfort. Dr. Rockwell states that he has never found any evil effects from the use of the bromide of sodium taken for the prevention of seasickness.

Some New Second Sight Feats.

There have been any number of so-called mesmeric performances on stages the country over, but never before has been such an exhibition as the one now being presented on the stage of one of the music halls here. At a private seance given for the benefit of physicians, lawyers, newspaper folk and men about town prior to the first public performance to-night, some wonderful hypnotic tests were witnessed. The operator is a newly-arrived Frenchman. His daughter, of highly nervous temperament, is his subject. She sat on an ordinary chair in the center of the stage. She gave her eyes up to the experimenter. For a moment they stared at each other, strenuously, uncannily; then her eyelids dropped and she fell into a hypnotic sleep. The orchestra crashed, but she slept on, while the experimenter passed from one to another in the audience. One and another whispered to him a specific act the subject should perform. For instance she was to write a man's name. She was to take a cigarette and light it. She was to untie one man's scarf. She was to write out the numbers on a watch. She was to perform all these things and many others. This programme her father had in his mind. He did not, however, speak a word. Nor did he touch her. He stood quite ten feet from her and looked at her. The girl descended the steps from the stage to the orchestra and passed through the audience, performing exactly and promptly what it was in the experimenter's mind she should perform. She lit a cigarette, untied a scarf, wrote names and numbers—in short, the "suggestions" never failed. The intelligent and scientific auditors marveled, but were convinced.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Boy LaFlamme—His Cure was a Surprise—A few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, Feb. 3 (Special).—The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his son's cure. He says,—"My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and to-day he is romping and playing with the other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable.

SETTLED THE BILL.

A Hotelkeeper That Preferred to Pay an Intended Suicide's Fare.

Suicides are never wanted by hotel proprietors. Each one costs a hotel a considerable amount of money, and for months the room in which it occurred is shunned. At one of the leading hotels of Washington lately a guest acted strangely, and the proprietor made up his mind that the man was going to do something desperate. So one night he went to the guest's room. There was no answer to his knocks, and the door was locked. A look over the transom showed the guest writing a letter, a pistol at one side and a bottle of poison at the other.

"Let me in or I'll break open the door," called the landlord.

The door was opened after a little hurried work disposing of the things on the table.

"I don't want any suiciding here," said the landlord, entering. "What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"Out of money, out of work and can't get out of town," sullenly said the guest.

"Well, how much cash will you take and agree to get out of town?" asked the hotel man.

"I could get home for $20," was the reply.

"Here's the money; now pack your grip and take the first train."

The man went. It was a good business transaction for the landlord.—Washington Star.

A Mother's Beautiful Child

Dragged Nearly to Death's Door by Severe Nervous Disease—Suffered Extreme Pain in the Head—Doctors Could Do Nothing—South American Nervine Called in at the Eleventh Hour and Restores to Health Little Annie Joy, of West Toronto Junction—The Great Remedy is Reducing the Death Rate of All Canadian Cities.

MISS ANNIE JOY, WEST TORONTO JUNCTION.

A bright little lad, or golden-haired girl, is the delight of your home. Whether you revel in riches, or know something of the privations of poverty, that child is all the world to you. It is no wonder that mother and father become anxious when sickness overtakes the little one.

The remedy, fathers and mothers, is near by. South American Nervine has been the means of giving back the bloom of youth to thousands of suffering little ones. It is not a medicine that buoys up the parents' hopes, only to have them in a short time dashed down again lower than ever. Whether with child or adult, it promptly gets at the seat of all disease, which is the nerve centres. From this fact it is peculiarly efficacious in the treatment of nervous diseases of man, woman or child.

A recent case is that as told by Mrs. M. A. Joy, of West Toronto Junction, whose little daughter Annie, aged 15 years, had been a sufferer from severe nervous depression for about two years. As with all mothers, no trouble and expense was spared in the effort to bring relief to the child. The little one suffered extreme pains in the head, so distressing at times as to render her completely helpless, sapping all her strength. The best skill of the most skilled physicians was called into request, but little Annie steadily grew worse. Becoming more hopeless and discouraged as the weeks went by, Mrs. Joy decided on trying South American Nervine as almost a last resort. Employing her own words she said: "I determined to give it a trial, although I felt it was useless."
